OCEAN FLYERS LAND AT HARBOR GRACE

LOST PLANE LOCATED

Graham Craft on Utah Mountain

Sheepherders Produce Parachute as Proof of Discovery

Body Reported Only Slightly Damaged But No Trace of Body Found

CEDAR CITY (Utah) June 24. (Sunday)—The unopened parachute of Maurice Graham, missing Arizona air-mail pilot, was produced here tonight by two youthful herders as conclusive proof that they had located earlier in the day Graham's damaged plane eight miles south of here.

Emil Isaackson, 19 years of age, and Orton, 18, showed the parachute to Jimmie Carson, Western Express flyer on the same route which Graham disappeared more than five months ago. Carson declared they found the pack in the plane, indicating that Graham was able to climb from the wrecked cockpit and strengthening Carson's belief that the lost flier left the ship on foot in search of help.

Carson plans to take off this afternoon in his mail plane, locate the disabled craft and aid searchers in picking up a trail of the pilot.

CRAFT LITTLE DAMAGED

The condition of the ship only deepens the mystery that has surrounded the flier's disappearance. Little doubt is held that Graham is alive and believed he lost his way in the mountains surrounding county seat, attempting to hatchet his way through snow drifts after leaving his plane.

The craft is not damaged to a serious extent, according to the reports of the open biplane were found in the mail compartment unbroken and intact.

Graham was on a mountain of the Markagunt range, in Iron county, the herders said.

SEARCHERS LEAVE

Dr. Leigh, County Attorney Lund and Pilot Jim Stacey of the Oil Company, were dispatched to the mountain.

Meanwhile, two other veteran pilots of Graham, Jimmie Kelly, were flying tonight from Los Angeles to Cedar City at daybreak tomorrow for the search.

A Union Pacific message from Milford, Utah, stated that a heavy snowfall and pair of overshoes were found near the ship. The report stated that where the railroad reached at Milford obtained his

HOOVER RAPS RELIEF BILL AS GOVERNMENT FRAUD

Veteran-Aid Measure Declared to be Violation of National Integrity; Republicans to Sustain Veto

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—In plain-spoken terms, President Hoover warned Congress today for the second time that he considers the veterans' relief measure bad legislation.

While the measure was going back to the House for agreement to amendments written into it by the Senate before that group gave it the final pat of approval by 66 to 6, the President spoke in unvarnished phrases the opposition which he had signified in statements Sunday.

At the Capitol the second statement was taken as a positive notice that the measure would find a veto waiting for it if it journeyed down Pennsylvania avenue in the form in which it now stands.

A few hours after the President had spoken, an agreement to sustain the anticipated veto of the bill was entered into by 154 Republicans at a House Republican caucus.

In taking this action the Republicans specified a substitute bill would have to be enacted immediately.

This number is more than one-third of the House members and would be sufficient to prevent that body overriding a Presidential veto. Representative Strong of Kansas predicted that 200 Republicans would join in upholding President Hoover's position.

Although considerably changed by the Senate, the measure which came back to the House was in the main the same which it passed several weeks ago by an overwhelming vote.

President Hoover said the bill is "just bad legislation" which would not receive the support of the country.

SPEAKS FORCEFULLY

Standing in his private office with only newspaper men for an audience, the Chief Executive spoke forcefully, several times departing from his prepared text as he sought to add vigor.

"The veterans' bill is no more in the interest of veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer," the Chief Executive said.

"The very basis of all the bill sets up an untruthful, and, according to our physicians, a physically impossible 'presumption,' and predicates its action upon this."

He asserted it contains many discriminations and injustices, violates "not only the fact but the integrity of our government," and added:

"It is a sad thing for our government to set standards of subterfuge to our people."

The measure, he said, selects a particular group of 75,000 to 100,000 men and makes provisions for them in the "most wasteful and discriminatory way conceivable and entirely neglects the equal rights to help of more than 200,000 more veterans who are likewise suffering from disabilities incurred in civil life since the war."

POPE PIUS STRICKEN

Uremic Poisoning Feared

Vatican City Depressed as 73-Year-Old Pontiff Has Turn for Worse

VATICAN CITY, June 24. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, who is 73 years of age, and has occupied the throne of St. Peter since February, 1922, today was reported ill with acute bladder trouble and threatened by the possible setting in of uremic poisoning.

The report threw Vatican City and Roman officials and social circles into consternation.

Officially, the first tendency was to discount the gravity of the illness because of the Pontiff's vigorous appearance at services in St. Peter's on Sunday for the canonization of two saints. The Pope went through the four-hour ceremony with strong gestures and a firm, resonant voice.

SERVICES PROVE STRAIN

Consultation with doctors and members of the Pope's intimate suite later revealed he has been not a little troubled in recent weeks, and Sunday's services proved a more severe strain than was anticipated.

The Pontiff's condition is understood to have taken a turn for the worse yesterday and today, chiefly because he insisted on receiving numerous pilgrims from Spain and Italy.

In Vatican circles it is pointed out that for a man who has just turned 73 difficulty in ridding the system of poisons is not uncommon. This would be particularly true of such a man as Pope Pius, who after an active outdoor youth and middle age has been constrained to a sedentary life.

REST COUNSELED

As sultry summer weather already has oppressed Rome and the Vatican City, his suite is taking extreme precautions to guard his health. The doctors have counseled rest, and it is hoped their treatment will prevail over the Pope's active zeal and iron will.

Meanwhile, many Canadian and American pilgrims converging upon Rome for the canonization of the eight North American martyrs next Sunday are dismayed at the prospects of the Pope's having to forego pronouncing the decree of canonization. This function he cannot delegate to any other church dignitary, no matter how high.

The same holds true for a secret consistory next Monday and a public consistory on July 3 when he is to create five new cardinals.

St. Joseph Has Small Increase

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) June 24. (AP)—The population of St. Joseph was announced today by census supervisors as 79,226, an increase of 1287, or .65 per cent since 1920.

Will Rogers Remarks:

CHICAGO, June 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Well, they run all the racketeers out of Chicago and they had no more than got them out till the Rotarians convention got in. Now they are talking about letting the crooks come back; they figure there is some Rotarians here that could skin the crooks. You see that organization only takes in the best in each line. So with all these new lines of commerce we have developed in the last few years why they must have some pretty slick birds among 'em.

I saw a low-wing speedy monoplane flying over here today. I guess it was Lindy stealing that baby out for an airing.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

EXTRA JUDGESHIP CREATED

Southern California Will Get New Federal Jurist as Result of Action by House

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 24. (Exclusive)—Southern California is to have an additional United States District judge sitting at Los Angeles.

This was assured when the House passed the Shortridge bill previously approved by the Senate authorizing the extra judgeship in a move to remove court congestion in one of the worst-crowded districts in the country.

Introduced last year, the bill was passed by the Senate and sent to the House at about the time the House Judiciary Committee substituted a program of "trials by commissioner" recommended by the Wickersham commission as a means for relieving court congestion. With the announcement of this program Representative Bachman, Republican, of West Virginia, introduced a measure giving the two Federal judicial districts of California one additional judge to divide his time between the northern and southern districts. The West Virginian did not press his bill, however, and the House Judiciary Committee substituted the Shortridge measure, giving Southern California one full-time judge.

The importance of the additional judge for the Los Angeles courts, the headquarters of the southern judicial district, was emphasized in the House committee's report.

ONE KNOWN TO BE DEAD IN TORNADO

Damage in Nebraskan Twister May Increase as Facts Are Ascertained

LEXINGTON (Neb.) June 24. (AP) One man was killed and several injured by a tornado which struck southwest of Gothenburg about 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Meager information said the tornado struck between Gothenburg and Cozad, then lifted across the river and struck again between Cozad and Lexington.

It is believed the tornado caused considerable damage to farm property and timber along a thirty-mile strip, but owing to demoralized wire communication an estimate is not possible at this time.

VIOLENT WINDSTORM REPORTED BY OHIO

COLUMBUS (O.) June 24. (AP)—As the State continued to swelter in a record-breaking heat wave a violent windstorm struck Ohio today, reaching cyclonic proportions in the south central section, injuring at least two persons and causing thousands of dollars' damage.

The city of Circleville and several farms south of it suffered most, damage to houses, destroyed barns and scattered furniture being estimated at more than $50,000. Trees and telephoned poles were leveled.

TORNADO HURTS ONE IN WEST NEBRASKA

SCOTTS BLUFF (Neb.) June 24. (AP)—One man was injured, a number of farm buildings destroyed and considerable live stock killed in a tornado which swept a ten-mile strip south and west of Cozad tonight.

All lines of communication but one were down between here and Cozad, but a telephone lineman who had been through the storm-stricken territory said the tornado traveled in a southwest direction toward Farnam, missing that village.

LAS VEGAS FUND BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The Senate today voted to increase from $200,000 to $300,000 the appropriation for the Las Vegas (Nev.) postoffice and courthouse.

ARMY PAIR MAKES LONG BLIND HOP

SCOTT FIELD (Ill.) June 24. (AP) An instrument for blind flying with which two army officers have been experimenting for several months today enabled Capt. William C. Ocker, one of the inventors, to pilot a plane approximately 900 miles from San Antonio, Tex., to Scott Field, Ill., from a covered cockpit that afforded no view of the outside world.

He was accompanied, and part of the time aided, by Lieut. C. J. Crane, coinventor, who occupied an open cockpit as a safety pilot. Their destination is Washington, D. C., where they expect to fly tomorrow after stopping overnight at Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Capt. Ocker, who termed the trip an unofficial test, said he experienced no great difficulty in today's flight, but that a few times he strayed from his charted course and had to be righted by Lieut. Crane. Both Ocker and Crane said they believe the device will prove a success for blind flying.

It is a flight integrator, a model airplane mounted on the instrument board. It combines the functions of a bank indicator, inclinometer and turn indicator.

Youth Casualty of Gettysburg

A bomb made for use in the war between the States and used by the Lybarger family for a door stop exploded as young Lybarger attempted to chisel dirt out of the supposedly empty device. The blast shattered the youth's left hand, necessitating amputation.

STORY SAYS EDISON IN MERGE DEAL

Report of $2,000,000,000 Consolidation Involves Three Coast Utilities

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune says that on August 6, stockholders of the North American Company will approve a plan whereby three Pacific Coast utilities will consolidate with North American in a $2,000,000,000 system.

The Pacific companies, with total assets of $1,054,000,000, are the Southern California Edison Company, Ltd., the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the Pacific Lighting Company.

Pacific Gas and Electric will first be acquired, the initial step in the planned acquisitions being an increase in North American common no par stock from 10,000,000 to 50,000,000.

Roy V. Reppy, vice-president and general counsel for the Southern California Edison Company, said last night that he was unaware of any plans for a consolidation of the organization with the North American Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—A. F. Hockenbeamer, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, tonight characterized consolidation of three Pacific Coast utilities with the North American Company as "probably a pipe dream."

Tax Refunded Anita Baldwin

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 24. (Exclusive)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue today announced a tax refund of $44,000 in favor of Miss Anita M. Baldwin of Los Angeles.

The refund covers overassessments of income taxes for 1918 and 1919.

KINGSFORD-SMITH FORCED DOWN BY LACK OF GAS

BY CAPT. KINGSFORD-SMITH

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times)

AIRPLANE SOUTHERN CROSS, June 25 (3:45 a.m.)—Very bad fog all night and trouble with a compass has held us up quite a lot. Afraid will have to land at Newfoundland or Nova Scotia for petrol after all. Sorry have to do this, but delay was enormous. Will advise which place later.

NEW YORK, June 25. (Wednesday) (Exclusive)—Flying blindly in the darkness and fog just off Cape Race the Southern Cross awaited the dawn and a chance to sight land early this morning.

Apparently, the three-motored Fokker, which has conquered the Pacific and given the Atlantic its greatest battle in its flight from the old world to the new, was having trouble getting its exact location.

That it was off its true course along the Great Circle for the first time since it left the Irish coast at daylight yesterday was evident from the messages John W. Stannage, the wireless operator aboard, was sending.

Stannage reported at 10:02 (eastern standard time) (7:02 Pacific time) last night that the plane was only 100 miles from the easternmost tip of America. A message tapped out at 11:09 p.m. gave the position of the Southern Cross and its four occupants as 160 miles away.

Whether Capt. Kingsford-Smith, his co-pilot, Everet Van Dyk, and their navigator, Capt. J. Patrick Saul were lost over the "graveyard of aviators" or had overestimated the progress they had made in earlier messages sent out was not known. In the hour between the messages the Southern Cross had been cruising about blindly while the operator was trying vainly to establish communication with shore stations.

RADIO COMES THROUGH

The air was cluttered with interference but the messages from the trans-Atlantic ship continued to come through. As the giant Fokker roared on in the direction its pilot hoped to make land the radio operator reported the three Wright Whirlwind motors were spitting flame through their exhausts.

It was 11:09 when the following message came through:

"Have been messing around trying to get bearings," said Stannage. "Very dark, flying blind; motors ringed with flames. Still 160 miles from Cape Race. Dickens of a struggle to keep awake now."

The fact that the "motors were ringed in flames" was not unusual, as that is a common condition in night flying. At an airport in Scarboro, Me., a relief plane from New York was awaiting a call to refuel the Southern Cross if necessary. The refuelers are equipped with enough oil and gasoline to replenish the ocean plane's tanks and permit it to continue to Long Island if too much of the original store is expended in blind flying off Cape Race.

STREAKS OF DAWN

Due to the fact that the sun rises much earlier in the latitude in which the plane now is flying the flyers reported at 11:15 p.m. that they had sighted the "first streak of dawn."

The hour of arrival, which was set for as early as 10 o'clock today, will be delayed. If all goes well after dawn the Southern Cross should be able to make last leg of the trip and arrive at Roosevelt Field by 12 noon.

It was Stannage who joyously reported the ship only 250 miles from Cape Race at 7:17 p.m. It was Capt. Kingsford-Smith who a few minutes before had told of a "cheerless sunset that had turned the world into a blue bowl of fog."

The Southern Cross was living up to its glorious record of having flown 75,000 miles across land and water with never an engine failure. She had conquered that part of

SENATE GAG DEMANDED

Dam Fund Fight Climax Near

Cloture Rule Will be Voted on Tomorrow to Balk Filibuster

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—A cloture petition to restrict debate on the deficiency appropriation bill was filed in the Senate today by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, in anticipation of an attempted filibuster against the $10,660,000 appropriation for starting construction of Boulder Canyon Dam.

The petition automatically will be voted on Thursday. It requires a two-thirds vote and if adopted each Senator will be limited to one hour of debate.

Senator Jones, who is in charge of the measure, said he submitted the cloture petition with the statement he understands the Arizona Senators are prepared to fight the Boulder Dam appropriations.

ASHURST PROTESTS

Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, jumped up to shout his protest at "this most remarkable episode in the history of the Senate."

He said the petition was filed to "gag and prevent an adequate hearing."

However, Ashurst said "happily, my colleague and I will not need more than an hour each to show that these contracts for Boulder Dam are not adequate."

He called attention the President is a Californian, the Secretary of Interior is a Californian and the Commissioner of Reclamation is a Californian. He said the contracts for power from Boulder Dam were drawn in the interests of California.

Denouncing the use of the cloture, Ashurst recalled he had voted for the rule when it was made a part of the Senate rules.

"The sword I drew in behalf of my country," he shouted, "is the sword that is now about to dismembowel us. It is a fitting conclusion to this session, an ironical ending."

ANOTHER DISPUTE

Tomorrow the Senate will take up the dispute over the amount of money to be allowed next year for the Hoover law enforcement commission.

Chairman Jones of the Appropriations Committee, submitted an amendment to increase the $50,000 voted by the committee to $250,000, requested by President Hoover.

PACIFIC AIR LINK FORMED

Great Tokio Company Capitalized to Open Zeppelin Line Between Japan and United States

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (Exclusive)—Capitalized for 30,000,000 yen (about $15,000,000,) a company known as the East Hemisphere Air Transport Company, has been formed in Tokio to link Japan and the United States with a fleet of Zeppelins, operating on a sixty-eight-hour schedule between terminal points.

The figure quoted represents paid-up capitalization. Under present plans a Zeppelin will leave Japan for the United States every five days, carrying forty passengers and a crew of forty. The rate for a single fare has been fixed at 1800 yen and the line is planned to be in operation not later than the fall of 1931.

The promoters of the enterprise already have purchased a large area of land within thirty miles of Tokio for hangars and a starting field. In San Francisco, Consul-General Kaneko has been instructed to find suitable ground space for hangars, a landing-field and other needs of the company for a local terminus and he says representatives of the Japanese government have been instructed to secure landings at other coast ports. Three dirigibles are to be purchased by the company as the initial equipment. These are to cost $1,500,000 each. The flyers will be routed off the Aleutian Islands in the summer and the winter route will follow along the thirtieth north latitude parallel. In the sixty-eight-hour schedule the Zeppelins are figured to cover 4800 miles.

The company already is negotiating with the Zeppelin makers through the Berlin headquarters. The airships will carry considerable freight and baggage under a special allotment of space for the purpose. For the convenience of passengers a special smoking compartment has been provided so that travelers may smoke throughout the entire trip.

Among the promoters who have guaranteed the success of the venture is Tatsuo Sakurauchi of the Japanese House of Representatives; Chotaro Yanase, president of the Yanase Automobile Company and Kisaburo Yamamoto, leading financier of Japan.

FLYERS SEEKING BEARINGS IN FOG OFF CAPE RACE

the North Atlantic known as the "graveyard of aviators" and as darkness settled down over the American coast line was ready for the last leg of her westward hop.

RIDE ABOVE FOG

Averaging between eighty and 100 miles an hour against head winds and through fog her commander chattily said, "No, thanks," when he was invited to land at Harbor Grace. A little later the Southern Cross reported that she was having difficulty in raising stations only a couple of hundred miles away, but the messages continued to pour into The Times radio room uninterruptedly.

The ocean hoppers encountered fog off Newfoundland, but rose easily above it.

"It is cheery now, with the lights gleaming in the cabin," radioed the captain. A little later Stannage reported they were flying 3500 feet above the fog bank.

The Southern Cross rode into head winds, but cut through them at a fair speed. She was never making less than eighty miles an hour. The men aboard were tired and cold, but the radio never carried anything but cheerful messages. Success was just ahead and they were happy and confident. Stannage reported he had had "a jolly decent supper."

It was dark below and the men reported they could not see the ocean. Because of the dense fog it was doubtful if they could see the lights of Cape Race.

Reports from stations along the seacoast north of New York to Cape Race told of generally clear weather with the exception of stations at Sable Island, off Nova Scotia, and at Cape Race. Toward morning the Southern Cross is expected to emerge from the northern fog and ride down the coast in sunshine, arriving at Roosevelt Field under clear skies.

Eight hundred miles out of Ireland the Southern Cross began to chat with American radio stations. Previously she had maintained wireless communication with stations in England and Ireland. As the three motors roared past the half-way mark of her ocean crossing the long dash of her unbroken carrier wave became audible to listeners in Halifax. Toward midafternoon the New York Times was receiving chatty messages direct from the Southern Cross.

This string of messages continued unbroken as the Southern Cross raced between two continents except for brief spaces in which air conditions or interference by other stations held up communications.

MESSAGES RECEIVED

The voyagers left Port Marnock Beach, north of Dublin at 11:25 p.m. eastern daylight time (7:25 p.m. Pacific Coast standard time) and averaged approximately ninety miles an hour on the 1700-mile water hop.

In direct exclusive radio messages to the Los Angeles Times and the New York Times, Capt. Kingsford-Smith told of the progress of his ship. At 6:45 p.m. eastern standard time the following message was received:

"Climbed through dense fog and got clear at 2600 feet. Very still and smooth above the fog. Will get our directions by radio.

"Very successful with bearings, here is position: 2230 G.M.T., Lat. 49.04 N., long. 40.40 W., true course 252, speed 80. Lovely sky over this inimitable sea of fog. Remarkable the whole world is a peculiar blue and the sunset has flashed a vivid red glare in the bowl of blue fog. It's getting quite dark now inside the cabin. The cheerful glow of the radio tube with its cherry red plate makes the cabin look cozy. To complete the effect I think I'll wrap myself around another sandwich. Well, that was a jolly decent supper I think for this ship. A snappy chicken sandwich and a cup of coffee royal. The coffee wasn't so good but the royal is Jameson Irish, 7 years old.

"Not dark yet but we're fairly high. Nearly 4000 feet.

Then at 7:45 p.m. came this message:

"Getting darker now. The outboard motors are shrouded in a blue haze and each exhaust port has a faint pink flame feathering from it, very uncanny. The lettering on the starboard wing is embossed in gold as the last faint radiance from the western sky touches it."

At 8:10 p.m., the Southern Cross said:

"True course 254 distance to go to Cape Race 250 miles. All quiet above the fog bank at 3500 feet. Everybody happy and all O.K."

At 7:35 p.m. the Southern Cross began sending personal messages. The first one was addressed to Clyde Devinna, Hollywood. It read:

"Be along to see you shortly Clyde old man. Regards from mid-Atlantic. Signed, John."

Earlier in the afternoon the following information was received from Harold Gregson, the Los Angeles Times and New York Times correspondent in Halifax:

"The Southern Cross has transmitted one long dash for the past hour and one-half, indicating all goes well. He raised his key at 5:15 p.m. eastern standard time to send a message to the New York Times which began:

"Getting thicker, colder. I have got some hairy clothes on that I can hardly—, here the Southern Cross faded and the remainder of the message was unheard. She broadcast to all stations at 4:20 p.m. eastern standard time: 'I am now going to 600 meters for about fifteen minutes.'"

Six hundred meters is the wavelength used by ships at sea.

Capt. Kingsford-Smith hoped to reach New York within thirty-four hours of the time of his take-off from Ireland. Thirty-eight hours was his flying limit.

Reports from steamers and the plane itself indicate that the flyers picked up speed as they got away from the coast of Ireland, averaging at times as high as 100 miles an hour. This Dr. James H. Kimball of the New York Weather Bureau said was to be expected.

"A low area has moved south over the British Isles and when the Southern Cross took off it nosed into the west winds following this area," said Dr. Kimball. "As they flew westward these winds diminished in intensity until they were well over the middle of the ocean. The flyers probably made the best time on the first half of their flight. Overcast weather and fogs are in prospect for the trip down the coast."

The plane flew a marvelously true course, bearing slightly to south of west in the direction of Cape Race. The steady course was like that flown by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his memorable flight from Long Island to Paris.

Preparations for the reception of the flyers got under way in New York this afternoon. A detail of more than 200 police and State troopers were assigned to Roosevelt Field at Westbury, Long Island, and at Curtiss Airport at Valley Stream, as officials of both fields say that Kingsford-Smith will make use of their facilities. Great crowds are expected to flock to both landing places early tomorrow if late bulletins herald the safe arrival of the flyers over land.

CONFLICTING OPINION

When the pilot of the flight to Australia was in this country three months ago he visited both landing fields and declared either would be adequate for his landing on arrival from Ireland. Capt. J. Nelson Kelly, operating manager of Roosevelt Field, said that the flyer had told him definitely that he not only will land at the Westbury field but that he will use it for the projected extension of his flight to Oakland, Cal. On the other hand, Joseph Mellon of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation is equally sure the Australian pilot will make use of the field at Valley Stream. Both fields are well fenced for the protection of the flyers and the public. Arrangements were made at both fields to keep employees on duty all night tonight so that flood and landing lights can be operated if the ocean flyers should chance to come in ahead of their schedule.

Grover A. Whalen said he will leave New York City with several members of the welcoming committee early tomorrow morning. Arrangements also were made by the officers of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce to entertain the transoceanic flyers at the dinner to be given Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd at the Astor Hotel tomorrow night.

FASHIONABLE CAFE RAIDED

Fifteen Seized as Suave Dry Agents Surprise Large Crowd of Social Lights in New York Casino

NEW YORK, June 24. (Exclusive)—A dramatic raid by suave and gentlemanly prohibition agents netted fifteen prisoners at 9:30 o'clock tonight in the ultra-fashionable Central Park Casino following an earlier raid in the Hotel Ritz-Carlton, which had resulted in the arrest of eight employees.

Ten of the men taken at the Casino were patrons, most of them in evening attire. Sidney Solomon, asserted owner, and Rene Black, maitre de hotel, two of their captains and their head waiter also were arrested.

Among the 500 guests in the establishment were, according to Rene Black, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Princess Obelinsky, a Mr. De Cordova, a Cuban government representative, and an attache of the Brazilian government.

PATRONS WATCHED

A number of the agents dressed like tired business men out for an evening of pleasure were scattered through the dining-hall watching the other guests making merry. According to their charges, they kept an eye on all the patrons who had liquor on top of their tables or in buckets under the tables and singled out the ten who were arrested when the raid started.

It was a dramatic scene. The band was playing soft music under the glowing lights and well-dressed men and women were circling the floor when one of the agents arose and walked to the band leader. He whispered something to the leader and in an instant the music stopped in the middle of a bar.

OTHER AGENTS ARRIVE

As the band quit playing ten or twelve more Federal agents came through the door. To the newcomers the erstwhile "patrons" pointed out the tables at which they said they had seen liquor passed or hidden. The agents walked to the tables and quietly informed the men in the party that they were under arrest. The women were not taken.

The patrons were charged with violation of the prohibition law. Among them are several persons of social prominence. The names were not immediately made available.

information, but indicated a member of a second searching party had visited the reported wreckage.

Graham was last seen when he took off from Las Vegas, Nev., on January 10, last, for Salt Lake City, Utah. A blizzard was raging. Since then hundreds of persons and scores of planes have scoured the bleak mountain country between the two cities.

The flyer has a wife and two young children residing in Los Angeles.

TRANSFER OF WATER WORKS AUTHORIZED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—The State Railroad Commission today authorized the Ballona Water Company to transfer its water system and property to the Board of Water and Power Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles. The transfer will be made in conformity with an agreement whereby the city water system will take over service in the territory of the Ballona company.

HARBOR BILL ENACTMENT COMPLETED

Measure Providing Fund of $7,000,000 for Port Here Goes to President

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 24. (Exclusive)—Enactment of the rivers and harbors bill authorizing the $7,000,000 breakwater extension and other improvements in Los Angeles Harbor was completed today when both House and Senate agreed to the conference report ironing out differences between the two branches of Congress.

The $145,000,000 measure now goes to President Hoover and it is understood he will sign it.

The total appropriation for Los Angeles Harbor authorized in the bill is $8,346,000. Other California items bring the total allotment for the State to above $11,500,000, including $646,000 for San Diego and $1,284,000 for San Francisco.

Woman Admits Arson to Hide Fraud Evidence

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—A mother's confession of forgery, then arson to conceal the crime, tonight solved a mysterious double fire the 12th inst. in the Pfeffer and Michel Iron Works here.

Police quoted Mrs. Bertha McCandless, book-keeper, as admitting she juggled the books until she obtained about $400. She said her husband was unemployed and her three children needed support.

Terrified at announcement of an impending audit, she fired the place and started the blaze again within an hour after firemen had controlled it. She said she hoped to destroy the incriminating books.

HOOVER TO VETO VETERANS' BILL

President Warns Congress on Wastefulness

Measure Declared Based on Subterfuge

with sick and disabled veterans. Except for some marginal cases, the government has long since generously provided for the men whose disabilities arise from the war itself.

"These cases before us, except for a comparatively small number of marginal ones, are in reality men disabled from incidents of civil life since the war.

"The whole matter is one that must be approached in a high sense of justice and utmost sympathy. But this veterans' bill is just bad legislation. It is not more in the interest of veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer. The financial burdens, the amount of which has again been reaffirmed by Gen. Hines, and they were even increased by Senate amendments yesterday, do constitute a serious embarrassment to the government and to the country, but there are other objections even more serious.

BASIS UNTRUTHFUL

"This bill selects a particular group of 75,000 to 100,000 men, makes provision for them in the most wasteful and discriminatory way conceivable and entirely neglects the equal rights to help of more than 200,000 more veterans who are likewise suffering from disabilities incurred in civil life since the war.

"Furthermore, the very basis of the bill sets up an untruthful, and, according to our physicians, a physically impossible 'presumption' and predicates its action upon this. For instance, a man who has served a few days in the Army in his home town or in camps, and afterward enjoyed seven to twelve years of good health, then after all that time incurs any affliction, is thereby declared to have a disability due to the war and is to be compensated or pensioned on the same basis as the man who suffered in the trenches and from actual battle. It contains many other discriminations and injustices.

SAD PRECEDENT

"These things violate not only the fact but the very integrity of government. It is a sad thing for our government to set standards of subterfuge to our people. It is unfair to all other veterans who have become disabled in civil life.

"It is unfair to the whole spirit of the World War veterans.

"There are emergency and marginal cases which I have insisted should be cared for and which will be cared for, and there is the additional necessity for us to study the broader subject exhaustively before we plunge.

"The American Legion presented a bill designed for emergencies which had the earnest support of many administration members, but their views have been overridden. The sensible thing is either to take care of these emergencies or marginal cases and then soberly determine future action, or, alternatively, to make the beginnings of sound action now on such foundations as will contribute to the ultimate settlement of the problem with real justice to veterans and with generosity in solution for the future.

"Such action can be taken within our present financial resources and I believe the nation would support that.

"I do not believe the country will support this bill."

LETTER TO SENATE

The Presidential attack emphasized his opposition expressed in a letter to the Senate, submitting objections voiced by Secretary Mellon and Director-General Hines of the Veterans' Bureau. The Treasury Secretary warned expenditures entailed would require increased taxes next year.

Hines reiterated in a statement today that the measure, in the form approved by the House, would directly add $181,000,000 to the present $511,000,000 annual expenditures for World War veterans in the first year and this would increase annually until a possible additional $400,000,000 would be required.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION SUPPORTS PRESIDENT

DETROIT, June 24. (AP)—The American Medical Association today came to the support of President Hoover in his opposition to the liberalized World War veterans' pension bill.

In a resolution passed in the house of delegates, the bill was criticised as "without basis in the science and art of medicine."

The resolution attacked the provisions enlarging hospital facilities at the command of the Veterans' Bureau as "unsound and Socialistic in character." The duty of providing medical care for veterans disabled by diseases or injuries not of service origin is the duty of the States rather than the Federal government, the resolution said. The cash allowance scheme for hospitalized veterans also was criticised as "calculated to bring into the hospitals at the command of the Veterans' Bureau patients who could be better and more economically treated as ambulance patients."

PARIS AND ROME POSTPONE CHAT

Relations Too Strained to Discuss Naval Pact

Briand and Manzoni Adjourn Conference Sine Die

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, June 24. (Exclusive)—The relations between France and Italy are too strained to permit the resumption of pourparlers over naval strengths. Foreign Minister Briand conferred with Count Gaetano Manzoni, Italian Ambassador, this morning in an effort to clear up some differences and reopen conversations as agreed in London when the naval treaty was signed.

After a lengthy examination of the situation the diplomats concluded that it was impossible to examine the problem in the proper atmosphere now and the question was adjourned sine die.

A failure to reopen negotiations will make certain another postponement of the League of Nations' preparatory disarmament commission which is scheduled to reconvene in Geneva in October, because when the date was fixed last month it was expected that conversations between Rome and Paris would go on during the summer.

Today Count Manzoni conveyed Premier Mussolini's personal apologies to M. Briand over the recent anti-French outbreaks in Italy, especially the incident at Bari.

Southland Co-ed Granted Divorce by Reno Judge

RENO, June 24. (AP)—Eleanor Zahn Beldin, daughter of a Los Angeles physician and for the past semester a student at the University of Nevada, obtained a divorce here today as the climax to a youthful romance and elopement from Glendale to Colton, Cal., on April 13, 1926.

She was granted a decree from Kenneth Beldin, University of California graduate.

Charging cruelty, Mrs. Beldin alleged her husband had maintained a continuous course of nagging and fault finding.

Zaro Agha has selected America for a twentieth century odyssey, because as a fervid Moslem teetotaler he wants to pay his respects to the land where, as the Koran bids, wine is held wicked, his own country having backslidden in this respect.

Zaro says America will be sure to appreciate the man who has been dry for so long a time. He hopes to get into the films.

HUNT BEGUN FOR BEAUTY SHOW GIRL

Nicaraguan Believed to be Stranded After Start of Tour from Miami

MIAMI (Fla.) June 24. (AP)—G. A. Trice, president of the International Miami Beauty Pageant Association, said today he has started search for Senorita Haydee Morales, Nicaraguan entrant in the contest here March 11, in the belief she is stranded in the United States following failure of a proposed national tour of the Latin-American delegates to the pageant.

Senorita Morales won third place in the Latin-American contest, Trice said he was in receipt today of a request from sponsors of the Rio de Janeiro beauty show, to be held this fall, that the Nicaraguan beauty be notified of her expected entry there.

The Nicaraguan girl left here in March with other Latin-American beauties in charge of Gaston Andrade on a proposed tour of Southern cities en route to Hollywood, where they expected to participate in making a Spanish film. The tour ended in Atlanta when financial difficulties and managerial dissension occurred. Senorita Morales had intended to join her father in San Francisco, Trice said.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT RATE PLEA MADE

I.C.C. Reconsideration of Reductions Set Aside by Supreme Court Urged

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—California fruit-growing organizations today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to reconsider the freight-rate reductions allowed them on deciduous fruit shipments to the East, but recently revoked by the Supreme Court.

The commission ordered railroads to reduce freight rates to eastern points by 11 cents per 100 pounds. Its action was based on the Hoch-Smith Congressional resolution which instructed the commission to give preferential rates where possible to products of agriculture affected by depression.

The Supreme Court on the 2nd inst. ruled the commission had misapplied the law and the reduction was made invalid.

In today's petition the California interests ask the case be reconsidered without reference to the Congressional resolution and assert existing rates are unreasonably high.

Boxer Floored in Bout Dies

WHEELING (W. Va.) June 24. (AP) Injured in a six-round boxing bout last night, Bruno Moraskey, 23 years of age, of Moundsville, fighting under the name of "Young Bruno," died today in a hospital. Physicians said concussion of the brain caused death.

Moraskey was knocked down by Perry Bridges, of Warwood, his opponent, in the final round. Twice before in the round, Moraskey had floored his opponent.

HEALTH OF MAN HIS OWN AFFAIR

Medical Association Scores State Regulation

Too Much Paternalism Now, Says President

Examination of Car Drivers Law Advocated, Though

DETROIT, June 24. (Exclusive) Neither the public nor the doctor would benefit from government control of medicine, Dr. William Gerry Morgan of Washington, newly installed president of the American Medical Association, said at the first general session here today. Dr. Morgan's presidential address was a vehement warning against the encroachment of State medicine.

"No scheme has yet been evolved of State insurance, State medicine or whatever it may be called that has demonstrated unequivocally the advisability of going the limit in the matter of government control over individual health maintenance," said Dr. Morgan. "The present high cost of medical care is not enriching the doctors of the country and cannot be used as a valid argument in favor of State medicine."

PATERNALISM TOLD

In tracing the paternalism of the national government, Dr. Morgan said that now the State says—at least in certain notable and familiar instances—"what its citizens shall drink, what they may and may not buy and sell, what they may and may not do on certain days of the week—in short, it has built up such a mass of thou-shalt and thou-shalt-not laws governing personal affairs that one wonders what 'next?'"

Earlier in the day, at the executive session of the association's governing body, Dr. Morgan discussed medicinal liquors. Other physicians also gave their views, but no action was taken beyond referring the matter to a committee.

FREEDOM DEMANDED

Dr. Morgan in his address said: "It is our bounden duty to urge strenuously upon Congress that there be a radical change in those parts of the Volstead Act which forbid the practitioner from following his trained judgment in his ministry to the patient.

"Such a prohibition, in my judgment, is a reproach to our profession."

Dr. Morgan made it plain that he was taking no sides in the prohibition question, nor was the American Medical Association, he added. He pointed out he was restricting his plea to specific provisions of the Volstead Act covering prescriptions. He said his views were shared by a majority of the country's medical men.

OBJECTIONABLE CLAUSES

Dr. Morgan cited three phases of the Volstead Act to which he objected. They were a clause forbidding a physician prescribing more than a pint of spiritous liquor in any ten days; the supplementary act forbidding physicians prescribing in any like period any vinous liquor containing more than 24 per cent alcohol; and the requirement that upon the stub of the prescription shall be written the disease of the patient.

Such provisions in the Volstead Act, he said, marked departures from the "solemn declaration" to the States that the prohibition amendment would not authorize any interference with use of liquor in the practice of medicine.

CRACK AT DRIVERS

A certificate of physical fitness from a board of physicians should be part of the requirement for securing a license to drive a motor vehicle, either public or private, the association recommended. The license should be renewed every year and the medical certificate should be renewed every three years. Certain visual standards, including disqualification for double vision, were recommended. A county board of two general practitioners or surgeons and one eye specialist should be appointed by the government to issue these certificates. Payment could either be made by the applicants or by a salary from the State motor vehicle board.

OBESITY STUDIED

A new theory of the cause of obesity was given at the meeting of the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions by Dr. Hermann Bernhardt of the University of Berlin. During the last twenty years nearly every endocrine gland has been supposed to be guilty of causing extreme fatness in people, but Dr. Bernhardt does not blame the glands for this unfortunate condition.

"It is impossible to accuse a certain endocrine gland of being the cause of obesity," he said. "Very often disturbances of the glands are a factor, but they are not the prime factor. The control of fat is chiefly a function of the regulative center of the central nervous system. This is in the inner brain close to the pituitary gland. Tumor of the brain, hardening of the arteries or such changes in general behavior of the body as hunger and thirst can bring about a failure of the fat-regulating center."

House Approves Committee on Campaign Costs

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The Snell resolution to authorize a special committee to investigate the campaign expenditures of candidates for the House in the 1930 elections was adopted today by the House.

The committee is authorized to investigate all the contributions to the campaign funds of the candidates of both parties.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25. (AP)—Infuriated when his demand for money was refused, a man known to police as an unfrocked priest, formerly Father Arthur Townley, fired one shot at Rev. Pius Driscoll of St. Dominick's Catholic Church here today before he was overpowered by a group of Dominican Fathers.

BATHS OF LIGHT ECLIPSE COLDS

Ultra-violet Rays Defeat Epidemic at Cornell

Group of 300 Treated Show Decline in Illness

Scientist Makes But Modest Claims for Method

ITHACA (N. Y.) June 24. (AP)—The usual winter epidemic of colds was wiped out among 300 young men at Cornell University this year by use of ultra-violet light.

These men were not completely freed of colds, but they escaped the ordinary "peak," when colds multiply along with pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.

LIGHT CURBS ILLS

The results of this ultra-violet treatment, one of the most extensive ever undertaken, were made public today by Dr. Dean F. Smiley, in charge of student health. The artificial sunlight was given to the students by him and Dr. George M. Maughan.

The most outstanding result was the cumulative effect. The protective results were greatest after the light had been given for months, although this period of best health was the season when colds are likely to be worst.

A few girls who took the light did not begin until months after the boys, and showed much less decrease in colds, although they too received positive benefit.

AVERAGES LOWER

Those taking the light all were from 25 per cent of Cornell students especially susceptible to colds—that is, who average more than four a year.

From November 5 to January 3 the men took one light bath a week, exposing their entire bodies for fifteen minutes. In that period their susceptibility to colds was reduced 42½ per cent compared with a group of students equally liable to colds, who took no light. The ultra-violets had 1.15 colds each, against two apiece for the others.

REDUCTION SHOWN

In the second period, January 27 to May 1, the artificial sunshiners showed a 58 per cent reduction, 1.01 colds each against 2.42 for the lightless boys.

"This 58 per cent reduction," said Dr. Smiley, "is unexpectedly large. We attempted to give the light twice a week during this second period, but some boys did not care to spend that much time and we did not average much more than once a week.

"It should be understood that we do not claim that light would do equally well everywhere. Cornell is in a cloud belt, with less winter sunshine than at some places. It may be where there is more sunshine the light would not show the same percentages.

FEW GIRLS TREATED

"We have not tried the light on the 75 per cent who represent normal cold susceptibility. But some of our studies indicate that the so-called cold epidemics are mostly confined to the 25 per cent of cold susceptibles, and that if we can protect them, there will be no epidemics.

"Only fifteen women took the light, not beginning until January 27. They showed a cold reduction of 19.9 per cent."

STRANGER PAIR ARTISTS EVEN IF NOT PAINTERS

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 24. (AP)—The next time any stranger comes along and says he's a painter, the janitor of the Federal Building here is going to stick around and see that he paints.

Yesterday he was approached by two young men.

"We've come to paint the postoffice," they said politely, "and would you believe it, we forgot our ladder."

"Oh, that's all right," smiled the janitor, "I'll get one for you."

They were about to turn away with the ladder when one suddenly remembered something else.

"Well, for goodness sake," he exclaimed, "how about our overalls? Tsh! Tsh! Such forgetfulness!"

"That's all right, too," assured the janitor, and he produced two pairs of overalls.

Half an hour later it was discovered the "painters" had used the ladder to crawl through the transom of the West Virginia Brick Company and had made off with a bundle of stock certificates and other securities.

TROLLEY CITES AUTO AS KILLER

Electric Railway Session Compares Records

Fifteen Billions Hauled; Death Set at Fifty

Model Street Car Will be Built by Industry

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (Exclusive)—Competition furnished by the automobile to electric railway cars was put into terms of safety to the general public at sessions of the American Electric Railway Association today, with the street car winning easily.

E. L. McIlrath of the Chicago surface lines, submitting the report of G. A. Richardson, their general manager, told the delegates:

"The patent fact is that our cities and traffic agencies are not keeping abreast of the oncoming tide and new and more effective measures are needed.

AUTO DEATHS CLIMB

"Auto fatalities in the United States have increased more than 170 per cent from 1918 to 1928. They numbered approximately 31,000 in 1929 and total accidents are increasing, no doubt, at even faster rates."

On the other hand, he pointed out, only one out of every 300,000,000 passengers carried on electric railways last year was fatally hurt, setting a new record for accident prevention on electric lines. Total passengers carried during the year exceeded 15,000,000,000, he reported, and fatalities were only about fifty.

ELIMINATE PARKING

Hawley M. Simpson of New York, in giving a report from traffic experts generally, believes the ultimate will be total elimination of parking of automobiles in business districts, except those used for loading and unloading cargoes.

Meanwhile, the industry is devoting every energy toward the construction of a street car that will be modern in every last detail, marking the height of comfort and efficiency. Thomas Conway, Jr., of Philadelphia, said $500,000 will be devoted to that purpose.

MEDALS AWARDED

Paul Shoup, retiring president, awarded Anthony N. Brady medals for the best accident-prevention records of the year in the United States and Canada to the electric railway systems of Duluth, Minn., Colorado Springs, Colo., and Lethbridge, Can.

The report of the nominating committee, which was adopted, moves John H. Hanna of Washington, D. C., head of the Capital City traction lines, into the presidency. All vice-presidents were advanced a grade, W. E. Wood of New York added to the list and all executive officers were retained. Atlantic City will be chosen for the next convention, it was said.

Huge Air Boat's Free Entry Into America Urged

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—A resolution to permit the Dornier Do-X, giant German flying boat, to enter the United States free of custom duty has been introduced by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota.

A trans-Atlantic flight of the massive plane, which, powered with twelve motors, carried 150 passengers on a flight last year, was proposed some months ago.

Johnson said unless the plane were permitted free entry, it would be assessed approximately $30,000 customs duty.

Howard T. Jones Appointed Aide for Woodcock

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Howard T. Jones, assistant in the office of Asst. Atty.-Gen. Youngquist, today was appointed assistant Director of Prohibition by the Attorney-General.

Jones will be assistant to Amos W. Woodcock, who was appointed Director of Prohibition yesterday.

Jones for years was assistant to Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition prosecutions. He is regarded as one of the ablest prohibition attorneys.

SUTCLIFFE LEAVES JAIL ON PAROLE

Man Who Stabbed Rival Going to Yosemite With Reconciled Spouse

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—Walter J. Sutcliffe, paroled last Wednesday from the San Francisco County Jail, where he was sentenced last June on conviction of stabbing Carl Bengston, young musician he found with his wife, left today for Yosemite Valley accompanied by his forgiven wife, Mrs. Pearl Sutcliffe.

Sutcliffe, a Los Angeles hotel man, was paroled after physicians declared him to be suffering from a severe stomach ailment and heart disease. He was serving a sentence of three years.

"I have not seen him since his release from the County Jail," Dr. Joseph F. Poheim, one of the physicians called in by the parole board, said today, "but I understand he is to be taken to a sanatorium in Los Angeles for an operation."

Honor Bestowed on Americans at Brussels School

BRUSSELS, June 24. (AP)—Simon and Abraham Flexner, members of the managing board of the Rockefeller Foundation, were proclaimed doctors honoris causa at the dedication ceremony today of the new medical buildings of Brussels University.

The buildings were erected by contributions from the Rockefeller Foundation and the city of Brussels.

Queen Elizabeth presided at the dedication. Accompanied by a maid of honor, she was greeted by the directorate of the medical faculty and the managing board of the university, then was escorted to the auditorium.

After addresses by Prof. Bordet and Rector Smets, the foreign delegates, including Americans, were presented to the Queen in the presence of Ambassador Hugh Gibson.

The new outfits consist of dark blue silk shorts, reaching to a few inches above the knee, and low necked sports shirts. Whether socks are worn or not appears to be a matter of preference.

ARMED GUARDS PATROL SEVILLE

One Dead, 250 Injured in Strike Rioting

City Quiet After Two Days of Wild Disorder

Labor Revolt Shows Signs of Crumbling

SEVILLE (Spain) June 24. (AP)—Civil guards, walking arsenals armed with pistols, rifles, sabers and sawed-off shotguns, patrolled Seville tonight as the city quieted after two days of fierce rioting that has caused one death and injuries to 250.

The death was that of a boy, Jose Arevalo, 11 years of age, struck by a stray bullet.

HUNDREDS ARRESTED

Some 300 riot leaders have been arrested in two days' clashes following a general strike. The city is in a virtual state of martial law, with civil guards and police on active duty and troops of the regular army ready to act.

The strike began peacefully but trouble developed when rumors spread that Antonia Vargas, a woman worker in an olive-oil factory, died as the result of police treatment during a previous strike.

Authorities said the woman died in childbirth but ordered an official investigation. They charged rumors of police brutality were spread by professional agitators.

RIOTING SPREADS

Rioting yesterday caused about 150 injuries, but today started off calmly enough until nonunion bakers began selling bread in the streets. Strikers and sympathizers attacked them.

Rioting soon spread to other parts of the city and was intensified when attempts were made to run street cars, the operators of which had joined the strike.

Each car was ridden by two armed civil guards as it appeared. They fired shots in the air but were soon overpowered. The angry strikers demolished four cars, chased away the crews of others, and caused the remainder to return to the barns.

The injuries today totaled about 100. A chauffeur looked over one clash through curiosity and was shot in the groin. Two women and two men were taken to a hospital with skull fractures, but most others were treated at their homes.

STRIKE RANKS BREAK

About three hundred persons, some of them women, have been arrested. Warrants have been issued for twenty leaders but police say most of them have fled.

There were some defections in the strike ranks. Four thousand men and women employed in the cigarette factory made famous in the opera "Carmen" returned to work, as did the employees of several other plants.

With the restoration of order the shops reopened and citizens again ventured on the streets. Most of the stores were closed all day and few persons except the fighters were brave enough to go out.

WORM PEST DESCENDS ON NEVADA

Army of Caterpillars With Saw Tails Ruining Miles of Vegetables

TONOPAH (Nev.) June 24. (AP)—Destroying all vegetation as they go, green-bodied caterpillars with saw-like tails today were advancing as an army between Luning and Mina, Nev. The saw-like tail is used to cut down twigs of greasewood and sagebrush, and locomotion furnished by fifteen legs on either side furnishes a strong resemblance to the centipede.

They march in a solid body and one motorist who drove through the "army" asserted it covered a length of seventy-five miles and was advancing with incredible speed. In the wake of the invaders there is not a trace of vegetation.

Where the pest originated provided a mystery, as the fertile country west of where they were observed had not been visited by them.

Heads of Idaho 'Rum Rebellion' Forego Appeal

COEUR D'ALENE (Idaho) June 24. (AP)—Former Mayor Herrick and Police Chief Bailey of Wallace today appeared at the United States Marshal's office here, saying they would not appeal their convictions in the so-called "rum-rebellion" conspiracy trial and were ready to start for McNeil Island Federal prison to begin serving fifteen-month sentences.

Seven others of the thirty-two convicted furnished $1000 appeal bonds. They are Paul Miller, Jack Chisholm, Matt Burkovich, Nick Pavelich, Tony Armeni, Joseph Carbonneau and A. B. Leib. Two others are expected to appeal.

BAY CITY CONTRACTOR DICKERS ON SENTENCE

OAKLAND, June 24. (AP)—Harry Lesser, wealthy San Francisco contractor convicted several days ago on three counts charging bribery and conspiracy in connection with Oakland street paving, today was sentenced to a maximum term of two years in San Quentin prison and fined $5000. The sentencing followed a compromise between Lesser's attorneys and the District Attorney's office, under which Lesser agreed to waive all rights to appeal.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

SECOND RESORT FOR CATALINA

Isthmus Opened to Public Saturday With Fete

Olden Days of California in Fiesta Recalled

Historic Banning Stage to Meet Incoming Ships

AVALON (Catalina Island) June 24.—The Catalina Isthmus, scene of the famous Wrigley swim in 1927, situated twenty-two miles up the island coast from Avalon, has been developed into a second Catalina resort and is to be formally opened to the public Saturday, according to officials of the Santa Catalina Island Company. The opening will be marked by gala festivities that will recall the olden days of California.

Gay bunting and flags will decorate the water front and a Spanish orchestra will greet each incoming steamer and excursion cruiser. The historic stage coach driven in the early nineties by Capt. William Banning, will transport passengers to the "other side" of the island, across the narrow strip of land that forms the isthmus to Catalina Harbor, where the old Chinese junk, Ning Po, with its bloody pirate history, the Black Ghost and the old Santa Clara, frigates that participated in the romantic history of the seas a half-century ago, lie moored at their last resting-place.

There will be dancing both afternoon and evening in the Isthmus Pavilion. Boat racing and other aquatic sports will be held in Isthmus Cove. A typical Catalina fish dinner and goat barbecue will be served all day.

WRIGLEY OUTLINES PLANS

Plans for the new resort were outlined by William Wrigley, Jr., owner of Catalina Island, during his visit here last spring, as a sister resort to Avalon.

Scenically, the isthmus is known as the most beautiful spot on the island, and historically as the most romantic. Probably no other "location" has been as frequently filmed in screen epics as the Catalina Isthmus, especially productions with a South Sea locale. Recent archeological explorations have revealed that the isthmus was the main camp site of a strange race of prehistoric white Indians that once inhabited Catalina Island. In the later years the isthmus became the rendezvous of pirates and freebooters who cached their stolen or contraband goods in near-by caves. During 1864 Gen. Fremont's men made their headquarters at the isthmus. The old government barracks still stand and have been remodeled into a modern hotel.

The old Banning home which surmounts a sightly knoll overlooking both Isthmus Cove and Catalina Harbor, has been remodeled into an exclusive hotel. A second Island Villa of 150 bungalettes has been built among the trees of the isthmus flats. A large cafe, stores, a bathhouse, riding stables and other resort facilities have been built at the isthmus. Electricity and power are brought across the mountains from Avalon via high-voltage lines.

YACHTSMEN WELCOME NEWS

The opening of the Catalina Isthmus as a resort is welcomed by yachtsmen who long have made its harbor a port of call, although heretofore unable to land or secure supplies.

With the opening, announcement is made of a direct sailing daily from the Catalina Terminal at Wilmington at 1:15 p.m., arriving at the isthmus at 3:15 p.m. A stopover of an hour is made before the steamer continues its itinerary to Avalon, arriving there at 5:15 p.m. From Avalon automobile stages will leave for the isthmus daily at 8:30 a.m.; 9:30 a.m.; 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., arriving at their destination two hours later, covering a scenic trip through the interior of the island that takes in Middle Ranch, Eagle's Nest, Little Harbor and other points of interest. Excursion boats will also leave Avalon for the isthmus daily at 9 a.m., 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., arriving at their destination an hour later.

Odd Fellows in New Quarters

SOUTH GATE, June 24.—Thursday evening South Gate Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 482, moves to its new lodge rooms on the corner of Independence avenue and State street. For a year, ever since the organization of this lodge, it has been meeting on the corner of Victoria avenue and Post street, opposite the City Hall.

The new location is in the Kinney block, the entrance being at 3221 Independence avenue. The lodge room will seat about 400. The banquet room has a capacity for more than 100 diners. The meeting night is each Thursday at 8 p.m.

The next forward movement will be to start the organization of a Rebekah Lodge. The following officers will be installed for the coming six months. Noble Grand, C. B. Powell; Vice-Grand, E. N. Gartin; recording secretary, J. L. Coan; financial secretary, George W. Kincade, and treasurer, Lon Oberlies.

SHERIFF "GETS HIS MAN"

Riverside County Peace Officer Returns from Fresno With Details of Lawrence Rea's Recapture

RIVERSIDE, June 24.—A handcuff key, filed from a handle of a spoon, and two paper-thin pieces of steel, all concealed in his mouth during the thorough search made before he left here in custody of three officers for San Quentin to begin serving a life term, Saturday, all but cheated the Sheriff from delivering to the penitentiary Lawrence Rea.

This became known as Sheriff Sweeters recounted the daring escape and recapture at Fresno during the early hours of Saturday of Rea, convict, whose cunning schemes to gain his freedom wrote history into the crime annals of this county during the five months he was incarcerated here on an indictment returned on hoaxed testimony.

Sweeters's account of the spectacular escape follows:

"We left here in the automobile Friday evening. Rea was handcuffed and the cuffs were doubly locked. A single cuff, with a chain attached, was on one wrist. The other end was on Graham's arm. Graham and Rea were in the back and Knowlton and myself in the front seat.

"At Bakersfield, we went into a cafe to eat. We removed the double handcuffs from Rea's arm, but he still was chained to Graham. We then set out for Fresno.

"Between the two places Rea evidently put to use his key. At Fresno we stopped at a service station to fill up with gasoline and oil. Knowlton and I got out of the car and were near the front while the attendant poured in oil.

"Rea asked to be taken to a rest room to get a drink. He still had the double and single cuff on. Graham stepped out of the car and Rea followed. They had to walk behind the car to reach the rest room.

"Suddenly I heard Graham shout: 'There he goes!' and I looked in time to see Rea disappear around the corner of the service station. Railway yards were close by and he darted into the darkness of the yards, followed closely by the three of us. We lost him in the maze of cars. A passenger train was just pulling out, so I boarded it and rode a ways until it stopped and we searched the rods. Then we scoured the inside and outside of a freight train pulling out.

"By that time the station attendant had summoned the Fresno police. Together with them, we searched for quite a while, and they returned to headquarters, saying it was useless to continue until daybreak.

"I was not satisfied to wait until morning; I don't believe I could have withdrawn from the search then.

"So I summoned an officer from the Sheriff's office and together we cruised in the Negro and Mexican settlements nearby.

"Rea escaped at 1:10 a.m., and it was shortly after 4 a.m. when he was recaptured.

"We had ridden about for quite a while when I saw a man across another block, dressed in a white shirt and dark trousers. Rea was dressed in a blue serge suit when he left here. He also wore a white shirt.

"The Fresno officer, driving, circled the place and we stopped about where we thought the fellow would reach the street.

"Sure enough, he came out right near us, and walked up to a door of a little house

"I recognized Rea at once.

"I leaped out of the car, aimed the shotgun at him and shouted for him to throw up his hands. He turned and shot his arms above his head.

"'It's all off, Sheriff,' he said, and a moment later we had placed the handcuffs on him."

REDLANDS WOMAN MAY LOSE EYE

Rock Whizzes Through Window of Interurban Car and Strikes Her Glasses

REDLANDS, June 24.—Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick, widow of Rev. D. M. Kirkpatrick, was seriously injured while riding on an interurban car from Indianapolis to Louisville, according to word received here. She was hurt when a rock flew through the window and struck her in the left eyeglass, breaking it and injuring the eye.

She was rushed to a hospital, where physicians found glass ground into the eyeball. It is reported that she may lose the sight of one eye.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick has lived here for many years and just recently went east for a visit with relatives.

Baby Hurt in Fall From Car

UPLAND, June 24.—All Robert Voth, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Voth, 1561 East Ninth street, has today to remind him of his narrowest escape from death is a big bump on the head.

The youngster was riding in the tonneau of the car driven by his parents. In playing with the handle of the door Robert caused it to fly open and he flew out, landing on his head.

At San Antonio Community Hospital it was discovered he was suffering from a slight fracture of the skull. He is said to be recovering satisfactorily.

Barber Found Dead in His Bed

GLENDORA, June 24.—Found dead in his bed, William J. Parks, local barber, died from a severe attack of pneumonia, according to Autopsy Surgeon Webb.

Parks, who was staying at the home of his cousin, Charles Leach, while the family were away, was found by friends Saturday morning after he failed to make his appearance at the barber shop.

The body was removed to White's funeral parlors where it is being held awaiting the arrival of a brother from Chicago. The deceased is said to be about 60 years of age.

BAIL FORFEITED ON POKER GAME CHARGE

HERMOSA BEACH, June 24.—Bail of $25 was forfeited by C. A. Stebbins, 1138 South Ardmore street, this morning, when he failed to appear before Judge Marchant to answer for an asserted poker game on the beach here last Sunday. Stebbins was taken into custody by Chief of Police Eddie Messenger after an attempt to bury the cards and money in the sand, at the approach of the officer, the police report shows. No one else of his party was arrested.

CONFERENCE HONORS DEAD

Southern California and Arizona Methodists Conduct Memorial Services for Those Gone Before

LONG BEACH, June 24.—Ministers of the Southern California Methodist Conference who died during the last year were remembered in memorial services held tonight at the first session of the fifty-fifth annual conference.

Clergymen who succumbed during the year, who were honored at the service, include: Dr. B. S. Haywood, Los Angeles; Rev. J. J. Post, Imperial Valley; Rev. James Blackledge, Santa Monica; Rev. Frank R. Newman, Fresno; Rev. A. C. Welch, Pacific Palisades; Rev. A. R. Carnes, Los Angeles, and Rev. T. H. Dodd, Arizona. The memorial address was delivered by Rev. George A. Warmer of Santa Ana.

The first business session will be held Wednesday afternoon.

LENEHAN SLATED DRUGGISTS HEAD

San Franciscan Today Will be Elected President

California Pharmaceutical Body Nominates Him

Pasadena Convention Hears Views on Chain Stores

PASADENA, June 24.—Thomas J. Lenehan of San Francisco is scheduled to be elected president of the California Pharmaceutical Association tomorrow by 500 delegates to the organization's annual convention, which opened last night in the Hotel Huntington. Lenehan is the present first vice-president of the State Association of Independent Druggists.

Speakers at today's sessions discussed the chain-store situation and recent wine tonic legislation.

"I don't see any reason for becoming panicky over all this talk about chain stores," asserted H. C. Christensen of Chicago, president of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

"In fact, I don't believe in cutting out commercial pharmacy entirely, but I do believe there is a happy medium. If you are 'up on your toes' you have nothing to fear from the chain stores. You have the advantage of close personal contact with your customers that they, because of their size and different type of personnel, lack."

A more excited view of the chain-store competition was presented by Earl Akers, manager of the Independent Business Men's Association of Long Beach, who addressed the afternoon session.

Akers asserted that Will Rogers in a recent talk stated that the chain store presents a more vital problem to the United States than prohibition enforcement. The speaker declared that the chain store tends to take its profits from a community and deposit them in eastern banks.

"You are not true Americans," he exclaimed, "unless you fight the chain stores, which you outnumber."

Frank E. Mortensen, secretary of the Southern California Druggists' Association, characterized the local ordinance against the sale of certain wine tonics as one of the most perfect laws of its kind passed in California.

Roy S. Warnack, president of the Southern California Druggists' Association, conferred late today with Mayor John C. Porter of Los Angeles in an effort to further attempts to quash indictments against 180 Southern California druggists arrested in a drive against obscene magazines.

A. H. Vossmeyer of Los Angeles, president of the State organization, presided at the convention sessions. John Winegart, president of the local druggists' association, assisted in arranging the three-day meeting.

Funeral Today for Fire Chief Killed in Blast

AZUSA, June 24.—Last rites for Herbert William Saunders, city Fire Chief and better known in the San Gabriel Valley as Steve Saunders, who died Saturday night from injuries sustained during a gasoline explosion last Wednesday, will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p.m. from White's Funeral Parlors here.

Chief Saunders, who was 45 years of age, received the injuries which proved fatal, while watching garagemen test a gasoline tank next door to the fire station. The tank exploded during the test, hurling Saunders some fifty odd feet from the scene of the explosion, the impact crushing his ribs and knocking his unconscious. His lungs were also badly punctured, which finally caused his death.

Saunders had been in charge of the fire station ever since a fire department staff was organized some twenty-odd years ago. He was an active member of the San Gabriel River Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, and for years was in charge of the annual rodeo sponsored by the American Legion here. He was also active in the local Masonic Lodge, which will conduct the services at the grave tomorrow in Oakdale Cemetery.

CALIFORNIA CHOSEN FOR GOLDEN WEDDING

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, June 24. Mr. and Mrs. David Durand, 5538 Elmer avenue, are celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They live here with their daughter, Mrs. R. A. Phillips and Mr. Phillips. They were married at Valparaiso, Ind. Mr. Durand first came west in 1876, locating in Nevada for a short time. After visiting San Francisco and Los Angeles he bought a ticket and went back home. He and Mrs. Durand have lived in the East ever since, only coming again to California about a year ago.

Legion Posts Plan Initiation

GARDENA, June 24.—Ceremonies in which initiatory work will be put on for the candidates presented by American Legion posts of Redondo Beach, Torrance, Watts and Compton, together with a class of fourteen for the local post, will be conducted here next Thursday evening. C. J. Reese of Lynwood, in charge of initiatory work for the fourth area, will be in charge. The meeting, for which entertainment and dancing is being provided, will be open to the public.

John R. Quinn, County Supervisor for this district and past national commander of the American Legion; C. C. McGonegal of Bell, commander of the County Council of the Legion, and Lawrence Klinker of Huntington Park, nineteenth district commander, will take part in the ceremonies.

BREAKWATER COMPLETED

Santa Barbara's New Ocean Promenade, Built at Cost of $650,000, Soon to be Illuminated

SANTA BARBARA, June 24.—Santa Barbara's $650,000 breakwater and ocean promenade was officially completed today, as far as the contractors are concerned. It will be formally accepted some time this week by the Harbor Commission, of which Edward W. Alexander is chairman, and tendered to the City Council for acceptance in a few days, possibly on Saturday.

Maj. G. E. Verrill, the engineer in charge of the work for the Harbor Commission, and Francis Betts (Drydock) Smith, the designer, said yesterday that the last of the pilings were being driven for the float inside the breakwater, where owners of vessels anchored in the harbor will land from their small boats, and that the float and gangplank connecting with the breakwater were completed today.

Merritt, Chapman & Scott, the contractors, have already loaded all their equipment on board their scows and are ready to tow it back to San Pedro tomorrow.

Electricians are now connecting the lights on the breakwater, together with the string of lights between Plaza Del Mar bath-house and the shore end of the breakwater, and the power is expected to be turned on this week, according to City Engineer E. B. Brown.

The City Park Commission, under Chairman Dwight Murphy, is constructing a walk from the Plaza Del Mar bath-house to the shore end of the breakwater, paralleling the string of light posts erected by the City Engineer.

TWO FACING RABIES FROM DOG'S BITE

Unidentified Persons in Ventura Attacked by Rabid Animal, Warned of Danger

VENTURA, June 24.—Two, possibly more, Venturans are today in deadly danger of developing the fatal rabies. They are the unidentified persons who were bitten within the past two weeks on Front street by a dog believed mad at the time.

Laboratory analysis of the dog's head has shown positive proof of rabies, according to Poundmaster Harry Conner, who has just received a reply from Sacramento, where the head was sent for examination. Conner says that he has heard that at least two persons were victims of the animal's fangs.

"If you have been bitten by any dog in the past two weeks get a description of the mad dog from the poundmaster and see if it was the one that bit you," Dr. J. A. Deserpa, city health officer, warned today.

"A horrible death awaits a person with the rabies unless it is warded off by the Pasteur treatment," the health officer declared. "If the mad dog bit you see your doctor at once."

The malady may develop even though the wound has healed and the danger is not past until at least thirty days after the bite, Dr. Deserpa stated.

Passengers in Burning Street Car Locked In

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—Five passengers were trapped in a blazing No. 7 street car at Alabama and University when a control blew out today, burning the front of the car and singeing the hair from the head of C. E. Cisler, motorman of 4052 Campus street. With the blowing out of the control Cisler was unable to open the doors and the passengers were forced to remain in the car until the fire was extinguished. Robert J. Schols of 3811 Nile street, received a slight injury to his hand. The fire department, after cutting a hole in the roof of the car with an ax, extinguished the flames.

Aged Pioneer of Minnesota Dies

HERMOSA BEACH, June 24.—Funeral services for J. H. Nichols, a pioneer of Minnesota and resident of Los Angeles for fourteen years, who died Monday here, where he was spending a few weeks trying to regain his health, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. from the Little Church of the Angels, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Nichols was the third man to settle Pipestone county, in that State, where he resided for some thirty-five years before coming to California.

He was prominent in political affairs in Minnesota, serving several terms in the Senate. He was 79 years of age at the time of his death and leaves two daughters, Miss Marjorie Nichols, vice-principal of Lincoln High School, and Mrs. Lloyd Fellows, besides his widow, Mrs. Mattie Nichols, all of Los Angeles.

NATIVE DAUGHTER DIES AT MONROVIA

MONROVIA, June 24.—Funeral services of Mrs. Mildred Wardell Tooker, wife of Harry Tooker, city policeman, who died Sunday morning following a protracted illness, were conducted today at 10:30 a.m. from the chapel of the W. B Temple mortuary, with Rev. Fletcher G. Watson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Mrs. Tooker was a native daughter, having been born in Duarte, October 2, 1888. Her father, Thomas Wardell, was a pioneer builder here and in Duarte. She had lived her entire life in this vicinity. She was an active member of Eastern Star Chapter No. 227, which conducted the services at the grave in Live Oak Cemetery. She leaves besides her husband, a brother, Clifford Wardell of Pasadena, and two sisters, Mrs. Mabel White of Redlands, and Mrs. Anita Reading of Ocean Park.

YOUTH WILL CRUISE ALONE

Lecia Ross Shoves Off from Newport Harbor in Craft Only Forty Feet Long, Bound for South Seas, for Two Years of Voyaging and Writing

NEWPORT BEACH, June 24. Departing from Newport Harbor, Lecia Ross, 22-year-old youth, sailed all alone yesterday in his forty-foot yacht Lethe, for the South Seas, where he will cruise for two years, studying the life of the islanders.

Ross is under contract for the National Geographic Society of Washington, and a number of magazines, and will write stories for their publication. He is carrying with him a motion-picture camera and will take pictures of the natives, and their habitations and the scenery.

He is the son of Jacob Ross and makes his home in Sacramento, but has been spending the past few weeks with his aunt, Mrs. Francis Goepper, 813 East Bay street, Balboa, making preparations for his journey. His wife and young son will spend the time during his absence with relatives in Colorado.

Ross is a member of the Lakeside Yacht Club and has had wide experience as a navigator. He will travel at leisure, having mapped out no definite route.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS ARRIVES

Lewis E. Adams

SAN BERNARDINO, June 24.—Lewis E. Adams, San Bernardino's new school superintendent, made an inspection of school structures and grounds today, his first day on the job since his appointment nearly a month ago.

Adams, who has served as Superintendent of Schools at Burlingame for eight years, will actively become superintendent here on July 1, succeeding C. R. Holbrook, who resigned to accept the office of superintendent of Santa Cruz schools.

Adams leaves tomorrow for Burlingame to bring his family here. He was elected to a four-year term as superintendent and trustees to purchase a home in this city, he said.

First Rehearsal for Old Spanish Days Witnessed

SANTA BARBARA, June 24.—The first rehearsal of the pageant, "Romantic California," to be given during the old Spanish days fiesta, was held under the direction of Charles E. Pressley, the author and director for the fiesta, in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce last night. Rehearsals will be held every Monday night in the auditorium of the chamber until the fiesta.

Louis Frondi, noted for his "Laughing Song," who scored a hit in the fiesta program last year, drove to this city from Los Angeles to take part in the rehearsal. He plays one of the leads as Lieut. Arguello, opposite Georgia Graham as Carmelita.

Pressley announced last night that he needs six or seven more players for small parts in the pageant.

Girl Aviatrix Laid to Rest

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—Miss Peaches Wallace, local aviatrix and glider pilot, who died Sunday morning after a long illness marked by five major operations, was laid to rest in Glen Abbey Memorial Park today. Simple services attended by a large number of prominent San Diegans were held at 10 a.m. in Merkeley's funeral chapel, with Rev. John Bunyan Smith of the First Baptist Church officiating.

Pallbearers were representative of the walks of life in which Miss Wallace had so strikingly distinguished herself. Earl D. Prudden and Harry Varhauer represented the Ryan Airport and the Pacific Technical University, respectively; Dan Burnett acted for the Bowlus Sailplane Company, William Van Dusen appeared for the Chamber of Commerce and Sefton Wakefield and W. A. Huggins typified the interests of the Airtech School of Aviation and the press of San Diego, respectively.

Honorary pallbearers were drawn from the Anne Lindbergh Girls' Glider Club, Job's Daughters, a society of which Miss Wallace was a member, were represented by their officers. The world-wide guild of the church, another organization in which Miss Wallace was active, furnished the music, three hymns being sung. The service was open to the public and many noted figures attended. Floral tributes, including an imposing piece from the Chamber of Commerce, were numerous.

Rev. Shaul to Stay in Pulpit

MONROVIA, June 24.—With the year's reports showing the Monrovia Christian Church in a flourishing condition, members of the congregation at their annual meeting yesterday re-elected Rev. Frank H. Shaul as their pastor for the next three years. Mr. Shaul began his pastorate here on January 10, 1927, and church records evidence a steady growth in membership.

One of the greatest achievements during Shaul's pastorate was the raising of funds to complete the new church building, which was started three years ago and abandoned due to the lack of funds.

It was announced during the annual reports that work on the church would begin immediately. The structure will contain fourteen classrooms and an auditorium and balcony with seating capacity of 750.

The new church will be especially equipped for radio and motion-picture machines, and will cost approximately $50,000, officers stated. It was also announced that a specially constructed organ will be installed.

GAS WAR CUTS PRICE AT SAN DIEGO PLACES

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—Gasoline can be bought for from 13 to 17 cents per gallon here today with most of the larger independent service stations having reduced their margin of profit to a minimum and selling major oil company brands at 14 cents and fuel supplied by smaller companies at 13 cents. Major oil companies are seemingly standing firm at a wholesale price of 13 cents per gallon. The smaller concerns are dispensing gas at 12 cents, it was reported. The latest gas war will continue until one or more of the small companies is forced out of business, according to observers.

ELECTION FOR BOND ISSUE SET

Redondo to Vote July 29 on Proposition to Provide Funds for Boat Landing

REDONDO BEACH, June 24.—Date of the special election to decide a proposed bond issue of $30,000 for the construction of a boat landing and extension to the city pier was set for July 29, next, by the City Council last night.

Action upon a request, filed by the civic betterment department of the Woman's Club, for a bond issue of $70,000 for the purchase of street frontage adjoining the City Park was deferred until a special committee can return a report. The land in question, owned by the Huntington Land Company, consists of ten lots fronting on the Esplanade south of Opal street and forming a barrier between the present City Park and the street. A sixty-day option has been granted the city by the land company pending negotiations for the purchase.

Montalvo Boy Sets Records in Flying Test

MONTALVO, June 24.—Mrs. C. F. Stewart of this place probably is the proudest mother in the world today. Because her 19-year-old son, Benny Walters, has just passed the examination at the United States Navy flying school at Pensacola with "flying colors," as it were.

Young Walters, who enlisted just prior to his eighteenth birthday anniversary, passed the naval flying course in the shortest time and with the highest honors of any student in the history of naval aeronautics, it was said.

Walters enlisted at San Diego, where he took his first navy tests with a high record. Following that he passed examinations at navy schools in Chicago, San Pedro, again at San Diego and finally at Pensacola.

CENSUS TAKERS PROVE HEROIC

Women Cover Vast Areas in Mountains

Death Valley Enumerator Locates 195

Gets 75 Cents Each Instead of Half-Dollar

WASHINGTON (D. C.) June 24. (AP)—The 1930 census had its heroes and heroines, some who overcame great obstacles in the line of duty, and one who saved a life.

Informal citations of their courage have been filed in the archives of Census Director William M. Stewart.

Admiring friends nominated two women for the title of "census champion" — Mrs. Ernest Dyer of Flagstaff, Ariz., who covered 5230 rough and rugged square miles and enumerated 1184 people, and Mrs. Zora M. Jackson of Needles, Cal., who canvassed an irregular area of 6876 mountainous square miles, tallying 2066 specimens of human kind who "hate the beaten track."

But their trials of the trail pale beside William J. Little's "own story" of how he enumerated Death Valley's 195 souls. Service stations and springs were 100 miles apart. Often he had to abandon his car and penetrate wild and desolate country.

"How old?" he asked.

"Oh, white man say I 120."

"We compromised on 90," Little reported.

But from there on there was no glint of humor. Little told of finding mines deserted, cats and burros dead, springs dry.

Little was paid 75 cents per person instead of the promised 50 for taking the census of Death Valley. City census takers received 4 cents for each name.

Coast Ad Clubs to Break With National Group

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 24. (AP)—A recommendation by its constitutional committee that complete independence in management from the Advertising Federation of America be demanded was accepted by the Pacific Advertising Clubs' Association in convention here.

Along with this recommendation was a request that the Pacific group be allowed to admit smaller clubs into the association. Any "duly organized advertising clubs in the States of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho or Utah, or in the territories of Alaska or Hawaii, having a membership of ten or more," would be eligible to membership in the association.

Torture Store Confessed Myth

PELICAN RAPIDS (Minn.) June 24. (AP)—Miss Viola Holt, 18 years of age, who told authorities of having been tortured by three young men here Sunday after receiving notes demanding $30,000, on pain of death to her grandparents and brother, confessed tonight the story was a myth.

WEIR PACT PUT INTO WRITING

'Gentlemen's Agreement' Is Orange County Signature

San Bernardino, Riverside to Follow Example

Conservation Association Party to River Project

SANTA ANA, June 24.—[illegible] as an important step in protecting the water supply of Orange county, the "gentlemen's agreement" which has stood for many years as a guarantee that flood waters of the Santa Ana River shall not be diverted from until the surface flow reaches the Chapman-street bridge, [illegible] translated into writing.

Signature of the Orange County Board of Supervisors was placed on the document today when it was presented by Horace G. Hall, representing the TriCounty Conservation Association, which previously had executed the agreement. The document now will be taken to Francis Cuttle of Riverside, executive of the conservation body, who will present it to the Riverside-San Bernardino County supervisors. Both of those bodies have agreed to sign, it is said.

Changing the "gentlemen's agreement" into writing occurs in connection with and in consummation of Orange county joining the two counties and the conservation association in the building of a $1,000,000 diversion weir in the Upper Santa Ana Canyon.

The agreement just signed provides that each party to the agreement, the conservation association on one side and the three counties on the other, shall contribute one-fourth of the cost of the weir. Another clause refers to the damage of floodwaters.

Chairman Willard Smith affixed his signature to the agreement in behalf of the local board, all members of which expressed satisfaction that the diversion agreement is being settled beyond the chance of subsequent misunderstandings or disharmonies.

Right of Way Into Oakglen Offered County

YUCAIPA, June 24.—[illegible] rights of way into Oakglen by the "north route" were offered to the County Supervisors today, with the understanding that the body to adopt a resolution of intention to proceed by that route unless within a week those interested in the "south route" would produce complete rights of way for the originally plotted line of the road with lessened grades into the district.

W. H. Brookes, who has actively opposed the "south route" as plotted out by the County Surveyor, was in conference today with Surveyor George Biggin, Deputy Surveyor Howard Way and Supervisor prime mover for the new route, who made the offer of clear rights of way by another route that would not jeopardise his property interests.

Those preferring the south route upon which the County Surveyor has run into a deadlock for rights of way, include the Harris brothers and Milla Clapp, apple growers in the district. Ford, it is said, preferred the southern route as the most logical and more economical, but was willing that the north route be accepted.

The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Biggin.

Nevada Parties Define Position on Tariff Act

RENO (Nev.) June 24. (AP)—The recently enacted tariff bill was alternately lauded and condemned by the Republican and Democratic State conventions of Nevada held in Reno today.

In a platform adopted by the Republican convention, the tariff bill was declared a carrying-out of the party's pledge for protection to industry and labor.

The Democratic convention platform declared "the Hawley-Smoot" tariff bill is "a rejection of the rights of the people as against the privileges of the classes."

Efforts to include a wet plank were defeated by the Democratic convention. The prohibition question did not come before the Republican convention.

Names Mix-up Remedy Sought

SACRAMENTO, June 24. (Exclusive)—With a view to overcoming the similarity of names of persons opposing them for re-election, State Controller Riley and State Treasurer Johnson today filed with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan affidavits for permission to have the distinguishing mark of "No. 1" placed opposite their names on the August primary ballot.

This procedure is provided in the primary law.

Ray A. Riley, a young collector of Los Angeles, is opposing Controller Riley for the Republican nomination and Augustus J. Johnson of Los Angeles filed against Treasurer Johnson who is known as Gus. Treasurer Johnson issued a statement charging the qualification of Augustus to political trickery.

Alimony Plea of Actress Denied

CHICAGO, June 24. (Exclusive)—Superior Judge Sabath today denied the request of Mrs. Olive Lillian Wheeler-Reid for temporary alimony pending the trial of the divorce suit brought by Leslie E. Wheeler-Reid, Hollywood publisher. Mrs. Wheeler-Reid is a former motion-picture actress. In his divorce bill her husband named his former auditor, Delbert F. Sponey, as corespondent.

The judge, however, granted the wife railroad fare from Hollywood to Chicago so that she may defend the suit.

JEWELRY RECEIVER GETS PRISON TERM

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (Exclusive)—L. L. Bateman of Bakersfield was sentenced to one to five years in San Quentin prison today by Superior Judge Conlan for receiving at least part of the $20,000 jewels stolen from the home of Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel here. Notice of appeal was served. Roy Bateman, his son, also convicted, asked probation and sentence was deferred for investigation.

ACTOR HENRY JEWETT EXPIRES AT HIS HOME

WEST NEWTON (Mass.) June 24. (AP)—Henry Jewett, actor, died at his home, the Branches, today. He was 68 years of age. Born in Australia in 1862, he spent his early years in that country and New Zealand, and before he was 20 had played throughout Australia. His first appearance in the United States was in San Francisco in 1892. The following season he became leading man for Julia Marlowe.

Fat Man Walks Ten Miles

I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles.

If you will take one half a teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 30 days—

You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

Why will Kruschen Salts make this great change for the better in me?—It is natural for you to ask.

Because Kruschen is a blend of the 6 vitalizing salts Nature says your body must have to keep every organ, gland and nerve in the body buoyantly healthy.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts: it will last you 30 days. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work and active recreation and you'll sleep like a top.

You'll lose fat and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at any live druggists in America.—(Advertisement.)

RED REBELLION STIRS ASIATICS

Indian Troubles Boil Over on Indo-China

French Coping With Revolt Among Subjects

World-War-Trained Natives, Lead Insurrection

SAIGON (Indo-China) June 24. (AP)—The strife and unrest of countless millions of Asiatics, which England has had to contend with in India, has spread to Indo-China, the French colonial empire of the Far East.

A state of ferment reigns and rebellion is rampant among the 19,578,218 Annamites and Tonkinese and they are demanding a rendition of accounts from the 20,564 Frenchmen who have been managing their affairs.

TWO-SCORE KILLED

Thirty-nine, among them three Europeans, are officially admitted to have lost their lives in Indo-China since the unrest, latent for several years, culminated into open and armed rebellion in various parts of the country. The wounded and injured number several hundreds. A like number are in jail.

Twenty-two rebels have been sentenced to death but only seven were executed, President Doumergue having exercised his right of clemency in favor of the others.

DANGEROUS KNOWLEDGE

Official circles charge that Communist propaganda is chiefly responsible, but the Allies' policy during the war, which brought thousands of Annamites and Tonkinese to France, is regarded by the man in the street as the real cause of the trouble.

The returning Annamite and Tonkinese war pilgrims have learned the use of firearms and many of them are now trying their skill against the French.

France has been holding Indo-China with a minimum of white troops, about 5 per cent. Only the officers are white.

SOLDIERS AT BOTTOM

It is from the ranks of the native soldiers that the most dangerous leaders have cropped up. The armed uprising at Yen Bay, in the Tonkin and in Vinh-Long in Cochin-China, where most of the casualties occurred, were conceived and executed by native soldiers.

The peasants are content to form processions, waving red flags and demanding the abolition of taxes on rice, which appears to be the only tangible cause of revolt. They are not armed and generally disperse after being challenged by the troops.

SHIRES BATS OUT HOT ONE AT CONGRESSMEN

WASHINGTON, June 24. (Exclusive)—Members of Congress in their own minds may be honored and dignified statesmen, but to Art Shires, who admits he is a pretty good baseball player, they are "just a big bunch of plow hands." He took occasion to tell a few of them so today.

Shires, ex-player for the Chicago White Sox and now first baseman with the Washington Senators, was the central attraction at a luncheon given by the Texas House delegation in honor of four Texas players on the local team. Also present were Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown and Samuel West, as well as Speaker Nicholas Longworth, a special guest.

Called upon to make a speech, young Mr. Shires proceeded to astonish the law makers as well as his team-mates by stating that "I can tell you a few things whether you like them or not."

"Coming down to the capital in the automobile some of the other boys seemed kind of nervous," Shires said. "I told them not to worry because these Representatives are just a big bunch of plow hands like we are, and used to have a ragged seat in their pants.

"We know you Representatives don't care what the people think about you except at election time. You are just like baseball players. We only care about what the people think about us in the spring time when we sign our contracts."

SEX EQUALITY CALLED MYTH

Home Economics Association Committee Reports

DENVER, June 24. (AP)—This tale about the equality of the sexes under the United States Constitution is still a myth, in the opinion of the legislative committee of the American Home Economics Association.

In spite of the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution, women are still being discriminated against with regard to citizenship, the legislative committee reported to the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the organization today.

All American women who married foreigners prior to September 22, 1922, lost their American citizenship, the committee said, and, unless naturalized since, are still aliens in the eyes of the law.

The committee also went on record in favor of the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures in this country. Other legislative aims were described as:

Larger appropriations for more adequate development of the bureau of home economics in the United States Department of Agriculture; adequate appropriations for the women's bureau and children's bureau in the Department of Labor; adequate support for educational research; laws promoting honest merchandising, and maternity and infancy legislation.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Baalmann's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Belching will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "no to sleep" because Baalmann's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine, in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price $1.—[Advertisement.]

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury in an automobile collision.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

FAST COOKING . . .

Good Housekeeping Institute says that electricity cooks "frequently faster than any other fuel." Surface elements are now designed to apply all heat directly to the cooking utensil. Ovens are insulated to quickly attain high cooking temperatures. And electric heat is clean...no smudged pans, sooty walls or discolored kitchen curtains.

CONVENIENCE . . .

Extra hours of happy leisure. Meat and vegetables for dinner are placed in the modern, fast cooking electric range. Set temperature control to proper cooking heat. Then forget dinner...Six o'clock!...Everything is ready to serve. No food oders to smell up the house. Food is just right, not over-done or under-cooked. And such flavor...juices, nutritive values, and weight do not go "up in vapor."

ECONOMY . . .

Under the rates established by your City-owned Bureau of Power and Light you can operate your new electric range for only "a penny per person per meal." No longer do you pay a minimum charge. An even greater saving comes in the foods you cook. A 5-pound roast weighs practically 5 pounds when done to a crispy brown. Your monthly saving in food shrinkage will pay a substantial portion of the operating cost.

RESULTS . . .

Your favorite cooking recipe is certain of success. Electric cookery, with its automatic features assures desired results. With every modern electric range is a Cooking Manual. It gives the proper time and temperature for every cooking recipe...from roasts to the daintiest Angel cake. Adjust the temperature control. The range does the rest!...quickly without guess work!

A Fast Cooking ELECTRIC RANGE

PRICES LESS! ELECTRIC RATES LOWER! TERMS EASIER!

Prices include complete installation

TAKE advantage of this Cooperative Selling Plan! The modern electric range you have always wanted is now the range you can most easily obtain! Only $10, with an allowance on your old range, as first payment. Any cooperating dealer or electrician who sells electric ranges will give you these terms. From the minute you cook your first meal electrically...you will forevermore be joyful that this opportunity was brought to your attention.

The Automatic Range "Thinks" for You!

Cooking with electricity is the only logical way to prepare your meals. It is fast, sure, easy, clean—it is magic! You can slip a complete meal in the insulated oven early in the morning. Set the range clock. Stay out shopping or with the children all day, as late as you please. At the appointed time, the current turns itself on...when dinner is cooked...the current turns itself off. Isn't this far more simple than the way you now cook meals?

Lower Prices and Great Savings!

Don't think a modern, fast cooking electric range is expensive to buy or operate. Electric range prices are lower due to the tremendous demand throughout the country. The savings in food shrinkage alone will, in a year's time, save a substantial portion of the annual operating cost. And it will give you a life-time of trouble-free service.

Cheap to Operate at Municipal Rates!

Low cost of municipal current makes a fast cooking electric range practical. Your Bureau of Power and Light will operate it at what amounts to a wholesale rate...less than ever before and now no minimum charge. Average cost a "penny per person per meal". This cost is negligible when you consider the tremendous advantages of the electric range over all other types of cooking equipment.

Come out of the kitchen and enjoy more of life. Electric current is cheaper than woman power. Investigate the special cooperative prices and terms. They are by far the lowest ever offered in the City of Los Angeles. Ask your dealer—or phone FAber 4211, Business Agent, for additional details.

GREATEST CHINA BATTLE RAGING

Nanking Government Gains Ground at Many Points

Thrust Politically as Well as Tactically Important

[Copyright 1930, by New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, June 24. (Exclusive) What is probably the greatest battle in the present war is proceeding on the Lunghai front. The Nanking government in its offensive is reported to be gaining ground at most points.

This determined thrust is of political, as well as of military importance, being designed to show Nanking's strength and to win to the government's cause several generals who are supposed to be wavering in their allegiance to the northern coalition.

The present situation is assayed by foreign observers as 60 per cent in favor of Nanking and 40 per cent in favor of the northerners. The Kwangsi forces and the "Ironsides" are apparently at present out of the picture as a major menace to Nanking, and the long delay in organizing an actual northern government at Peking operates in favor of Nanking.

Time sides with the Nanking government as the right and left wings of the Kuomintang parley fruitlessly concerning political control at Peking. This long delay of political cohesion is believed to be having a disheartening effect on some northern forces.

Manchuria meanwhile is neutral, despite the claims of both sides, but if Nanking wins the present major battle on the Lunghai front decisively Mukden may intervene on behalf of Nanking or propose mediation.

There was a stir in local business circles today over the report from Tsingtao that the Shantung authorities had decided to raise railway rates 50 per cent for foreign goods, with the old rate continuing for Chinese goods. If this action is taken it will be certain to provoke diplomatic protests.

FIVE VICTIMS OF VETERAN'S MANIA

Ex-Soldier and Family in Cliff Tragedy Buried

Given Military Funeral

The picture shows Raymond Spang, his wife and three of his four children, whom he hurled to their deaths from a cliff at New Haven, Ct., later leaping to his own death.

ANSONIA (Ct.) June 24. (AP)—Full military honors today were accorded Raymond C. Spang as the demented World War veteran was buried in Mt. St. Peter's Cemetery with his wife and four children, whom he flung to their deaths from the summit of West Rock, New Haven, Saturday before ending his own life with a suicidal leap.

MALTESE GOVERNOR LOSES JOB

England Capitulates to Vatican by Suspension of Island Constitution

LONDON, June 24. (Exclusive)—Prime Minister MacDonald today announced in the House of Commons that out of consideration for the troubled conditions in Malta the British government has decided that it is not desirable at present to hold general elections and has no alternative but a temporary suspension of the Maltese constitution.

Suspension of the constitution is a bitter pill for Great Britain to swallow, for such action means capitulation to the vatican. Rome has already stated emphatically that the whole situation would be cleared up immediately if Lord Strickland, Prime Minister of Malta, was no longer in office. Lord Strickland, who has been conferring with the government here, has stubbornly refused to resign, despite repeated hints that this would be the best course, it is learned.

On the other hand the British government has not the power to recall him since he was elected under the Maltese constitution. Thus the only alternative remaining was the suspension of the constitution, which means that Lord Strickland automatically is jobless.

Specialist Goes to Phelan's Aid

SAN JOSE, June 24. (AP)—Dr. Samuel Lambert, New York specialist, arrived at the home of former United States Senator James D. Phelan near Saratoga today to join with other physicians in attending the wealthy Californian, who has been ill for several weeks.

According to Dr. Louis Mendelsohn of Saratoga, one of the attending physicians, Phelan's condition is not critical but his convalescence has been slower than had been expected.

TRENTON (N. J.) June 24. (Exclusive)—Both Democratic and Republican State conventions today adopted platform planks demanding a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

ARMY TOUR OF DUTY IN ISLANDS REDUCED

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Secretary Hurley announced today that in order to conserve army morale and health, the tour of duty in Porto Rico, Panama and the Hawaiian Islands will be reduced for army personnel from three to two years. The order will become effective July 1, next, but will be put into effect gradually, commensurate with funds available for transportation. The change will make duty at the three posts conform with the two-year tour in Alaska, China and the Philippines.

"DOUBLING" OF VOICES IN TALKIES ASSAILED

VIENNA, June 24. (AP)—The International Actors' Congress, with twenty nations represented, today adopted a resolution protesting against the practice of making a talking motion-picture film in one language and then engaging actors of other tongues to speak new texts for the original film.

SCHOOL FUNDS AT HIGH TOTAL

State to Give $28,253,150 to Counties During Year

Teachers' College Housing Reported Inadequate

Many New Buildings Rising, Kersey Declares

SACRAMENTO, June 24. (Exclusive)—The State of California will distribute $28,253,150 in school funds to the counties during the fiscal year which begins July 1, Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, reported at today's session of the Governor's Council.

The estimated apportionment is based on a contemplated average daily attendance of 917,801 in the elementary and high schools and the junior colleges. The elementary schools will get a cut of $20,050,050; the high schools $7,189,500, and the junior colleges, $1,013,600.

Housing facilities in the State teachers' colleges, Kersey informed the council, are inadequate and in some cases deplorable. He said that outside the item of academic classrooms, no single phase of teacher college housing approaches the present need. The result, he added, is Saturday classes, night classes and classes of abnormal size. Enrollment in Federal and State-aided vocational educational classes in California has grown from 1596 in 1918 to 36,604 at the present time, Kersey reported, and the number of classes has increased from eighty-four to 1251.

The work is carried on in all but thirteen of the fifty-eight counties. School-house construction is being carried on at an unprecedented rate, Kersey declared, and is providing work for many of the unemployed. The Department of Education has approved plans for sixty-nine school buildings in twenty-three counties to cost $1,500,000.

LINDBERGHS WILL NAME BABY SOON

Birth Certificate Blank Sent to Home of Morrows Not Yet Returned

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) June 24. (Exclusive)—The all-important matter of the name which little Lindbergh will carry through life was thought to have been settled today when Charles W. Hulst, Englewood attorney and close friend of the Morrow-Lindbergh family, sent to the registrar's office for a birth certificate blank.

Registrar Manson sent the certificate to the Morrow residence, where the baby was born to the flying colonel and his wife, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, on Sunday, and waited overtime for it to be filed, but the certificate was not returned. Manson told reporters the family is not required by law to record the baby's name on the certificate if the other necessary details are filed within five days. At any time after that a supplementary certificate may be filed giving the name.

It is reported that there still is an amicable argument going on between the principals over whether the baby shall be known as Junior, bear the name of his illustrious maternal grandfather, Dwight Morrow, or be Charles Augustus, Jr.

Harrison Lays Trade Unrest to Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Replying to Republican arguments in defense of the new tariff law, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, told a nation-wide radio audience tonight that if the "selfish interests" had not prevented a "limited" revision, "we would not now be experiencing such a confusion in business and observing such universal indignation on the part of the American people."

Speaking over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Senator Harrison said administration spokesmen are "desperately engaged in a concerted, unfair attempt to shift the responsibility for the present deplorable business situation by charging the continued unsettled conditions of the stock market is the result of a plot to bring discredit upon the party in power."

Flyers Leave No. 13 Behind

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Having successfully passed the hoodoo number 13, the City of Chicago entered the fourteenth day of its refueling flight for world honors. At 4:40 p.m. it had completed thirteen days—312 hours of flight.

John and Kenneth Hunter, the pilots, have expressed themselves in notes as confident they can increase the world's record of 420 hours, set last year in St. Louis.

CAROL AND HELEN APPEAR TOGETHER

BUCHAREST (Rumania) June 24. (AP)—Though King Carol and Queen Helen have never officially become reconciled, both were present today during a three-hour examination of their son, the Grand Vivode Michael, to determine his fitness to admission to second-grade school studies. Upon conclusion both parents embraced him. Reports of the joint attendance caused the greatest satisfaction throughout the country.

SIMON REPORT GIVEN SCORING

Indian Leaders Find Flaws in Second Volume

Nationalists Condemn It; Liberals Critical

Moslem Chieftain Denounces Four Main Points

SIMLA (India) June 24. (AP)—The second volume of the Simon commission's report, which recommends an all-India federation composed of the native states and the British provinces, cannot be said to have received an enthusiastic reception from Indian leaders.

The attitude of Nationalists is one of utter condemnation, since they have set complete independence as their goal, but the Liberals also have joined in criticism of the two Simon reports.

MOSLEMS CRITICAL

Moslem leaders are critical. Zafur Ullah Khan, one of the most prominent Moslem chieftains, approved several features of the report, but criticised the following points:

(1.) The recommendation providing for inclusion in provincial ministries of ministers nominated by the governor is called "absolutely indefensible."

(2.) The section of the report reserving for all time British control of the army and foreign relations with Indian states is held likely to prove "most disappointing."

(3.) The proposals regarding the northwest frontier province are "likely to intensify the Moslem feeling of disappointment over the report."

(The report recommends the British army remain in the turbulent northwest to guard the frontier, and suggests a special form of government for that province with less autonomy than in the other districts.)

(4.) The proposal that women should be enfranchised on the rights of their husbands' qualifications is "fantastic."

STRONGLY CRITICISED

Much stronger criticism was voiced by C. Y. Chitami, editor of the Allahabad Leader and delegate of the Liberal party to England in 1929.

"The report is not merely unsatisfactory, but is utterly objectionable," he said. "In fact, it is preposterous and most arrogant—an ironical answer to India's national demand for self-government, and a cruel rebuke to the weakened Indian who thought to do good by co-operating with the commission."

FORTY-FIVE KILLED IN PRISON MUTINY

RANGOON, BURMA (India) June 24. (AP)—One of the most serious prison mutinies in recent Indian history occurred here today in the Rangoon Central Jail. Before police and wardens had subdued the rioters in two hours of firing forty-five persons were killed and seventy-one wounded.

The dead included two sentries, two military police, a prison truck driver and forty convicts.

The armed forces of the law poured volley after volley into ranks of stubbornly resisting prisoners, literally mowing them down. Many of the injured are not expected to survive.

One report attributed the outbreak to indignation among the Indian convicts over the findings of the Simon Commission.

The authorities said all indications pointed to a well-organized plot for a jail delivery.

Albany Crowds Cheer Byrd on Trip for Medal

ALBANY (N. Y.) June 24. (AP)—Received by tumultuous thousands as wildly enthusiastic as any crowds yet to hail him, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd came to the State capital today to receive the Distinguished Service Medal of the State of New York and renew his old friendship with Gov. Roosevelt.

Coming from New York City in a navy destroyer with members of his South Pole expedition and his wife and mother, the admiral landed on a shore black with admirers who broke through all police restraint to trample about the waiting automobiles in wild efforts to seize the explorer's hand.

City Planners Hear Pasadenan

DENVER, June 24. (AP)—The desire of the city resident for open space to stretch his legs and fill his lungs with air untainted by smoke and dust is creating new work for city planning commissions, George W. Braden of Pasadena, western representative of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, told the National Conference on City Planning tonight.

Citing a gradual decrease in the population of Manhattan, the older section of New York, at the rate of 65,000 a year as typical of the trend of population in the United States, Braden said the city dweller sought to escape "biological hazards and civic influences of the larger cities."

Chicago Police Quiz Called Off

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Amid protesting cries of "whitewash," the City Council Committee on Police abandoned today its widely heralded investigation of the police department.

For the moment at least its policy will be "hands off" while John H. Alcock, acting Commissioner of Police, rebuilds and runs his force unfettered by politics and unhampered by its inquiry.

HUGE GUN ON WAY HERE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—A fourteen-inch railway gun will start moving from the government arsenal at Benicia tomorrow over rails for Fort MacArthur, Southern California, it was announced here today at the Army's Ninth Corps Area headquarters.

Little Fellows Crowd Action Into Olympic Main Go

BY PAUL LOWRY

SPEEDY DADO

It was the climax to a fight that fairly oozed speed in every round, and definitely established Dado's superiority over his slightly paler - brown brother from below the border.

Laredo was only down long enough for Referee Larry McGrath to wave his arm once, bouncing to his feet to sail pell-mell into his foe in an attempt to even the verdict. But that was enough to seal the decision.

The bout was full of action at all times, leather flying from all angles, and a crowded gallery of

Illinois Seeks Longer Bouts

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Illinois promoters will attempt to have the Legislature amend the State boxing law next January to permit fifteen-round boxing matches when world's championships are at stake. The present limit is ten, which, they explain, is suitable for nontitle fights only. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, said he favors fifteen-round fights.

Black Shadow Will Appear No More in Pennsylvania Rings, Purse Cut

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission took prompt action today as a result of last night's fiasco in which George Godfrey, the giant Negro, fouled Primo Carnera and lost the fight to the huge Italian.

GEORGE GODFREY

After Godfrey admitted to the commission he had unintentionally delivered a low blow in the fifth round, the commission revoked Godfrey's license to appear in Pennsylvania rings and cut his purse of $10,000 in half.

According to his contract, Godfrey was to receive $10,000 for the ten-round bout, but the commission paid him for only the five rounds in which he appeared, the other $5000 being turned over to the State Treasury.

Carnera received his full purse of $43,641.

Carnera was also a sufferer at the hands of the commission for something with which he had nothing to do. He, his managers and the whole Carnera stable of boxers were suspended pending further hearing on

Helen Wills Moody Scores Impressive Win

Johnny Doeg Triumphs in Straight Sets

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 24. (AP) Continuing its parade through the English tennis championship field, the United States today landed seven of its ranking men stars in the third round and advanced three of its women repsesentatives to the second in the play at Wimbledon.

JOHNNY DOEG

Without losing a set, Bill Tilden, George Lott, Johnny Doeg, Berkeley Bell, Johnny Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and Gregory Mangin easily brushed aside all opposition. The women invaders from across the Atlantic were not so fortunate. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody came through as expected along with the youthful Sarah Palfrey of Boston, Mary Greef of Kansas City and Elizabeth Ryan, but Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco, fell before the devastating drives of Mlle. Josane Sigart, Belgium's No. 1 ranking player, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Mrs. Moody's opponent, Fraulein Hilda Krahwinkel, Germany's third ranking player, made a good showing against the champion, although after dropping the first game in each set, as is Mrs. Moody's courteous manner, the outcome was never in doubt. The queen of the courts smashed powerful drives down the line whenever she needed a point, to win, 6-2, 6-1.

The only American man defeated was E. O. Mather, a Texas student at Oxford, who gave Tilden nothing more than a brief practice session, Big Bill winning, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

COAST STARS ADVANCE

Dolf Muelheisen Joins Robbins and Lewis in Fourth Round of Intercollegiate Tennis

HAVERFORD (Pa.) June 24. (AP)—Two favorites advanced today to the quarter-final round in the singles of the national intercollegiate tennis championships as the original field of 103 was cut down to fourteen at the Merion Cricket Club.

While Texas was eliminated completely from the singles competition, the East had seven players in the running; the Pacific Coast, four, and the South three.

BOB MUENCH

Julius Seligson of Lehigh, seeded No. 1 and winner of the college singles title two years ago, set the pace by being the first to enter the quarter-final round. Seligson triumphed over Gabriel Lavine of Pennsylvania, 6-4, 6-2.

At the bottom of the lower half of the card, Clifford Sutter of Tulane University, seeded No. 8, moved into the quarter-finals by disposing of E. B. Ward of Harvard, 6-3, 6-2.

Dolf Muehleisen, star player of the University of California team, seeded No. 7, entered the fourth round by defeating Stanley Almquist, the youth with the terrific service from the University of Oregon, 6-1, 6-0, while Bob Muench, Muelheisen's team-mate, was eliminated by Bertram Hammell of Swarthmore, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7, in a third-round match.

Other far westerners already in the fourth round are Clifford Rob-

MOSER TIES FOR THIRD

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT (Pa.) June 24. (AP)—With twenty-one colleges represented in the thirty-two qualifiers, a new record, the intercollegiate golf championship today finished medal play and moved on to the man-to-man encounters, starting tomorrow.

Never before has such a variety of institutions, from far and near, north, south, east and west, sent their crack golfers into the championship proper.

ALLEN MOSER

In the thirty-six-hole qualifying rounds, closing today, Princeton won the team championship for the fourth consecutive year, its total of 643 for the four-man team nosing out Yale by five strokes. Harvard, in turn, was five strokes back of the Blue.

Larry Moller, captain of the Notre Dame team, playing in the championship for the first time, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., medalist in last year's tournament, tied for the medal today, with thirty-six-hole scores of 153. Moller's two-day scores were 76 and 77, but Dunlap had to improve on his 78 in the first round with a sparkling 75 in the second.

The low score today was 75, Dunlap sharing the honor with two others, John Reese of Yale and Vincent Dolp of the University of Oregon.

Allen Moser, University of Southern California, and Marshall W. Forrest, captain of Yale, tied for third with scores of 155. These two played together yesterday and today and at the close there was not a stroke between their totals. Each scored 76 yesterday.

There was another tie for fifth between Phillips Finlay of Harvard

LANDIS OBJECT OF REBELLION

Milwaukee Club Files Suit to Hold Player

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—The first open rebellion against the arbitrary authority of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, broke out today, when the Milwaukee club of the American Association brought suit in Federal court to stop the transfer of one of its players to the St. Louis Browns of the American League.

JUDGE LANDIS

The player involved is Fred Bennett, a first-baseman with the Milwaukee Braves. Commissioner Landis had ordered the St. Louis Browns, which turned Bennett over to the Milwaukee team on option for two years, to either take him back, waive its option to another major-league club or release Bennett outright.

The Milwaukee club refused to allow Bennett to return to St. Louis, and filed suit before Federal Judge George A. Carpenter seeking to restrain Landis from transferring the player.

George W. Miller, an attorney, representing Commissioner Landis, assured Judge Carpenter the trans-

HEAVYWEIGHT SITUATION INTRIGUES MR. DEMPSEY

JACK DEMPSEY

"I may fight again," he said, "if I can get into condition.

"Provided, of course, that some promoter kicks in with $500,000 to $750,000 for my end."

The former heavyweight champion, who ruled the roost from 1919 to 1926, admits that the present situation intrigues him.

There are two big-money matches in sight for him—even after a three-year retirement from the ring—one with Primo Carnera, and in the event of victory, the other with Max Schmeling.

In his prime Dempsey probably could have knocked both kicking in a pair of rounds in the same ring on the same night.

But to such depths has the heavyweight class deteriorated that Dempsey, whose pins were none too good at Chicago three years ago and can't possibly be any better now, would be a good bet to stow away both Carnera and Schmeling.

The old Manassa Mauler can still hit, and as long as there are no Gene Tunneys abroad in the land, he appears to stand an equal chance of bossing the division again.

At least as long as they don't come any better than Carnera and Schmeling.

Dempsey says he will fight—if he does fight again—in only two cities, New York and Chicago.

They are the only cities, he declares, that can offer him enough money to induce him to enter the ring again. He received $447,000 for boxing Tunney at Chicago in 1927.

Eastern Paddlers in Today for National Meet

The New York Women's Swimming Association team, picked by swimming experts to win the national feminine title at Long Beach July 3-6, arrives in Southern California this afternoon. In addition to competing in the outdoor national championships at Recreation Park, Long Beach, the New York girls will be featured in two other meets. They compete Friday evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club along with numerous other champions and again Sunday at Lake Arrowhead in the mile-high aquatic carnival.

Pudgy Gould Walks Winning Tally Across Plate

BY BOB RAY

First-half flag hopes harbored by Buddy Ryan's league-leading Sacramento Senators took a drop out at Wrigley Field yesterday when the scrappy Stars of Hollywood nosed them out in a 6-to-5 ten-inning ball game. The setback reduced the Solons' lead over the Angels to one game and that makes the situation difficult, according to Skipper Ryan's point of view.

PUDGY GOULD

To make matters worse for Buddy and his Sacs, the Stars won out in the tenth without the aid of anything resembling a hit. In fact, Oscar Vitt's athletes won with one of those painless endings, having the winning run walked right over the plate for them.

It was plenty tough on Pudgy Gould, who replaced Lefty Louis Vinci on the mound in the sixth. He didn't allow the Sheiks a single hit but still was charged with the defeat.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Inasmuch as the ball game was decided in the Hollywood half of the tenth, we'll get right at the painless details of that finishing round. Otis Brannan drew a walk to start things and Dave Barbee followed with a perfect sacrifice. Gould fielded the ball but threw low to first, both runners being safe. Rumler bunted the boys to second and third and then the Sacramento board of strategy decided to walk Heath, filling the bases, and take a chance on Hank Severeid's hitting into a double play.

Now old Hank is not as speedy going down to first as he used to be and a ground ball hit by him in an occasion such as was presented would have meant a sure double play so Vitt called Cleo Carlyle in to bat for Severeid. Carlyle looked on as a third strike floated over the plate and Skipper Vitt gnashed his teeth and tore his hair. The Sheik skipper then got another hunch and

CARDS COLLECT

ST. LOUIS, June 24. (AP)—After allowing three runs in the opening inning, Wild Bill Hallahan settled down and held the Boston Braves scoreless the rest of the way, the Cardinals winning the second game of the series today, 11 to 3.

Hallahan issued only one base on balls.

Three home runs, four triples and five doubles were made, Watkins getting two circuit blows. The other home run was by Wally Berger, bringing his total to twenty-two for the season and putting him in a tie with Hack Wilson of the Cubs for the National League leadership. Score:

FIFTY-FIFTY

BOSTON, June 24. (AP)—The Red Sox mixed a lot of poor baseball with a few samples of good play today and divided a double-header with the Detroit Tigers. Boston won the first game, 5 to 4, and the Tigers took the second in ten innings, 8 to 7.

The first game was a battle of home runs with Bill Sweeney's pinch homer in the sixth providing the deciding runs. The Tigers had taken a 4-1 lead in the third on Uhle's homer with two on base, which followed two hits and an error.

Detroit scored two runs to Boston's one in the tenth inning of the second game after the Red Sox had tied the count for the third time in the eighth. Score:

PORTER TOPS ONTARIO CARD

Len Porter, the lightweight of whom Young Jack Thompson spoke as a comer at a dinner given in honor of the welter champ last week, will meet Freddie Hawkins in the top spot of a double feature program at Ontario tonight. Clem Avila and Chalky Wright share the feature event. Both bouts are scheduled for six rounds. The special brings Joe Macy and Frank Brown together,

WYKOFF AND SIMPSON MEET AGAIN IN PITTSBURGH RACE

Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California's sprint champion, and George Simpson of Illinois, who chased the Trojan star into a new world's 100-yard dash record of 9 2-5s, in the N.C.A.A. championships at Chicago recently, will meet again but under different colors when they take part in the senior national A.A.U. championships at Pittsburgh August 23. According to Coach Dean Cromwell, Wykoff intends to run for the Los Angeles Athletic Club team in the national championships, while Simpson will probably represent the Illinois Athletic Club.

Vic Williams, Trojan 440 star, and Jim Stewart, S.C.'s high-jump champion, will also probably be a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club team in the national A.A.U. meet.

PITCHING DOES IT

PITCHING isn't a lost art in the Coast League after all, not even with the lively ball. The other day it was pointed out in this column that the Mission club, with four sluggers in the first ten, should be in the first division instead of the second.

Mr. Leo Moriarty, the meticulous statistician of the league, said this gave him a great idea, and he forthwith proceeded to figure out why Sacramento was topping the roost.

And this is what he ascertained: Sacramento is sixth in batting, sixth in manufacturing safe hits and fifth in runs scored.

Therefore he deduces "a great pitching staff is the answer to the Senators' position at the top of the league standings. In eleven weeks, playing seventy-seven games, the Senators have scored 432 runs, while holding opponents to 360 runs." And Mory's recapitulation follows:

Sacramento's record for eleven weeks—

Sacramento Games	Runs	Opponent's Runs	Opponents
6	34	31	Mission
7	38	19	Portland
7	48	39	Los Angeles
7	42	42	San Francisco
7	40	22	Oakland
7	35	37	San Francisco
7	31	39	Los Angeles
7	34	33	Seattle
7	38	27	Portland
7	55	42	Oakland
8	37	29	Seattle

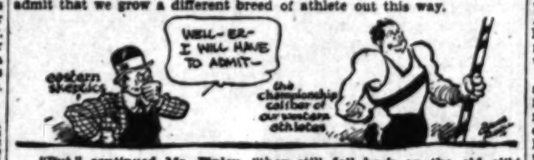
THE LAST ALIBI

THE gentleman in the adjacent pew, Mr. Harold Finley, who looks after the cow and pullet section of the paper, has a brother here from the East.

The brother hails from New York, is interested in athletics and brings pleasant tidings.

Mr. Finley says the brother tells him the East is at last ready to admit that we grow a different breed of athlete out this way.



"But," continued Mr. Finley, "they still fall back on the old alibi that we only have three big universities out here which get the pick of the athletes while back there they have to be parceled out.

"I wonder what all that dense population is good for if it can't stretch around a little bit."

As you may note Mr. Finley is very much for the West, and he never fails to bet his onions on Southern California when the football season rolls around.

FIVE REPRESENTATIVES

PROFESSIONALS of Southern California who will represent this section in the national open golf championship at Interlachen Country Club, Minneapolis, shove off from these shores the latter part of the week.

Play is Thursday, July 10, and Friday, July 11.

Big Fred Morrison, who set a new record in the qualifying rounds for the P.G.A. at Hillcrest last fall, and Olin Dutra, who scored high in the various open tourneys here during the winter season, are the favorites of the lot.

They are five of 150 select contestants from all over the country who will go a-gunning for the title won by Mr. Robert Tyre Jones last year, and which Mr. Jones aims to add to those collected already this year—British amateur and British open.

BLACK SHADOW THROUGH

FAT from head to ankles.

Thus did Grantland Rice describe George Godfrey in his five-round foul skit with Primo Carnera at Philadelphia the other night.

Godfrey weighed 250 pounds for the match.

In his prime, when he was on the Coast, he scaled 220 pounds.

There is no question but what the big black is through. He took the easy way out because his speed and wind are gone.

GODFREY WILL FIGHT NO MORE

a row that occurred in Carnera's dressing room before Primo appeared at the Phillies ball park.

Jack Silvers, one of the preliminary fighters, refused to obey a commission order to wear the regulation protective device. Silvers was backed up by Carnera's managers, and the heat of the argument that followed resulted in blows being struck.

Francis Connelly, a deputy inspector for the commission, who insisted on the protective requirement, was on the receiving end of one of the blows that flew about the place and suffered a cut lip and loose teeth.

Big Primo knew nothing about the scrap until he arrived at the dressing-room, but the suspension of the Carnera stable automatically operated against him. What he had to say about the matter could not be learned for he had gone to Atlantic City before his suspension was announced.

The report of Referee Tommy Reilly had much weight with the commission in putting Godfrey outside the pale of lawful boxing in Pennsylvania.

His report stated, in part:

"My official slip, as you are aware, was marked Godfrey fouled deliberately.

"The first two rounds were won by Godfrey; the third, fourth and fifth, as far as it was contested, were won by Carnera.

"Godfrey's inability to make any impression on Carnera by his attack and the dogged determination coupled with his unusual strength, which was plainly visible throughout the bout, was the asset which enabled Carnera to make Godfrey wilt and to my mind clearly demonstrated Godfrey does not possess a fighting heart.

"As you know, I was sent in to referee this bout vested with the authority to order its continuance in the event of a foul provided the fouled boxer would be able to continue after a rest period. This explains my calling Dr. Vaughin into the ring before making any decision. Ordinarily, the foul was so deliberate I would not have hesitated one second in disqualifying Godfrey.

"Your efforts to safeguard the interest of boxing and the patrons of boxing made it imperative I be guided by the opinion of the physician. That he made no mistake in his opinion was verified when Carnera again collapsed in his dressing-room."

Jimmy Dougherty, Godfrey's manager, was absolved by the commission for what occurred last night. He said he suffered financial loss because of the outcome of the bout.

Godfrey told members of the commission he had not the slightest intention of fouling Carnera. Dougherty was quoted today as saying Godfrey lost the bout through stubbornness. He said he instructed Godfrey to outbox Carnera, to box him until he was dizzy and then knock him out.

Godfrey, Dougherty said, had other ideas and lost.

Godfrey said Carnera is a "nice" fighter, but that he cannot hit. He said Carnera did not hurt him with his blows.

FOUL PROBLEM BOBS UP AGAIN

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The perplexing foul problem bobbed up again at the New York State Athletic Commission today when Al Singer, who boxes Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship at the Polo Grounds here July 17, asked that steps be taken to guard against an unsatisfactory ending.

Singer offered to insert a clause in his contract with Mandell specifying neither would accept victory through a low blow. The Bronx lightweight asked the only punishment meted out for a low blow be loss of the round in which the punch was landed. The commission took the suggestion under advisement.

Jimmy Johnston, American manager of Phil Scott, challenged the winner of the possible return match between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling in September on behalf of the British heavyweight.

He asked also the commission to make a ruling on Scott's rights under a contract he signed last year with Humbert Fugazy for a match with Schmeling. The German refused to meet Scott and was suspended but Fugazy later sold his rights under the contract to Madison Square Garden. The commission deferred action.

HAWAIIAN BOYS ARRIVE TODAY

Junior Olympic Champions at Alexandria

BY BRAVEN DYER

Four brown-skinned youngsters, Junior Olympic Games champions of the Hawaiian Islands, will arrive in Los Angeles this morning. They are headed for the national finals at Atlantic City, where some of their competition will come from Southern California's representatives.

Ez Crane, sports writer of the Honolulu Advertiser, heads the Hawaiian party, arriving over the Lark at 9:30 a.m. today. With him is his wife and the four champions—Cupie Yamamoto, Anthony Louis, Harou Ouchi and Kazuo Arakawa.

The party will stop at the Alexandria Hotel during its stay in this city.

Crane and the young champions arrived in San Francisco yesterday over the Matson liner Matsonia and after a day of sight-seeing pulled out for Los Angeles. After the meet at Atlantic City the Hawaiian party will join hands with the Southern California delegation, headed by John F. Ness of The Times, and set sail for Latin America aboard the liner Venezuela of the Panama Mail Steamship Company.

Yamamoto won the senior championship of the Hawaiian Islands by scoring 677 points, while Louis was second with more than 600. These two boys loom as favorites over our local seniors, Sam Waxman and Louis Haley, Waxman having scored 607 points to win the Southern California crown while Haley was second with 550.

Ouchi's total of 668 points is far and away better than that of 625 moved by Joe Andrade in winning the Southern California junior crown. However, Andrade is capable of improving his score, Johnny Lee, second-place junior winner here with 624 points, may be able to hold Arakawa about even, although the Hawaiian is also capable of improvement over his 600 mark of some weeks ago.

The Advertiser, through Crane and Archie Sharpe, showed the 1929 Southern California champions a royal time during their trip to Honolulu last summer and local officials hope to be able to repay this hospitality while the Hawaiian party is stopping here.

MOSER TIES FOR THIRD

and Sam Parks, Jr., of the University of Pittsburgh, who led the first round with a score of 74. They had totals of 157.

Four players from widely separated parts of the country tied for seventh with scores of 159, R. B. Martin, Illinois; Knox M. Young, Jr., Geneva; Fred Brand, Jr., Penn State, and Vincent Dolp, Oregon.

Two-day scores of 168 were necessary to enter the select circle which will furnish the match play. There will be only eight of the college players left in the competition tomorrow night, as two eighteen-hole rounds will be played. The quarter-finals Thursday, semifinals Friday and finals Saturday will be at thirty-six holes.

In the players qualified Princeton is represented by four, Harvard, Yale and Alabama have three each, Notre Dame and Southern California sent in two apiece and Illinois, Geneva, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Oregon, Rice Institute, Florida, North Dakota State, Union, Ohio State, Texas, Ashland, St. Xavier, North Carolina and Pennsylvania each has one.

Everett Marshall Out to Defeat Lee Wycoff Tonight in Feature Olympic Mat Tussle

NEWCOMER MAY UPSET EXPERTS

Missouri Star is Favored Exponent

Strangler Lewis Picked to Beat Plestina

Williams and Don George to Meet in Opener

...Marshall is set for his first ... here in several months, ... steps into the ring at the Olympic tonight for his finish mat battle with Lee Wycoff, the lanky and sensational Missouri grappler, who is credited with being the greatest exponent of the toe-hold since Frank Gotch.

Although Marshall is favored to beat Wycoff tonight, the newcomer, who will be ... his first appearance as a ..., has shown so much ... with a great number ... and such a diversified ... that those who have been ... him in training during ... few days believe he stands ... chance to register one ... upsets of the year.

... has had two matches ... In the first he contented ... with playing with his ... Jack Olsen, wearing ... down with such holds as ... reverse body-... head and arm scissors, ... leg grapevines, a few ..., and then finishing ... with a crotch and half-... He simply picked ... of the floor, raised him ... his head, and crashed him. ... during the entire bout ... display a toe-hold. He ... the same procedure in ... with Don George ... ago, although in this ... his attack was faster and ... varied. He had George ... on the defense without ... toe-holds.

... days ago Wycoff revealed ... he was a past master ... They were a group of holds ... had taken him two entire win-... master, but which he has ... to win all of his biggest ... with in the last three years. ... were the toe-holds, ... him by a former pupil ... former teacher of the great ..., Pete Lochs and ..., respectively.

... these four toe-holds Wycoff ... all of his defenses and of-fenses. He is able to get one of these four grips from almost any position. All of the other holds he has mastered are used by Wycoff to bring his opponent into one of the four holds. Because of this fact he is able to get a toe-hold with enough different combinations to cause his opponents to be on the defense most of the time, just as George was in their match here.

Against this collection of toe-holds, Marshall will pit his airplane spin and backward body slam, and probably the best developed collection of wrist and arm locks of any young heavyweight in the game. Marshall had two warm-up matches last week, and won both with airplane spins, in straight falls, and he feels rather confident that the same hold will prove effective against Wycoff.

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former champion, and Marin Plestina, the 240-pound Jugo-Slav giant tangle in the other best-two-out-of-three-fall match. Plestina will outweigh Lewis by more than ten pounds. Although the former champion is a favorite to win, the Jugo-Slav can be expected to give Lewis more punishment than any wrestler he has met this year.

Moose Norbeck, another rough and tough 235-pounder like Lewis, who is rated as a top-notcher in both Canada and the Northwest, will face Don George, the colorful former national amateur mat king, in the one-fall, one-hour-time-limit opener.

BURNELL, TOMMY ELKS WILL TANGLE TONIGHT

Ladies' night and forty rounds of boxing combine to make tonight's fight card at the new Wilmington Bowl attractive fistic bait for harbor fans. Frankie Burnell, young Long Beach welter, meets Tommy Elks in the eight-round wind-up.

Four six-round bouts and two fours complete the card. Henri Inloe, Cuban Negro feather, tackles "Irish" Jerry Duffy in the six-round semi-wind-up. Jimmy Hart, ex-tar, battles Joe Reese; Johnny Consales meets Jess Gabucco and Joe Kelly faces Sid Grigry in the other six-rounders.

SOUTHLAND TRACKSTERS JAUNT NORTH TOMORROW

Vic Williams and Jim Stewart of Southern California's national intercollegiate championship track team, Herman Brix of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and Kenny Grumbles, former Trojan low hurdler and now coach at Alhambra High School, will leave tomorrow night to take part in the Dominion Day track-and-field championships at Vancouver, B. C., on July 1.

Williams, who won second in the quarter-mile in the N.C.A.A. championships and third in the I.C.4A. meet, will run the 440 against a fast field that will include several American as well as Canadian stars, while Stewart, who was first in the high jump in the N.C.A.A. meet and second in the I.C.4A., will put the shot and throw the discus as well as high jump.

Brix will take part in both weight events, and Grumbles will run the high hurdles as there is no low-barrier event scheduled for the Canadian meet.

Ascot Racers Hold Daylight Finale Sunday

Sunday afternoon's auto races at the Legion Ascot Speedway will be the last daylight program to be held at the course this summer, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Fred Loring of the speedway contest board.

Loring stated that increased attendance has prompted the racing moguls to schedule an exceptionally pretentious list of races for this week, but he added that night racing will be instituted during July and August.

Entries of Jimmy Sharp and Francis Quinn, the two stars of the local track, were received yesterday by local officials of the A.A.A., assuring local fans of another duel between the pair. Last Sunday Sharp passed Quinn three laps from the finish line and won the race, while a week previously Quinn got by the San Pedro ace and took first money.

Grogan Loses to Canzoneri

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri of New York outpointed Tommy Grogan, hard-punching lightweight from Omaha, in a ten-round bout at the Queensberg stadium tonight. Grogan put Canzoneri down for a count of nine in the second round, but could not keep him there.

Canzoneri clearly outscored Grogan but the Omaha boy, with dynamite in either hand, always was dangerous.

Stoefen Wins Two Matches in Net Play

Lester Stoefen won two matches yesterday in the San Gabriel Valley open tennis tourney being staged at San Marino grammar school, and advanced to the quarter-finals, Stoefen's first victory was over Graves, whom he defeated, 6-2, 8-1. Later in the day the lanky Los Angeles Athletic Club net star took the measure of Keely, 6-1, 6-2.

Only two matches were held in the women's singles, Dorothy Workman beating Mrs. Bud Campbell, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, in one while Dot Robinson defeated Kate Northcope in the other, 6-1, 6-3.

Finals in all events are on the schedule for Sunday.

Yesterday's results:

Men's singles—Barioch defeated Otis, 6-4, 7-5; Westsmith defeated Chaplin, 7-5, 6-2; Johnson defeated Mattheys, 6-4, 6-2; Stoefen defeated Graves, 6-2, 6-2; Stoefen defeated Keely, 6-1, 6-2; Stoefen defeated Keefe, 6-1, 6-3; Mahoney defeated Muse, 6-0, 6-1.

Men's doubles—Rouley and Graves defeated Belote and McDavitt, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Mahoney and Kelch defeated Bisson and Bisson, 6-8, 6-3, 6-4.

Women's singles—Dot Robinson defeated Kate Northcope, 6-1, 6-2; Dorothy Workman defeated Mrs. Bud Campbell, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

REISTER ON SHORT END IN SPARR BOUT

For the first time in his sensational career, Bobby Reister, the hard-hitting Alhambra youngster, will be a short-ender in the betting tomorrow night. He is scheduled to meet Jack Sparr over the eight-round distance in the main event at South Gate and the veteran Sparr is being rated a 10-to-8 favorite because of his experience. Sparr, who cracked a couple of Sammy Mandell's ribs a few years ago, and who numbers Jack Thompson, the welterweight champion among the men he has met, is being selected as the acid test for Reister.

Matchmaker "Doc" Moffett has Ritchie Thomas and Lupe Castro fighting the six-round semi-wind-up. They are junior lightweights.

Beavers Trip Seals, 5 to 3

PORTLAND (Or.) June 24. (AP)—The Portland Ducks hit in the clinches today behind stellar pitching by Curtis Fullerton and the result was a 5-to-3 victory over the San Francisco Seals, who are making their first appearance in the Northwest. A three-run rally in the seventh, offsetting a two-all tie from the fifth gave the Beavers the winning margin. The Seals accounted for their final run in the ninth.

Missions Nose Out Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—The Missions opened the week's series here today with a 5-4 win over the Oakland Oaks. All the losers' runs were the result of homers, Lombardi, catcher, getting two and Martin and Verges each getting one. The Missions pounded Edwards for twelve hits, jumping into an early lead in the third with a three-run rally.

Bill Dally of California Injures Hand

Substitute Crews to Mix This Afternoon

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 24. (AP)—Prebattle discussion on the part of oarsmen and coaches in the rowing camps and boathouses scattered along the Hudson made it evident today that the four-mile struggle for varsity championship honors on Thursday will be not one race but half a dozen.

The Golden Bears of California, turned back by Washington more than two months ago by the margin of one-fifth of a second in their duel for Pacific Coast supremacy, are out to beat the crew from Seattle, if it is the last thing they ever do.

Washington, on the other hand, feels fully capable of taking the measure of California again and will concentrate most of its attention upon the Glendon-coached eights of the Navy and Columbia which have proved their principal rivals in past Poughkeepsie regattas.

"It's a funny thing about these two Pacific Coast crews," remarked the veteran Cornell mentor, Jim Wray, with a chuckle.

"Washington thinks California is full five lengths slower than when they raced early in the season—and California thinks the same about Washington.

"The reason probably is that they have had a chance to see a lot of each other here and have noticed the little flaws that were not apparent to them before."

Both camps have been stirred by reports of casualties. The latest was announcement by Coach Ky Ebright of California today that Bill Dally, No. 5 oarsman and one of three veterans of the intercollegiate and Olympic champion crews of 1928, was handicapped by an infected hand. He is still at his post, however, as is Loren School, big Washington No. 5, who was reported to have strained his shoulder.

Ebright feels his crew is considerably better than its record appears, although somewhat short on maturity. The Californians, averaging 20 years of age, are the youngest varsity on the river.

Light workouts were the order of the day all along the river and they will be even lighter tomorrow.

STARS NOSE OUT SENATORS

called Johnny Bassler in to hit for young Jack Wilson, who had hit safely in his previous three trips to the plate. But Bassler didn't have to do a thing but wait for Gould to pitch four wide ones, which forced Brannan over the plate and ended the exciting series opener.

The contest was a rather free-hitting affair that saw the lead see-saw back and forth. The Stars finally got out in front in the sixth when they chased Vinci, but the Sacs came back and tied it in the seventh. And the count remained knotted until Gould grew so generous in the tenth.

Gordon Rhodes, who started on the mound for Hollywood, was derricked in the seventh and Augie Johns finished and did a good job of it.

YOUNG WILSON SHINES

Vitt tried Wilson, his 17-year-old find from Portland, at third and young Jack delivered three singles, driving in two runs, walked once and handled his two chances cleanly.

Meryl Hoag, the Sac's sensational young center-fielder, who was sold to the Yankees last week, batted out a home run and three singles in five times at bat to give the fans an exhibition of his batting ability.

Sacramento began the scoring by nicking Rhodes for a brace of runs in the second inning. With one away Hoag bounced a single over second and scored from first on Osborn's double off the center-field wall. Osborn went to third on the throw to the plate and counted on Koehler's single to right, on which the Sac catcher was thrown out when he tried to stretch it into a double.

The Stars got one back in the home half of the second with the aid of an error by French. Rumler led off with a double to left. Heath hit to Pranch, who threw high to McLaughlin in a poor effort to get Rumler at third. Severeid's sacrifice fly to Hoag scored Rumler.

HOAG HITS HOMER

Both sides made a run in the fourth, Hoag hitting into the right-field bleachers for the Solon tally. In the Hollywood half Rumler singled and was forced by Heath. McLaughlin threw out Severeid on a sensational play, Heath taking second. Young Wilson's single to left brought Heath home.

Hollywood tied it up in the fifth when Hill tripled off the top of the extreme center-field fence and counted on Lee's Texas leaguer between French and Hoag.

Walks to Camilli and Osborne with Hoag's single sandwiched in filled the bases with Sacs in the sixth but Rhodes got out of the jam with only one run scoring. Steinbacher lined to Lee and then Koehler sent a sacrifice fly to Barbee that brought Camilli over the plate. Lee threw out Vinci on a sensational play to retire the side.

STARS CHASE VINCI

The Stars came back with two in their half of the sixth, taking the lead temporarily and driving Vinci to the showers. Vinci walked Heath to start trouble for himself and Mickey scored on Severeid's smashing double off the left-field bricks. Wilson's third hit was a single to left that scored Severeid. Vinci cut off the throw-in and Wilson was caught trying to take second. When Rhodes singled off the second-base bag, Ryan lifted Vinci and sent Gould to the mound. Hill lined to Backer, whose toss to Camilli doubled Rhodes and ended the rally.

Rhodes wobbled out of the picture in the seventh and the Solons tied the score once more by putting across their fifth run. French beat out a hit to Lee to start things and took second on McLaughlin's infield out. Backer's single scored French and brought Johns in to replace Rhodes. Camilli singled and Backer halted at second. Johns fanned Hoag and the runners dashed for second and third. As Severeid went to throw to third, Hoag's bat swung around a second time and knocked the ball out of Severeid's hand. Naturally Umpire Sweeney had to call Backer out for Hoag's interference. Led by Manager Buddy Ryan, the Solons gathered around Sweeney in violent protest, but the ump was right and he knew it and refused to get excited. The Sacramento delegation finally gave up the one-sided argument and the game was resumed to its painless finish.

FILIPINO BOXER COPS DECISION

Filipinos and Mexicans roared in approval.

Dado set the pace throughout, and even had he not gained the edge on points scored by clean, fast hitting, his aggressiveness would have brought him victory.

Off to an even start in the first two rounds, Dado gradually asserted his supremacy, shooting straight lefts and rights to the head.

Laredo chose to back track until Dado closed in, but it was his thrilling sorties as this occurred that brought forth many a ripping head-to-head rally. He scored particularly well in the sixth with left hooks to the face and right-hand chops.

Jimmy Hanna hit Bud Doyle often enough and hard enough to have dropped nine out of ten light-heavyweights but Doyle stayed upright throughout the six rounds of the semi-wind-up.

Jimmy must have become discouraged as the rubber ball in front of him kept coming in for more, but he stuck to his guns and won all six rounds. Doyle is one of the guys Frankie Campbell ducks.

Rito Punay defeated Sammy Offerman in a fast six-round fight, Sammy Aguirre knocked out Jimmy Jones in two rounds, and Leo Domingo and Frankie Manns fought four rounds to a draw to complete the bill.

The program was a pip all the way with an unusual feature in the Aguirre - Jones bout. Aguirre dropped Jones for the count of nine in the second round and repeated the dose when Jones regained his feet. On his second fall Jones's chin hit the canvas with as much vigor as the punch that found his chin, and there is some question as to which is entitled to the verdict.

Dado had a one-pound weight edge over Laredo—114 to 113.

NAKAMURA HERE FOR MAIN-STREET BATTLE

Kano Nakamura, Japanese junior lightweight who boxes Harry Grey in half of the double main event at Main street Saturday night, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and went into training at the Main-street gymnasium. The Japanese is in great shape, having been in training in San Francisco for the past ten days. Pete Pacheco, Denver Mexican welterweight, meets Howard Frits in the other six.

HOOD AFTER RETURN BATTLE WITH DADO

By beating Alfredo Imperial tomorrow night at Pasadena Arena, Ernie Hood can earn himself a return bout with Speedy Dado, whom he has been after for more than a year. Dado slipped over a quick knockout on Hood at the Hollywood Legion about a year ago and the Pasadena flyweight has been chasing the Filipino ever since, for another shot.

GRIFFITH TO FIGHT RISKO

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Tuffy Griffith, Chicago heavyweight, has been matched with Johnny Risko of Cleveland for a ten-round match at the Chicago Stadium, July 2.

MILLER FACES RUGGED RIVAL

Babe Anderson May Surprise Benny Friday

Babe Anderson, San Jose boy, may prove a stumbling block to Benny Miller Friday night at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Miller has never fought a fighter as good as Anderson and none as dangerous. It is a surprise to most boxing men that Miller took this shot at his stage of the game. Better fighters than Benny have ducked Anderson and one of them is the welterweight champion, Jack Thompson. If Miller can get over Anderson his next opponent may be old Joe Dundee.

Ray Spiker meets a tough customer in the semi-wind-up. Bad News Johnson will be favorite over Spiker. These heavyweights have the wallop. Young Papke is too young for main events, but he looks like the most colorful fighter on the card. He is in the special event and fights Jess Vasquez. Papke will in all probability be the most popular fighter since Ace Hudkins was in his prime.

Today's suit is the first outbreak protesting Commissioner Landis's authority since he became the czar of baseball following the Black Sox scandal of 1920.

Baer to Face Owens Tonight

OAKLAND, June 24. (AP)—Principals in a rousing ten-rounder in Los Angeles a few weeks ago, Max Baer of Livermore and Ernie Owens of Los Angeles, rival heavyweights, will meet here tomorrow night in a return bout over the same distance.

Baer, stiff-punching youngster, won the decision in the first meeting after a great closing rally. Many ringsiders were not in accord, however, believing Owens was entitled to a draw.

Rosenbloom to Meet Slattery

Slattery completed training several days ago and expects to go into the ring at about 168 pounds, his best fighting weight.

FAIR NEW YORK SWIMMERS DUE

Eleanor Holm, backstroke and medley champion; Agnes Geraghty, breaststroke record holder; Adelaide Lambert, medley star; Lisa Lindstrom, relay swimmer; Catharine Ames and 13-year-old Constance Hanf, sprint stars.

The team will go straight to Long Beach, arriving there at 6:02 o'clock this evening. The complete team will compete at the L.A.A.C. Friday along with such champions as George Kojac and Ray Ruddy of the New York A. C., Helene Madison of Seattle and the Southern California champions, Buster Crabbe and Josephine McKim, both of the Los Angeles A. C. All of these stars hold national championship and world records too numerous to mention and their appearance at the Mercury tank Friday will give local fans an opportunity to witness the finest indoor meet held here.

AMERICANS WIN AT WIMBLEDON

8-6, 6-4, while Lott took the measure of the veteran Charles H. Kingsley, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., went into the third round with a decisive victory over Roderick Menzel, first ranking Czech-Slovakian player, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. Johnny Doeg, the California southpaw, advanced at the expense of Al Della Porta of England by scores of 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., alternate on the United States Davis Cup team, joined the American advance by eliminating O. G. Noel Trumbull, former British Davis Cup player, 6-3, 7-5, 6-0. Johnny Van Ryn completed the sweep, defeating J. L. Chabberlain of England, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Palfrey made her British championship debut by defeating Miss B. Yorke of England, 6-1, 6-4. The victory of Miss Greef was just as impressive when she eliminated Mme. T. Wolfe of Austria, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Ryan, who makes her home in England, turned back Miss H. M. Brooke of England, 6-2, 6-3.

From now on the Americans will find tougher competition. In tomorrow's play Bell meets Henri Cochet of France, the defending champion, while Allison plays Lyttleton Rogers, the lanky Irishman.

Foul Tips

Young Jack Wilson, Vitt's 17-year old pick-up from Portland, looked so good yesterday that the Hollywood skipper is going to keep him on third base for a while. Wilson got three hits in three times at bat and drove in two runs. The only time he looked bat was when he failed to slide at second on a close play in the ninth.

Either Pat Thomas or Ed Bryan is expected to hurl for the Sacs today. Jim Turner will be Skipper Vitt's mound choice.

Lee and Brannon performed brilliantly around the keystone sack yesterday, turning in three double plays and several difficult chances.

Hoag evidently has no favorite spots to hit. Yesterday he singled over second, homed into the right-center-field stands, singled to right and singled to left. He gave all the fields a play with his bingles.

Among those present yesterday was an old favorite, Brick Eldred, who is doing a comeback with the Sacs.

Jesse Hill's triple in the fifth was a mighty drive, the ball landing on top of the wall in extreme center field and then bouncing back into the arena.

McLaughlin robbed Severeid of a hit in the fourth when he speared Hank's drive over third base and got the ball to first in time for a putout.

It looks as though it will be tough to head off the Angels the way they're going now. Lelivelt has his gang playing right ball and the rest of the schedule favors the Angels. The Seraphs, by the way, were the only first-division occupants to win yesterday, the Sacs, Oaks and Seals all bowing to second-division opposition.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

...Mohammed Beyd, am your only hope." And ...this assertion to provide the captive with food ...thought, the Arab spurred forward toward the ...of the column. Jane Clayton could not know ...ough of the fellow's words were true; but it ...the effect of dampening her hopes. It caused ...to review with suspicion every past act of the ...man upon whom she had been looking as her sole ...ector in the midst of a world of enemies and ...ger . . . At night her separate tent was pitched ...tween those of Mohammed Beyd and Werper.

Two sentries guarded her tent and thus it had not been deemed necessary to confine her in bonds. Tonight she sat quietly before it watching the rough activities of the camp. She had eaten the ponderscript meal a slave had brought. The girl's gaze wandered across the trampled jungle clearing but she no longer saw it. Instead, she visioned a distant bungalow and scenes of happy security which brought to her eyes tears of mingled joy and sorrow, blotting out the quarreling, uncouth men and the squalid surroundings about her.

...saw a tall, broad-shouldered man riding in from ...ious folds, she saw herself waiting to greet him ...an armful of fresh-cut roses from the bushes ...ed flushed the little rustic gate before her. All ...she knew was gone, wiped out by the ...ches and bullets and hatred of these hideous ...degenerate men. With a stifled sob she turned ...ack into the tent and throwing herself upon her ...ed sobbed forth her misery until kindly sleep ...ught her relief.

While she slept a figure stole from the tent that stood to the right of hers. It approached the sentry before the doorway and whispered a few words in the man's ears. The latter nodded and strode off through the darkness in the direction of his own blankets. The figure passed to the rear of Jane Clayton's tent and spoke again to the sentry there and this man also left, following in the trail of the first. Then he who had sent them away stole silently to the tent flap, untied it and entered noiselessly within.

TRACTOR PLANS NEW ECONOMIES

First Step in Reorganizing Management Taken

B. C. Heacock Now President in Personnel Change

Operating Staff Shifted to Illinois Offices

Initial steps in a management reorganization plan of the Caterpillar Tractor Company designed to increase operating efficiency to conform with the expanding activities of its Illinois subsidiary plants, were taken yesterday when directors elected B. C. Heacock president to succeed R. C. Force, who was made chairman of the executive committee.

Mr. Heacock has been vice-president since 1925 and prior to that time was connected in various capacities with the C. L. Best Tractor Company, one of the predecessor concerns. Mr. Force has been president of Caterpillar since its formation.

Directors also elected to the executive committee Mr. Heacock and O. L. Starr, vice-president, increasing the membership of the committee to five. In addition to Mr. Force, C. L. Best and H. G. Fair are members.

STAFF TRANSFERRED

The new management plan also involves the transfer of the operating staff of the company to Peoria, Ill., in order that officials and departmental heads may be able to exercise necessary close supervision over the increasingly large operations of the company at its major plants there, according to the announcement.

Tractor manufacture will be concentrated at the Peoria division, and by reason of the quantity production at the one point, marked economies of operations are expected to be effected. More frequent carlot shipments from Peoria to western dealers will also be possible, it was stated.

KEEPS CORPORATE HOME

At San Leandro the present corporate home office will be continued, and it is planned to establish in the plant there the research division of the company with all development facilities, laboratories and personnel in direct charge of Mr. Starr. Mr. Starr since formation of the company, has been in charge of the manufacturing operations.

Of the five models of the company's tractors, only two sizes have recently been in production at the San Leandro factory.

Selection of San Leandro for the research division, it was explained, was made not only on account of the plant and facilities, but also because of the all-year opportunities for field tests and experimentation. It is planned to bring together a corps of engineers from the various divisions of the company to work in connection with C. L. Best, chairman of the board.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Yesterday's declines were followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in the cotton market today, but July was generally lower under further promotive day liquidation, while new crop positions met increased offerings on moderate buying, owing to weakness in grain and the rather unsettled ruling of the stock market.

July sold off about 19 points, declining to 13.21, while new crop positions after showing net losses of some 7 to 10 points, recovered part of their losses with the general market rallying about 3 to 12 points at lower around 1 o'clock.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, June 24. (Exclusive)—Cottonseed oil was moderately active today and displayed a steady tone most of the time in the face of weakness in other markets. In fact, distinct firmness prevailed temporarily when shorts bought old contracts. The latter reacted slightly at the close, but nevertheless was steady with March selling at top levels, 3 points higher. The old contracts closed 5 points lower to 5 points higher and new contracts unchanged to 11 points higher. Total sales, 18,600 barrels, including 9500 barrels old and 1650 new. Veteran Banker Expects Trade Upturn in Fall

CHICAGO, June 24.—"We will unquestionably have the usual fall upturn in business this year but further than that, until several important factors in the situation, such as crops and international relationships become more clearly defined, it is practically impossible to predict the course of business and volume of profits in the second half today," said Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust Company.

"Business reached the low point last December," he continued. "There was some recovery in the early months of this year which, however, did not carry through and generally speaking I should say that business has not been as good since March 1 as many people believed it would be. At that, first half business profits in this country will about equal those in the first half of 1929.

"The business situation at present has no definite trend with the exception of commodity prices which have declined and are still declining. This condition is not confined to our country and there will be no resumption of business in any comprehensive way until commodity prices strike bottom. Just when that will be will depend on world-wide conditions and upon our rate of production.

"In forty-three years of banking experiences my observation has been that under conditions similar to the present, the turn has come much more rapidly than anybody believed it would and in such a way that even the greatest financiers could not tell at the time just what caused it."

Niagara Hudson Profits Steady

NEW YORK, June 24.—Niagara Hudson Power Corporation and subsidiaries reported today net profits for five months ended May 31, of $7,269,066 after all charges, equal to 28 cents a share on 25,774,995 shares of capital stock as against $7,260,602 or 28 cents a share in the same period a year ago. Operating revenues aggregated $33,850,989 against $33,109,250.

May profits totaled $1,351,030 against $1,362,774 in May, 1929, and the operating revenues $6,509,967 against $6,580,254. Net profits for twelve months ended May 31, totaled $15,886,900 or 62 cents a share, and the operating revenues for the same period aggregated $80,456,723. No comparative statement for this period is available.

Mr. Price is consulting with Mr. Pierce in regard to opening up new territory in the Pacific-Southwest.

"SHARK NET" INVESTMENT NEWEST "SUCKER" TRAP

"Big Money" in co-operative shark fishing by buying for $150 a sixty-foot section of a shark net is the latest lure of promoters angling for the dollars of investors.

The promoters of this ingenious scheme claim, according to a recent announcement of the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., that sharks will be caught in these nets at the rate of at least 100 a month. They assure purchasers that an accurate account will be kept of the catch made by each individual sixty-foot net "and all sharks caught in a given net will be credited to the owners of said net."

As a fee for their fishing service the promoters require that half of the catch of each net above one shark per net per month shall belong to them. Although an average twelve-foot shark is worth from $12 to $16, according to the sharksters, by cutting this expectancy in half you learn that each 600-foot net catching 100 sharks per month should "net" at least $600 worth of sharks.

No guarantee is given that the sharks will distribute themselves evenly among the ten sections of the net, but, if they did, the company tells its prospective shark fishers, each net would catch eighty to ninety sharks during the season of eight or nine months. Half of these would go to the company as their service charge, but this would leave an income for each purchaser of from $270 to $306 per year on each sixty-foot net owned. That is, if the sharks co-operated with the promoters, concerning the possibility of which the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., raises some doubt.

To make this proposition doubly attractive the promoters provide that even if your section doesn't catch any sharks, they will allow you three sharks a quarter, or $18 in cash. Multiplied by four, this would mean a minimum return of $72 for the year on a $150 "investment."

Concerning the use of these sharks, the promoters relate that salted white shark meat is sold for $145 per ton and that shark oil brings 90 cents per gallon. Dark meat is sold over the counter for $75 per ton, while the fins, a favorite delicacy of the Chinese, bring as high as $2 per pound. The whole shark, as a matter of fact, the promoters state, can be dried, pulverized and sold as fertilizer, bringing $65 per ton. Their literature states:

"There are also the eyes, used for jewelry and buttons, the backbone, for walking canes. The teeth, of which there are several hundred in a full-grown shark, are often sold in curio shops at 25 cents a pair.

The National Better Business Bureau warns investors seeking short cuts to wealth that it will profit them to investigate such promotions before they hand over their savings.

BARGAIN TIME SEEN AGAIN

Investment Counsellor Advises Purchase of Stocks at Current Levels; Reasons Listed

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From an investment counsellor who advises in connection with the management of about $50,000,000 of investment funds comes the assertion that selected common stocks again are on the bargain counter.

J. B. Lovelace of Detroit and Los Angeles is the investment expert who ventures this advice to investors. Unlike the traders in stocks he is not worrying over the possibility of further declines in prices, but is urging his investment clients to employ a substantial part of funds in the purchase of stocks at the market.

COMPARISON DRAWN

Mr. Lovelace explained yesterday that current conditions, in his opinion, are comparable to 1924 when he advised his long-pull clients to accumulate sound common stocks.

He finds, first of all, that average yields obtainable on a representative list of stocks compare favorably, interest rates considered, with yields in June, 1924, the beginning of the "Coolidge" bull market. Current yields also are much higher than in June, 1928, the beginning of the "new era" bull market.

Next Mr. Lovelace considers earnings ratios. Ratios of price to earnings on his list of representative stocks are 9.22 per cent on the average, as contrasted with 11.56 per cent in June, 1924. This would indicate, he states, that stocks are not so attractive as in June, 1924, by about 20 per cent, but some allowance should be made for strengthened financial position of many corporations.

To show how current yields compare with 1924 and 1928, Mr. Lovelace has compiled the following table of twenty representative stocks, covering a diversified list of industries:

YIELDS COMPILED

	June 1928	June 1924	June 23, 1930
American Tel.	4.26%	5.81%	4.45%
Consolidated Gas	3.40	4.93	4.03
So. Cal. Edison	7.93	4.35	3.77
Penn. R.	4.35	4.35	5.71
So. Pacific	6.58	4.44	5.47
Chesapeake & O.	5.08	5.44	3.42
Am. Car & Fdy.	5.40	4.61	14.28
Pullman Co.	4.45	4.35	5.61
Amer. Radiator	3.97	3.70	6.25
U. S. Steel	3.18	3.70	6.25
General Electric	3.43	3.57	3.51
E. I. Dupont	4.56	3.70	3.96
General Motors	4.55	3.70	3.96
Hudson Motors	13.50	8.70	16.89
J. C. Penney	2.10	2.89	4.10
F. W. Woolworth	1.65	2.89	3.42
Amer. Tobacco	4.17	3.18	3.72
Std. Oil N. J.	3.61	3.48	5.96
Std. Oil of Cal.	5.81	4.44	5.26
Texas Corp.	7.70	5.00	6.00
Average of yield	5.72%	4.44%	6.08%

At present the average yield of the twenty stocks is 6.08 per cent, compared with 5.72 per cent in June, 1924. But if Hudson and American Car and Foundry yields are eliminated as open to question, the average of the eighteen stocks currently is 4.93 per cent, compared with 5.24 per cent in June, 1924, and 4.28 per cent in June, 1928.

EXCESS GREATER

Compared with the current commercial paper rate of 3½ per cent, the yield of 4.93 per cent on the eighteen stocks shows a greater excess over basic interest rates than in 1924, when commercial rates were 3.91 per cent.

Mr. Lovelace also stresses the point that the average yield of the selected list of common stocks is approximately the same as the average return on the preferred stocks of the same companies. Under this condition the purchaser of the common stocks has the benefit of surplus earnings working for larger dividends, rights, etc., at practically no premium in cost.

He observes, furthermore, that this country has behind it nine months of declining business with consumption running ahead of production, and also six consecutive reductions in the rediscount rate. These corrections, he contends, are certain to result in a cure over a period of time, with the first evidence of progress probably appearing in the fall.

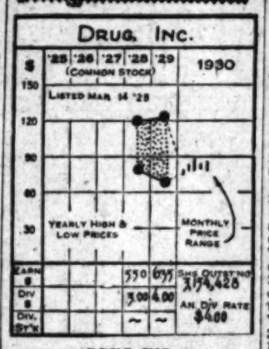
DRUG, INC.



DRUG, INC.

The subsidiaries of Drug, Inc., operate the largest group of chain drug stores in the world, as well as manufacturing many important pharmaceutical products and candies. Through its 10,000 Rexall stores and its 654 Liggett stores the company is in a position to serve practically the entire population of the United States. In addition, thirty-eight Liggett stores are operated in Canada and 560 Boot's drug stores in England. Among the widely advertised trade-marked drug products are Bayer's Aspirin, Phillips Milk of Magnesia, Charles A. Fletcher's Castoria, Sal Hepatica and Cascarets. Among the other important products are Life Savers and Three-in-one Oil.

On May 26 stockholders of Vick Chemical Company approved a merger with Drug, Inc.

Consolidated net income for 1929 amounted to $17,014,000, or $6.33 per share, against $12,014,000, or $5.50 per share for 1928. It was reported by the Wall Street News on May 29 that net income for the first quarter of 1930 had run somewhat ahead of the first quarter of 1929, reflecting larger business volume.

Crop Prospects on Union Pacific Good, Gray Says

NEW YORK, June 24.—Volume of traffic currently handled by the Union Pacific system is showing about the same relative decline from the corresponding period last year as was shown in the earlier months this year, Earl R. Gray, president, announced today.

Crop prospects in the Union Pacific territory are good with the citrus fruit crop of California the only exception to the generally encouraging outlook, he said. Union Pacific handles a heavy volume of the California citrus fruit traffic and last year this crop was extraordinarily large.

"Union Pacific was enjoying record-breaking traffic in practically every line at this time last year," continued Mr. Gray. "Earnings also were at record levels and these factors should be taken into consideration in comparing present results with last year."

BANK GROUP PARES RATE ON DEPOSITS

Reduction by New York Clearinghouse Brings 1 1-2 Per Cent Maximum

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Reflecting current credit conditions and the recent reduction to 2 1-2 per cent in the rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, the New York Clearing-house today reduced the maximum interest rates payable on deposits by member banks.

The rate on deposits payable within thirty days and on credit balances payable on demand to banks, trust companies and private bankers, excluding mutual savings banks, was reduced from 2 to 1 1-2 per cent.

This rate also applies to deposits of nonbanking institutions. The rates on time deposits and deposits of mutual savings banks were cut 1 per cent each, making the new rates 2 per cent.

In the opinion of many bankers, action of the clearinghouse was overdue and became imperative. They pointed out that since the old rates went into effect March 26, last, there have been two reductions in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, carrying that rate down from 3 1-2 per cent to 2 1-2 per cent, the lowest rate in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's sixteen years of existence.

Daily Average Output of Oil in Sharp Gain

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 27,350 barrels for the week ended the 21st inst., totaling 2,598,950 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 2,000,450 barrels, an increase of 26,150 barrels.

Refineries representing 95.7 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 74.4 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,261,100 barrels. Daily average the previous week was 2,570,000 barrels for refineries representing 95.8 per cent of potential capacity operating at 73.7 per cent of their capacity.

Daily average production difference:

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week were 270,857 barrels, compared with 290,714 barrels for the previous week and 277,286 barrels for the four weeks ended the 21st inst.

Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week were 71,000 barrels, compared with 57,857 barrels for the previous week and 52,571 barrels for the four weeks ended the 21st inst.

LIGHT AND TRACTION DECLARES DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Directors of the American Light and Traction Company declared an initial dividend of 62½ cents on the new $25 par common stock, which represents a four-for-one split-up of the old common stock. They also declared an initial quarterly dividend of 37½ cents on the new preferred stock, which also was split four for one. Both dividends are payable August 1 to stock of record July 17.

NEWS OF OIL FIELDS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

The Deusel Petroleum Company's success in bringing in its first producing well in the new Venice field has caused it to lease forty-three acres near the intersection of Jefferson and Lincoln boulevards, a short distance southeast of the Union Oil Company's Del Rey No. 1.

Deusel now has ten sites for wells in the Venice townlot area. Its No. 1 well is on steady production and No. 2 is drilling below 1850 feet. The No. 3 is rigging up and is expected to spud in soon.

According to present plans, Deusel will soon start work on a location on its newly acquired acreage and will drill a string of wells not far from the ocean front. Its property does not extend down to the ocean's edge although it is in an area where activity will increase if Union completes its Del Rey No. 1 in the shallow sand at 3636 feet.

Oil Accountants to Meet

The Petroleum Accountants' Society will hold its regular dinner meeting, Thursday, at 6:15 p.m., at the Commercial Club, 1106 South Broadway. Mr. J. H. Dasteel, district manager for the Union Oil Company of California, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be, "An Essential Step for Progress."

Arrangements have been made between the society here and the Petroleum Accountants' Society of Oklahoma for an exchange of papers on petroleum accounting. The first of these papers, "Marketing Accounting," by Charles Gillespie of the Petroleum Accountants' Society of Oklahoma, will be read at the meeting.

Running Tubing

The Standard Oil Company is preparing to run tubing in its Emery No. 46 at Coyote Hills and will probably have a production test under way within a short time. Bottom of the hole is at 4088 feet. On the Bastanchury ranch due east of Coyote Hills, Standard's Bastanchury No. 1 is drilling in oil sand and brown shale below 4847 feet. This project flowed by heads recently but is being deepened.

Into Showings

Showings of oil sand and gas in the General Petroleum Corporation's Purson No. 1 near Fillmore closely correlates with the old O. R. Howard project that obtained production estimated at ten barrels a day and which went to 4100 feet.

General's Purson No. 1 now is drilling below 2600 feet and has had showings of oil sand from about 2500 feet which have been practically continuous. This undertaking will go to at least 4200 feet to give that district a thorough test.

Blowing Gas

The Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation's Snow No. 1-A in the Piru district is blowing an undetermined amount of gas from a depth of 2375 feet. This project is located on a fifty-acre lease near two producers belonging to the Pacific Western Oil Company, one which has been on steady production for the past eight years. Bolsa Chica controls approximately 1500 acres in the Piru district, an area that has been tested at various times by operators. A number of the projects now are suspended and await further developments before resuming operations.

McNeel's Financial Service Believes "Secondary Bottom" Following First Crash Near

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, June 24.—How much further down can the stock market go?

R. W. McNeel, Boston financial observer, suggests that in nearly every major stock market decline stocks have made "double bottom." That is to say, they have rallied from their lows, then have reacted again to these lows from three to eight months after the original "bottom" was reached.

Says Mr. McNeel: "In the stock market recessions of 1920 and 1923, these 'secondary bottoms' came from seven to eight months after the original lows were made. Seven months have elapsed since the lows were made in November, and the stock market would be acting true to form in making a 'secondary bottom' at this time."

Then he makes this optimistic statement: "Completion of the 'double bottom' has usually inaugurated a steady upward movement in stocks."

Now, to be more specific. The Dow-Jones industrial averages, at the peak in October, registered 318.17. Saturday, last, they reached 218.94, a drop of about 50 per cent. The absolute low established last November showed the average at 198.69. Many stocks—and some excellent ones—have gone below the lows of last November, but the averages are still a little above. But the "double bottom" has almost been reached.

Mr. McNeel concludes: "Indications suggest very strongly that conditions are about on bottom. The next thing in business will be improvement—whether it is to come at once or will be a little longer delayed is the question now."

Only in recent years have bank stocks been traded in daily. In earlier and less-nerve-racking days, stocks in the big banks were held by estates and the well-to-do. Few, if any, of these stocks were up as collateral or even traded in.

But today thousands of shares change hands daily on the different stock markets throughout the country, just like stocks of companies dealing in ice, sugar, milk, rubber, tin, electricity and meat. With bank stocks in the thick of the trading, they were naturally subjected to declining movements, just like other stocks.

The American Banker has made a survey of the shares of twenty-five of the largest New York banks and has found that they have dropped more than 36 per cent in value since April, when their aggregate market value had reached $7,471,000,00. The market drop in these bank stocks since then, according to this publication, has been $2,015,000,000.

Certain well-known international bankers believe that the Bank of England will reduce its discount rate to 2½ per cent this week to parallel the New York and Paris rates, upon the theory that cheaper money eventually will bring about business improvement.

No one in 1923 would have pictured Paris as a world money-lender. Quite the reverse. France in 1923 was in the center of a wild uncontrolled inflation movement and headed for financial disaster.

Then France woke up. An era of deflation set in, wrecking and bankrupting millions of her citizens. Unlike England, France decided to stabilize the franc at approximately the figure reached in the inflation movement, namely: 3.9 cents.

So France set to work to build

LAST HOUR RAID BREAKS MARKET

Weakness of Rails and Dr... in Wheat Factors

Steel and Other Favorites Touch Year's Low

Gains in Rally of Previous Day Fade Completely

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Disturbed by the weakness of wheat and the investment rails, speculative sentiment turned decidedly bearish in the last half-hour of today's stock market and prices broke through the entire list. Yesterday's advances were more than eliminated.

July wheat tumbled nearly 4 cents a bushel, selling just above 80 cents, another low for the past seven years. Other months were off about the same extent and all declined at the bottom. Cotton was also heavy, although late covering reduced the net losses to 9 to 27 points.

Liquidation of the rails, many of which went to the lowest levels in several years, went forward persistently in the afternoon after publication of figures showing declines in operating income of first twelve railroads to report for May had declined to 27.9 per cent from the same month a year ago.

This decline was less than the decreases in either March or April, but it lent capital to the bears, who extended their activities to the utilities and rails. United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel equalled their year's lows established last week, and American Can came within half a point of duplicating its previous minimum. Other prices were virtually at the lowest.

There was a bit of surprise that weekly operating ratio of the United States Steel. Standing at a figure above 71 per cent, compared with

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

United States Governments provided the most encouraging feature, rising 7-32 of a point under moderate accumulation. Government bonds are the first to reflect easier money rates as they did today when call money dropped to 2 per cent. Time money was eased ½ of 1 per cent on short maturities, and rates on bankers acceptances were cut.

In addition the New York clearing house member banks cut the rate on 30-day deposits to 1½ per cent, which was viewed as a potential influence on the diversion of funds to the bond market.

A few local railroad bonds showed improvement, but an easier tone ruled the group. In contrast with the improvement shown by some issues, St. Paul 5s of '75, Erie 4s of '97, and Seaboard Issues touched new lows for the year. Missouri Pacific 5s gained nearly a point, and New York Central 6s and Pennsylvania Gold 4s gained slightly.

After holding fairly steady during the early trading, commodities experienced a sharp reaction in the afternoon. And the close showed Allegheny 5s off 3-32, St. Paul 5s, International Telephone 4½s, and Short Island 4½s at lows for the year.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the high, or both low and close when same as high.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Quotations Again React on Local Stock Market as Traders Fail to Sustain Rally

Discouraged by a further depression in the grain markets traders on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in common with those on other security markets reversed their tactics yesterday to again unload stocks bought for the rise. With a notable absence of buying resistance, bears found no difficulty in aggravating the condition to sweep quotations downward to near the bottom levels and wiping out Monday's recoveries.

Union Oil headed the activity and with Standard of California and Edison led the decline with a drop of 2 points or more to close at the lowest levels of the session. Pacific Finance and Pacific Mutual continued their downward course to mark still lower bottoms, the former yielding 3-4 to 27 and the latter, 1 point to 75.

Union Oil and Union Associates commanded the principal interest of traders when the leadership of trading was usurped from Transamerica, which has held this position over a long period. Union Oil opened at 29 7-8 and gradually worked down to 28, holding this position for the greater part of the session and closing at the same figure for a net loss of 2 points. Union Associates acted in a similar fashion, meeting a resistance point at 37, down 1 7-8 net.

Standard of California, after selling at 60 1-4, weakened and hit 58 on the final sales for a net loss of 2 1-4 points. Richfield fell off a point to 15 1-8, a fraction above the bottom price. Rio Grande ceased 3-8 to 16 3-8, also within a small margin of the year's record low at 16. Pacific Western Oil lost 1-2 to 13 1-2, 1-2 up from the year's low. Macmillan dropped 1-2 to the bottom price at 14, while a small lot of Signal Oil crossed the board firm at 30.

While Transamerica dipped more than a point to 28 7-8, final sales brought the issue back to 29 1-8, down 1 net. Security-First National Bank also rebounded fractionally from its low of 101 1-2 to end at 101 7-8, off 7-8 net. California Bank, which has not been traded for some time, sold down 2 points to 105, a new low, while Union Bank continued to hold steady at 235.

Southern California Edison again traded rapidly and from an opening at 56 reacted to 54, the year's bottom price, down 2 1-4 points net. Claude Neon yielded 1 1-2 to 29 1-2, and Pacific Clay Products, on a board lot, dropped 1 1-4 points to a new low at 25 1-4. Emsco Derrick advanced 3-4 to 16 3-4.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—Nerves were on edge on the Montgomery-street market today as selling pressure was repeated by Wall-street professionals. Stocks here began the day with an upturn, but recently accumulated holdings of issues dumped when it became apparent the bears were not appeased by low levels to which they had driven leading stocks.

Trading was in low volume on the rise, but gathered momentum as sellers outnumbered buyers later in the session. Sales reached 71,614 shares, with a market value of $2,236,000.

Transamerica was under pressure. More than 12,000 shares were sold, taking the price down 1 1-8 points to 28 1-8. Pacific Securities of Oakland again led ground, this time 2 points. North American Investment lost 2¼.

Oils yielded sharply. Standard lost 3. Union 2. Union Associates 1¾, and Tidewater 1. North American made the only gain, it being a point.

Atlas Diesel led the industrial resistance, not only holding its own, but gaining a point. Caterpillar was again hit, losing 2¼. Paraffine lost 3½, Kaiku Pineapple 2, California Packing 1⅞ and Thomas Allen 1.

Insurance stocks followed the general trend, Fireman's Fund selling down 2 points and Occidental lost a fraction.

Utilities were heavily sold after the bear attack on rails in Wall street. Pacific Telephone was forced down 4 points—the largest loss on the list. Pacific Gas, Pacific Public Service and Pacific Lighting were down 3 or more points. San Joaquin 7s gained ⅝, as the scattered buyers favored preferred utility issues.

LOS ANGELES CURB

With the active issues turning fractionally lower and some inactives being brought out for sharper losses, a number of additional new low prices were rung up in yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange.

Cities Service, Fokker Aircraft and Fox Theaters each dropped 3-4 to 26¼, 17 5-8 and 8¼, respectively. Gladding McBean hit another new bottom as 500 shares crossed the board at 41 and Consolidated Steel preferred worked down 1-4 to a new low at 17 3-4. Caterpillar slumped 2 1-8 points to 56 3-4 and District Bond, an inactive, broke 3 1-8 points to a new bottom at 23 7-8.

Fractional recessions were marked up for Hancock Oil, Cypress Petroleum, Detroit Aircraft and Goldman Sachs. Intercoast, Universal Oil and Pacific Associates which hit a new low at 19 3-4. Bandini advanced 20 cents in the penny list, while Kinner weakened 5 cents to 62 cents.

Sales totaled 34,638 shares valued at $100,812; previous day, 36,319 shares valued at $101,060.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The curb market was little more than a professional trading affair today, and in the main moved lower. The more popular trading shares were subjected to heavy bear selling, along with more important shares on the big board.

The majority of stocks, however, moved only about a point from yesterday's closing levels. Sales were 746,100 shares.

Electric Bond & share was a bear favorite, and was depressed more than 5 points to 72, less than 2 points above the year's low reached last week.

American & Foreign Power and Electric Power & Light warrants lost about 2 and 1 points. United Light A and American Superpower closed about 2 and 1 point off. Niagara Hudson fell back to 16½. American Gas fluctuated widely, selling up about 5 points, dropping about 8, and rallying to close fractionally higher.

Most of industrials were dull. Deere was again subjected to professional selling, dropping about 11 points to another new lowest levels. Aviation Corporation of the America sold up about 5 points on announcement of new air mail contract for a subsidiary to connect with Rio De Janeiro, but lost most of it gain before the close. Gramophone, most active on this market, appeared on the tape at 11½, off 8½ points from the last sale.

Oils were mostly dull and moved in narrow ranges. General Petroleum, Columbia Oil and Swan Finch sagged slightly to new bottom ground for the year. Cosden lost a couple of points. Standard of Ohio, on the other hand, rallied 10 points to 87 in a moderate turnover.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Sinks to New Low Level of Many Years

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Reported northward spread of the 1930 wheat harvest into Nebraska gave a fresh jolt to the wheat market today, knocking prices down to a bushel. Predictions were current a new movement of Nebraska wheat would soon develop, and fears were expressed that with no adequate outlet a material increase of the United States visible supply in the near future would result in elevator and railway congestion. Closing quotations were at the day's lowest level, and also were under any prices of since 1914.

Wheat finished unsteady, 2¾@4¢ a bushel, below yesterday's close. Corn showed 1@1½c net decline, with oats ½@1¢ down, and provisions unchanged to 10c off to 12c.

Trading away of active buying power here characterized the wheat market, rather than any unusual pressure to sell. Undermining confidence it would-be purchasers were indications the marketing of newly harvested wheat in the Southwest is not being restrained to any notable extent by talk that farmers are holding their wheat.

Meanwhile, the wheat market here was being constantly affected by lack of indifferent response which the trade at Liverpool made to yesterday's prices of wheat on this side of the Atlantic. Cheap offerings of United States wheat abroad were reported assigned, but little evidence of North American export business today. 1,250,000 bushels, consisted not of United States wheat, but nearly all of Canadian wheat grown in Canada.

Advices of further timely rains benefiting acreage in Canada also exerted an additional influence toward lower prices for wheat, and so likewise did word of unsettled favorable conditions for harvesting of domestic winter wheat and for growth prospects in the United States spring crop belt.

Corn, oats and rye went lower, chiefly as a result of sympathy with wheat weakness.

Provisions advanced notwithstanding downturns both in the value of hogs and of grain as well.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, June 24. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Operations and shipments of finished steel in the Chicago district apparently have settled for a while at the pace established at the middle of this month. Encouragement is had in the fact that operations have held to the level of about 70 per cent. Plate mills are ahead of other finishing departments in tonnage and the outlook is fairly promising for July and August.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's Eighth between Broadway & Hill, "Ladies Love Brutes." George Bancroft stars in this picture, whose plot is quickened by the title.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"So This is London." Will Rogers goes abroad again and finds London as funny as Paris.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Hell's Angels." Howard Hughes' production panel $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 651 South Grand—"Big Boss." Josue today.

Fiesta, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Midnight Mystery." Polly Moran and Marie Dressler set up in a rooming-house.

Rialto, Broadway at La Brea—"Paramount on Parade."

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"Alias French Gertie." Those two newlyweds. Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, have an interesting adventure at screen speed.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Rich." Old-time circus atmosphere against a story set of rather conventional plot. Mae Murray's appeals. Daphne Pollard and Ben Turpin.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Paramount on Parade." See above.

Warner, Beverly Hill at Seventh—"Last Day." A somewhat mediocre tale of disturbed love is told by Corinne Griffith and Marino.

Warner's Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Show Girl in Hollywood." Made before the era of entertainment sound—and there is Alice White.

STAGE

Biltmore, 621 South Hill—"Lady, Lady, I Love You." A musical comedy, which stars Miana Coupe.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"The Last Mile." A tense feverish drama of a prisoner's last hour of life. Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy.

Vine Street, 1215 Vine—"Under a Virginia Moon." Realism covers up in a lover-puckled garden and the atmosphere is slow and sentimental. With Lew Ayres-Marwell.

VARIETIES

Buried Alive, Baby Rescued

EL PASO, June 24. (AP)—Buried alive for an hour, a newborn infant was rescued from a shallow grave late yesterday after an unnamed boy had seen two women put the child in the grounds near Fabens, thirty-two miles east of here. He notified Frank Gomez, a farm hand, who effected the rescue. The baby was brought to the City-County Hospital, where today it was said the child will live.

RICH RANCHER DENIES GUILT AS SLAYER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—Warren R. Dutton, 36 years of age, wealthy Mendocino county rancher, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Robert E. Arnolde, young taxi driver, pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity in Superior Court here today. The trial will be set the 30th inst.

Dutton, while riding in a cab driven by Arnolde May 12 suddenly fired five bullets into Arnolde. Dutton then surrendered, giving several incoherent explanations of his act.

SUPERVISORS' JUNKET APPROVED BY COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (Exclusive)—It was perfectly all right for San Francisco Supervisors to spend city founds to attend the rose parade at Pasadena last January 1, Superior Judge Vicini ruled today that the Supervisors have discretionary power to expend funfis for advertising and publicity and it is not the province of a court to define either. He denied Adolph Uhl, taxpayer, an injunction designed to prevent payment of the expense accounts.

Young Denies Subterfuge

SACRAMENTO, June 24. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young today denied that he is seeking to withhold a decision by the State Supreme Court on the Warren K. Billings pardon application until after the primary election.

"Such a report is absolutely false," said the Governor, "as a matter of fact, I would welcome immediate action in the Billings case. I am prepared to act on both this and the Thomas Mooney pardon petition as soon as the Supreme Court settles the Billings matter."

CONSERVATIVES AGREE ON FOOD TAX POLICY

LONDON, June 24. (AP)—Conservative party delegates today concluded one of the most dramatic party meetings in England in years by indorsing the party policy on food taxation. The Conservatives thus defeated an amendment which would have prohibited a referendum on food taxation, the crucial question before the meeting. Advocates of empire free trade have called for food taxes, but the Conservatives insist any such taxation must be authorized by a popular referendum.

ASSERTED HEIRESS JAILED FOR CHECK

BERKELEY, June 24. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Roth, 30 years of age, who said she is heiress to a large estate including timber holdings in Humboldt county, was held in the County Jail here today on a bad-check charge. The check, one for $400 written on a Cloverdale bank, was cashed by a Berkeley bank and the money used as down payment on an automobile. She was arrested in Venice.

JULIAN JUDGMENT ON FILE IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (AP) Suit to collect foreign judgment of $5007 was filed in District Court today against C. C. Julian by Ernest L. Eason, Jr., and Harold Therolf. The plaintiffs assert that while doing business as the Eason & Therolf Tool Company in California, they were granted judgment in this amount against Julian by the Superior Court of Los Angeles county.

MOTHER CLASPS RESCUED SCOUT

Youngster Tells of Four Foodless Days

Rescuer of San Jacinto Held Miraculous

Bruises and Scratches Only Effects of Experience

Death-like stillness, undisturbed by sounds of anxious feet, padding up and down the tortuous trails or crashing through underbrush followed again for the first time since Friday the forbidding crags and canyons of the San Jacinto mountains while twenty miles from the towering, snow-clad peaks a searching fire at Idyllwild proclaimed to the valley a 12-year-old boy had returned from nature, for Harold Johnson was safe and sound.

Harold, the Boy Scout for whom parties had been searching in the mountains, if found at all he would be found dead, walked calmly into the Boy Scout fish hatchery in Snow Creek canyon, twenty miles east of Banning, about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

"SEE, I'M HUNGRY"

"See, I'm hungry!" Those were the first words to Supt. D. C. Hunt, who knew nothing of the disappearance and could scarcely believe his eyes but an experienced mountaineer able to descend the precipitous canyon walls from the summit of Mt. San Jacinto. Van Campen had left the little Scout gingerly, and guided him into an automobile and started for Banning. As they jounced over the road Harold looked back at the snow-capped peak from which, he had descended, in his own miraculous escape.

"See, that's a big mountain, isn't it?" he remarked; and Van Brunt replied:

Arrived at Banning, the lad ate a hearty meal after which he was taken to a hotel, where Dr. A. L. Bowers examined him. The physician reported finding him fit except for fatigue and bramble-scratches on his face and arms. Refreshed by a bath, Harold then telephoned his parents, Postmaster and Mrs. E. J. Johnson of Corona, who received word of the frantic search of Idyllwild, base of the mountain parties. Mrs. Johnson broke down when she heard the faint voice of her son.

SAFE IN MOTHER'S ARMS

A few hours later, Harold was driven to Camp Emerson, "Idyllwild," and was in the arms of his grateful mother. Then he told his story.

Under the auspices of a Lindbergh Club he had gone back to Round Valley to camp with thirty other Scouts to see the sunrise last Friday morning. He tarried a moment at the edge of the trail. And in the mountain hills his fellows he lost sight of. All day he wandered over mountain, and when night fell he crept within the shelter of a tree and slept.

Saturday—and again on Sunday and Monday he battled onward and downward, knowing where he was headed, but losing his composure. Often-times hundreds were within a human chain, encompassing mountain after mountain day and night in search for him, and army airplanes hovered overhead.

"I saw the airplanes," he said later, "and jumped up and waved my arms and jumped down and yelled as loud as I could, but I couldn't make them see me."

FOODLESS FOUR DAYS

Determined to surmount the obstacles nature has thrown up for the picturesque Snow Creek canyon, Harold early yesterday began to reach the gentler slopes at the base of the mountain. He then followed a trail that led to the Snow Creek hatchery. For days and nights he had gone without food, although he had drunk water. And as for companionship with wild life, he declared he had seen "lots of them."

Last night, Van Brunt, Lee Emerson, prominent resident of Idyllwild, and several Indian trackers from the Morongo reservation and the Banning Institute, forest rangers thoroughly versed in the hazards of mountain climbing were at a loss to know how the boy had accomplished the perilous descent down which few mountaineers ever have ventured. It is a veritable maze of rocks and seemingly impassable barriers that lead to the floor of the mighty San Jacinto canyon. The entire north and south sides of the peak, as seen from the desert spaces, present an appearance of an unscalable cliff; and sheer gashes in the mountain will provide the only means of descent.

Last Known Victim of Memorial Day Tragedy Now Accounted For

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 24.—The sea today returned the sixteenth and last-known victim of the Ameco fishing-boat disaster of Memorial Day. The body was that of J. K. Kamimura, Los Angeles Japanese. In a pocket was found $63 in water-soaked bills.

If additional bodies are yielded by the tangle of kelp, as some expect, they will be of fishermen not heretofore listed among the passengers aboard the fishing boat which foundered in a squall. Funeral rites were conducted today for James Huntsman, 14 years of age, one of the victims, in the chapel of Wilshire funeral home here. Burial was at Inglewood. The boy was the son of George W. Huntsman of 12243 Gorham avenue, Brentwood Heights. The funeral had been delayed because of difficulty in identifying the body. The boy had been a pupil at University High School, West Los Angeles.

Dewar Granted Plea on Station

The Police Commission yesterday granted Undersheriff Dewar his request for permission to establish a substation of the Sheriff's office on the San Fernando Road at the Castaic cut-off, which connects with the Ridge Route below the Newhall tunnel.

Dewar explained that the site is on city property and construction of the cut-off has allowed rum runners to get by below the tunnel. Seizures are to be turned over to the police department.

TRAVELER TO GIVE LECTURE ON ORIENT

Garner Curran, traveler and editor of Pan-Pacific Progress, who has spent many years in the Orient, will give a free illustrated lecture in the May Company exposition hall today at 2 p.m. A feature will be the musical numbers to be given by a Chinese boy orchestra under the leadership of Peter Soo Hoo, and a group of Chinese songs by Olive Young, Chinese film actress. Miss Young will accompany herself on her woo dip cum, a Chinese butterfly harp.

RANGERS MARVEL AT YOUTH'S ESCAPE

DAM FINANCIAL SWITCH LEGAL

County Counsel Rules on Issue For Supervisors

Eaton Says Balance Left Enough for Projects

Any legal technicalities that might bar the use of the $21,500,000 balance of the $25,000,000 bond issue, voted in 1924 for the construction of a high dam in San Gabriel Canyon, for building three dams in its stead, are removed, according to an opinion of the County Counsel's office drafted yesterday for the Board of Supervisors.

Immediately following the opinion, County Flood Control Engineer Eaton declared he will ask the Supervisors to appropriate $100,000 from the fund to make a geological survey of three sites, picked out of twenty, where it is proposed to build the new dams to control and conserve the flood waters of the San Gabriel River. The three smaller structures, he pointed out, could be built for less than $21,500,000 and do all that was contemplated by the high dam at the Forks site.

MAY USE BALANCE

The money for the building of the new dams can be taken from the unused balance of $21,500,000 by a four-fifths vote of the Board of Supervisors, according to the legal opinion, which was drafted for the County Counsel by Roy W. Dowds, counsel for the County Flood-Control District.

It will require two months to do the exploration work for the three new dam sites, and give work to approximately 120 men, Engineer Eaton said.

According to the opinion of Attorney Dowds, the unused balance of the bond issue is available for the new work under Section 15 of the County Flood Control Act.

STATE STOPPED WORK

The section provides that in the event a project is abandoned, or stopped by law, the money voted by the bond issue may be spent for other projects to carry out the original purpose. The work on the San Gabriel high dam was stopped when State Engineer Edward Hyatt ordered the project abandoned after a landslide at the site. The State officer declared the site unsafe for such a dam.

With the legal opinion relative to the San Gabriel dam project, was also one by the County Counsel's office submitted to the board, holding that the county cannot use a balance of $82,827.13 out of $100,000 voted by a bond issue after the completion of check dams in Haines Canyon, for other flood-control work in the canyon which was not included in the original estimates made when the issue was placed before the taxpayers for their approval.

CHANNEL NEEDED

A request for the money had been made by Engineer Eaton for the construction of a concrete channel through the city of Tujunga, which, he asserts, is badly needed. The money, however, is not available for this work, according to Deputy County Counsel McAllaster.

Both the $25,000,000 for the San Gabriel dam and the $100,000 for the work in Haines Canyon, were included in the $35,000,000 bond issue voted by the taxpayers in 1924 for flood-control work.

Engineer Eaton has a comprehensive plan for three dams to replace the abandoned high-dam project at the Forks site in San Gabriel Canyon. Two of the new dams, he said, would be built above the site of the abandoned dam and one below. They would be about five miles apart and would be so constructed so as to be capable of storing as much, or more water than the proposed high dam.

FOUR TYPES STUDIED

"Four types of dams are under consideration," Eaton declared. "There are two types of concrete dams; one rock-filled barrier and one earth retainer. Of course, the type selected will hinge upon the results of our exploration work."

Approximately $3,000,000 had been spent of the $25,000,000 appropriation for the high dam in the canyon when the work was stopped.

"Of course, this will not all be lost if the three new dams are built," Eaton pointed out. "Much

JUST ANOTHER OLD CUSTOM

Annual Request for Liquor Licenses Made; New Police Commissioners Shocked

Making his annual request for liquor licenses, George S. Porter, executive chairman of the California Protective League and Associated Wine and Beer Industries, yesterday caused somewhat of a shock to the Police Commissioners, four of them not being present at the last request a year ago, and President Thorpe having forgotten.

Secretary Baraw explained that requests have come in every year for 400 permits from the holders of liquor licenses prior to prohibition. This was the maximum number of permits allowed in barroom days. The application, Baraw explained, is for the purpose of protecting the interests of the industry in case the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed.

CLOCKS MAY KEEP SAME OLD HOURS

Petition for Vote to Move Hands Forward in Plan to Save Daylight, Fails

Registrar of Voters Kerr announced last night that a petition filed with him two weeks ago, which seeks to place the question of daylight saving on the ballot of the forthcoming State general election, has been found to contain the valid signatures of only 81,246 registered voters.

When submitted to Kerr the petition contained the names of 107,-61a signers. To place the measure before the voters a total of 91,529 registered voters must sign, Kerr said.

The petition provides that California voters pass on the proposition of annually advancing standard time one hour at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of April, retarding it at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of September. It is understood here that another petition is being circulated in the northern part of the State.

Kerr also announced that total registration for the county since January 1, last, now is 744,085, of which 419,095 represents registrations in the city of Los Angeles and 324,990 in county territory.

City registrations are classified as follows: Republican 282,680, Democratic 92,087, Socialist 27,012, Prohibition 3345, decline to state 37,855, and miscellaneous 416.

County registrations are classified as follows: Republican 21,729, Democratic 68,172, Socialist 1744, Prohibition 5353, decline to state 27,582, and miscellaneous 410.

Gasoline Prices May Stay Low During Summer

Officials of several of the major oil companies are of the opinion that the present price of gasoline will extend through the summer. This prediction was made in the face of a continual price-cutting on the part of independent dealers, some of whom yesterday were selling well-known brands of gasoline for as low as 13½ cents a gallon.

The retail price of motor spirits, however, was held at 16½ cents in all the stations operated or controlled by the refining companies. Various reductions were in force in other stations, the price largely depending upon the location and local competition of the station.

LONG WAIT FOR WIFE ENDS

Mother Stranger to Baby Daughter

Doris Angela Claydon and Father

FOR three years Walter A. Claydon waited for his wife Angela to return to her baby daughter, which the mother had not seen since it was 2 days of age.

Mrs. Claydon did not return. And yesterday, Claydon appeared in Superior Judge Fleming's court and asked for a divorce.

"She sent for me when the child was 2 days of age and told me to take the child away, she never wanted to see it again," said Claydon. "I thought she would change her mind, but she never has."

The divorce was granted.

RESIGNATION OF DOCTORS CAUSES STIR

Grand Jury May Look Into Causes of Four Quitting General Hospital Posts

The resignation of four physicians from the osteopathic unit of General Hospital, may become a matter of grand-jury investigation within the next two weeks, it was disclosed at the District Attorney's office yesterday.

The men who resigned, submitted bitterly sarcastic letters attacking members of the medical units, according to members of the grand jury.

Although the grand jury is not expected to call additional witnesses concerning the case, it is known that the findings of the investigation into charges of misconduct and mistreatment of patients will be included in a report which will be made public within the next fortnight.

Since the resignation of numerous physicians from the osteopathic unit, it is considered possible that the grand jury will also deal with this matter in its reports.

Candidate List Names Merriam

State Senator Merriam of Long Beach is among those who have filed with Registrar Kerr their notices of candidacy for nomination as Lieutenant-Governor. His name was inadvertently omitted from the list of candidates in last Sunday's Times.

Campaign headquarters have been established in the Angelus Hotel.

PARLEY ON MAGAZINES DUE TODAY

Mayor Calls Conference as Result of Protest Made by Druggists on Raids

As the result of a visit to Mayor Porter yesterday by representatives of the city and State druggists' associations to protest against the methods used in recent raids on the sellers of assertedly obscene magazines, the Mayor announced that there will be a conference in his office this morning to formulate a definite policy toward the obscene magazine problem in the city.

Those who will confer with the Mayor are Chief of Police Steckel and City Prosecutor Nix. The Mayor said he assured the druggists' representatives that he and the other two officials will go into the matter thoroughly.

"The druggists," said the Mayor, "complained only against the manner in which the arrests were made and they indicated a desire to cooperate with us in every way. Chief Steckel was present and he assured the druggists that the fingerprints taken of persons arrested in the recent raids on magazine sellers have been destroyed."

Baby Smothers to Death in Crib

An 8-weeks-old baby girl, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Anderson of 6018 Second avenue, was smothered to death in her crib yesterday while taking her afternoon nap, according to police reports.

The mother, Mrs. Marilyn Anderson, said she found the baby lying on her face when she entered the room. Police and firemen tried in vain to revive the child with the inhalator.

DANCERS AT PICNIC

A group of Spanish dancers will assist in providing entertainments at the picnic reunion to be held by the New Mexico State Society Sunday in Sycamore Grove. Judge Marion C. Spicer, president, will be in charge.

CENSUS CLEARS JOBLESS FOGS

Condition Here Shown Less Critical Than in East

Unemployment Data Given in Federal Report

Total Figures on Los Angeles County Not Compiled

The claim that Los Angeles business conditions are better than those comparable in eastern cities is borne out to some extent by the Federal census figures on unemployment in Los Angeles, made public here yesterday.

The figures show that unemployment in Los Angeles on April 1 was 3.6 persons out of each 100 of population. In Cleveland, the only other large city yet reported, the ratio was 4.5 out of each 100. In other words Los Angeles' population of 1,231,830 included 44,787 unemployed persons compared to Cleveland's 901,428 with 41,343 unemployed.

The figures were announced by the five United States census supervisors who have been conducting the decennial count here. They define an unemployed person as one who is out of work, is looking for work and would be able to perform it if obtained. The supervisors pointed out that the figures are as of April 1 and that in the nearly three months that since have elapsed conditions have improved considerably here and probably in Cleveland also, although the older East generally is reported to be recovering from the depression less rapidly than the West.

COUNTY ESTIMATES

Unemployment figures for all of the county outside of Los Angeles city have not yet been completed but calculations to date show that they are running about 2.5 unemployed persons out of each 100 of population.

A study of the Federal figures for Los Angeles city shows that in the central district, which is the heart of the city, Census Supervisor Munson found four persons unemployed out of each 100 of population, or 17,805 unemployed out of the 434,-669 persons in his district. In the northern part of the city Supervisor Chenoweth found the ratio 2.8 per 100, or 3560 out of 124,637; eastern part, Supervisor Ballentine, 3.1 per 100, or 9868 out of 192,521; southern part, including harbor area, Supervisor DeCoudres, 2.6 per 100, or 4484 out of 121,886; western part, Supervisor Kincaid, 2.5 per 100, or 9000 out of 358,047.

FIGURES GIVEN

Los Angeles city is contained entirely in and embraces all of Los Angeles township. On last Friday unemployment figures for fourteen of the forty-nine townships in the county were announced. Following are announcements covering nineteen more townships: Glendale township, 1581 unemployed out of 62,806 population; Beverly Hills, 761 out of 38,049; Santa Monica, 1041 out of 36,993; Burbank, 606 out of 16,429; La Crescenta, 270 out of 10,384; San Fernando, 194 out of 7559; Antelope, 27 out of 4990; National Soldiers' Home, 0 out of 4597; Soledad, 47 out of 3026; Calabasas, 7 out of 993; Fairmount, 7 out of 966; Arnez, 16 out of 450; Malibu, 9 out of 365; Universal, 0 out of 50; La Brea, 0 out of 85; Talmantes, 2 out of 24; Chauvez, 0 out of 14; Franklin, 0 out of 3; Machado, 0 out of 0.

BAKERSFIELD CENSUS TOPS TOTAL OF TOWNS

BAKERSFIELD, June 24. (Exclusive)—The population of Bakersfield, officially established as 26,179, is greater than that of all the other communities in Kern county put together, it was disclosed today in a comparison of figures released by Roland J. Veon, district census supervisor. Although this announcement did not upset any expectations it reveals a condition that exists in few counties of the State, statisticians believe. The total population of all towns and cities

YOUNG Mr. Hughes is a force to be reckoned with in the picture business.

He has $75,000,000; but he also has brains. His first picture, "Two Arabian Knights," was a whirlwind success; his "Hell's Angels" is a sell-out.

Having now bought the rights to a color-picture invention, more can be expected. There is very little doubt in my mind that within a year or two all motion pictures will be on wide film, in color and talkie.

Incidentally, the young millionaire has a huge laboratory of experts working out the details of a sensational new departure in the airplane business; no details confided to the public.

WHO DECIDES?

Do the heavyweights draw lots to see which one shall foul which; or do they leave it to inspiration?

AND MORE DEBATES

One whole day having elapsed without a name for Col. Lindbergh's baby, the Senate will probably begin passing resolutions and appointing commissions.

MORNING GROUCHES

There is more than a joke in the suggestion of a railroad magnate, M. J. Flanagan, who pleads for postponing family rows until eventide; make breakfasts peaceful.

The fact that people are full of fight at breakfast tables shows that something is terribly wrong with modern civilization. The normal animal wakes up full of good spirits. Modern people wake up cross with dread of the coming day and its worries.

COME TO CHICAGO

If the police of British Columbia haven't anything better to do than squirting acid on religious fanatics who want to parade around without any clothes they had better come down here.

MOVIE MORALS

The ministerial association of this city is going to look into the morals of film celebrities—without mentioning any names.

Without mentioning any names, it isn't that they have soft morals; the trouble is they just can't remember—what with all their little bothers—whether the fellow they are engaged to is the one they love—or is the one they married? Or that some one else married? What they need is system and a card index.

STRAY INFORMATION

There is no such thing—and never was—as an Indian princess. Indian chiefs are elected officers—not kings.

The man who aims the big guns on a warship never sees the target at which the guns are shooting.

The Times Building is on the site of an ancient spring where—in early pueblo days—the Mexican and Indian women used to wash their clothes and exchange the gossip of the town. "All the news all the time."

California has been under the rule of four flags; Texas under the rule of six.

LIBRARIES TURN NEW PAGE

Increasing Endowments Afford Opportunities, Association Convention Here Informed

Increasing recognition of the value to any community of the services rendered and the influence for good created by the modern public library becomes more evident with the steady growth in the creation of library trust funds all over the country, according to a report made yesterday morning at the first council meeting of the American Library Association in its fifty-second annual convention at the Biltmore.

"Many wealthy persons," said Samuel H. Ranck of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Library, chairman of the committee on library revenues, "especially in the older States where there is a greater surplus of wealth, have created these trust funds or endowments for libraries because of their appreciation of the good accomplished by them.

"For the first time this committee of the association has made a study of the trust status among libraries. From our survey we have learned that there are 611 such trust funds in the United States, representing an aggregate of approximately $100,000,000. New York State libraries head the list with trust funds amounting to about $40,000,000 and Massachusetts is second with about $10,000,000. The average trust fund for a library is approximately $80,000."

Trust funds are not a recent development, Ranck explained, and he said that there are many still existent in the New England States which have long since outlived their original purpose. Among them are funds for "pioneers in prairie schooners stranded in St. Louis," "victims of Barbary pirates" and even for "errant females desiring to return to a life of rectitude."

The nomination for the annual honorary membership made yesterday morning by Everett R. Perry, Los Angeles librarian and vice-president of the association, named Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge of Pittsfield, Mass., for her contributions in the field of chamber music to libraries throughout the country, and because in 1924 she presented to the music division of the Congressional Library a rare collection of manuscripts autographed by world-famous composers.

TOMCAT FOILS OUSTER OF HIS UNWILLING HOST

An itinerant tomcat fought a five-round battle yesterday with Douglas White, 69-year-old grocer of 1931 Wilshire Boulevard, and won by a technical knockout.

The cat first appeared at the grocery a few days ago and, in a sympathetic moment, White invited it to remain for lunch. So appetizing was the offering that the feline guest stayed for the evening meal, then retired to a comfortable berth under the counter.

Came the dawn, and with it a good breakfast. More dawns followed and more breakfasts. Mr. White was indeed a royal host—and how was the cat to notice a slight letting-down in the grocer's air of hospitality? White gave the visitor several fine opportunities to depart, but he accepted none of them.

"This thing," quoth the host, "has by now, gone far enough."

Thereupon he ushered the cat into the great open spaces, only to see it again a few minutes later when it followed a customer in.

Followed a period of shooing in which Tom was ejected for the second time. Again he returned and again he was thrown out. By the beginning of the fourth round White was fairly shaking with fury.

Fifth round: Both principals advanced to the center of the store and sparred for an opening. White led with his right foot but his timing was bad. The cat feinted and caught White with a short jab that brought blood. White rushed the cat, they clinched and White again emerged from the scrimmage bleeding in several places.

Then the grocer abandoned Queensberry tactics and tried a flying tackle, grabbing the cat by the neck and tossing it out the door for the fifth time.

After he had gone to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for treatment he returned only to find the cat still waiting for lunch time.

REALTY VALUE TREND TOLD

Appraiser Visions Increase in Next Two Years at State Hearing on Gas Rates

Los Angeles property holders viewed a composite picture of realty values at yesterday's hearing before the State Railroad Commission in an investigation on the commission's own motion to determine whether the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is earning more than a legal return of between 7 per cent and 7.5 per cent on its capital investment in gas properties.

The picture was outlined by D. F. McGarry, real-estate appraiser and former president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, in testimony as to the valuation of the land holdings used by the company in its gas operations. With the properties used exclusively for electrical operations omitted, the properties were declared to be worth $4,286,447.

With the value of the property one and two years hence declared by Attorney Herman Phleger of the corporation, to be essential in rate-fixing proceedings, Appraiser McGarry testified that he anticipated the company's holdings, taken as a whole, would be stable over the next two years, with increases likely in some cases.

Among the properties which McGarry expects to increase in the next two years are holdings in Hollywood, Inglewood, Huntington Park and in Flower street.

The total valuation given by McGarry is $200,000 greater than the appraisal of the Railroad Commission.

McGarry was on the stand the greater part of the day. L. M. Spencer, a geologist, appearing for the company, was the first witness.

Spencer's testimony was along the line of the testimony presented last week by Rouse Simmons, petroleum engineer for the corporation, to the effect that gas supplies from oil fields in the Los Angeles basin are declining.

Spencer forecast a total available gas supply on January 1, 1931, of 237,985,000 cubic feet a day and on January 1, 1932, of 132,775,000 a day.

The hearing will be resumed today. It was indicated that the hearing may continue three weeks.

HUSBAND VIEWS POISON VICTIMS

Bodies of Wife and Three Children Seen in Morgue

'May God Forgive You,' Says Edward Proctor in Tears

Inquest Will be Conducted Today at Coroner's Office

"May God forgive you," were the words of Edward Proctor yesterday morning as he gazed at the body of his wife in the County Morgue.

With tears streaming down his face Proctor spoke the words as he left the morgue after having kissed each of his three children, declared by deputy sheriffs to have been poisoned by their mother, who then took poison herself.

INQUEST TODAY

Inquest into the deaths of the mother, Mrs. Louise Proctor, 40 years of age, and the three children, Eddie, 3; Adaline, 5, and Jaines, 6, has been ordered by Chief Deputy Coroner Macdonald for today at 3 p.m. at the Coroner's office.

In reconstructing the circumstances leading up to the deaths, Deputy Sheriffs Vejar and Blasdel yesterday said their investigation reveals that the wife and mother poisoned the children and herself, probably with ant paste, while undergoing a fit of jealousy over asserted attentions the husband was receiving from Mrs. Vera Caplan, who is employed with him at a biscuit company in Los Angeles.

Following completion of autopsies and chemical analysis of body contents late yesterday, Macdonald reported that arsenic was found in each of the bodies.

LETTERS FOUND

The poisonings took place at the family home, 1357 Elm avenue, East San Gabriel. The youngest child died shortly after the four were found and the others died at the Alhambra Hospital within the next few hours.

The officers stated yesterday that Proctor told them he had been having disagreements with his wife for the last three years. Questioned about several letters found with a suicide note in the house, Proctor admitted they were from the other woman, the officers reported. The suicide note was written by the wife the week before when she is asserted to have attempted to take the lives of the family during the night by turning on the gas.

Mate Divorces Wife Who Left Him Too Often

Unexplained absences of his wife were related yesterday by Joseph H. Gutweiller at the trial of his suit for divorce from Goldie Strange Gutweiller. Superior Judge Hahn granted a decree.

He said that his wife disappeared for a week about a year after they were married, and that his car disappeared at the same time.

"I found her in the County Jail," he added.

On four occasions his wife left him, Gutweiller related, adding that the last time, she did not return. She took their minor child and left it with others, but failed to pay for its board, the husband said.

Steckel Given Job Extension

Granting the request of the Police Commission, the Civil Service Commission yesterday extended for sixty days more the emergency appointment of Roy E. Steckel as Chief of Police of Los Angeles.

Only Single Bid Made on Paving of Manchester

Only one bid, coming from the Griffith Construction Company, on the work of widening and paving Manchester avenue from Freeman avenue through Inglewood to Pershing Drive in Playa del Rey, the estimated cost to be $518,000, was submitting to the Board of Supervisors. The construction company offers to do the job for $480,661.

The distance to be improved is 4.72 miles. The county has appropriated $30,000 and the city of Los Angeles $45,000 for the work. The remaining cost of the improvement will be paid by assessments from abutting property owners.

H. S. MASON FUNERAL WILL BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for H. S. Mason, inventor of dental appliances, will be conducted at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the W. A. Brown mortuary, 1815 South Flower street, under auspices of Aerie No. 102, Fraternal Order of Eagles. He died Monday after a lingering illness at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Sassaman, Tujunga. He was 42 years of age. Besides Mrs. Sassaman he leaves his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Chase Mason, and two other sisters, Mrs. Emily Smith and Mrs. Jennie Purdy, all of Peekskill, N. Y.

GIFTS FOR GUESTS AT GOLDEN WEDDING

At the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Rubin, 348 South New Hampshire street, Sunday, each of the children and grandchildren will be presented with diamond studded gold bound volumes of the family lineage especially designed by Mr. Rubin. The volumes are about the size of a visiting card and in each is a complete record of the family with photographs of each member. Mr. Rubin came to Los Angeles from Milwaukee eight years ago. A daughter, Mrs. J. L. Bither, and her husband arrived yesterday to attend the reunion.

NEW ORDER OF FRIARS ON PILGRIMAGE

Nonsectarian Preaching Group to Cover Western Coast for Gospel

Representatives of a new order known as the Preaching Friars of California yesterday received the Mayor's Godspeed as they left on a preaching pilgrimage which will take them this summer from San Diego to Seattle. The Mayor wished their mission well and furnished their leader with a letter of introduction.

Under their homespun robes with blue cowls and red girdles the preaching friars are all successful citizens of the modern world. Three of the five who are making the pilgrimage are ordained ministers and the other two are professional men. On their pilgrimage, however, they wish to remain anonymous, and they will be known simply as Brothers Sylvester, Peter, Paul, Lawrence and Joseph. One was recognized as Dr. Frank Dyer, former pastor of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church.

Each of the pilgrims represents a different sect. Their sole purpose, it is said by their leader, Brother Sylvester, is to "preach the gospel of the historic and living Christ."

The first stop on the pilgrimage will be made at Balboa Park in San Diego on July 1, that day being the anniversary of Junipero Serra's arrival there from Mexico.

of the money already spent can be salvaged. For instance, the railroad built up to the site can be used, the buildings occupied for headquarters while the new work is being done and even some of the excavation which the county has paid for can be used."

The plans of the engineer will be placed before the Board of Supervisors for that body's approval as soon as the return of Supervisors Wright and Beaty from their vacations at which time there will be a full board present. The absentees are expected home within the next ten days.

SETBACK PROTESTS DENIED

Protests were denied by the City Council yesterday against the ordinance of intention for the placing of a fifteen-foot setback on Coke avenue between Willoughby and Melrose avenues in place of the present twenty-foot setback. Hearing of protests on the ordinance for a thirty-foot setback on Campus Road between Campus Drive and Creek Theater Drive was postponed until July 15.

Safety Zones to Stop Any Kind of Auto Urged

Safety zones through which drunk or reckless drivers cannot drive their cars and endanger the lives of street-car patrons are asked of the City Council in a resolution passed by the Police Commission yesterday, following receipt of a communication from the Los Angeles Citizens' Traffic Safety Committee, sponsored by the safety conference of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

The committee pointed out that present zones do not safeguard the lives of pedestrians and urged the use of concrete buffers which will stop any kind of motor vehicle. The commission recently discussed a similar plan.

Promoter Goes on Trial Today in Land Fraud

Accused of misrepresenting the value of "mountain tops" to numerous investors, Sam Moses, a promoter, will go on trial today before United States District Judge James on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

It was stated by Asst. U. S. Atty. Davis, who will prosecute the case, that Moses purchased considerable railroad land in Imperial Valley and sold it to investors upon representation that the land will benefit from the Boulder Dam project, but that the land is too high in altitude to be so benefited.

Airplane Model Meet Planned

In preparation for the third annual Pacific Coast miniature airplane meet, in which members of the Los Angeles Times Playground League will represent Los Angeles, John C. Henderson of the Playgrounds and Recreation Department left yesterday for San Francisco to attend a conference on model airplanes.

The conference will discuss holding of the annual meet some time in August and changes in the national rules for model airplane competition.

Because of the leadership taken by boys here through the work of the Los Angeles Times Playground League, methods of solving miniature aircraft problems, as worked out locally, are receiving consideration by other recreation departments.

ENDEAVORERS TO MEET

Christian Endeavorers of Los Angeles county will leave Wednesday, July 30, for Mt. Hermon in the Santa Cruz Mountains to attend their annual summer conference.

VEHICLE ACT CRITICISED

Safety Committee Hears Requirement for White Autos and Special Uniforms Rapped as Ridiculous

Sharp criticism of those portions of the California Motor Vehicle Act which provide for the use of white automobiles and a special uniform by highway patrol officers was voiced last night by several speakers at the meeting of the Los Angeles Citizens' Safety Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was held at the Friday Morning Club.

Former Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe said: "The provisions of this law are the most asinine I have ever heard of. Is it possible that an officer must be dressed in a specially prescribed coat and driving an automobile painted white before he can arrest anyone in the act of committing a crime?"

Judge Bledsoe's outburst came when he heard a report from Police Commissioner Thorpe that nearly forty cases of reckless driving had been dismissed during the past few weeks when trial of the cases disclosed that the arresting officers were not in full uniform and were not riding in white automobiles.

Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, chairman of the committee, told of the efforts made to obtain built-up pedestrian safety zones. She also introduced as a speaker Maj. C. W. Huntington of San Francisco, who told of the work of traffic regulation in that city.

Safety stickers and envelope inclosures were distributed at the close of the meeting last night. The meeting was one of a series sponsored by the California State Chamber of Commerce.

SHERIFF ASKED TO FIND SHIP LOST IN ATLANTIC

Yesterday when Allan H. Rabin, president of the Melba Toast and Biscuit Company, asked for aid in locating a subchaser "lost somewhere on the Atlantic Coast" the Sheriff's office admitted that it was "stumped." Mr. Rabin reported that the 110-foot subchaser had been purchased at the government shipyards at Portsmouth, Va., five weeks ago, but the man sent to bring it to Los Angeles has not been heard from since.

The boat was intended for use of the company in trade between Los Angeles and Central American ports. Arthur Frank, an employee of the company, who lives with Mr. Rabin at 633 Sycamore street, was delegated to claim the boat and proceed with it to Los Angeles via the Panama Canal.

According to Mr. Rabin, the boat has three motors of twelve cylinders and had been used throughout the war.

At the Sheriff's office Capt. Frank Dewar advised Mr. Rabin to communicate with the commandant at the Portsmouth navy yard.

"The question of chasing subchasers is somewhat out of our line, especially if it includes the territory of the Atlantic Ocean," Dewar asserted.

Mr. Rabin telegraphed the naval commandant last night for information pertaining to the boat's clearance papers.

LAVINE LIKELY TO TAKE STAND

Reporter and Woman Face Trial for Extortion

Jurors Being Selected to Hear Testimony

Pair Charged With Scheme Against Politician

Morris Lavine, who, with Leontine Johnson, is on trial before Superior Judge Schauer charged with extorting $75,000 from Charles H. Crawford, politician, may take the witness stand in his own defense, it was indicated yesterday by questions asked of prospective jurors by Richard Cantillon, Lavine's attorney.

The substance of Attorney Cantillon's question was would the juror be prejudiced against the defendant, Lavine, if he took the witness stand and testified in his own behalf.

Virtually the entire day yesterday was devoted to selection of a jury which was incomplete when court adjourned. Each prospective juror was questioned and requestioned by both defense and prosecution counsel during the course of the day.

Lavine, Los Angeles newspaper man, and Miss Johnson, secretary to S. C. Lewis before the Julian Petroleum crash, are accused of extorting $75,000 from Crawford under threats of publishing stories exposing certain facts concerning the collapse.

The trial is scheduled to continue today in Judge Schauer's court.

Woman Finds Garden Gate to Hospital

When Mrs. Ruby Kalif awoke yesterday afternoon in a bed at the California Lutheran Hospital her curiosity was aroused. She asked her nurse what had happened.

"The last I remember," the patient said, "I was picking flowers on the front lawn of my home at 1043 Kenilston Place. Tell me, please, how I come to be here."

Then the nurse told her she had been struck by a runaway automobile which belongs to E. L. Medler, an attorney, who lives a few doors "above" the Kalif home. Medler told police he had left his car parked in front of his home while he went inside to get a suit case.

When he returned his car had vanished. He found it had run amuck in his absence. The unconscious victim was found underneath the machine and hospital physicians say her condition is critical. Medler was not held.

Actress Pair to Help in Sale of Jubilee Tickets

Anita Page and Owen Lee, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actresses, will appear with Mrs. Harry Ragf of the patronesses committee tonight at Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee headquarters at 6769 Hollywood Boulevard to supervise the sale of tickets for the film colony's tastimonial to the Los Angeles Sanatorium, the free, nonsectarian tuberculosis institution at Duarte.

Universal studio technicians are completing installation of a special public address system.

More than a dozen film celebrities are attempting to arrange studio schedules to be able to appear on the program.

Veterans to Give Entertainments

The British Overseas War Veterans' Association yesterday announced a series of entertainments through which it expects to raise funds for the purchase of additional burial plots in Inglewood Park Cemetery for interment of former soldiers. The first is to be given Friday evening in Turnverein Hall, 936 West Washington street.

Since its inception in 1924, the association has assumed responsibility for burial of numerous veterans of the military, naval and nursing units. It sponsored twenty-eight interments last year. W. V. Chalmers-Francis is president, John Creasy, executive officer, and John A. Bain, secretary.

Step-Children Contest Will

Contest to the will of Mrs. Lillian B. Wood, who died recently leaving most of a $22,000 estate to a brother and three sisters, was filed yesterday by Mrs. Wood's four step-children, who assert that the estate was inherited from their father, and that Mrs. Wood was incompetent to make a will on account of poor eyesight and illness.

Plaintiffs are Guy F., Mattie B. and Dora B. Wood, and Madeline Rowland. The defendants are named as Bert Harker, Mrs. Mabel E. Harker, Dora Gibson and Violet Ralph.

REVENUE OFFICE TO BE MOVED

Dry Unit Will Take Federal Building Quarters after Welch Makes Change

The next move in the game of checkers at the Federal Building is up to Collector of Internal Revenue Welch, it was learned yesterday, when he received instructions from Washington to move all branches of his office to the Western Costume Building, Broadway between Ninth and Tenth streets. The Internal Revenue Department will occupy three floors of the building as soon as arrangements are made. The Federal prohibition department then will move to the Federal Building and occupy the second floor, the space now used by Mr. Welch's office.

Will Gives Court Problem in Intricacies of Exchange Rate

Mrs. Bessie Snow, widow of the late John Campbell Snow, was left an estate consisting of an English life insurance policy of £200. Just for curiosity the court figured it out. It made $972.50.

The will was admitted to probate.

Development of Tide Scheme Held Up

Two obstacles, one a suit [illegible] junction filed in Superior Co[illegible] the other adoption by the [illegible] Council of a report declin[illegible] commit itself to the policy of [illegible] ing permits for oil drilling o[illegible] owned property, were enco[illegible] yesterday by the interests [illegible] to lease the Venice tidelands [illegible] exploitation.

In Mayor Porter's office at [illegible] today will be held a meeting [illegible] further opportunity to the D[illegible] Beach Improvement Asso[illegible] which recently adopted a [illegible] tion denouncing the project, [illegible] press itself on the undertak[illegible]

STONE FILES SUIT

The suit for injunction a[illegible] leasing the tidelands was fi[illegible] Lewis Stone, actor, on the c[illegible] tion that the proposal woul[illegible] ate the Act of 1917 defining [illegible] lands, as well as the Act of 19[illegible] which control of the lands [illegible] conveyed from the State t[illegible] City of Venice.

The suit is directed against [illegible] City Recreation and Playg[illegible] Commission and other officials [illegible] ing that the contemplated tw[illegible] five-year lease will seriously i[illegible] the value of the plaintiff's pro[illegible] which is located near the [illegible] and will constitute a grave [illegible] nuisance, besides spoiling the [illegible] ring view.

Superior Judge Hanby will [illegible] set the date for hearing of th[illegible] junction.

PLANNERS TAKE STAN

The report adopted yesterda[illegible] the City Council had been [illegible] mitted by the City Planning [illegible] mission and was an indirect [illegible] refutation to the controversy, [illegible] the proposed leasing of the [illegible] has still to come officially b[illegible] that body. Following is the [illegible] of the report, as framed by [illegible] City Planning Committee [illegible] unanimously accepted by [illegible] Council:

"We strongly recommend [illegible] the Council do not commit [illegible] to the policy of granting per[illegible] for oil drilling on any city-o[illegible] property that might be used [illegible] playground or recreation [illegible] purpose."

WILL GO AHEAD

Britt & Whitehead announ[illegible] yesterday that in the event [illegible] Angeles fails to grant a permi[illegible] is willing to proceed with its p[illegible] to drill for oil in Santa Mo[illegible] bay without using the beach [illegible] construction of piers.

James P. Britt and Arthur [illegible] Whitehead, accompanied by C[illegible] Roberts of Robinson & Roberts, were present and Attorney Ja[illegible] stated their case. He said t[illegible] was no desire to rob the peopl[illegible] any of their rights on the be[illegible] but that he had been infor[illegible] that the City Attorney's office [illegible] ruled that the commission [illegible] the power to grant the use [illegible] street ends for construction of p[illegible] on which to erect oil derricks [illegible] his clients desired a lease of [illegible] ten blocks from Avenues 42 to [illegible] to drill for oil.

Jacobson declared that the ci[illegible] ter of the beach already is cha[illegible] ing because of land drilling op[illegible] tions, that owners are leasing t[illegible] land and selling fine homes, wh[illegible] are being replaced with restaura[illegible] and hotels for workers. He [illegible] Britt & Whitehead had rece[illegible] offers from twenty-five owners [illegible] lease their land for drilling ope[illegible] tions. A great deal of the op[illegible] sition to drilling in the ocean, [illegible] said, was being fomented by o[illegible] ers of the strip between the be[illegible] and the Speedway and not [illegible] general public.

PROMISE MADE

He introduced Roberts, explai[illegible] ing that the applicants would a[illegible] to the lease that there would be [illegible] pollution of the beach, no inter[illegible] fere with bathing and that if a [illegible] well disclosed that there is ina[illegible] dant oil to make it worth while [illegible] continue the steel piers will [illegible] turned over to the city on a [illegible] basis or removed.

Plans showing construction [illegible] piers at Elwood and other poi[illegible] were offered to the commissi[illegible] which was given further informat[illegible] of a technical nature by Rober[illegible] He declared it was possible to d[illegible] for oil and not cause pollution; t[illegible] same oil comes from billges of ba[illegible] ers being pumped out than fr[illegible] wells on the Santa Barbara co[illegible] line.

Roberts explained that the be[illegible] could be used at low water, bet[illegible] the mean high tide line.

HEARING OBLIGATORY

OIL EXPLOITERS MEET WITH SNAG

Louis Stone, Actor, Sues for Drilling Injunction

Development of Tidelands Scheme Held Up

Two obstacles, one a suit for injunction filed in Superior Court and the other adoption by the City Council of a report declining to commit itself to the policy of granting permits for oil drilling on city-owned property, were encountered yesterday by the interests seeking to lease the Venice tidelands for oil exploitation.

In Mayor Porter's office at 2 p.m. today will be held a meeting giving further opportunity to the Del Rey Beach Improvement Association, which recently adopted a resolution denouncing the project, to express itself on the undertaking.

STONE FILES SUIT

The suit for injunction against leasing the tidelands was filed by Louis Stone, actor, on the contention that the proposal would violate the Act of 1917 defining tidelands, as well as the Act of 1905, by which control of the lands was conveyed from the State to the City of Venice.

The suit is directed against the Playground and Recreation Commission and other officials, stating that the contemplated twenty-year lease will seriously impair the value of the plaintiff's property, which is located near the beach, and will constitute a grave public nuisance, besides spoiling the marine view.

Superior Judge Hanby will today set a date for hearing of the injunction.

PLANNERS TAKE STAND

The report adopted yesterday by the City Council had been presented by the City Planning Commission and was an indirect contribution to the controversy, since the proposed leasing of the lands will fall to come officially before that body. Following is the text of the report, as framed by the City Planning Committee and unanimously accepted by the Council:

"We strongly recommend that the Council do not commit itself to the policy of granting permits for oil drilling on any city-owned property that might be used for proposed or recreation purposes."

WILL GO AHEAD

Britt & Whitehead announced yesterday that in the event Los Angeles fails to grant a permit it is willing to proceed with its plans to drill for oil in Santa Monica Bay without using the beach for the erection of piers.

James P. Britt and Arthur T. Whitehead, accompanied by C. L. Roberts of Robinson & Roberts, were present and Attorney Jacobs stated their case. He said there was no desire to rob the people of any of their rights on the beach, but that he had been informed that the City Attorney's office had held that the commission had no power to grant the use of city ends for construction of piers from which to erect oil derricks and that the firm desired a lease of the tide lands from Avenues 42 to 52 only for oil.

Jacobs declared that the character of the beach already is changing because of land drilling operations, that owners are leasing their land and selling fine homes, which are being replaced with restaurants and hotels for workers. He said Britt & Whitehead had received from about twenty-five owners to use their land for drilling operations. A great deal of the opposition to drilling in the ocean, he said, was being fomented by owners of the strip between the beach and the Speedway and not the general public.

PROMISE MADE

He introduced Roberts, explaining that the applicants would agree in the lease that there would be no piers out of the beach, no interference with bathing and that if a test well disclosed that there is insufficient oil to make it worth while to continue the steel piers will be turned over to the city on a fair basis or removed.

Plans showing construction of piers at Elwood and other points were offered to the commission, which was given further information of a technical nature by Roberts. He declared it was possible to drill for oil and not cause pollution; that all oil comes from bilges of tankers being pumped out than from wells on the Santa Barbara coast.

HEARING OBLIGATORY

After the application had been referred to a committee of the whole by a number, including the Del Rey Beach Improvement Association, sought to enter protests, but Attorney Weaver said that under the law the commission is compelled to hear applications for permits and that while the matter had been referred to a committee of the whole that did not mean there would be action without a further hearing. He suggested that the protestants appear before the Mayor at the hearing today.

When the hearing concluded the commissioners were served with the citation from Superior Judge Fleming's court, ordering them to appear in Department Eight at 10 a.m. and show cause why it should not be restrained from granting the permit sought. This was the first intimation that the commissioners were to be the action, although shortly before Secretary Robertson warned Britt & Whitehead and other protestants that he and other protestants were about to seek relief in court.

...ATSWORTH ACTION TAKEN BY COUNCIL

In the absence of any protests the Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare the ordinance creating Municipal Improvement District No. 76 and for an election for July 22 in the district to vote on the issuance of bonds for the installation of a water distribution system in the district. The district contains 140 acres in the Chatsworth area.

GOOD NEWS TRAVELS FAST, TOO

partment of the Los Angeles Public Library, spoke of the great responsibility which rests upon the shoulders of the children's librarian.

"Naturally, the children who come into our department are too young to form their own opinions and yet they are in a stage of development in which their ideals are being shaped and the greatest care must be exercised in putting the right books into their hands."

LENS ON BOOK AGENT

Association delegates were particularly interested in reports on the American Library Association Quarterly Journal, a publication which was started last January for the purpose of reviewing books not sold through regular trade channels but by subscription by the door-to-door book agent.

According to Miss May Wood Wiggington of the Denver Public Library, chairman of the subscription books bulletin committee, never before has there been any systematic effort made to review this type of books, and the publication will be conducted with the idea of presenting diversified opinions concerning them, as a service both to the prospective purchaser and to the publishers.

BEST BOOK AWARD

Announcement was made of the award of the John Newbery medal, given annually by the children's section of the A.L.A. for the most distinguished children's book of the past year, to Miss Rachel Field of New York for "Hitty, Her First Hundred Years," the story of a doll more than 100 years old, discovered by Miss Field in a New York antique shop. The medal, which is the gift of Frederic G. Melcher of New York, will be presented by Miss Effie L. Power, chairman of the awarding section, Saturday afternoon.

An afternoon free of business sessions gave the delegates an opportunity to visit a number of the Los Angeles county libraries and to observe the system which is said to be developed to the highest degree of efficiency of any library system in the United States.

The opening session of the twenty-fifth annual conference of the American Association of Law Libraries, last night at the Biltmore had Superior Judge Hollzer as its principal speaker. He was followed by Thomas W. Robinson, Los Angeles county law librarian; Robert Owens, San Francisco county law librarian, and William Roalfe, University of Southern California school of law librarian. Frederick W. Schenk, University of Chicago law library, presided.

MEETINGS TODAY

Past presidents of the law libraries group will be honored at the second meeting of the association today at the Biltmore at 2:30 p.m. when each one will be called upon to add a few words to a general theme of addresses on the future of the American Association of Law Libraries. In the evening delegates will be guests of the library committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association at an informal reception at the Chateau Lamartin.

Today has been designated as California Day. Milton J. Ferguson, California State Librarian, will tell how the internationally known county library system of the State was started and why he considers it successful. Mrs. Althea Warren, first assistant librarian of the Los Angeles Public Library, will discuss public libraries of the State, and Nathan Van Patten, director of Stanford University Library, will discuss college library work.

Other speakers on the program will include Miss Ella S. Morgan, Lincoln High School librarian, and Max Farran, director of research at the Huntington Library. A luncheon for governors' delegates, at which Mrs. Frances M. Harmon-Zahn will represent Gov. Young, will follow the session.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO DINE TOMORROW

The June dinner-meeting of the Los Angeles Bar Association will be held tomorrow evening at the Alexandria with the program in charge of the junior committee. John D. Richer will preside. Dean Orin K. McMurray, of the law department, University of California, will discuss "Some of the Newer Movements and Trends in Legal Thought."

DEFENSE HALTS IN GARRET CASE

Sanhuber's Counsel Advised to Seek Assistance

Three Witnesses' Testimony Proves Boomerang

Four Others Missing and Warrants Ordered

With four witnesses reported missing and three others whose testimony proved a "surprise," the defense of Otto Sanhuber, asserted "garret ghost" murderer of Fred Oesterreich, as presented by Attorney Earl Wakeman, was halted suddenly yesterday.

In view of the missing witnesses and the boomerang testimony of the others, Wakeman was forced to ask for an early adjournment of court and intimated that his case will probably be finished today.

Excusing the jury, Superior Judge Hardy, before whom Sanhuber is being tried, again advised Attorney Wakeman to seek the assistance of the Public Defender in presenting his defense.

SUGGESTION MADE

"I have made this suggestion to you twice in chambers and now I feel it my duty in the interest of justice to do so from the bench for the purposes of the record," said Judge Hardy.

The court's remark was forthcoming after a day of repeated reverses for the defense and after Wakeman declared he was uncertain whether he would put Sanhuber on the stand in his own defense.

"You told me that Sanhuber would take the stand and repudiate his grand jury confession and that he had good ground for so doing," commented the court. "If this is so, I again suggest that you seek the advice of Public Defender Vercoe."

The first defense witness was called shortly after 3 p.m. yesterday and before an hour had passed the defense had run out of witnesses. Witnesses whose names were given as Frances O'Neil, Ed Danpier, Jenny McPate and "Jane Doe" Martin, failed to answer when their names were called and Judge Hardy ordered bench warrants issued for their appearance in court this morning.

VISIT DESCRIBED

Fred H. Keune was the first witness called by the defense. He testified that he and Mrs. Keune had been friendly with the Oesterreichs and had visited the latter early on the night of the murder and that the Oesterreichs drove them home shortly before 11 o'clock that night. Keune said he observed Oesterreich put two $100 bills and some other currency in his pocket during the evening. The defense apparently expected the witness to testify that he searched Oesterreich's pocket shortly after the murder and found the money missing, but Keune denied he made such a search.

The second witness called was Attorney Homer C. Mills of Long Beach, who testified that he has known Roy H. Klumb, also a former friend of Oesterreich, for three years. When Wakeman attempted to question Mills further, however, Attorney Mills said Klumb was his client and that he (Mills) desired to claim the privilege that holds inviolate communications between attorney and client. He was not forced to testify.

BROTHER TESTIFIES

The next witness was Martin E. Mills, brother of the preceding witness. Martin Mills denied Klumb ever made any statement to him relative to the Oesterreich murder or that Klumb ever threatened him if he (Mills) proposed to testify in the present case.

The Mills brothers had apparently been called to the stand to bolster up the defense theory that another man and not Sanhuber had killed Oesterreich. When their testimony failed to support this theory, however, Wakeman literally threw up his hands and sank back into his chair. In response to questions from the court, though, the defense attorney said he had taken statements from both of the Mills brothers that led him to believe that they would give testimony substantiating his contentions. Both of the witnesses, however, asserted that Wakeman wrote the statements himself after talking to them.

BANK DATA OFFERED

Yesterday morning Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Russell reopened their case for the purpose of introducing evidence that Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, jointly indicted with Sanhuber for the murder of her husband, but granted a separate trial, and the present defendant once had a joint bank account. J. Clark Sellers, handwriting expert, testified that known specimens of the handwriting of the two defendants correspond to memoranda made in connection with the bank account.

The remainder of the morning and part of the afternoon were taken up by the defense making motions to strike prosecution testimony from the record. Practically all these motions were denied, as was also a motion to dismiss the indictment on the ground of insufficient evidence.

FOES RALLY IN BATTLE ON HOLLAND

Councilmanic Recall Petition Circulators Seek to Qualify Barred Lists

Asserting that the sworn affidavits of the circulators of the recall petitions against Councilman Holland of the Fourteenth District are sufficient identification of all the sheets of each petition, the committee conducting the recall movement asked City Clerk Domingues yesterday whether the large number of petitions he threw out when they were submitted would not be counted if the circulators came to his office and signed each sheet of each petition.

The City Clerk threw out the petitions because of the ruling of City Attorney Werner that each sheet must be properly and separately identified by the circulator. The number of signatures counted, therefore, were insufficient to assure the holding of a recall.

The recall committee was informed that it has ten days within which to obtain the proper number of additional signatures, but it is loathe to undergo this additional expense. After receiving the committee's request, Domingues yesterday asked the City Attorney whether he can grant it, and then proceed with a full check of the individual signatures.

Free Food Will Be Magnet at Mission Tonight

Free food for rich and poor will be the chief attraction at the Midnight Mission tonight when a feast will be spread celebrating the thirteenth anniversary of the institution under the direction of Brother Tom Liddecoat.

Service of the dinner, in which roast beef and the trimmings are the main dishes, will start at 6 p.m. The public is invited. The mission was inaugurated under the Liddecoat regime on June 25, 1917.

COUPLE CELEBRATE IN AIR

Life Plane Sailing on Anniversary

Pilot Burdette Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kuhn

SANTA MONICA, June 24.—A fifty-fifth wedding anniversary in the air was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kuhn of 1646 Beverly Glen Boulevard, when they adopted the most modern of all conveyances for a "wedding trip" starting at Clover Field, this city's municipal airport. Pilot Burdette Fuller gave them a birdseye view of their home from a plane owned by Ruth Elder.

Both the Kuhns are 78 years of age, but their delight today in the new sensation was as keen as that of any youngster. Mr. Kuhn now threatens to buy a ship and take a course in flying. Four generations of the family, together with many friends, witnessed the take-off and return, which followed a luncheon in honor of the couple at the home of one of their three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Sullivan, 1343 Twenty-second street, this city.

ANNULMENT GRANTED IN SECOND TRY

Heinemann and His Wife Legally Severed Four Days After One Judge's Refusal

Four days after Superior Judge McComb had refused an annulment of the marriage of Edward J. Heinemann and Louise Islar Heinemann, suggesting that a divorce was the proper action, the case was taken by attorneys to Superior Judge Crawford's court where the annulment was granted.

In the case of a divorce, the parties must wait a year before remarriage, but when a marriage is annulled, there is no such provision.

Mrs. Heinemann asserted that her husband's annulment suit was brought only for the purpose of "evading and abandoning" her. In a cross-complaint she sued for separate maintenance, but later withdrew her opposition, and filed a stipulation, dismissing her answer.

Heinemann in his complaint, asserted he had been "inveigled" into the wedding by Mrs. Heinemann, and defrauded of $41,000 while he was suffering from the shock of losing his former wife, who died.

Youth Confesses Dozen Robberies in Compton Area

Twelve recent burglaries in the vicinity of South Gate and Compton were confessed to deputy sheriffs yesterday by Alex Sokoloff, 17 years of age, of 2620 East One Hundred and Eleventh street, following his arrest by Lynwood police. The youth, discharged from the Whittier Reformatory in December, 1929, was taken on a tour by Deputies Wierich and Williams, who say he pointed out an even dozen homes he had burglarized in the past six months.

Sokoloff told the officers, according to their report, that he had entered the houses with a passkey, helped himself to watches and other small articles of value and disposed of his plunder to pedestrians. He gave the money to his mother, he said, to convince her he was employed. The deputies later recovered three watches, and booked the youth on burglary charges.

According to the officers, Sokoloff implicated two other youths, one of whom is on the records as Mike Kishersky, now serving a term at Ione Reform School.

Endeavorers of City Leave for State Conclave

A special train bearing 150 Los Angeles delegates to the State Christian Endeavor convention at Sacramento left the city last night. The convention will be in session from the 25th inst. through the 29th.

Among those attending are Rev. Chester E. Gates, district superintendent of Evangelical Churches of Oregon; Dr. Herbert P. Shaw, San Francisco; Bishop Ira D. Warner of Portland, Or., bishop of United Brethren Churches of the Pacific Coast, and Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A sight-seeing trip which will include a visit to Lake Tahoe is part of the post-convention program.

Cool-Morning Period of Area Soon to See End

A low-pressure area which has been hanging over Los Angeles and the costal plain for the past several weeks, giving cloudy mornings, is about to depart for Arizona and points east, according to the hope expressed yesterday by the local Weather Bureau experts.

A high-pressure area over the ocean is still rushing moisture-laden atmosphere over Southern California, in the form of fogs. Yesterday at 5 a.m. 90 per cent humidity was recorded here.

The low-pressure area is slowly moving eastward, Weather Bureau experts say, and when it gets far enough inland the cloudy mornings will cease.

The highest temperature of the day was 77 deg. Five and six miles-an-hour breezes from the ocean tempered the heat.

DRYS VOTE SUPPORT FOR FITTS

City W.C.T.U. Federation Passes Resolution Backing Candidate for Governor

Representatives of the twenty-six units of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Los Angeles will support Dist.-Atty. Fitts in his candidacy for Governor, it became known yesterday.

Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty, president of the federation, and Mrs. Louise M. Williams, secretary, notified the Fitts headquarters of the passage of the following resolution:

"The City Federation W.C.T.U. at our regular meeting held Friday, June 20, 1930, voted to recommend Mr. Fitts as our candidate for Governor of the State of California at the August primaries."

The action follows closely upon the heels of the resolution of commendation of Fitts passed by the county federation, comprised of representatives of the eighty-six unions in the county.

The Nazarene conference of Southern California ministers also has passed a resolution indorsing Fitts.

The candidate returned to Los Angeles yesterday, arriving here late in the afternoon by plane from Turlock where he concluded a northern speaking tour. He left here again at midnight for Imperial county where he opens a speaking tour this morning. He will deliver six addresses in Imperial today and on Thursday will be the principal speaker at the State convention of druggists to be held at the Huntington in Pasadena.

Plans for a gigantic woman's luncheon to be held next Monday at the Figueroa Playhouse are progressing rapidly and already nearly 300 reservations have been received, according to Mrs. Charles W. Decker, director of the woman's division.

COUNTY TO SEEK ADVICE ON HOSPITAL

Expert Engaged by Board of Supervisors to Suggest Efficiency Methods

Dr. Fred C. Zapffe of Chicago, secretary of American Medical Colleges, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, called here by the Board of Supervisors to conduct an efficiency survey of the Los Angeles County General Hospital under the direction of the county bureau of efficiency. The inquiry to be made by the Chicago physician is in no way connected with the grand jury investigation relative to the institution, county authorities point out.

Immediately upon his arrival Dr. Zapffe went into conference with Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent of the hospital, and members of the staff of the bureau of efficiency, which is making a survey of all county departments. He expects to complete his work here within two weeks. The bureau plans to have its survey finished by September 1, next.

Dr. Winfred Smith, a member of the supervisory staff of Johns Hopkins University, an expert on hospital administration, also is expected to be here within a short time to make a survey at the hospital. Dr. Louis Wilson, a member of the staff of Mayo Brothers at Rochester, Minn., has already investigated conditions at the General Hospital here and placed his report in the hands of the efficiency bureau.

PLANNERS' ENGINEER CHOSEN BY INSTITUTE

Joseph A. Mellen, highway engineer of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, has been elected to membership in the American City Planning Institute, it was learned yesterday. He was named during the national conference in Denver, in recognition of his work with the local commission. There are now nine California members of the institute. Others attending the conference from Los Angeles county are Charles H. Diggs, director of the commission; Bryant Hall, research engineer, and Charles D. Clark, subdivision engineer.

COLLINS-JONES SUIT COMES UP

Woman's Plea For $500,000 Will Be Heard Today

Mother Jailed For Refusal to Accept Young "Son"

Police Official Accused as Sequel to Imposture

Trial of Mrs. Christine Collins's suit for $500,300 against Capt. J. J. Jones of the police department is scheduled to begin today before Superior Judge Archbald. Involved in the damage suit is the mystery of the disappearance of her son, Walter Collins, the hoax perpetrated by an impostor and the conviction of Gordon Stewart Northcott for the murder of the missing lad. Northcott is under sentence of death for murder committed at his chicken ranch near Wineville.

In her complaint, Mrs. Collins sets up that Capt. Jones caused her to be arrested and imprisoned in the psychopathic ward of General Hospital from September 8 to 13, 1928, because she refused to recognize an impostor, Arthur Hutchins, as her son, Walter. Hutchins imposed on investigating officers, telling that he was Walter Collins and later confessing that this was a hoax.

Mrs. Collins asserts that, as a result of her confinement in the psychopathic ward, she lost her position as a supervisor for the telephone company. She asks $500,000 general damages, $5000 exemplary damages and $300 special damages for loss of salary. Attorney S. S. Hahn represents her.

She previously instituted suit against the city of Los Angeles and Police Chief James E. Davis. The case was tried before Superior Judge Vicini on July 15, 1929. The city was eliminated as a defendant before trial began and Judge Vicini instructed the jury to return a verdict in favor of Chief Davis as he was not legally responsible for the acts of subordinates.

Woman Asks $50,000 For Death of Son

Mrs. Dolores Del Valle Puente, member of a noted pioneer California family, yesterday appeared before Superior Judge Warne as plaintiff in a suit for $50,000 against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation for the death of her son, Carlos Del Valle. He was killed in a traffic accident at Vermont avenue and Forty-seventh street last September.

Mrs. Puente's attorney sought to show negligence on the part of the railway company.

THE BIGGEST BUILDING

Cincinnati is claiming the biggest building. This is the Carew Tower, which is forty-six stories high and covers an entire city block. Within its span it will include a huge hotel, a theater and an office building as well as a garage with accommodations for 600 cars. As modern buildings go this is quite a plant, but at that it will not long remain champion of America even if it can hold that title for the moment.

SANDINO AGAIN

That old Nicaraguan trouble-maker, Gen. Augustino Sandino, is at it again. Information given out by his representative in Mexico City is to the effect that he is on the warpath in Nicaragua and has defeated United States marines in two recent encounters. Of course one must consider the source of this news in estimating its validity, but there seems to be no doubt that Sandino, newly armed and equipped, has gathered up his scattered rebel band and is preparing to make more trouble for the troops stationed by the United States government in Nicaragua.

Like Kipling's "Fuzzy-Wuzzy," tough old Sandino is "all hot sand and ginger when alive, and generally shamming when 'e's dead." We all thought we were well rid of him when he was driven out of the Nicaraguan mountains a little over a year ago and took refuge in Mexico. In fact, nothing had been heard of him for months save that he was living more or less quietly in Yucatan. But now he bobs up again on the old reservation prepared to make guerrilla warfare on the established authorities of the country as well as upon the United States.

It would seem that for the rebel general and his little "army" to defy forces beside which his own are so inferior is the height of audacity, for he knows well what to expect eventually at the hands of the marines. But bull-headed bandits like Sandino reck not of consequences when there is loot in sight and a good chance to make a quick getaway.

THE SIMON REPORT ON INDIA

The report of the Simon Commission on India is now before the British public and Parliament as a whole, the first section having been published two weeks ago and the second, according to plan, released yesterday. It recommends, not dominion status, but a limited self-government which if successful undoubtedly would grow into dominion status. Nothing resembling the complete independence which the Nationalists and Gandhi have been demanding is suggested in the report; in fact, the plan appears to strengthen British rule in some particulars, since the British provincial governors proposed will have sweeping powers.

The conclusions of the commission are unanimous, which means that there will be little interparty controversy in their discussion. The commission represented all three parliamentary groups, Conservative, Liberal and Labor, and the fact that these were able to agree on a program indicated the probability that that program will at least be given a trial, whether or not it proves acceptable to the Indians.

The nine present British provinces of India are to be given local self-rule, and eight of them are to be federated in a national assembly to meet at Delhi, the ninth, Burma, being separated. The door of the Federal Assembly is to be left open to the native states, whose rajahs or princes will be invited to send delegates.

Inside the provinces, the government is to be mainly by native administrators, who will have control of the police, but the British governors will have the right to call in troops in emergencies and apparently a good deal of veto and mandatory power. The northwest frontier is to be guarded, as always, by British troops.

This, roughly, is the framework of a government which presumably is expected to advance, step by step, toward greater freedom and greater responsibility.

The belief of the commission that India is ready for as much home rule as this is somewhat surprising in view of the first section of the report, which showed the appalling nature of the task. There are, this portion said, 2300 or more separate castes among the Hindus, who form the bulk of the population; the people of India speak 222 separate vernaculars; there is the Hindu-Moslem antagonism; there are the 562 states, big and little, under native princes, which are no part of the nine provinces and are nominally independent; there is the village-centered agricultural organization with little communication between place and place; there is a vast variety of religious sects, mainly antagonistic, and there is a tremendous amount of ignorance and poverty.

Finding a common ground for a people so variously constituted looks on its face like an unsolvable problem, yet the commission makes the shrewd observation that some of these obstacles may disappear when there is no longer the possibility of blaming outsiders for their continuance. Gandhi, at least, has attacked the caste system, and has had some slight success in breaking it down. The women are showing a tendency to abandon purdah, the system of close seclusion imposed on them by centuries of custom. Even slight changes are sometimes significant in a society which has been unchangeable for so long.

Whether the Simon plan, or any other, can be imposed on India is of course a grave question. It depends in part on how deep the Nationalist disaffection has penetrated. Mere surface riots by comparative handfuls mean very little, and it is quite possible the moderate plan will be accepted by the mass of the population despite the bitterest protests of the Gandhi adherents, in which case the separatists would find their cause disappearing as rapidly as it disappeared a few years ago in the first Gandhi revolt. The Nationalists are extremely impatient of delay; but they may prove to be mere froth on top of the pot.

The developments from now on will be interesting and may be important to the world. The chaos that would follow the complete ousting of the British from this great peninsula would be very dangerous to peace as well as to commerce. Some sort of compromise will be viewed with satisfaction by those who wish to see the world progress.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

The New York commission men who recently dumped hundreds of carloads of perfectly good vegetables into the East River to boost retail prices can no doubt dig up precedents and present plausible excuses for this destruction. Yet many supposed such practices in enlightened America went out with the finish of "the public be damned" age.

Their example is not one, at any rate, which modern business will approve either from an ethical or an economical standpoint, though it "saved the market." It sounds too much like saying the operation was successful in meeting the cost of medical attendance, but the patient died.

While there are hungry mouths to feed—and at the present time in Greater New York many are going on shortened rations—no financial consideration justifies the deliberate waste of good food. It is unfair to the householder who needs the destroyed nourishment and to the producer who has spent weeks of toil and care in raising these fruits of the soil from seed time to harvest.

If the market was oversupplied when the shipments of vegetables arrived neither the producer nor the consumer was to blame for this condition, and they are certainly not the ones to be penalized. It was entirely the result of unscientific management and reprehensibly bad routing on the part of the commission men. If these New York distributors want a lesson in how to avoid oversupplied markets they can find it in studying the methods of the California Fruit Exchange.

The exchange handles ten times as many boxes of citrus fruit as did the commission houses before the California fruit men organized their own sales, yet no fruit is lost now on account of an oversupplied market, because the sales are arranged on a scientific schedule. Yet twenty years ago the buyers indulged in plenty of talk about a glut of oranges and too many acres in citrus groves. Under the exchange system, acreage, consumption and returns to producers have increased simultaneously.

So growers of vegetables in the East and South can by proper distribution handle their bumper crops without fear of flooding any one market. It is not necessary in good seasons to offset the bounty of nature by ignominiously dumping her blessings into the wash of a muddy river. Good business can direct what sentiment dictates and humanity desires.

NO MORE DELAY

Secretary Mellon approves the new tariff bill for the reason that any measure puts an end to a large amount of uncertainty that has been existing in the industrial and commercial world. A good many transactions and projects have been held up pending the action of Congress. Now that the world has heard the worst, business may proceed accordingly. The interests may take the measure of the tariff as they journey along. They will find that its bark is worse than its bite.

WE LIVE AND LEARN
By James J. Montague

My grand-dad, who with my affairs
Benignly was concerned,
Once said: "Don't deal with bulls or bears,
You'll get your fingers burned.
I know that youth demands a chance,
As well as older folk,
But if you meddle with finance
You'll certainly go broke."

But I was young and he was old,
And though he spoke the truth,
It fell upon the dull and cold
And heedless ears of youth.
And when I'd made a tidy pile
In that wild street called Wall,
I murmured with a cheerful smile:
"Old age don't know it all."

As week by week my profits grew
I muttered with a sneer:
"The old boy'd learn a thing or two
If only he were here."
I thought I'd gained the Midas touch,
For I had won alone,
And disremembered twice as much
As he had ever known.

But since the market fell last fall
I sit distrait and pale,
And get another margin call
With every morning mail.
And figure as a consequence
That it is likely that
My grand-dad had some good hard sense
Beneath his old soft hat.

And Apparently Needed

OPTITIAN WANTED.

World's Longest

In the alley south of Sixth street, running west from Hill, is what is said to be the world's biggest outdoor news stand. It is only about two feet wide, but it is half a block long, and in the racks which line the wall to a height of eight feet are newspapers and magazines from Alaska, Australia, Austria, China, Czecho-Slovakia—from all parts of the world and all States in the United States. There are papers from thirty different German cities, about as many Canadian cities and from all the principal English, Scotch, Irish, Russian, Italian, Spanish and South American cities. And there every day people from all parts of this country and from many other countries go to read the news from home. Though all the important news is in the local papers, brought by telegraph, the comparatively unimportant and the special departments they have got in the habit of reading at home draw them there.

Harry Smith, proprietor of the attenuated news stand, thinks the patronage of his stand something of an index to our floating population. Among American papers from other States, the Kansas City Star is the best seller, with the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune ranking next, which seems to indicate a great proportion of visitors from the heart of the country. Among foreign papers, German, Canadian, English, Mexican and Russian papers are in greatest demand. Though there are many Japanese here, the demand for Japanese papers is very light, as most of them have been here a long time and their local papers satisfy them. The same thing is true of Chinese papers. There is much more demand for papers from Hawaii, Panama, the Philippines and New Zealand than for papers from China, and as the latter are unusually expensive and rather stale when they get here they are not always in stock.

Didn't Know Blondes

E. D. Carothers, a Glendale attorney, sends us today's best Scotch story. He says a Scotch client wanted to divorce his brunette wife and marry a blonde because he wanted a light overhead.

Warning to Drug-Store Phoners

Long-distance love is wonderful—for the telephone companies.

The other day a Hollywood actress called up a boy friend in Paris and held such a lengthy conversation with him over the phone that the bill was $3000. When she got it she was surprised, as she had thought she talked only a few minutes. But a few days later she called him up again and had a nice $3500 chat with him.

The habits girls form in the days when they use drug-store phones are likely to cling to them and cost them a lot after they get prosperous.

A Battle of Trees

Nearly every visitor to Sierra Madre during its annual Wistaria Fete has noticed the "safety island" in the middle of Auburn avenue, the street leading directly to the fete, which surrounds seven beautiful sycamore trees. A Mrs. Wheatley, first city librarian of the town, deeded the land for that street to the city with the stipulation that those trees always should be preserved. The trees have stood there many years, a distinguishing mark of a town which loves trees more than speedways, as they pinch the street so that all traffic has to slow down to pass them, but they have never been the cause of an automobile accident.

Lately, however, the Chief of Police has recommended that the trees be cut down and the safety island removed, on the ground that "many accidents have been narrowly averted at the point." We happen to be very fond of that clump of trees, and that argument seems lacking in force to us in view of the many streets, unbeautified by such trees, in which accidents are not narrowly averted. Many of the townspeople take the same view, and the battle of the trees is now the liveliest thing in what seems to us the only one of the suburbs of Los Angeles which still has rustic charm. The tree defenders are suggesting to Oscar Rasbach, composer of "Trees," that he revise the last lines of Joyce Kilmer's famous poem and his famous song to read:

Autos are driven by fools like thee,
But only God can make a tree.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

BOOTHS FOR FRONTIERSMEN
[New York Times]

Foreigners who visit these shores, and particularly those who make the trip from shore to shore, are greatly impressed by the magnificent distances of the West. They get the idea that Westerners revel in great open spaces and are children of the wide outdoors. But this is only a quaint superstition.

Californians dote on small shut-in spaces, snug nooks and corners. This is obvious from the prevalence of booths in every sort of restaurant. Whether you go to a fish grotto or a grill or a French restaurant or a "coffee pot," you find it filled with booths. The fact that the restaurateur provides booths is often advertised on his front window. Not until every booth is occupied do the clients resign themselves to coming out in the open and dining at a table unsheltered by protecting walls.

The booth idea perhaps originated in the frontiersman't fondness for making a stand with his back to the wall. A booth gives him the choice of three.

ARKANSAW
[Detroit Free Press]

A Congressman from Maine having pronounced Arkansas as it is spelled, a gentleman from Arkansaw promptly corrected him on the floor of the House. That was all right. The denizens of a country, State, city, town, village or hamlet are commonly conceded the right to fix the pronunciation of their place names. Their decision stands, whether it is right or wrong. Arkansas is pronounced Arkansaw because Arkansans have so ruled. So be it.

We all have to learn—or go through life pronouncing Cairo, at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi, as if it were an Egyptian capital and not a corn syrup. Congressman Snow should be grateful for the correction. Some day the gentleman from Arkansaw, who was so quick on the trigger of orthoepy, will perhaps make a speech on Maine. When he tangles with Agamenticus Ogunquit, Chimmeticock, Chimquassabumtook and Cauquomgomoc, Snow may have a chance to return the compliment of correction.

THE LAW OF DREAMS
[New York World]

Out in Fond du Lac, Wis., it seems that one Richard W. Wilson, an athletic director employed at Hammond, Ind., was in an automobile accident. The next night he dreamed of the crash, leaped out of bed to escape what he thought was impending death, and jammed his hand through a window, cutting it. Thereupon he sued the two men who had been in the accident, alleging that they were responsible for the dream, and the court awarded him $1000. This, to be sure, is a strange kind of law. Yet we are by no means sure that we are opposed to it, for it does open up some very attractive possibilities. For example, there is the redress that could be obtained for that very common misfortune, a bad dinner.

THEY CHOOSE BOTH
[Boston Transcript]

Senator Caraway says his lobby committee is not interested in the question whether or not the people love better the Constitution or their beer, and a large proportion of the American people is not interested either, being firmly convinced that they can have both.

IN DEFENSE OF THE CANYON

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

Out of a profound ignorance of all the rules of art arty, including chiaroscuro, values, perspective and horizon line, among others—equally lacking in the technique of geology of whatever period, Paleozoic, Cretaceous, Adamic or neolithic—utterly without critical sense as exemplified by the pundits who proclaim pronouncements on the basis of their erudite education in whatever sciences there be—considering myself merely one of the great common herd of those who like things because they appeal to their heart of hearts, their better nature, their higher aspirations—who may love a picture that to the aforesaid pundits is a mere daub, or a statue that offends their every idea of line and mass, or even a bit of nature which to their all-wise eyes is a blot and a blurb on the landscape or a ghastly gash in the ground—

As a mere such, I say, which I admit I am, I venture, like the fools that take chances where angels would be abashed, to insinuate myself and my humble opinions here, utterly in defiance of the authoritative enunciations and denunciations of Fred Hogue, critic emeritus, and, of course, my better when it comes to art, man-devised or that created by the hand of God Almighty.

I court destruction, I know; I can already feel the scorch of the Jovian thunderbolts hurled at me from Fred's throne on High Olympus and am duly exterminated thereby:

But when it comes to Grand Canyon, you are all wet—and it's just too bad, that's all.

I have spent days at the canyon where you spent hours merely. I have traversed its rim from Hermit's Rest to Grand View—aye, more than once, at that. I have plumbed its depths on muleback, at severe cost to my sitting abilities the while, and have cast the debris of my meal from Turtle Head into the turgid Colorado 1200 feet straight down—on whose bank I later stood and watched and listened to its mighty flow. I have seen—from a point you did not—the most glamorous sunsets the eye of man ever feasted upon: and equally, from another point you did not, have been enthralled by the similar yet different glories of sunrises incomparable—both more colorful than kaleidoscope could disclose, more chromatic than the spectrum itself. I have glimpsed the rushing river—yes, from the canyon's brink—now a ribbon of silver; again a golden glow; still again, a sinister and threatening streak of blackness, but ever fascinating, though dumb in the distance. I have seen the gigantic pinnacles that rise almost mile-high in that canyon bathed in a silver azure sheen which made moonlight a new mutation to me. I have been charmed by cloud effects unimaginably lovely; by the play of lights and shadows up and down and in and out of those weird rock formations till there were no words to describe their thrall.

And I have stood on the very spot that you did, Fred, and have seen a thunderstorm roar and rumble adown that huge gash in earth's crust below me, the while a brilliant sun wrapped me in glittering glory—a vivid contrast to the darkness beneath that was uncannily awesome and impressive.

And, in the vari-colored strata of the walls and upthrusts, I have found—only on close acquaintance, Fred—a story in tint and hue, as I plodded down and up Bright Angel Trail—a story only God's finger could have written, only His brush could have limned.

Nothing I have ever seen has impressed me with such aweful beauty, such grim loveliness, such immense, tremendous, inspiring gorgeosity. Never is the canyon alike from hour to hour; never are two moods similar. It is the despair of poor wordsmiths such as I; the passionate will-o'-the-wisp to painters, who seek vainly to imprison its evanescence on canvas; the hope of all poets and the ultima Thule of everyone who seeks to view at long last, with leisure to study, learn, know, the masterpiece of mystery, the finality of impressiveness, of the Creator's handiwork.

Had you, Fred, stayed days instead of hours—had you, as I did, been chaperoned by beloved "Baron" Brandt (alas, he is no more, so that you cannot hope,) late cicerone of El Tovar—had you the guiding wisdom, as I did, of George Horace Lorimer, who compelled the canyon into a national park, to tell you what (and what not) to do, where to go, how to see and then take you by the hand and lead you understandingly and lovingly through and about this wonder-place—for Lorimer knows and loves it as does no other living man—perhaps then, Fred, your judgment might have been other and you might have found Grand Canyon not a disappointment, a thing to rail at, a mere gully scoured out by a prehistoric flood (who cares or dares to know how God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform?) Had you been privileged, as I was, thank fortune, you, too, might have viewed Grand Canyon through more all-seeing eyes, and so respect and even love it, despite the inartistry which it bespoke to your ken. Even you might then stand humbly and very small (as I do) before its majesty, its grandeur and greatness, in awe and real amaze.

Go again, Fred—stay longer—get acquainted. Let the real canyon get under your artistic, hypercritical skin. Forget formula and folderol of man-made rule and limitation. Let yourself enter into the spirit of it and enjoy it in sheer wonder and astonishment. What a tremendous pleasure awaits you, if you'll only accept it. I know; even a poor scrivener like me sometimes can see things that are denied to the wise, yet are revealed to babes and sucklings.

Grand Canyon a "drab ditch"? Fie upon you, Fred; I thought better o' you than that!

It might be worse. Nobody has yet thought to serve spinach in bright colors.

Point Sublime

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having read the recent article by Mr. Hogue, in which he appears to have missed the matchless sublimity of the Grand Canyon, I wish to call attention to Capt. C. E. Dutton's classic description of that masterpiece of nature. Unfortunately that description is known to but few, it having been published only in connection with an official government report nearly half a century ago. However, it may be found at the Los Angeles Public Library, in the second annual report of the United States Geological Survey, pages 142-155, under the title, "Point Sublime." The article is scientifically accurate, as well as poetic and eloquent.

LEWIS HEININGER.

"Water, Water Everywhere"

DENVER, June 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Have noticed your city is spending many millions of dollars for increased water supply and further proposes to spend some $6,000,000 more in connection with the Boulder Dam project.

While what I am going to suggest has not been done to date under conditions that will meet the needed cost of operation to be practical, yet there is no valid reason why it cannot be done if the incentive is offered to scientists, chemists and engineers to create the necessary equipment to do the job.

You have the water supply right at your door, in the ocean, purified by natural salt content. Why not pump it through a separation plant and save expensive and uncertain long-distance delivery of impure water from elsewhere? Offer a half million, or a million dollars to the man or men who will solve this simple problem, whereby it can be done at a cost equal to what your present or future cost per gallon of water will be.

SIMON BITTERMAN.

If One, Why Not All?

PACIFIC GROVE, June 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your columns recently reminded your readers of a live sample of genuine disarmament, achieved by the new President of Mexico, in reducing his military budget by one-third, and devoting the millions thus saved to educational and engineering purposes. Now comes another Latin-American power, Chile.

As a consequence of the settlement of the old dispute with Peru, Chile is planning to reduce her army so that only the indispensable personnel for instruction purposes will be left. The annual contingent assigned to compulsory military service will be reduced so that only 30 per cent of the eligible will be called.

In the Old World the Scandinavian lands are finding it quite possible to pursue the same policy of disarmament. If the smaller peoples find themselves able to prosper by disarmament why not the greater powers?

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Posters and Lettering?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

F. L. Holcomb is the instructor in show-card writing and poster design at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard. This class is free to men and women of all ages and they may enter at any time, except the week of June 30 to July 4, inclusive, which is vacation week.

The class meets on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7 to 9 p.m. in room 273 of the Art Building, which is located on Twentieth and Flower streets, just around the corner from the main building. Those wishing high school credits should enroll at once and ask for a record of their work to be kept. Work taken long ago, or in a small, unknown high school, will count toward an up-to-date diploma.

This gloomy attitude of mine every has-been you will find. man confesses to his age, when growling in a senile rage, he says that old ways were the best, the world is going galley west. At times you'll hear a graybeard say, "The good old nags of yesterday! The trotters that we used to drive in '29 and '30! Grimes, what bliss it was to scoot behind a smooth-gaited minute brute, a horse of fine and noble frame that knew the spirit of the game! A trotting horse was living meat, with active brain and flying feet, whinnied softly when it saw its kindly master nearer draw. Not to me of motor cars! I think about them jolts and jars. They are contraptions made of tin, with greasy metal under within. They do not know the master's hand or recognize his terse command." And when a graybeard talks like that it shows his mental spark has missed. The trotter was a great success in bygone ages, I confess; and when inspired to flight flew a good long mile or maybe two; then 'twould be windy tired and sore, and sweat would drip from every pore, and grooms would have to rub it down, and call the vet from out of town. A motor takes the trotter's gait and keeps it up for twelve hours straight, and doesn't even heave a sigh, or call for grooms to rub it dry. So with a thousand modern schemes; they beat the old things of our dreams.

...ding on the mysterious typewritten paster to bring about a rise in price of powdered rock used in asphaltic movement, Jessup said it would increase the price of such paving only one-tenth a cent per square foot.

A complete new form of general specifications will be drawn on recommendation of the committee after hearing Jessup's views on the matter. The new specifications will be known as No. 137. The new set will be drawn up by the Board of Public Works and submitted to the Council for approval in the usual manner.

SEARCH GOES ON

Investigation of the criminal aspect of the attempted fraud, which was discovered shortly after adoption by the City Council, which subsequently rescinded the specifications, is now under way by the District Attorney's office. It has been determined that the pasters were not typed in the City Hall.

It is believed by Chief Investigator Matthews that the particular machine will be found in the office of some contractor interested in the document. It has been learned that several contractors had access to the document before its approval. Names of these contractors are withheld by the investigators.

BABY BURNS TO DEATH PLAYING WITH MATCHES

Fatally burned when matches with which she was playing ignited, Gloria Juarez, 1 year and 10 months of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvadore Juarez, 327 North Ford avenue, died yesterday morning in her home before aid could be summoned, according to a Sheriff's report.

Following the death of the child, Mrs. Juarez became hysterical and was removed to the General Hospital, where late yesterday she was pronounced to be in a serious condition.

Investigation by Deputy Sheriff Morrell disclosed that the child and her brother, Jose, 3, obtained matches in some manner and were playing with them while the mother went to a near-by store. Returning a few minutes later, the mother found the child dead. The boy was uninjured. The flame from the match had ignited a curtain between a doorway, the burning material falling on the infant.

SAN DIEGAN LOSES PLEA OF RETRIAL

Henry Schumann-Heink's Conviction Affirmed by State Supreme Court

Conviction of Henry Schumann-Heink, of Schumann-Heink & Co., of San Diego, on grand theft charges was upheld yesterday by the State Supreme Court in denial of Schumann-Heink's petition for a rehearing, according to word received at the Los Angeles office of the tribunal from San Francisco.

Schumann-Heink was twice convicted on the grand theft accusation. The first judgment was reversed by the Appellate Court and the defendant was found guilty for the second time on retrial. At the second trial he was placed on probation for five years.

The offense revolved around twelve shares of bank stock which belonged to Schumann-Heink & Co. Wilfred M. Clare, an associate of Schumann-Heink, pledged it to secure a note of the defendant at the United States National Bank of San Diego. Clare testified that Schumann-Heink had personally advised and instructed him to do so. Schumann-Heink declared that Clare was shown to have had sufficient motive for the action and that he did not instruct his associate.

SLAYER PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE

Unwritten Law Likewise Invoked by Bakman

Dark Canyon Killing Case Now Being Tried

Dead Man's Friend Says He Reached for Gun

Self-defense and the "unwritten law" both were invoked yesterday by Daniel Bakman in defending himself against a murder charge under which he is being prosecuted in Superior Judge McComb's court.

Bakman is accused of murdering Guy Whittson on the night of February 25, last, in a jealous frenzy over Mrs. Bakman's affections.

During cross-examination Harold Stuckey, who was with Whittson at the time he was killed by shotgun fire at a lonely spot on Dark Canyon Road, stated that Whittson reached for his hip before Bakman fired.

Today, Bakman is expected to take the stand in his own behalf and tell what he knows of the shooting of which he is accused.

OLD MURDER CASE STORY RECOUNTED

Mrs. Oddie Minser Tells of Mike Mucich Death as She Accuses Stickels

Mrs. Addie Minser yesterday took the witness stand in Superior Judge Wilson's court and told of the murder, nine years ago, of Mike Mucich, who was shot to death and thrown from a speeding automobile near the First-street bridge.

Phillip Stickels is on trial charged with the murder, because of Mrs. Minser's statement to police that she was in the automobile at the time of the murder and saw Stickels fire the fatal shots. The woman also implicated Charles P. Stevens, a former police officer. Efforts to find Stevens as a witness have proved futile.

Shortly before court adjourned last night, Stickels took the witness stand in his own defense and specifically denied all of the charges made by Mrs. Minser. He will resume his testimony today.

Corner Leased in Hollywood Changes Hands

Hollywood Business Properties, Ltd., yesterday acquired from Hollywood Boulevard Corporation a thirty-seven-year lease on the property at the northeast corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Hudson avenue, the purchase price involving a bonus of $50,000 and rentals totaling $740,000, N. F. Wilson, president, announced. All negotiations were conducted by Thomas D. Barnett. Harold B. Franklin, president of West Coast Theaters; Henry Beller and Gittleson Brothers are principals in Hollywood Boulevard Corporation. The deal closely follows the purchase by Hollywood Business Properties of the Taft Building.

The Hollywood-Hudson corner has a boulevard frontage of eighty feet and 200 feet on Hudson. Improvements consist of three stores and a public garage. The property runs back to a 115-foot lot on Hudson avenue, on which the company will build a limit-height hotel, as recently announced, construction starting August 1, Wilson announced.

Witwer's Widow on Stand Today in Picture Suit

Mrs. Sadie S. Witwer, widow of the late H. C. Witwer, author, will go on the stand today in United States District Judge Cosgrave's court to testify in a suit she brought against the Harold Lloyd Corporation, Harold Lloyd, film comedian, and others for an asserted infringement on a copyrighted story of Witwer's.

It is charged in the complaint of Mrs. Witwer, who appears as the executrix of the estate of her late husband, that the film story, "The Freshman," produced by Lloyd, was taken from Witwer's story, "The Emancipation of Rodney."

It is asserted by Mrs. Witwer's attorney that "The Freshman" brought profits in excess of $2,000,000, and she seeks $2,300,000 damages. It is asserted by Robert G. Gortner, attorney for the Lloyd corporation, that the picture's profits were not in excess of $1,000,000. The case is expected to go to trial before Judge Cosgrave this afternoon.

Youth Seized on Charges of Girl Companion

Charging that the affection that had assertedly caused Victor Blanco, 20 years of age, to bring her to Los Angeles from Seattle had quickly waned, and he was planning to cast her adrift, Ardeth Woodling, 20, yesterday caused Blanco to be held on charges of suspicion of violation of the Mann Act and burglary.

The girl, an expectant mother, was last night in the County Jail, also charged with suspicion of violation of the Mann Act. She and Blanco were arrested last week, but she told her story for the first time yesterday.

In consequence of her story two others were taken into custody, Louis Blanco, brother of Victor, and Mrs. Hazel Farrington, 38.

Miss Woodling gave her Los Angeles address as 2963 Partridge street, and Victor Blanco gave 419 Avenue 19 as his.

STUDENTS PLAN RECITAL

Pupils of the Jewish Art Institute will give a recital Friday evening in the Sheridan school auditorium, Sheridan and Cornwell streets.

Court Dismisses Extortion Case

Extortion charges against Jose Vargas, Spanish interpreter in the El Monte Justice Court, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Russell. Vargas was charged with extorting $350 from Luis and Guadalupe Contreras, accused of drunkenness, after telling them they would be sentenced to jail unless they paid the money.

Arthur Webb, attorney for the interpreter, established that he telephoned Justice F. G. Wilson and asked the approximate amount of the fine in case the two youths pleaded guilty. Judge Wilson told Vargas that "they'd better have at least $350 when they come to court," he testified. Vargas said he received the money, but declared that he used $200 to pay the fines imposed on the pair and that he is still holding $150 as credit on an automobile the boys expect to buy from him.

FRECKLES

Tells How to Rid Your Complexion of These Ugly, Rusty-Brown Spots

If you freckle easily, yet find these blemishes hard to remove, read what thousands of women do to fade out every last freckle and gain a clear, beautiful complexion. They use Othine and no longer dread the summer sun and winds.

You, too, will find that after a few nights' use of this dainty white cream even the worst freckles have begun to disappear while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce of Othine is needed to clear the skin of these ugly blotches.

Be sure to ask at any drug or department store for Othine double strength. It's always sold with guarantee of money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and give you a lovely, milk-white complexion.—[Advertisement]

In the Modern

ICE Refrigerator

ICE-Cooled Circulating Air stream removes impurities and odors . . . Preserves natural juices and delicate flavors of all your foods.

STORED foods pass off impurities in the form of gases, unpleasant in odor. Thus food, to remain impurity-free and to prevent decay, must be kept in air that is pure as well as cold.

Modern ICE Refrigerators supply a constant circulation of washed air, purified and freshened every 60 seconds. Food odors and impurities are carried by the air stream to the melting ice film, where they are absorbed and eliminated through the drainpipe.

Too, this circulating air stream absorbs heat from the walls, shelves and foods—maintaining a constant average temperature throughout the refrigerator UNDER 50 DEGREES. At temperatures above 50 degrees germs multiply, food becomes unwholesome. Thus a modern ICE Refrigerator returns its cost in the food spoilage it prevents.

The scientifically designed ICE Refrigerator is the most efficient form of refrigeration yet produced. It is controlled by Nature—and Nature never fails. Exacting laboratory tests prove it preserves better the natural juices, tenderness and full flavor of all foods.

ASK YOUR ICE MAN

You can cut food costs with the modern, scientifically designed ICE Refrigerator. It enables you to preserve foods longer—save shopping trips—prepare enticing dishes undreamed of before. It does this for only one cent a meal per person.

ED WYNN SIGNS WITH PARAMOUNT

Universal Gets Film Rights to "See America First;" Fairbanks, Jr., Remains at First National; Evelyn Knapp Replaces Dorothy Mackaill

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Once more Paramount is the missionary who is bringing the famous Broadway comedian, Ed Wynn, to the screen, so that the folk in small towns who have not had the pleasure of seeing in person the droll fellow may see his celluloid double and hear his screen voice.

ED WYNN

Wynn will appear in one starring picture for Paramount-Publix through a special arrangement with Florenz Ziegfeld, who holds a long-term contract on the star's services, it was announced yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky. The comedian starred in one silent picture for Paramount, made two or three years ago and called "Rubber Heels."

But this isn't all the news. Simultaneously, Paramount concluded negotiations with George White for the rights to "Manhattan Mary," to serve Wynn as a vehicle.

"Manhattan Mary" was one of the outstanding musical comedy hits of the 1927-8 theatrical season, and proved to be Wynn's greatest stage success. Produced by George White at the Apollo Theater in the autumn, it played 264 performances in New York. The book, lyrics and music were the joint product of B. G. DeSylva, Lew Brown, Ray Henderson, William K. Wells and George White.

CRAFT WILL DIRECT UNIVERSAL SPECIAL

It looks as though William J. Craft is fast becoming Universal's king-pin director. He has guided a large number of Universal's recent successes, has just finished what is said to be an excellent production of "Little Accident," and now he is assigned to another one.

"See America First" is the name of the next picture which Craft will direct. It is an original by Vin Moore and Edward Luddy. Moore is a comedy director and writer of long standing.

Al Dumond is to be associate producer in charge of the picture, and Jerry Horwin will act as Dumond's assistant. No star or other member of the cast is yet chosen for the production.

Doug, Jr., Signs Again

Even if they have no role that fits him just now, First National officials aren't going to let Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., get away from them. The organization has just signed the young actor on a long-term contract.

At present Fairbanks is playing the juvenile lead in Warner Brothers' "Outward Bound," and there is talk of loaning him to Universal for "The Command to Love."

Evelyn Knapp Wins Lead

EVELYN KNAPP

Evelyn Knapp, Broadway actress, replaced her in the leading feminine role. Charles Bickford plays the starring role in the picture. Miss Knapp is under contract to the Warners, having been brought west by them. She played in New York roles in "Money Penny," "Broadway" and "The Patsy." She has appeared in one picture, "Penny Arcade," for Warners.

RECITAL OF DANCE ENJOYED

Smartness and New Ideas Pervade Agnes De Mille Program at Windsor

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Facile and original in the ideation of her program, Agnes George De Mille brought to the dance stage something distinctly new and modern last night at the Windsor Square Theater. She gave her first recital here, returning to the place of her former residence after unique success in New York, and she delighted in an unquestioned way a responsive audience, comprising the social and professional groups. It was not a large audience but a representative and constantly interested one. She appeared with Warren Leonard as an assistant, and a partner in various of her offerings, and with Louis Horst accompanying at the piano.

Immediate attention is centered on the variety of Miss De Mille's creations, for which she herself is responsible both as to their character and their costuming. That the range is broad for both time and place is readily disclosed by the fact that at one moment she is interpreting the suggestion of a Degas painting, and not so much later is offering an Irish Harvest reel, a "Can-Can" from that old stage spectacle, "The Black Crook," or a reminiscent patriotic marching impression of the Civil War period.

Her dance presentations are distinctly characterizations. There are, of course, lyrical bits like the Nocturne by Selim Palmgren which she and Leonard did together, but they are the exception rather than the rule. The numbers wherein she especially fascinates are touched with the burlesque mood, and she is deft in this particular field, though her art is very finely manifested in so delicate a number as the French Gigue in fugue form with the Bach music.

It was in this particular number that Miss De Mille captured, when with an easy grace she disposed of a petticoat that had slipped from its fastenings. She deftly stepped out of the temperamental garment, and went on with the dance so composedly that many audience members probably were in doubt as to whether it were part of the number or not.

Of amusing bits there were "May Day," the "Try-out," "'49" with its Virginia Reel climax, the Can-Can particularly, and others. The "Harvest Reel" was decidedly a surprise in its conception—not the conventional Irish dance by any means, but a frenzied affair of moon madness, danced by a black-garbed girl with bare feet and hair streaming—a dance almost of revolt.

The charm and spontaneity of Miss De Mille's work were perhaps best reflected in the latter portion of her program. She is not always so sure in the execution of the idea, as she is in its mental projection. Nuance is sometimes missing in her interpretations, but they are eminently clever as interpretations, and disclosed a genuine flair for new themes in the realm of the dance pictorial. Her technique in dancing, as exemplified in such numbers as "The Gigue," or the final Degas study, the ballet class, is effective. In portions of the "Try-out" her toe-dancing was distinctly interesting.

Mr. Leonard's work was, in general, satisfying. He seemed at his best in more dramatic numbers like "Ascetic" and the "Hero Saga." These were both unusually well characterized. His "City Boy" and "Spring Song" were less vivid, though both marked with the novelty that in general pervaded the program. "Nocturne," as Miss De Mille and he did it, was very attractive, and he was an excellent aide in the humorous sketches.

Mr. Horst played "Tijuca," by Milhaud, and two Scriabin preludes as piano soli. Virtually all the numbers on the program were warmly received, and the enthusiasm for "The Black Crook" excerpt called for an encore. There was an ovation at the close of the recital.

'Shadow of Law' Opens Friday at United Artists

"Shadow of the Law," William Powell's latest Paramount production, will start Friday. This prison drama was originally scheduled to have its premiere at the United Artists Theater last week, but owing to the success of the Chevalier film, "The Big Pond," it was postponed.

Taken from the navel, "The Quarry," by John A. Moroso, "Shadow of the Law" was directed by Louis Gasnier. Powell is seen in a new characterization. This time he is being hunted by the law—rather than hunting for the law.

Former Reporter Responsible for Film Dialogue

Another newspaper man makes good in the movies. He is Wallace Smith, who wrote the dialogue for "Alias French Gertie," which will be shown for the last times today.

Before Smith was 20 years of age he was credited with being the star reporter of a Chicago paper. Later he earned the distinction of being the youngest newspaper correspondent in Washington, D. C. He was a member of the Pershing expedition to Mexico.

Gowns Worn by Player Attract

Since the opening of "Caprice" at the Belasco Theater a week ago, Fay Bainter has been deluged with telegrams, telephone calls and notes inquiring about the beautiful gowns and frocks she wears during the three acts of the comedy.

In the first act Miss Bainter wears a beige chiffon afternoon gown; in the second a red crepe semisport dress, and in the last act a startling white satin evening gown. All three creations are of unique design and striking color combinations.

Stars Plan Trip to "Big House"

Leila Hyams

Who has an important role in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, will visit the Criterion Theater tonight, accompanied by Wallace Beery, Chester Morris and others of the cast, to officially start the production on its run. The picture actually opens this morning, however.

PLAY SHOP OFFERS ONE-ACT DRAMAS

"Peace," by Frances Goldwater, Judged Best of New Presentations

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

The florid ability of Daisy Belmore was the dominant factor in the success of "Peace," one-act playlet by France Goldwater, at the Play Shop.

Miss Belmore as the idealist of a peace commission, who dreamed of world peace only to find a very maelstrom of strife, within the confines of her own home, was human and quite charming in her role. She held the rather poorly constructed play together by the strength of her portrayal. Marjorie Bennett gave excellent account of herself. Carl Dial as the son seemed a trifle miscast, but managed his part with exuberance. Josephine Challon and Virginia Barber gave good individual performances. Ruth Wayne was pleasing, but has not quite found her "stage legs" as yet, theatrically speaking.

"The Last Supper," from the pen of Rowland Brown, a dynamically constructed moment in the life of an underworld gangster, kept the audience upon tiptoe of suspense in the short time allotted. It was neither delicate nor subtle in the manner of unfoldment, but the conversation in the best crook vernacular was singularly forceful and to the point. Douglas Dale gave a natural and even interpretation of the detective, while Demetrius Emanuelas invested his part with an impression of that debonair bravado which modern criminals effect.

Ted Van and Van Noy Davis contributed "Something to Think Bout" in the way of clever psychological legerdemain and an interesting demonstration of bloodless surgery as practiced through mental control of the body. Cookie Bowers, monologist, gave the audience some merry moments.

Montagu Love in Next Film at Downtown

Montagu Love, a former newspaper man, appears with Billie Dove in "A Notorious Affair," a First National Vitaphone production, at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater starting Friday.

Love had worked for one of the New York dailies and transferred to the drama department, which required him to interview stars of New York productions, besides writing for the shows. In that capacity he had a close contact with the stage and was eventually offered an opportunity of which he took advantage.

Included in the cast of "A Notorious Affair" is Basil Rathbone, Kay Francis and Kenneth Thomson. Corinne Griffith in "Back Pay," closes tomorrow.

Screen Minstrel Show Coming to Fox Boulevard

A minstrel show that features stars of both stage and screen will start at the Boulevard Theater tomorrow for a week's run. "Happy Days" presents a galaxy of songs, dances, jokes and talent.

Benjamin Stoloff directed the production. Walter Catlett, George MacFarlane, William Collier, Sr.; George Jessel, Charles Evans, James J. Corbett, Frank Richardson and Clifford Dempsey take part in the screen entertainment.

Other players include Will Rogers, Sharon Lynn, Warner Baxter, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, J. Harold Murray, Dixie Lee and Marjorie White.

"STEP ALONG" AT FOLLIES

"Step Along" is the current burlesque at the Follies. Evelyn Myers, featured soubrette, adds to her laurels with a versatile performance of singing and dancing. The humorous skits played by Billy Bumps Mack and Ray Parsons receive hearty applause this week. These comedians have a rapid-fire manner of delivering their lines. The forty girls of the chorus are colorfully costumed. Among other principals are Tex Oliver, George Crump, Larry Farnum and Melba Roy.

EL BRENDEL VEHICLE TO PLAY HERE

"Svenson's Wild Party" Supplants "Swing High" at Orpheum

El Brendel's latest vehicle for Fox will start a run Saturday when "Svenson's Wild Party" has its premiere at the Orpheum Theater. As a Swedish valet who, on nights out, plays the part of a gallant gentleman, Brendel is said to surpass all of his previous characterizations.

William Collier, Jr., and Huntley Gordon divide supporting male honors while Marjorie White is said to be an admirable partner for Brendel. Others who are prominent in the cast are Noel Francis, Miriam Seegar, Frank Richardson, Yola D'Avril, J. M. Kerrigan and Paul Nicholson. Benjamin Stoloff directed.

"Swing High," circus life film, which is current at the Orpheum, will close its engagement Friday night.

John Halliday Portrays First Role on Screen

Basil Woon's play, "Misreal," has been adapted to the screen and under the title of "Recaptured Love" will be presented at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater starting Friday. In the cast are Belle Bennett, John Halliday and Dorothy Burgess.

"Recaptured Love" serves as the motion-picture debut of Halliday, who will be remembered here for his performance with Fay Bainter in "Jealousy." Halliday is said to bring a new type of character to the screen.

Dorothy Burgess has a prominent role in the picture and gives what has been called the best performance of her career, while Belle Bennett is also featured. Others are Richard Tucker, Sisters G and Junior Durkin.

Russian Stars to be Honored

M. Koumetsoff, Mme. Nicolina and M. Vasiloff, stars of Balieff's "Chauve Souris," will be guests of honor tonight at George Olsen's Club, Culver City, when they make their debut as an added feature in the new summer revue.

Olsen has planned a gala Russian night as a tribute to this trio, with prominent Slavic stage and screen stars, producers, directors and composers of the Hollywood colony in attendance.

BYRD FILM TELLS TALE OF HEROISM

Produced by Paramount with sound effects, "With Byrd at the South Pole" was filmed entirely in the Antarctic by two cameramen who accompanied the intrepid Byrd on his colorful adventure. Filled with suspense and hearty humor, is depicted the actual flight over the South Pole and the conquest of new continent.

For twenty months Byrd's party was isolated from civilization, their only communication with the outside world being by means of the radio, and during this time they lived an amazing series of adventures that is a colorful "stranger than fiction" record.

Unique Stage Effects Used in New Play

All the stage equipment used in "Subway Express," the drama due at the Mason Theater Monday night, is specially constructed, particularly the electrical equipment. To give the effect of a moving train there are six lenses banked directly behind the set. These play on a white drop and give the various stations the effect of being realistic.

The noise of the trains, both express and local trains, is also obtained electrically. Two drums, one with a steel top, the other with a wooden top, each with a motor, are manipulated from a switchboard. They run at various speeds, the steel-top drum making the accepted noises for the express trains, the wooden-top drum for the locals. On top of each drum is a contraption with eight metal wheels that revolve at great speed.

"Subway Express" is the type of show that stage mechanics dub tricky, mainly because of its many mechanical cues. Many of the forty odd players work on these.

'Paths o' Glory' Scheduled for Playhouse Run

Scheduled for an indefinite run at the Figueroa Theater, "Paths o' Glory," a war play built around the reactions of the men in the trenches, starts Sunday night.

The play was written by Wallace Stark, a veteran of the World War, who was in the trenches for nineteen months. Particular interest is attached to the production as the author is turning over the proceeds to the Disabled American Veterans legislation fund.

The action of the play is laid in a shell hole and a German dugout. The cast is headed by Leroy Mason and includes Ruth Hill, Paul W. Panzer, William Malan, Solly Carter, Charles Leland, Wallace McFarland, Colin James, Ernest Spelvin, John Thomas, Ernest Young and Bert Sprotte.

"White Cargo" Held Over for Another Week

The screen version of the play, "White Cargo," has proven such a success at Fred Miller's California Theater that the management has decided to hold it over for a second week, starting Friday.

The picture creates and sustains a definite mood. It is smoothly directed and performed, with Leslie Faber portraying Weston and Gypsy Rhouma playing the part of Tondeleyo.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Lounsberry, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lounsberry, to Hugh Hubert Hughes, will be solemnized this afternoon, the ceremony taking place at 5 o'clock in the gardens of the home of the bride's parents, 415 South Rossmore avenue, with Rev. George Davidson officiating.

The bride, who is one of the most attractive members of the younger set, will be given in marriage by her father. She will wear white satin, princess model, her veil of tulle caught into a rose pointe and duchess lace and she will carry lilies of the valley and white orchids. Misses Estella del Valle and Dorothy Llewellyn, maids of honor, will wear frocks of pink taffeta in pale and deep shades, respectively, with hats to match and carry pink roses and lilies of the valley while the bridesmaids, Misses Barbara Jean McCartney, Ella Taft Sandberg, Agnes Duffy, Caroline Mathews and Betty Cordingly, will be in frocks of pink, carrying bouquets of pink roses in contrasting shades. Vernon F. Heinz will serve as best man and Hilton McCabe, Philip Duffy, Harry Coffin, Jr., Harold Thompson, Jr., Orville Sawyer and James Dowling del Valle are to usher.

After the ceremony there will be a reception and wedding supper, after which Mr. Hughes and his bride will leave on their motor honeymoon, returning to pass the summer at Hermosa Beach.

Miss Lounsberry was graduated from Marlborough School and later from University of Southern California, where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority. Mr. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas Hughes of West Fifty-first street, claims University of Idaho as his alma mater and is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Wedding Data

Miss Frances Flowers, charming daughter of Mrs. M. E. Flowers of Santa Monica, has chosen August 3 as the date for her marriage to Allan Doyle, also of Santa Monica, and her wedding party. Mrs. Roberty Bundy will assist her sister as matron of honor while Miss Marion Bagg will be the maid of honor, other attendants including Mrs. Douglas Bundy, Miss Helen Winnett, Miss Daisy Parsons, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Marjory Morris and Miss Adelaide Wilson.

Saturday evening Miss Flowers was the honor guest at a dinner-dance at the Midwick Country Club with Miss Bagg and Miss Wilson as hostesses, more than 200 guests being bidden.

Another charming affair in honor of Miss Flowers will be the bridge luncheon to be given by Mrs. J. J. Doyle, mother of her fiance, which will take place the last of the month at the Jonathan Club. The wedding ceremony is to take place in the lovely gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Lombard in Reno Drive, Riviera.

Wedding Day Set

Another of the lovely brides-elect who has set her wedding day is Miss Rhoda Cornelia Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Herbert Jones, and grand-daughter of the late Senator and Mrs. Cornelius Cole, who will become the bride of Franz Osthaus, son of the late Edmund Osthaus and Mrs. Osthaus. The ceremony will take place the 30th inst., in the gardens of the Jones home, 6530 De Longpre avenue, Hollywood at 4 o'clock with Rev. Philip Easley officiating. Only relatives and a few very close friends have been bidden.

Mrs. Mortimer Kline is to assist as matron of honor while two small cousins of the bride, Cornelia McLoughlin and Cornelia Brown, will be flower girls. Harry T. Coffin, Jr., will serve as best man.

Gone on Trip

Planning a most delightful summer outing Laurence Barker of 3300 West Adams street left yesterday on an ocean cruise, taking his charming subdeb daughter, Miss Betty Baker; her chum, Miss Mancy Gilholm, and his two sons, Laurence, Jr., and William A. Barker, II. They sailed aboard the City of Los Angeles for Honolulu, and after a week there will be picked up by a liner, going on to Gooch Island, about ten miles off Victoria, B. C., which was purchased by Mr. Baker last year, and where he has built a summer home.

They plan to hunt, fish, swim and hike, not returning to Los Angeles until about September 1.

Miss Betty is a student at Marlborough School, while her brothers are attending the Curtis School.

Last week Mrs. William A. Barker entertained with a charmingly appointed dinner party in honor of Ernest Albert Bryant, Jr., and his fiancee, Miss Judith Tilt, whose wedding is to be an event of next month, although the date will not be settled until the return from abroad of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Albert Bryant, who now are in Germany and plan to reach here about July 12.

Sixteen members of the younger set were bidden and after dinner, bridge featured the evening's entertainment.

Sunday Miss Tilt and Mr. Bryant were honor guests at a house party given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dakin (Susanna Bryant) at the Bryant Rancho, near Santa Ana.

Summer Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Macneil of 4785 Cromwell avenue, Hollywood, and their young subdeb daughter, Victoria Moreland Nebecker, are passing the summer vacation at Hermosa Beach, where they have taken a cottage at 2666 Strand.

For Bride-elect

In honor of Miss Katherine Jean and her fiance, Laurence Thayer Bourne of Cleveland, who arrived Monday morning from his eastern home, Mr. and Mrs. James McCarthy Rounds (Edna Louise Ruwe) entertained Monday evening with a bridge supper at their home in Lucerne Boulevard, the affair being in the nature of a "welcome" to Mr. Bourne. The wedding will be an event of Friday evening. Those included were Miss Jean, Mr. Bourne, Mr. and Mrs. John Melville Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Starkweather, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Cecil Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hebgen, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Trenham, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tremaine, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo York, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Langley, Miss Frances Jean, Miss Elizabeth Von KleinSmid, and her fiance, Ernest Potts, Jr., and the hosts.

Luncheon Party

Mrs. Guy Bush of 158 South Serrano street is giving a luncheon this afternoon at the Royal Palms in Westlake aveue, honoring Miss Helen Haworth of Phoenix, who is passing the summer here, and Princess Tsianina of Chicago, who also is a visitor in the city. Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stye and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION TO LIGHTEN CHILDREN'S TASKS

Mothers are forever discovering how easily the child can be managed if they simply couch their suggestions in a way to appeal to his imagination. The "fairies" (and how useful they are!) can rapidly make a bed, wipe dishes or clear up the room in a way to astound the family. The joy of pretending to flutter about light-footed and airy-fingered is so entrancing that the work goes on while it is done without fussing. Things can't always go rightly even in the best-managed families, but a quick-witted mother can change sobs into smiles and pouts into chuckles if she will bring her imagination, instead of a heavy hand, to bear upon the situation.

TUB GAMES

Mrs. T. F. W., says: "We went through the shampoo terror, for accidentally one day some soap stung Billy's eyes and after that he shrieked at the sight of it. I bought a bottle of shampoo and partly reassured him, and took great care that no more fell in his eyes. When little brother was old enough to bathe in the same tub we played a game that took away the thought of soap. They were little gnomes, and mother worked hard to make a soapy peak on their heads and points on their chins and cheeks. They shrieked with glee at the result. With only one child the mother might have to use a mirror to show him the result. This game helps them to leave the tub, too, for they hurry to be rinsed and wiped so that they can go and see if the gnomes are back in the picture book again.

CHASING TEARS AWAY

"Sometimes there is a hesitancy about entering the tub and then a little touch of the bath brush sends the little gnomes to tumbling in. I could go on repeating endlessly the games that we play to accomplish a desired end. One I remember particularly, for Billy cried and stampeded when he hurt himself playing with hammer and nails. I said to little brother: 'Run quickly and telephone for the ambulance —a carpenter has been hurt on the job.' It was remarkable how quickly Billy's face was wreathed in smiles and how rapidly he forgot his pain. Later I explained how he had happened to get hurt."

Along with all mother's play ideas, encourage the children to think up their own games too, for we don't want them to be constantly dependent upon mother's ideas. We can encourage the children to suggest what they want to play when they go in the tub. At first they will probably copy the ideas to which they are used but it won't be long before they will be thinking up new ones of their own. Children observe so keenly that we can be sure almost any experience they have had themselves or have heard read to them will sooner or later be duplicated in their play. Work or being cleaned up and dressed is of itself so uninspiring for children that we must make it agreeable for them to solidify the good habits which we are at pains to establish.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER GETS MORE THAN HE BARGAINED FOR

You'll find through life that an excuse
Is seldom of the slightest use.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had thumped twice as hard as he could on the roof of Jerry Muskrat's house, which was a hole in the bank of the Smiling Pool. Then Peter had scampered to the edge of the bank to look over to see if Jerry would come out of his doorway, which was under water. Some one came out, but it wasn't Jerry. No, sir, it wasn't Jerry Muskrat. Peter thought it was. He thought so right up to the time that a brown head appeared above water and a pair of eyes snapped at him angrily.

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter. "I—I—I hope you'll excuse me, Mrs. Muskrat"

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter. "I-I-I hope you'll excuse me, Mrs. Muskrat," for that is who it was. "I was just knocking for Jerry."

"So you were just knocking for Jerry!" snapped Mrs. Muskrat, and her voice was very harsh and angry. "So you were just knocking for Jerry! It is a wonder you didn't thump a hole in the roof. You need to be taught a lesson, Peter Rabbit. I have more than half a mind to come up there and teach you one right now."

Peter backed away hastily, as Mrs. Muskrat began swimming toward the bank. "I-I-I'm sorry, truly I am," said Peter. "I wanted some one to talk to and I thought Jerry was probably in there asleep and that he would come out if I thumped."

"Well, Jerry wasn't in there, but I was!" sputtered Mrs. Muskrat. "I was, and so were my babies. It was enough to frighten them half to death. How would you like to have some one come thumping over the heads of your babies, Peter Rabbit? How would you like it?"

"But I didn't know there were any babies," protested Peter. "How was I to know? I wouldn't have frightened them for the world, Jerry hadn't told me that you had any babies."

"I'm glad Jerry has sense enough not to be telling our private affairs to everybody," said Mrs. Muskrat. "However, that is no excuse, Peter Rabbit. No excuse at all. You had no business to be thumping on that roof."

By this time Peter was beginning to feel a little provoked. "This bank is free, so far as I know," said he. "I'd like to know who has any better right to sit on it, or thump on it, than I have. If you don't want your roof thumped on, why do you build a home here, anyway? I might have thumped here without knowing that your home was there at all. I guess I've a right to do as I please up on the bank."

Mrs. Muskrat's eyes fairly blazed. She started up that bank in a hurry. Peter took one good look at her. He noticed her long yellow teeth as she drew her lips back. Then Peter suddenly decided that he had business somewhere else. Away he went—lipperty-lipperty-lip. He glanced back, Mrs. Muskrat was out on the bank and actually chasing him, and she was moving surprisingly fast for such a stout person with such short legs.

"Phew!" exclaimed Peter. "She must be angry to think that she can possibly catch me. I guess I shall have to keep away from there for a while. But how was I to know anything about those babies? I got more than I bargained for. Yes, sir, I got more than I bargained for. Well, Mrs. Muskrat can't catch me and I'm glad she can't. I wouldn't like to be very near her when she is in such a state of mind as she is now."

Of course, Mrs. Muskrat didn't chase Peter far. No one could know better than she how useless such a chase would be. She merely wanted to work off a little of her anger and to perhaps give Peter a little fright. So presently she turned back, dived into the Smiling Pool and went back to those precious babies in the snug house in the bank.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Peluffo's Italian Cafe, arranged and decorated in true Italian style, recently opened on Olvera street near the Plaza Park. Naturally, Mexican food is associated with a Mexican street, but just as the blood of Italy flowed through the veins of our early history so on the Paseo will be found a touch of real Italian atmosphere. A noonday lunch and evening dinner, featuring many Italian dishes in peasant style, are served daily till 12 p.m.

CABIN CLUB TO OPEN

The Cabin Club on Central avenue near Twenty-second street, a replica of the famous Harlem bright spot, will be introduced to Southern California's pleasure bent Friday night. R. Thurman Davis, who is sponsoring the new enterprise, has obtained his all-colored revue of thirty entertainers brought from his own original New York Cabin Club besides Edna Barr and her Rhythm Masters' Band. Principals of the revue are Barrington Guy, late star of "Blackbirds;" Allegreta Anderson, Edna Cunningham, the Five Hot Shots and the Cabin Quartet. A novel and striking effect has been obtained for the interior, which has been fashioned to represent a miniature colony of cabins where the patrons will be served from a menu of southern dishes between the twice nightly revues and the floor dancing. According to Producer Davis it is planned to change the stage presentations weekly.

RUSSIAN NIGHT PLANNED

Russian Night will be celebrated at George Olsen's new club, Culver City, tonight, on which occasion M. Kournetzoff, Mme. Nicolina and M. Vasiloff, brilliant stars of Balieff's "Chauve Sourie," will be guests of honor. They have just arrived here from New York for a brilliant engagement in Olsen's new summer revue.

Olsen has planned a gala program as a tribute to this famous trio, with prominent Slavic stage and screen stars, producers, directors and composers of the Hollywood colony in attendance. Michael Vavitch, president of the Russian-American Art Club, is chairman of the reception committee.

ROOF GARDEN POPULAR

Mrs. Gertrude M. Magee, manager of the Westchester Tea Room, Pico Boulevard and Westchester Place, reports the roof garden used in connection with the tea room is proving very popular. During the past few weeks a number of bridge luncheons and afternoon teas have been enjoyed in this delightful inclosure with a charmingly appointed dinner party Thursday evening at the Mary Louise, the guests including Judge and Mrs. Guy Bush, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. George Webster, Miss Ada Mapes of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Daly, Mrs. Frederick William Teschke, Mrs. A. H. Stahl of Chicago, Miss Helen Haworth, C. H. Vaughn and H. DeLucca.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

ATHLETE'S FOOT

It is estimated that about 10 per cent of all adults either have now or have had athlete's foot. This disease has only recently come to public attention, and so little is known about it that most of those who have it do not know what they have.

Athlete's foot begins as an itching spot between the toes. The skin turns red, scales and cracks, peels off and blisters form. The toes are tortured with a peculiar itching which becomes more pronounced during the summer heat or after any exercise which increases the perspiration of the foot. The trouble usually begins quickly and gradually becomes worse unless checked. When the nails are involved they may turn yellow.

The disease is contagious, and one person who has it may infect many among his group.

Athlete's foot is really ringworm of the feet, and is due to a vegetable parasite with a long name, the "tineatriehophyton." This fungus parasite is commonly found on the floor in gymnasiums, swimming pools, locker rooms, along the tiles in public showers and in public bath houses. For this reason this disease is found more often among the leisure classes than among the poor. The parasite is picked up through walking in such places with bare, warm, moist feet.

Now that summer is coming on, the epidemic will probably become more widespread than before. To protect yourself in public pools it is a good plan to avoid walking around the floors in bare feet. It is a good plan to wear your own rubber shoes.

It is pertinent to know that men have this trouble more than women do, because women more often wear bathing shoes than men. When examining the feet of the students in a university it was found that 78 per cent of the men had ringworm of the feet, while only 17 per cent of the women were affected.

The wearing of hot, heavy shoes during the summer which clog up the skin of the feet, causing excessive perspiration to form between the toes, undoubtedly lowers the resistance of the skin and causes a predisposition to athlete's feet. By changing the hose daily, washing the feet often, and wearing suitable summer shoes, a resistance of the skin may be increased. The treatment consists principally of using some antiseptic solution to kill the parasite. Ultra-violet light treatments will also kill all parasites on the surface, and the same effect may be obtained through sun-bathing the feet for a long time. The feet should be exposed on all sides for about an hour in the summer sun, the patient keeping other parts of the body covered part of the time so as to prevent itching.

In curing the itching toes you must persevere until the condition is absolutely cleaned up, for if one spot is left unhealed it will cause the rest of the toes to become infected over again. If you have been wearing woolen golf hose while the infection was present, you may reinfect your toes by wearing them again, since wool cannot be boiled thoroughly.

COLLEGE ORPHANS RALLY

The Southern Pacific College Association, comprising former students of Southern Pacific College, which was destroyed by fire in 1879 and never rebuilt, will hold its annual reunion Sunday in the municipal park at Huntington Park. Judge William T. Kendrick will speak and Mrs. Josie McKellar Magee will lead the devotional services.

STREET HEARINGS TODAY

Appeals will be heard by the City Council today against the confirmation of the assessments for the improvement of Harper avenue between Melrose avenue and Beverly Boulevard and of One Hundredth street between Broadway and Figueroa street. Hearings on the former have been postponed several times.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

EGG CUSTARDS WITH BREAD SAUCE

Beat three eggs slightly and add to them three-fourths of a cupful of milk, season with one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, a few grains of cheyenne pepper and a few drops of onion juice, then strain the mixture into buttered timbale molds, set in a pan of hot water and bake until firm in the center. Remove them onto a serving dish and pour around them a bread sauce.

BREAD SAUCE

One and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-third of a cupful of fine, stale bread crumbs, one onion, five cloves, a few grains of cheyenne pepper, one-third of a teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of butter and one-half a cupful of course, stale bread crumbs. Place the milk in a double boiler, add the fine crumbs and the onion, which has been stuck with the whole cloves, and allow to cook slowly for twenty-five minutes. Remove the onion, add the salt, cheyenne and one-half of the butter. Pour the sauce around the timbales and sprinkle with the coarse bread crumbs which have been browned in the remaining butter.

APRICOT JAM

Wash, cut in halves and remove the stones from five pounds of firm, ripe apricots. Place in a preserving kettle, add five pounds of sugar and stir over a slow fire until the juice will run. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer for two hours. Add one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice and cook for five minutes longer. Pour into sterilized glasses, allow to cool and cover with paraffin.

CHICKEN CLUB STYLE

For six people cut in half three cleaned broiler chickens, dip each half into beaten egg, using three eggs, to which has been added four tablespoonfuls of cream, a seasoning of salt and pepper. Then roll the halves in fine sifted bread crumbs, lay in a well-buttered baking dish, dot with bits of butter, place in a hot oven for twelve minutes. Lift out the chicken, place it in a heavy iron saute pan, cover tightly and place over a slow fire for half an hour or until the chicken is tender. Remove it to a hot platter, add a half cupful of cream to the pan the chicken was cooked in, heat, add two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup and strain over the chicken.

CURRANT ICE

Place in a saucepan one and a quarter cupfuls of sugar and three cupfuls of water, mix well, bring to a boil, skim and boil for five minutes. Remove from the fire and cool, add four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and two cupfuls of strained fresh currant juice, mix well, pour into a freezer and freeze until stiff.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.— (All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

BONDS TO BE DISCUSSED

ICE CREAM PLANT BLAST HURTS FOUR

Explosion in Inglewood Factory Perils Throng and Sets Building Afire

With an explosion that rocked other structures in the vicinity and endangered the lives of a crowd of 300 persons, the Hayden Ice Cream Company factory at Regent and Market streets, Inglewood, was wrecked and four persons were rushed to a hospital suffering from glass cuts early last evening.

Extent of injuries to the four were kept secret at the Inglewood Health Center, but it was admitted the men were under medical care. Their names were given as Charles Kellog of Los Angeles; W. S. Larson, W. H. Wood and Milton Biddlecomb of Inglewood.

The blast was caused by escaping ammonia fumes in the rear of the one-story building.

Occupants were driven from the structure and a call made on Chief Bacil Roberts of the Inglewood fire department to shut off the escaping gas.

Several firemen had entered the building with gas masks, but were unable to stop the flow.

While they were preparing for a second attempt the gas exploded, sending glass and debris in all directions and scattering the crowd that had been attracted to the scene.

Fire followed the blast, but was extinguished before it gained headway in the wrecked interior. A shoe store next door to the ice cream plant also was damaged.

Jack Warner Heads Screen Relief Group

At the close of the most successful year the Motion Picture Relief Fund of America, Inc., has had, the board of directors last night elected as its new president Jack L. Warner, vice-president of production at Warner Brothers' studio.

Mr. Warner succeeded Mary Pickford, who received a vote of thanks for her work since taking office a year ago. Others elected at the meeting of the board at Pickfair, the home of Miss Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks in Beverly Hills, are Nicholas J. Schenck, first vice-president; Mary Pickford, second vice-president; Will J. Hays, third vice-president; Conrad Nagel, fourth vice-president; M. C. Levee, treasurer; A. W. Stockman, secretary.

Elected also as trustees for three years are Fred W. Beetson, Charles Chaplin, William S. Hart, Jesse L. Lasky, E. H. Allen, Winfield R. Sheehan, Antonio Moreno, Milton Sills and Ronald Colman.

Applications for relief had grown last year at a tremendous rate, the report of the board's secretary stated, but the cost of administration had been greatly reduced. Members of the film industry were, and are, responding more liberally to appeals for contributions than before.

The report added that when Miss Pickford took office $75,000 was needed to meet the expenses of the 1930-1931 fiscal year, and that this fund had been more than realized.

TRADE COMMISSIONER CONTINUE SURVEY

Egbert Adams, South American trade commissioner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will leave Peru next week for a six-weeks' survey of Bolivia and Chile, according to a cable received yesterday by Clarence H. Matson, manager of the chamber's foreign commerce department. The trade commissioner is making an extensive surveys of South America, covering approximately two years, in behalf of manufacturers in the Angeles county.

His surveys covering his tours in Central America have already resulted in several thousand dollars' worth of additional trade for manufacturers in this area who have been placed in touch with interested buyers in the foreign field.

TWO GET JAIL TERMS FOR SPEED VIOLATIONS

Reiterating his statement made some time ago that high speed on the city streets means jail, Municipal Judge Valentine yesterday sent M. V. Moomjian of 964 Sunol Drive, and Rudy Harfert of 468 La Brea avenue, to jail for two days each after they admitted their guilt in Traffic Court. Moomjian was accused of driving fifty miles an hour on Brooklyn avenue in heavy traffic, and Harfert of driving through several intersections on West Seventh street at forty-five miles an hour.

GOV. YOUNG WILL GO TO SALT LAKE CITY

Gov. Young will leave Los Angeles Saturday evening for Salt Lake City to attend a conference of the chief executives of thirty States the first three days of next week. During the Governor's absence Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan will be acting Governor, his first service in that capacity since his appointment to the position.

RIDING BOOTS STAY AT HOME

Wife Forbidden to Use Her Husband's Gift, She Tells Court

After giving her a pair of riding boots her husband forbade her riding, Mrs. Florence Rizzonelli testified in the trial of her suit for divorce from Rupert L. Rizzonelli, a fireman. She asserted cruelty. Superior Judge Hahn granted her a decree.

"He told me I was too extravagant when I wanted to go horseback riding," she said. "Then he said that if I were a man he would beat me."

Fate of Intercoastal Bund Hangs in Balance

Resignations of "Big Three" May be Averted

Decision on Compromise Plan Expected Today

BY WALDO DRAKE

Fate of the United States Intercoastal Conference, already shaken by recent resignation of the "big three" member lines, is expected to be decided by the three-day conference which will be completed in New York late today. Pacific Coast executives of member lines are hopeful that the pro rata lay-up of ships during the present cargo depression will be decided as the best method for restoration of harmony.

COUNCIL CONVENED

At the war council in New York, called by President Robert C. Thackara, interests of the Pacific Coast are being sponsored by Roger D. Lapham and John C. Cushing, president and vice-president, respectively, of the American Hawaiian Steamship Company; Kenneth D. Dawson, president of the Quaker Line, and by the firm of Dichman, Wright Pugh, east coast agents for the Arrow Line.

LAY-UP

A minimum of fourteen freight steamers would be laid up temporarily by the eight lines in the conference under the plan first suggested by the Luckenbach Steamship Company, while this would be increased to more than twenty vessels if the five nonconference intercoastal freight operators can be induced to participate. The nonconference Panama Mail Line and Panama-Pacific Line would not be involved, since their vessels are operated on passenger schedule.

"The situation has become so acute that something drastic must be done at once if we are to save the conference," said one shipping executive yesterday. "The plan for lay-up of surplus tonnage is so sensible and clear-cut that I fail to see now any line could decline to participate. We are practically certain that the Dollar, Luckenbach and American-Hawaiian lines would withdraw their resignations if this plan is put through.

"None of the lines are making any money under the present situation of running too many ships with only partial cargoes, both east and westbound. In the early autumn, when the lumber, dried fruit and canned goods movements begin, ships could be returned as traffic developed."

COMMERCIAL SHIP INSPECTIONS MOUNT

More than 500,000 gross tons of commercial ships will have been inspected at Los Angeles by the local staff of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service during the fiscal year closing this month.

It is a gain of almost 25 per cent over the 416,000 tons of last year, and an increase of 1700 per cent since 1918, when only 32,000 tons passed under the ken of the local inspectors.

At that time the staff comprised only Capt. Carl F. Lehners, now retired, and Capt. S. A. Kennedy. Now Kennedy and Joe Moody are the local inspectors, each has two assistants; there are two clerks, and beginning July 1 the office will be augmented by an assistant inspector of boilers, an assistant inspector of hulls and another clerk.

True reflection of a port's growth, J. K. Bulger, supervising inspector, recently declared. Hes in ships' inspections, which he said have grown in almost unparalleled rapidity. Incidentally a score more 8000-ton vessels, which normally should have been inspected here, were diverted for their convenience to other Pacific ports.

To expedite details on the proposed new $7,000,000 Lasco liner, Harold Dillingham, president of R. F. Dillingham Co. is en route here on the Dollar liner President McKinley. His company represents Lasco in Hawaii, and his views on Hawaii's needs will be sought in planning the new ship. Dave Young of the United States Salvage Association, also is returning after attending salvage of the burned City of Honolulu, and is expected to participate in the Lasco conference. Others on the liner include S. I. Ward, consular official in the Orient, and wife, en route to Washington, D. C.

The British tanker Yarraville, helpless two days 350 miles south of San Francisco, must wait another day for the arrival of a Red Stack tug, reported dispatched from San Francisco. The tanker's engines were reported completely disabled, en route to Australia with a cargo of gasoline for Vacuum Oil Company.

Lasco flagship City of Los Angeles carried out 362 passengers yesterday, on the beginning of its quick turn-around schedule, bound for Hawaii. Travelers included Lawrence Barker, vice-president of Barker Brothers, and his three children. Max Linder, representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in Honolulu, also returned to his post.

Five weeks of leisurely cruising among the picturesque islands of the South Seas are included in the itinerary of the passenger-carrying motorship Yngaren, sailing westward to Europe in September. Passengers are limited to eight, according to General Steamship Corporation, agents.

Harbor commissioners today will invite bids on engines to serve a salt-water system supplying Fish Harbor canneries with fluming water. Two vacuum pumps and several centrifugals, the latter ranging from 5000 to 250 gallons per minute, are contemplated.

A 160-foot section of bulkhead at Berth 3, Pier A, Long Beach, gave way in the midst of dredging operations near by, allowing the dissipation of about 10,000 cubic yards of material.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24. (AP)—Small shipments of lumber and general cargo moving in the intercoastal trade, will probably result in many carriers being temporarily laid up, shipping observers reported here today.

Several weeks ago the Lewis Luckenbach and the Andrew J. Luckenbach were withdrawn from service due to the depression, and it was learned today several of "B" line are considering laying up some of their vessels.

Under command of Capt. Robert H. Carey, the trans-Pacific liner President McKinley is due here tomorrow from the Orient by way of Honolulu with more than 400 passengers and a full cargo of oriental merchandise.

SEATTLE, June 24.—The new service between Grays Harbor and Southern California, inaugurated yesterday by Sudden & Christenson Co., will be handled by the steamships Willapa and Siuslaw, Edna Christenson said today. She announced on a ten-day schedule, it was announced here today.

Freight will be carried at an advance of 7½ cents a hundred pounds from Los Angeles, above the regular San Francisco rate, which will amount to considerable saving to Grays Harbor merchants.

Advices received today were that the steamship Victoria of the Alaska Steamship Company sailed from Nome for Seattle Sunday night with a large general cargo, express shipments of gold and furs and a passenger list of SIXTY.

PORTLAND, June 24.—A collection of stateless small scale models of ships will be on exhibition in the Oregonian building, 1320 Fourth avenue, from June 25th to the 30th inst. The models illustrate the development of ships.

TACOMA, June 24.—With 250 tons of sulphur on board, the freighter Herman Frasch from Mobile anchored in the Tacoma harbor today. The sulphur is to be used in paper and tyrwod in Shelton for the manufacture of paper.

The Royal Mail liner Lothenassy arrived late last night from Rotterdam and the United Kingdom to take a full load of lumber, plywood, canned goods and lumber as return cargo.

TRANS-PACIFIC MAIL

WOMAN BUYS FAST SPORT PLANE

Pastor's Wife Creates Stir at Local Airport

Florence Lowe Barnes and Mystery "S" Craft

FLORENCE LOWE BARNES, San Marino society aviatrix, wife of Rev. C. Rankin Barnes, pastor of a South Pasadena church, became the only woman owner yesterday of a $16,500 Travel Air Mystery "S" monoplane—the fastest type sport plane in the nation and one of the only four ever constructed.

Delivery of the bullet-like speedster was made to Mrs. Barnes at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport by H. C. Lippiatt.

Just before handing her a receipt for the ship Lippiatt took it aloft and in an unofficial speed test tore through the air at 200 miles an hour.

What the aviatrix plans to do with the plane was not announced. She wants to get in some time at the controls of the red-and-black craft before attempting any open-throttle dashes. The plane's known speed is easily faster than the world's record of 184.5 miles an hour, set at Metropolitan by Amelia Earhart.

The San Marino flyer's purchase of the monoplane has stirred aviation circles, however, as only the most experienced and daring of male pilots have flown the other three similar craft. Lieut. James Doolittle, veteran army stunt flyer, owns one of them; Capt. Frank Hawks, trans-Atlantic pilot, another, and the Curtiss Exhibition Company the third.

This marks the first appearance of a Mystery "S" in Southern California. The first one made aviation history when it roared across the finish line ahead of the fastest pursuit craft of the Army and Navy and other commercial planes at the 1929 National Air Races.

WINNERS NAMED IN SERVICE TEST

Total of 319 Qualify for Court Clerkships

Examination Was Taken by 2300 Applicants

About 100 Will Get Jobs, Mostly Veterans

Tentative approval of the names of 319 applicants who passed for general clerks of the Municipal Court out of 2300 who took the test in February was given by the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission yesterday. From the successful applicants will be chosen fifty who will be assigned to clerk duty in the municipal courts and about fifty more will be given typing and stenographer work.

Practically 90 per cent of the successful applicants are ex-service men, who are given 10 points credit as such. The list is topped by Jackson E. Holt with 100 credits. Second is William King, with 97.8 credits, following with Harry G. Whitmore, 95.1 credits; Harry O. Langendorf, 95 credits; Francis P. Shearer, 94.6 credits, and Grover Smith, 94.3 credits. All are ex-service men.

Many of the present clerks in the municipal courts, who have held the jobs without tests since the positions were created by the State, are among the successful applicants. The county pays them and the city conducted the examinations, which entailed an immense amount of work by examiners.

This number of applicants was the largest ever to take a city civil service examination but this record will be beaten on Saturday, when 2500 applicants for firemen will take the test to create an eligible list for the fire department.

Strange Cactus Bears Bloom

Nine years of patient care of more than 300 varieties of cacti last night rewarded Fire Captain Stoemer, 207 East Second street, with his second flower of the night-blooming Cereus.

Capt. Stoemer planted the strange cactus nine years ago when a friend returning from Central America brought the plant with him. Four years ago it blossomed and again last night.

The blossom was nearly seven inches wide and had a faint but not pleasant odor, but what it lacked in perfume was more than made up in the delicate white and cream shades of the petals.

The plant has three additional buds which are expected to break open some time tonight.

GUARD CHIEF SPEAKS ON PATRIOTISM

Gen. Everson Here from Washington Urges Keeping Full-Strength Enlistment

Maj.-Gen. W. G. Everson, chief of staff of the National Guard in Washington, D. C., making a nation-wide tour of the country's defense system, gave a stirring address on patriotism and the need for keeping the National Guard unit up to full strength in the presence of 100 officers of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry and regular Army officers in this area, at the University Club last night.

Gen. Everson asserted that the need for keeping the military defense to full strength is greater now than ever before. He urged the officers to constitute themselves as "teachers of patriotism to the civilian population to combat and stifle efforts of the government's enemies to spread insidious doctrines."

In paying tribute to the local regiment for its high rating at the Washington bureau Gen. Everson said:

"The National Guard and the Officers' Reserve Corps as a unit is the backbone of our national defense. From these ranks officers will be chosen in the next war. They must become highly trained in the technique of war, because in their hands will be the lives of boys who now are in school and college. The next war will not so much be a matter of having the most men in the trenches because it will be fought by scientific weapons and methods that will be more effective than anything dreamed of during the World War."

CATHOLIC SCHOOL SENIORS GRADUATE

COUNCILMAN AND EX-WIFE WARNED TO AVOID BLOWS

Stern warning was given yesterday by Superior Judge Blake when Councilman Julius Barthel and his former wife, Mrs. Letitia Barthel Winn, appeared before him at argument of the city official's motion for a new trial on a judgment to pay $2700 asserted due on a divorce settlement agreement. The judge referred to the episode of the 20th inst., just outside his courtroom when Mrs. Winn slapped Barthel.

MRS. LETITIA BARTHEL WINN

"I was cognizant of that matter," said Judge Blake. "But it won't occur again, here or in the hall."

Attorney A. C. Verge for Mrs. Winn protested that his client had become overwrought, believing that the Councilman's political influence would operate against her. Judge Blake assured her that he will decide on the facts and the law.

Through counsel Mrs. Winn complained that when she divorced Barthel nine years ago they entered into an agreement by which he was to pay her $50 a month as long as she lives. Barthel contends that the settlement was to run as long as his former wife was in need of it, and that she concluded the need by remarrying. Mrs. Winn says she and her second husband have parted, and that she needs the settlement money and $2700 is due on a judgment previously granted by Judge Blake.

Attorneys Jeremiah J. Sullivan and Arthur S. Guerin argued for a new trial for Barthel on the grounds of new evidence. This was opposed by Attorneys Verge and Harold F. Collins.

Judge Blake granted the motion for a new trial, but ordered Barthel to pay the costs to date and counsel fees.

LANGDON SCORES IN TRIAL

Women Testify for Screen Comedian in Fight to Dodge Payment of Love-Balm Notes

Harry Langdon, screen comedian, late yesterday won a point in the trial of a suit to compel him to pay $11,500 on three notes given his wife's first husband, Thomas J. O'Brien, when Superior Judge Blake denied a motion to dismiss the actor's cross-complaint for recovery of $15,000 paid the plaintiffs. When the trial is resumed this morning, O'Brien and his former attorneys, Otto Emme and Leo Rosecranz, will submit testimony to combat Langdon's complaint that he signed the notes under duress, receiving nothing in return.

Langdon has testified that he paid O'Brien would return the daughter $15,000 cash and signed the notes for $11,500 to forestall O'Brien's instituting a suit for $250,000 on grounds of alienation of his wife's affections. Since that payment, Mrs. Helen O'Brien married Langdon. The Langdons and their witnesses have testified in an effort to show that O'Brien had lost his wife's affections long before Langdon won them.

ARGUE FOR NONSUIT

Arguing for nonsuit of the cross-complaint yesterday, Attorney Bayard Rountree, for O'Brien, Emme and Rosecranz, asserted that Langdon's countercharge was an insufficient defense, and that it might be a defense to an alienation-of-affections suit but that it did not affect the fact that a settlement was made in good faith.

Paul Schenck, attorney for Langdon, opposed the motion to dismiss. He asserted that O'Brien threatened to start an alienation suit, which never was filed.

"Instead, they sent word to Langdon, 'Settle or we will wreck you,'" thundered Schenck.

Langdon's attorney added that the comedian also had paid the money and signed the notes so that Virginia, to his wife.

WOMEN TESTIFY

Rountree said he did not deny Langdon feared adverse publicity, but contended that O'Brien, Emme and Rosecranz acted ethically in negotiations a settlement.

Miss Urania Burgess, formerly a motion-picture actress, and now a writer, testified to an ocasion when Mrs. O'Brien, now Mrs. Langdon, said O'Brien pushed her out of his automobile. Miss Burgess added that Mrs. O'Brien once told her O'Brien knocked her over a bathtub.

Nan Collins, who was a casting director when Mrs. Langdon was in pictures, testified that she once cast her for a Madonna role. She said Langdon's wife told of being unhappy with O'Brien. Mrs. Marie Estabrook gave similar testimony. Mrs. Ben L. Walton corroborated her husband's previous testimony that she had heard O'Brien say he could ruin Langdon professionally.

Jerry Giesler, attorney, testified that in Langdon's film contract there were morality clauses which could be exercised, forcing him out of employment. Giesler said these morality clauses were discussed when he advised Langdon to settle O'Brien's suit. He was attorney for Langdon at that time.

NORTHERN EMPIRE MAGIC LAND OF TOWERING TREES

Vacation Playgrounds Ranking Among World's Greatest Found in Golden State

When Sir Francis Drake and his gallant crew dropped the anchor of their sturdy galleon the Golden Hinde into the placid waters of that little bay under the protecting shelter of Point Reyes, 351 years ago, they probably did not dream they were hard by the portals of a land that was foreordained to become one of the truly great vacation playgrounds of the world.

The immortal navigator and his men were, nevertheless, within a few miles of just such a gateway; for the domain into which it led is the upper half of the Golden State—Northern California.

Imperial in its extent and glorious in its scenic beauty, Northern California affords a perfect refuge from the humdrum tedium of office, factory, household and school; and hordes of happy vacationists cross her boundaries every year to grasp avidly at rest and recreation amid settings of idyllic charm of awesome grandeur. There, indeed, they find sanctuary.

LAND OF TOWERING TREES

Northern California is a land of towering trees that scrape the sky; of canyons gouged by glaciers and stalked in the dark ages by prehistoric monsters; of tumbling, eddying streams and limpid pools and chains of crystal lakes. It is the land of the Mother Lode, that irresistible lure that spelled fabulous riches to many and dire poverty to others in the turbulent days of '49; of cotton fields that dose below bleak and snow-blanketed peaks of long-extinct volcanoes; and of labyrinthine forests whose dense foliage since time immemorial has formed a sun-proof canopy. It is a land of sunrises that paint the mountains and valleys with all the colors of the spectrum; and of sunsets that bid all but one retreat with reluctant step before cobalt blue, the harbinger of night. In short it is a mighty fairyland, holding fast within its confines all the marvels Nature ever has conceived.

Reaching northward along the coast to and beyond the Oregon line is a majestic realm that on account of its world-famous trees has come to be known as the Redwood Empire. It embraces nine counties on the Pacific Slope and is a matchless wonderland of forest, river, mountain, lake and marine scenery and resorts. San Francisco is the southern terminus of this "land where travel dreams come true;" and Mount Tampalpais, rising 2592 feet above the sea, is its lofty guardian.

The road out of San Francisco takes the tourist only fifty-eight miles into the Redwood Empire before leading to one of the seven wonders of the world—the Petrified Forest. There Nature eons and eons ago played the role of magician and turned her huge trees into stone. These trees, discovered in 1871, lie in two tiers over an area a mile long and more than a quarter-mile in width and the transmutation from wood to stone has not failed to preserve their perfect texture and fiber.

VALLEY OF THE MOON

Within an hour's journey of the Petrified Forest are places that always will remain linked with the lure of California—Santa Rosa, the home and last resting place of Luther Burbank, wizard of horticulture; the Valley of the Moon, celebrated as Jack London's home and the scene of one of his novels; the geysers, another one of the wonders of the world, where modern science has found a way of deriving tremendous power from the mineral-laden streams of steam that have been shooting out of the earth for centuries to the utter amazement of man.

The wonders of the Redwood Empire multiply as the vacationist continues his quest. The trail leads to the thermal areas of Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties, where carbonated, sulphur, saline, magnesia and iron springs abound—mineral wells that have made the resorts there famous equally with the spas of Europe. It leads to the picturesque, peninsular county of Marin, blessed plentifully with ferny canyons, chaparral-clad ridges, Redwood forests, sparkling lakes and surf-beaten beaches. And then there is the coast country, with its lofty palisades, rugged headlands and sheltered inlets and beaches and a lovely succession of little rivers flowing eternally to the sea. The Russian River region completes that part of the Redwood Empire that lies in California. Like the other sections of the area, this, too, has its hosts of admirers who return year after year bringing with them converts to its charms.

KINGDOM OF NATURE

No fences separate the Redwood Empire from the other two-thirds of Northern California, but over an imaginary line the vacationist steps and finds himself in a kingdom of nature no less inspiring. Almost smack on the borderland far up in the northwestern part of the State is Mt. Shasta, she of the eternal snows. Rising nearly three miles into the sky, this incomparable peak looks down with pardonable pride and beholds the pastoral panorama of the Sacramento Valley, extending hundreds of miles before her to the south. One of the crowning glories of the State's far north is this peacefully sleeping volcano.

East and north of Shasta are the

Redondo Beach Plans Program of Amusement

The formal opening of the Redondo Beach summer season will take place on Saturday and Sunday. A program of high-class amusements, including vaudeville, band music and other features, will be provided.

A novelty doll dance, something entirely unique, will be the main feature in the ballroom on Saturday evening. Everyone attending will have an opportunity of winning a beautiful doll.

Fishing will again be popular during the summer. Fast motorboats make frequent trips from the wharf to fishing barges, where catches have been large and many.

The bath-house will be open from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. week days, and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays, and the ballroom every evening, Monday excepted—also Wednesday and Sunday afternoons. The Wednesday afternoon dance is a special free matinee for children.

Mount Wilson View Scenic

A mile above Pasadena, yet only twelve miles away by road, the long ridge of Mt. Wilson overlooks the scores of cities and towns of the valley below. The auto road, built originally to carry the equipment for the giant telescopes at the summit, winds and twists its steep but even way up the face of the mountain, now and then disappearing in a wooded canyon only to reappear shortly at a still higher altitude. Each successive promontory brings a more thrilling sweep of country to view.

At the summit seven huge telescopes, including the giant 100-inch reflector, the world's largest, are at work. The view of the back country from Echo Rock is one long to be remembered, and the end of the day brings the gorgeous colors of the sunset, over the blue of the Pacific, while lights in the valley cities burst forth.

High Sierras Resort Plans Celebration

The well-known Capinero Lodge resort in the high Sierras above California Hot Springs, Tulare county, now is under management of the Myers Land Company, original owners of this beautiful mountain retreat. The cottages, lodge, dining-room and store have been completely renovated.

The store and dining-room are being handled this season by E. H. McClintock, owner of Sanitary Market at Lindsay. Additional saddle and pack horses have been brought in by Wortley Brothers, who have been operating packing trips in the high Sierras from Owens Valley for some years.

Plans are being made for special entertainment features over the July 4 week-end.

Texas Line Has Luxurious Cars

As another step in the improvement of the Texas and Pacific Railway its passenger service is still more luxurious, with lounge cars built especially for use between El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas and St. Louis. According to J. B. Payne, vice-president, the cars are the finest examples of club-lounge equipment ever offered to the public. They embody all known conveniences and comforts, including large sun-parlor, centrally located buffet and soda fountain, central lounge, shower and rest rooms, barber shop, valet service, magazine library, writing desk and game tables.

The Texas and Pacific operates through sleepers daily from Los Angeles to Fort Worth, Dallas, Memphis and St. Louis, leaving Los Angeles at 6:20 p.m. on the Texan.

ROYAL ROAD TO ROMANCE RICH IN ENCHANTMENT

Coast Route Follows Serra Trail by Rugged Cliff and Through Forest Fastnesses

BY KENNETH O'HARA

The royal road to romance, they're calling it—that gently undulating speedway that skirts the California shoreline from San Diego to San Francisco—that broad and glass-smooth ribbon of cement that once again has bared its expanse to the bewildered vacationist and bid him travel it to the restful retreats to which it points the way!

The Coast Route! Truly a prosaic designation—dull as ditch water—but what a wealth of havens it conjures up in the memory of him who had harkened to its call in the past! And what a veritable world of Edens it lays at the feet of him who for the first time is heeding the same clarion voice!

It is the same trail, this Coast Route, that the sandaled feet of Serra trod on his pilgrimage of faith, except gone now is the brown dust; and its byways lead still through fields of wild mustard and whispering pepper trees to the Missions the saintly Franciscan and his brown-robed brothers erected that the Word might endure in the wilderness.

CRUMBLING ADOBES

To tell some few of the beads, as it were, in this Rosary of shrines that encircles the prologue to the drama of California's birth, you will have to bear away from the highway; to gain the crumbling adobe of isolated La Purisima, for instance, or San Antonio, where swallows haunt the belfry. But most of them you will find but a hop-skip-and-jump from your course—San Fernando, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, San Miguel, San Juan Bautista and the others.

Nor will you be disappointed with what you find on the trails that take you away a piece from the beaten track and into fastnesses that have not yet surrendered to the march of progress. For the California of yesteryear is still to be found among the purple hills, content to beat in unison with the heart of Nature's grandeur and watch from afar the parade of civilization. She still is there, the California of old, with her adobe homesteads, her wishing-wells, her crude corrals that once confined the roans and Pintos of Spanish settlers.

GIANT REDWOODS

And there are other byways—offshoots of this 450-mile artery—that wind across the Santa Lucia range and into the highway hewn through the rock-ribbed region traversed by Don Gaspar De Portola. These will take you, too, to the cliffs atop which Portola stood and gazed for the first time upon the giant redwoods that seem to kiss the blue vault of heaven for a thousand miles to the north along the coast.

As you pause a moment on any of these rugged eminences, you will become aware of mingled emotions holding you in their grip, stirred up by awe of the vista disclosed. It is a view that makes dimples to catch the tears.

For the adventurous motorist whose idea of a vacation is to keep on the move are these paths to missions and cliffs and homesteads. But to the vacationist who seeks an abiding-place for the summer, there to find buoyancy of spirit in both rest and play, the Coast Route opens up a vast variety of resorts—tucked away in cupped places among the hills, spread out generously on sun-kissed mesas and flanking the breeze-swept coves that make a scalloped edge of the California coast. Too, there are the hot springs that follow the course of that naked San Andreas scar across the very breast of the State.

WELCOME AWAITS

Begin your journey at any point along the way and you will encounter welcome and an unforgettable respite almost before you think of refueling your carrier; Santa Barbara, with her palatial estates, her myriad flowers, her patios and her equestrian trails, Santa Maria, a crown jewel in the land of sunshine and flowers, where you may relive the days of the great haciendas; Paso Robles, famed for her hot springs; Santa Margarita, San Lucas, San Luis Obispo—and then northward to Monterey, Pacific Grove, Del Monte and Carmel-by-the-Sea on the far-famed Monterey Peninsula, jutting seaward from the headlands; thence to Santa Cruz, Brookdale and Ben Lomon in the Santa Cruz Mountains, and finally to the shadow of Mt. Tamalpais.

Of the Monterey Peninsula, on the blue Bay of Monterey, Gouverneur Morris, celebrated novelist, wrote: "If you love a wild coast, it is here. So is the deep tranquil forest, the rolling uplands, set richly with live oaks and in the springtime exploding into flowers." The visitor who has drunk of the beauties of the Mediterranean, the coasts of Sicily and the Riviera, can well imagine himself, while there, in old familiar haunts. There he will bask in a golden flood of sunshine by day; and at night sit bewitched as the moon lays down a path of shimmering silver across the broad Pacific and breakers crash and boom on sheltered beaches as white as the flying foam. There he will canter briskly through brooding pines and gnarled cypresses that lift their twisted arms to grasp vainly at fleeting clouds. There he will climb to some flying buttress that overhangs a kelp-lined channel where the sea trout feed, or golf while sea gulls wheel and scream on high and seals bark hoarsely in the tumbling surf.

ENCHANTED BAYS

Carmel Bay, an adjunct of the larger Monterey Bay, was named by the Carmelite monks, who landed on its shores with Sebastian Vizcaino in December, 1602, after the Carmel Monastery overlooking the Bay of Acre on the Mediterranean. Climbing the hills back of the landing place, the monks were struck by the remarkable similarity of the bay that lay before them and the other they had known so well. It was 168 years later that Father Serra founded there the San Carlos Borromeo (now El Carmel) Mission, on the Gospel side of whose altar his body lies buried.

Both Monterey and Carmel bays afford excellent sea fishing, with a greater variety of game fish than can be found probably anywhere else in the world. King salmon, sea bass, barracuda, tuna, mackerel, perch, sea trout, rock cod and smelt swarm in the blue waters.

Monterey proper has been aptly termed "the cradle of California's history." It was the State's first capital and boasts Colton Hall, where the California Constitution was framed; the old Customhouse which has flown successively the flags of Mexico, Spain and the United States, the theater where Jenny Lind first sang her way to fame, a monument to Commodore Sloat, who raised the American flag over the Customhouse in 1846, making California part of the Union, and many quaint relics of Spanish and Mexican regimes.

BIG TREE GROVES

In the Santa Cruz Mountains you will see the Big Trees—trees that were aged when America was discovered. Sequoias, they are called, in honor of Sequoyah, a Cherokee chieftain who designed an alphabet for his tribe. One of the most accessible groves there is but seventy miles south of San Francisco and six miles north of the Bay of Monterey. The giant of the grove is 308 feet in height and sixty-five feet in circumference. The story is told that in the burned-out hollow of another one Gen. Fremont once pitched camp with fifty of his men.

And still another curiosity is the Cathedral, consisting of nine large and nine small trees all growing from a single stump measuring 130 feet in circumference at the base.

The Santa Cruz district provides every conceivable recreation—bathing, boating on bay or river, golf, polo, tennis and the rest. Wild life is abundant in the mountains, and both mountain stream and adjoining sea teem with countless fish.

The Coast Route has been well named the royal road to romance; for romance is dreaming peacefully all along its billowy way.

NORTHERN LAND ONE OF MAGIC

forbidding lava beds, strange, unearthly looking terrain created by the molten rock spewed forth by the angry mountain queen in the days of her eruption; and south of the snow-encrusted eminence rises her sister-in-volcanic lore, Lassen Peak. Like two grim sentinels charged with vigilance over something of untold treasure, these two — Shasta and Lassen — stand guard perennially in that area where the Sierra Nevadas begin their gradual descent to the level of the sea.

MONUMENT TO NATURE

Midway between Lassen and the Tahoe region of the Sierras reposes still another monument to Mother Nature, the sculptor—namely, the Canyon of the Feather River. There the blue shadows of mountain peaks are etched sharply against the sky, a roaring river of melted snow goes tumbling in mad haste to the sea and virgin beauty everywhere throws wide her arms and begs man to come and recline his tired head against her breast. From early spring until the vivid glow reflected by the death gasp of Indian summer, the Feather River country is bathed in sunshine, swept by mountain breezes and lulled at nights to refreshing sleep by the lullaby of the distant pines.

With her forests, her mountains, her myriad lakes and streams and her drowsy, verdant valleys, Northern California from San Francisco and Lake Tahoe to the Oregon boundary is an endless succession of landscapes fit to charm the soul of a Claude Lorraine and inspire the pen of a Wordsworth or Keats. It is a land of fancy, a "thing of beauty;" and being such is "a joy forever" where the call of the outdoors is a trumpet blast to the world.

TIPS OFFERED TO VACATIONIST

will thrill and furnish reminiscences forever.

There are those who are gypsies and who today will start a vacation that takes a course over the hill that was just ahead in the dreams of yesterday. In them is the urge to keep moving. An automobile camping trip is an ideal way for these. Any general route may be chosen, changing directions and objectives as fancy wills.

But more often vacation is to be the satisfaction of a restlessness to take in some new but definite spot. For these the problem is toughest. A definite goal is to be chosen and there is no changing until next year and next vacation.

MAKE CHOICE

Then it is wise to choose the kind, mountain or sea, fishing, sightseeing in some national park. This settled, check up on rates and eliminate the too expensive, find the time necessary for travel and what is left for a stay. Find out the climate, the altitude, the particular attractions. To really see and enjoy one must lead much of an outdoor life or life of roughing. Is it a place of many people with a desirable companionship with new people or does it furnish a wanted solitude?

Find your requirements, check the possibilities and of those not eliminated make a choice.

ISLE OF PLAY NOT FAR AWAY

Catalina's Wonders in Easy Reach

Gateway to Vacation Paradise

FIVE sailings a day bring joyous vacation crowds to Catalina, the Isle of Play, where dancing and swimming, golfing and boating, riding and fishing, hiking and hunting, all the varied sports of both mountain and sea, hold sway.

The twenty-five-mile ocean trip to Catalina is a two-hour ride of delightful experiences. There is dancing all the way. Over the smooth sea skim flying fish, while playful porpoise disport about the prow of the ship. In the distance may be seen the spouting of a whale or a swordfish "breaking water." As the steamer nears the island speed boats dart out from Avalon Bay to greet the incoming ship. Seaplanes whirr overhead.

Passengers entering Avalon Bay see an armada of pleasure craft—steam yachts, schooners, sailing sloops, yawls and ketches, cruisers, launches and canoes and, most interesting of all, its fleet of sidewheel glass-bottom boats.

Rising sheer out of a sapphire sea, Catalina is twenty-seven miles long, eight miles wide at its widest point and but a quarter of a mile at its narrowest, the Isthmus.

Those arriving on an evening steamer witness a fairyland scene. From afar out at sea can be seen the necklace of twinkling lights that fronts Avalon Boardwalk, the light-jeweled dome of Catalina Casino, the Hotel St. Catherine, studded with a myriad of colored globes; the piers outlined in colored lights as are the clusters of homes on the terraced hills.

Still another approach is via the Isthmus on board the steamer that makes a triangular sailing from the terminal at Wilmington across the Catalina Channel to Isthmus Cove and down the island coast to Avalon. A half-hour stopover is allowed at the Isthmus, or, if one likes, one may remain overnight or longer. There are tent villas, the Barracks, where rooms may be had on the European plan, and the Hill-top Bungalow, known to many as the beautiful old Banning house. This is conducted on the American plan.

Catalina Harbor, a short walk across to the western side of the island, shelters the hulks of once stately vessels. Among them are the famous Chinese pirate ship Ning Po, the frigate Black Ghost, the old Santa Clara and other relics of bygone days. Hiking and bridle trails lead to wooded near-by canyons and picturesque coves.

From the Isthmus one may coach Avalon, the central city of Catalina, either by excursion boats or motor cars via the interior of the island—a twenty-two-mile scenic auto tour.

At Avalon there is something to do to fit every mood. At the beautiful theater which comprises the entire main floor of the new $2,000,000 Casino, the latest sound films are shown. Above in the Casino ballroom there is dancing nightly and admission is free. Under a canopy of changing lights a sixteen-piece orchestra plays and 2000 couples may dance at one time on a floor inlaid in seven hardwoods and floated on cork.

Catalina is the mecca for all water sports. The beach is absolutely safe, with no surge, rip tide or undertow.

A famed Catalina attraction is its submarine gardens seen through the windows of glass-bottom power boats. The water is so clear that the eye can penetrate to a depth of sixty to eighty-five feet. A diver clad only in bathing suit performs aquatic feats under each window of the boat.

SCENIC WONDERS LURE WEEK-END SIGHTSEERS

Ocean, Mountains, Desert Combine to Provide Pleasure and Variety for Southland Motorists

BY BURTON L. SMITH

California's greatest scenic wonders, the sea, the mountains and the desert, all contribute to the pleasure of a week-end auto trip, that because of the variety of attractions would be termed an auto tour in any other locality. Down the coast to San Diego and back by the inland route, through Riverside, is approximately 300 miles, as measured by the speedometer, but is in many times that distance when computed in thrills of joy and delight pleasure.

To enjoy a month's vacation and to be from home only a week-end it is necessary to head the car into the wide, smooth pavement which leads to Long Beach, where the beautiful, shining, wave-washed beach of the Pacific affords relief which banishes all thought of the hurry and tireless jam of streets, swift-moving traffic, fast direct cars and scurrying cars, turning westward here and there at the water's edge lures the motorist on, following the long stretch of beach to Newport and Balboa, gliding past hundreds of beautiful homes and many alluring places bathing beaches attended by scores of swimmers who add color and gayety to the scene. Numerous amusement devices add to the carnival spirit, lending credence upon the observer the fact that a large proportion of our population takes free advantage of the opportunity to change their habits of living and thinking full well that the following full well that [illegible] adds zest to the work of [illegible]

NEW ART GALLERY

Just before you leave Laguna Beach the motorist passes through his first country with refreshment stands and summer houses [illegible] behind, nothing but the beauty of the rocky coast to claim one's attention, this rest-ful scene a prelude to the entrance of your car into quaint, old Laguna, the beach that's different. Artists who love to tell the story of sea and landscape on canvas have built this beach village to their own and their pres-ence has greatly influenced the character of the town, artistic touches in the architecture of buildings, arrangements and the general appearance of the community. A new art gallery of white cement occupies a prominent place on a hilltop as you approach the village and the quaint and interesting shops and stores are a great attraction for the passing tourist.

From here the road leads along the rugged coast to Capistrano Beach, just a few miles from historic San Juan Capistrano, where the efforts of the mission fathers of an early day did much to make possible the civilization of the present time. Here the road twists and climbs a few miles to the Spanish town of San Clemente, a striking example of blending the beauty of the past with the needs of the present.

OPEN FIELDS

From San Clemente on down the perfect road to Oceanside, great open spaces are filled with ripening grain and field after field where Japanese vegetable gardeners have so industriously plied their trade, making their growing crops provide a feast for the eye now and a feast for the palate later. Varicolored flowers dot the roadside and fields forming a perfect foreground for the hills in the distance where shifting sunlight causes the colors to change from green to brown and blues that are almost black; following the skyline to the ocean more color shadings add indescribable charm to the picture. Fleeting glimpses of the blue expanse as the road winds in and out of the foothills gives the impression of playing a leading part in a game of hide-and seek with one of nature's greatest panoramas — the ever-changing Pacific.

Graceful curves of the road take one on a winding trek around the base of the foothills and over sturdy bridges which span the dry beds of many creeks which, when the springtime freshets come, are made into turbulent streams by the mad rush of water to the sea.

NEAR OLD TOWN

Carlsbad, noted for chicken dinners and avocados, is the next point of interest on the winding road through Del Mar, over Torrey Pines grade into La Jolla with its beautiful homes, noted schools and rocky coast. Not many miles from here "Old Town," the original San Diego comes into view through the hills and spreads the same enchanting landscape which attracted the early explorers and led them to build a town which furnished the author of "Ramona" a setting for the wedding of the half-caste girl and her Indian lover that has carried the thrill of romance into thousands of homes in all parts of the world.

Not far from "Old Town" the approach to a modern city is announced by the ultra-modern real estate development of Mission Hills and the great naval training station and the marine base. Across the bay beautiful Coronado lies snuggled on a shelf of land washed on its sunset side by the ocean.

ARRIVE AT BORDER

A sharp turn brings you out again to the main highway, then a few miles and great iron gates across the road, surrounded by groups of uniformed officials, announce the fact that the border has been reached and remind us that the distant mountains that have held attention for an hour rise from the soil of Mexico.

A short trip across the border affords the thrill of visiting a foreign country and a few miles farther on a bit of continental Europe awaits the autoist who continues through the Mexican village of Tia Juana to the luxurious surroundings of the beautiful and enticing hotel at Agua Caliente.

The back-track leads through the wide streets and busy markets in the heart of San Diego's business district, with its noted hotels, fine shops and well-kept streets. Through Balboa Park into Mission Hills and out through "Old Town" to the open road over mountains and into valleys whose beauty beggars description, on the way to Escondido and the alluring "back country."

BEAUTIFUL SCENE

Twists and turns of the mountain drive present pictures that will live forever in the storehouse of memories. Grain fields dotting the hillsides, the great rocks, arranged in grand array, as though placed there by giant gardeners to beautify the landscape. Far distant, across beautiful valleys of cultivated fields, green with the new crop of alfalfa, rises a distant range of mountains, over which old snow-capped San Jacinto towers in supreme command, monarch of all he surveys.

One of the surprises of the trip is a sudden view of sky-blue water as Lake Hodges is suddenly thrust into view. This great lake is the result of building Hodges Dam which furnishes irrigation water for thousands of acres of rahch land and a large portion of the domestic supply for the city of San Diego. The lake covers 1500 acres, is 9 miles long and 116 feet deep at the dam. The road turns sharply after crossing a bridge at the "narrows" and finds its way into Escondido, five miles beyond. This five miles is one great vineyard and orchard from where the grapes and fruit come that have made the valley famous.

Leaving Escondido in the distance a winding and interesting highway leads through San Marcos, Vista and Bonsall to Fallbrook where the pioneers established one of the first settlements of the "back country."

LAKE ELSINORE

Seven miles from Fallbrook is the Riverside county line from where in a short time the traveler is carried over more interesting highway into Temecula, a town on part of the old Rancho Pauba, where a stately bank building stands as mute witness to the wealth and prosperity of the community.

Leaving Temecula it is but a short drive through Murrieta, Wildomar and Sedco to Elsinore, where another delightful surprise awaits. Near the highway Lake Elsinore spreads its enchanting expanse. Surrounding a beautiful lake are hundreds of quaint homes testifying to the popularity of the resort. Every variety of sailing craft dot the lake and with the many smaller boats moving lazily over the emerald smoothness of the water or at anchor along the shady shore make one certain that here is an inland paradise for fishermen. Making a sharp turn to the westward the traveler speeds on his homeward course through the alluring little city of Elsinore and a picturesque canyon to the quaint old town of Perris, then to the north again on the main highway to Riverside.

MARCH FIELD

On the way to Riverside one passes March Field, where the government maintains a training school for army flyers. At almost any hour of the day these fearless, young cadets furnish exhibitions of their skill and daring as they dart here and there and everywhere engaged in practice drills. Box Springs grade offers a beautiful and romantic entrance to the city of Riverside over whose smooth streets, past inviting homes, the road leads to the famous Mt. Rubidoux, where each Easter morning thousands wend their way to the mountain top to join in the annual service that is attended by persons from all parts of the world. A beautiful ornamental bridge leads to the old Wineville road and into the very heart of California's greatest grape-growing district.

From Riverside to Ontario is really one great vineyard, with its old wineries, its loading sheds by the railroad tracks, and other evidences of agricultural activity make a continual moving picture for the passing tourist. Euclid avenue in Ontario is the turning point which, in a few blocks, leads the traveler to the great Valley Boulevard, the main highway to Los Angeles. The greatest citrus district in California lies just outside of Ontario and here the roadsides are lined with stands and booths where tons of golden fruit are on display to appeal to the eye and pocketbook of the passing motorist.

HOME AGAIN

Many things of interest present themselves to the traveler as the smooth, wide highway leads on to Pomona, not the least of which is the presence of so many automobiles whose license plates divulge the fact that the occupants are from distant States getting their first look at orange and other California crops on trees and displayed for sale at roadside shops.

Just before Pomona is reached the Los Angeles county line is crossed, so from here through Walnut, Puente, El Monte, San Gabriel and Alhambra the city traveler feels that he is home again.

The heavy traffic of city streets reduces speed and the many things of interest that have passed in such rapid succession from the topic of animated conversation with anyone showing a willingness to talk. When the car finally stops at the home garage you alight with the feeling that you are returning from a tour and not a trip, and that you agree with the slogan displayed on so many of the roadside billboards, "In all the world no trip like this."

Lassen Offers Boy's Paradise

A group of impatient boys, who have already enrolled for the California Preparatory School Outdoor Boys' Summer Camp at Mt. Lassen are eagerly awaiting time to depart next Monday.

And no wonder, for Mt. Lassen is a boys' paradise. Here in the heart of the great pine woods, on the southern slope of Lassen, at an altitude of 5800 feet, boys are assured the time of their lives, fishing, swimming, riding, hiking and playing in a healthful, back-to-nature environment that builds strong young bodies.

Special fishing, riding and hiking trips are taken to Caribou Lake, Lassen Peak, Mt. Brokoff and other interesting places, Mt. Shasta will also be visited.

For boys needing special tutoring, a time has been arranged in the regular program for meeting with an instructor.

IDEAL SETTING FEATURED

At the southern end of La Jolla, overlooking the ocean and only a short distance from the water's edge, lies El Pueblo Ribera. Each unit of this group is executed in the pueblo style and comprises a large living-room with fireplace, bedroom, kitchen, breakfast nook, bath, roof garden and garage. The ample facilities for sport and recreation in La Jolla further enhance the attractiveness of El Pueblo Ribera.

SOUTHLAND HOT SPRINGS OFFER HEALTH AND CHEER

Amazing Curative Power Possessed by Waters Available at Many Famed Resorts

Deep in the boiling core of the earth ages and ages ago, Mother Nature, the first physician, set up a vast and complicated laboratory where, performing also the duties of an apothecary, she compounded her own prescriptions and sent them bubbling up to the surface for benefit of the legions of patients destined to swarm the globe.

Stumbling upon these phenomena in his primitive struggle for bread and a roof, aboriginal man bent down and quenched his thirst at one of the founts. The water was hot and had an alien taste; and because of these characteristics it was catalogued promptly as a gift from the Great Spirit, intended to serve a yet undetermined purpose. Its mysterious aspects were cleared when repeated draughts from the spouting springs brought renewed vigor to the aborigines. Thereupon and thenceforth they looked upon it as miracle water.

MINERAL SPRINGS

With the arrival of civilization, these selfsame springs that had been flowing uninterruptedly down through the centuries became objects of intense curiosity to analytical chemists. Tirelessly and patiently with the help of scientific knowledge acquired by years of experimentation, they broke down the waters and isolated the numerous elements of which they were compounded. And their findings, substantiating ancient legends that the waters were possessed of amazing curative powers, resulted in all the known springs throughout the world being harnessed and bent to the practical uses of mankind. The waters, almost without exception, had been found to be hot and distilled from the molten minerals that seethe in the cauldron that is the center of this earthly sphere; and so they became identified as hot mineral springs, or spas.

What Mother Nature's motive was in discriminating must be explained by geologists, who have reconstructed in theory the formation of strata which make up the earth to its core; but the fact is she endowed Southern California more plentifully with these revivifying springs than she did any other specific area in the world. And in the almost universal quest for better health, the ailing have been coming here in increasingly large numbers from the four quarters of the globe to help themselves to Mother Nature's cure.

The greater number of the Southland's spas lie east and southeast of Los Angeles. Some are oases on the edge of the desert, some hidden high in the mountains or perched on rolling foothills, and others sprawled out along the quiet shores of sky-blue lakes.

SPIRIT OF RAMONA

Due east of the city is Soboba Hot Springs, near San Jacinto, rich with the glamour and romance of early California, when the Indians roamed the hills and plains and gathered by the bubbling fountains to rest and refresh their tired bodies. It is this setting in which portions of the historic novel, "Ramona," are laid; and the spirits of Ramona and Alessandro live still in the quaint Indian village lodges that help to make the colony of accommodations for guests. The resort is one of the most luxuriously appointed of its kind in the group.

About midway between Los Angeles and Soboba, nestling in the circular city of Corona, the Glen Ivy springs gurgle their flute-voiced invitation to the fatigued vacationist. Flanked by the Santa Ana Mountains, Temescal Canyon and Cold Water Canyon, they enjoy a setting at once picturesque and imposing. A mountain stream of chilling temperature rippies past the cottages and leads the wayfarer along its banks to deathly still grottoes of verdant mosses and ferns. Many of the guests, made newly vigorous by the spring waters, find the scaling of the adjacent Santiago Peak, 5680 feet high, only moderate exercise.

HEALTH AND CHEER

Another popular resort in the San Jacinto district is the Gilman Hot Springs. Situated in the foothills, where they know no biting winds, they have for their slogan: "Health and Cheer Throughout the Year." Three distinct springs contribute to their popularity—black sulphur, white sulphur and lithia, and soda water—each of special value in the alleviation of different ailments.

Some miles to the north of the nest of springs in the San Jacinto district the health-seeker encounters Highland Spring health resort. This is located at Beaumont on the historic site of the ancient overland stage station at the entrance to San Gorgonio Pass. It tops a gradual four-mile climb up the slopes of the San Bernardino Mountains and embraces 320 acres of canyon beauty, commanding a magnificent view of Cherry Valley. Health-giving springs abound there, filtering their cool, rejuvenating waters into a sparkling stream and providing an inexhaustible supply for guests of the hotel and cottages. Below the landscape slopes away to a wide vista of mountain-girdled orchards.

Only seventy-seven miles southeast of Los Angeles is the largest lake in Southern California—Lake Elsinore—and it is on the shores of this beautiful sixteen-mile body of water that the Lake Elsinore Hot Springs are situated. They are operated in conjunction with the new Amsbury Hotel and equipped abundantly with all the needed physio-therapy appliances. The guests there find memorable recreation in visits to the near-by Pala Mission and Indian reservations, drives around the lake, water sports on the lake, golfing at the Elsinore Valley Country Club and hikes up the neighboring mountain trails.

NEW LEASES ON LIFE

From Lake Elsinore a paved highway leads southeast to Murrieta, eleven miles away, where Guenther's Murrieta Mineral Hot Springs also display the sign of welcome to the tired business man and his family. This resort has proven a mecca throughout the year of scores of devotees at the shrine of health. There the restful environment, the bracing mountain air and the warm sunshine, tempered by cooling Pacific breezes that sweep in over the mountaintops combine to endow the guests with a new lease on life. Hiking, croquet, tennis, swimming, golf, hunting in season, baseball, billiards and dancing are among the diversions available. There also is a playground dedicated exclusively to the kiddies, with swings, teeters, flying rings and sand piles.

A review of the easterly and southerly resorts would be incomplete without the inclusion of Warner Hot Springs. These are in San Diego county, 134 miles from Los Angeles, and are accessible by excellent roads, most of which are paved. Few historic spots in California have preserved so well the romantic Indian and Spanish atmosphere that is reminiscent of the Golden State's pioneer days. Its visionary protectors some years ago took steps to prevent encroachment of influences that might destroy its charm by surrounding the entire rancho of 47,000 acres with a league-wide band of prairie. So vast is this rancho that Don Juan Jose Warner, its founder, is said to have boasted that he could ride to the far horizon in every direction "without leaving my own domain." Guest accommodations there are in separate cottages of adobe brick and with hollow tile or shingle roofs. Lake Henshaw, one of California's largest reservoirs, is near by, as is Palm Canyon, regarded as a wonder of nature.

NORTHERN SPRINGS

Despite the preponderance of hot springs in the east and southeast, the northerly territory contiguous to the Los Angeles district is not without its own. A forty-mile drive up the Coast and into Latigo Canyon will take the vacationist to Seminole Hot Springs for a week-end, a week, a month or a season and condition him to endure with rebuilt vitality the oppressive rigors of life in the city. Seminole is but a step from the far-famed Malibu Lake and commands an impressive view of the ocean.

Matilija Hot Springs also are on the trail north. They are in Ventura county, not far from Ojai, and are reached by three scenic drives via Santa Paula. The place is a veritable stamping grounds for sportsmen, with trout and game prevalent in great numbers in the streams and underbrush of Matilija Canyon.

Snuggling at the base of the San Bernardino Mountains, due east of Cajon Pass, are the world-famous Arrowhead Springs, said to be the only resort in America where one may benefit from the arsenical steam cave baths. Year after year this resort attracts increasing hordes of pilgrims bent on regaining perfect health. In addition, it has attained note as a gathering-place of society, the accommodations being particularly well adapted for affairs of splendor.

Thus richly is the Southland equipped to herald an invitation to the peoples of the earth, especially those to whom life has become a physical burden. To them she offers her hot springs, with the assurance, born of centuries of demonstration, that they will prove a pleasant panacea for many of "the ills that human flesh is heir to."

Primitive Cabins Greet Vacationists

Resort Has Unique Architecture

A real Indian village is maintained at Soboba Hot Springs. Its guest houses are designed after primitive Indian architecture and present a colorful and unique atmosphere. Metropolitan comforts and conveniences are provided, although the spirit of the primitive is carried throughout the interior decorations of these abodes.

RESORT IN MOUNTAINS OFFERS ATTRACTIONS

In the San Jacinto Mountains, at an elevation of 5000 feet, is Tauquitz Lodge. The lodge with its surrounding cabins is built in a forest of pines, some of which are centuries old. Robert Elliott is the proprietor.

Tauquitz Lodge has its own Jersey cows, poultry and vegetable gardens.

There are facilities for golf, tennis and swimming. For the fisherman there are lakes and streams. Hikers and horseback riders will find the numerous trails attractive.

The lodge is on the new, wide, high-gear road which brings it within less than four hours' drive from Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES AND PARIS REAL CITIES OF ROMANCE

Cultural Attractions of Southland Now Draw Youths Even More Than French Center Does

BY LEE SHIPPEY

Los Angeles has become one of the two great world centers for tourist-vacationers who seek to combine pleasure with educational or enlightening contacts.

The other one is Paris. To all the world Paris is a city of romance—and so is Los Angeles. A man who has held responsible positions with Cook's Travel Bureau in Europe, South American and the Orient tells me that to the youth of all the world Los Angeles now is the city of romance, greater even than is Paris. The artistically inclined young people of all the world want to come here.

Every year thousands of families make Paris the headquarters from which they can see Europe while their children stay there to study music, art, literature, drama or other subjects. The same thing now is true of Los Angeles, because the talking pictures and the marvelous wealth and progress of Southern California have made this the harvest field for hundreds of the ablest teachers. With all Hollywood studying voice placement—and some of the students capable of earning $500,000 a year or more in talking pictures if they can only learn to do them as well as they used to do silent pictures—it is only logical that the very best voice teachers should flock here.

With Southern California building whole cities of palaces, such as Malibu Beach, in a year or two, it is inevitable that the foremost architects, designers, decorators and landscape engineers should flock here. With the talkies sending abroad rush orders for the composer of "The Merry Widow," the composer of "The Pink Lady" and a dozen other of the world's most famous composers and one studio paying one composer $135,000 a year on a three-year contract to direct its music, and holding out hundreds of jobs for lesser musical lights, not many notable musicians who can get here are staying away.

NOT MERELY GOLD LURE

It is not merely the lure of gold—it is the lure of Los Angeles, the city of beautiful old traditions and marvelous new dreams. But let us be more specific.

"I'm writing a new novel," Homer Croy, author of "They Had to See Paris," told me recently, "so we decided I could write it here just as well as in our Long Island home, or in Paris. Here my daughter can romp in the sunshine, my wife can find plenty of fascinating occupations and diversions, both as a playwright and as a sightseer, and I can get in closer touch with the marvelous new developments in the motion-picture world during the months I must devote to my book."

Croy is only one of hundreds who are following that line of reasoning—hundreds in the literary world alone. It was very similar reasoning which decided Rudolph Friml and Tito Schipa to locate here.

Nearly every day I meet people whose names are known all over the world. You can hardly go to one of the better coast or mountain resorts without running into them. You go out for a horseback ride or a hike in the mountains or a swim or a catboat sail at the beach and come in and wonder whether or not to dress for dinner, and decide not to because it's only a resort hotel, anyway—and then, when you glance in at the ballroom, the hostess casually murmurs: "I want to introduce you to Mr. Bromfield. And do you know Miss Chatterton?" And you start to nod or shake hands casually when suddenly you wake up. This must be Louis Bromfield! And, yes, by golly! it surely is Ruth Chatterton!"

VARIETY OF DIVERSIONS

Some time ago I was talking to Fannie Hurst about California. A friend who had known her well in New York, but now lives in Hollywood, was there also.

"Don't you get lonesome for New York?" Miss Hurst asked her.

"Yes," said the other, "but I don't miss it as I would miss Southern California if I left it for long. The thing I would miss most if I left Los Angeles would be the week-end trips. No other place in the world that I know of affords such interesting and diversified outings within easy range and comparatively easy expense. You can enjoy the sea today, the mountains tomorrow, the quiet of some historic old mission the next day and the excitement of Agua Caliente and the raciness of old Mexico the next if you so desire.

"You just can't get tired of a place like Southern California, because whatever the season and whatever your whim there's always some place to go and something to do which interests you. If your time and money are limited you can go to closer places like Catalina, Mt. Lowe, Lake Arrowhead, the local beaches or Coronado or Del Mar. If you've more time and money to spend you may go to Hawaii, Yosemite, the Monterey Peninsula, the redwoods or clear up to the Puget Sound country. The roads are fine, any way you want to go. You can jaunt down to Manatlan or up to Vancouver and be back before most of your friends know you're gone, if you want to."

VACATIONS TO PANAMA HAVE LURE

Three Weeks Enough for Round Trip to Region of Numerous Attractions

Pacific Coast residents are the only American who on an ordinary vacation can visit the ruins of a city that was destroyed by buccaneers, in the old swashbuckling days of the Spanish Main, and get back to business on time.

Three weeks is enough for such a round trip, to Panama, with a stay of four days at the Isthmus, and leisurely inspection of the ruins of Old Panama, where fire and sword played havoc in the devastating assault of Morgan's men, in 1671. The ruins, now half-buried in jungle growth, mark the site of what was once the chief Spanish city in the New World, with 26,000 inhabitants.

A trip through the Panama Canal, a visit to colorful Colon, on the Atlantic side of the Isthmus, golf on a velvety course at Panama, a card to Club Miramar, fashionable beach resort, night life in gay Panama City and fourteen days' sea travel on luxurious, electrically driven liners, are among the lures for such a vacation trip held out by the Panama Pacific Lines, which operates the largest and fastest steamships ever built under the American flag, in coast-to-coast service via Panama, with fortnightly sailings from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Mt. Lowe Gains in Popularity for Quietness

Within two hours' ride from Los Angeles, yet far removed from the bustle of the busy city, Mt. Lowe becomes more popular each year with those who seek quiet and restful surroundings during their annual vacation leaves. This resort enjoys one distinction that may of be claimed by any other on this continent—it cannot be reached via automobile.

At the famous Mt. Lowe Tavern the prospective vacationist can enjoy the type of accommodations that best suit his fancy. The modern Swiss type tavern provides all the comforts found in city hotels, while its meals are far famed for their tastefulness. If a housekeeping cabin is desired, unusually attractive ones are available; or the rest-seeker may select a pine-covered cabin not equipped for housekeeping and enjoy meals in the Tavern. All rates are considerably reduced for those who plan to stay a week or more.

Situated almost a mile above the sea, furnishing a panorama of 2000 square miles from Inspiration Point, where thirty-eight Southern California cities may be clearly seen, Mt. Lowe continues to rank next to Catalina Island in point of number of visitors to Southland resorts. More than 100,000 persons annually enjoy its thrills and comforts.

RANCH HAS NO FRILLS

Park Manor Hotel

ACADEMY SOON TO OPEN

The summer session of the San Diego Army and Navy Academy will open this year on July 5, continuing until September 1. Morning classes will offer an opportunity for make-up work or advanced studies. Special courses are given for those desiring to be officers or noncoms in cadet organizations. Another feature is the class in marksmanship under the personal supervision of Maj. James W. Peyton, United States Army. A new tiled swimming pool has just been completed on the campus and surf bathing and other outdoor sports are indulged in every afternoon. Col. Thomas A. Davis of the academy will be at the Alexandria Hotel in Los Angeles the 26th, 26th and 27th inst. in order to answer all inquiries regarding the school and interview parents of prospective cadets.

Come up this summer to this alpine wonderland where those unadulterated happiness greets you at every turn; where your favorite recreation is just a little better in this marvelous setting of tumbled, jagged mountain ranges, mighty snow peaks, glacier-fed lakes and leaping rivers. There are luxurious hotels, informal mountain camps—all connected by wide motor highways or thrilling bone and foot trails.

A short distance farther on, a sign indicates the turn to Z Canyon, and the river is left behind for the moment. It is necessary to leave the car, to follow a narrow foot path winding down the side of the bluff with a glimpse now and then between the trees—a glimpse that reveals first Periwee Falls, feathery, beautiful and falling from a great height to a depth completely lost among the timber. There are springs coming down the hill, making tiny streams that cross the path, that flow still farther down the precipice, their course marked by ferns, waist high and very dense.

DEAFENING ROAR

And then Z Canyon, where the great Pend Oreille River, narrowing to eighteen feet rushes with undescribable fury and waters that churn and boil with a deafening roar between sheer walls of rock.

A ladder leads from the path to the bridge that crosses this torrent. From its height the waters fascinate, hold one spellbound at their might and beauty, but there are yet the caves to visit and the return is made through the dense woods by way of the winding path to the waiting automobile.

FORESTS PENETRATED

The road pierces even more deeply into the forests, and the wonder seems that the caves were ever discovered in the first place, but a sign heralds them.

The entrance gives no hint of their weirdness and size. After a descent not too difficult by ladder into a mysterious darkness, the cavern with descending stalactites and growing stalagmites, winds and dips for the 500 underground feet which are easily traveled. Easily that is and dryly if one keeps the flashlight alert, for grotesque "bird-baths" are well filled, and fantastic "bathtubs" full to the brims with icy waters, demand treading their edges with care.

CAVE WALLS GLISTEN

The walls of the cave glisten with silver specks under the beam of the light; unexplored and branching passages tempt the more adventurous, but the way dips and narrows, and it is well to turn back.

Daylight!

The mouth of the cave appears suddenly with an indescribable beauty. A branch of a shrub silhouetted across the opening.

There is something tantalizing and luring about depths underground, but there is fragrant beauty, a freshness about the forests, an impressiveness about the towering mountains as the tourist turns his car back toward Spokane with its comforts of civilization.

CAMPS CALLING TO VACATIONIST

Southland Unusually Rich in Play Areas

Mountain Parks Cater to Children Especially

Beach, Forest and Summit Within Easy Reach

"If I were a millionaire, I would go to New York City, gather 1000 kiddies from the tenement district, bring them to Southern California and give them a trip through the wonderful wild flower gardens of this magical section."

Thus remarked the visitor to the Southland after a trip last spring through the floral fields and into the foothills and mountains of this paradise of the West.

However, one does not need to be a millionaire, especially if he lives in Los Angeles, in order to enjoy and help others enjoy the beauties of this floral wonderland. Parents of ordinary means can at least give their own children an opportunity to see the most beautiful country God ever made. The many splendid vacation camps, private and public, provide this opportunity every summer. Shining beaches, snow-capped mountains, deep forests and bright vales, all offer their beauty and treasures to boys and girls during the vacation term. At most of the camps parents, also, are welcomed, but always provision is made for the comfort and safety of the children.

MANY CAMPS KEPT

Besides the municipal vacation camps, scores of other interesting camps are maintained by various schools, colleges and other organizations, as well as by private individuals, and to these charming spots thousands of young men and women go every year for a few weeks or months, returning in the fall refreshed for another season of work or study.

There is no better solution of the vacation problem than that offered by the summer camps. Their existence makes possible extended tours for parents, while the youngsters are "parked" at various camps. Wholesome environment, constructive programs of instruction and competitive sports are among the features of these fascinating playgrounds.

Still another feature of the Southland's outdoor camps is the chance offered to the boys and girls for nature study. Flowers, trees, birds and other wild life offer an opportunity for the study of nature that is not to be found in books, however well written. The lakes and streams, abounding throughout the Southland, offer retreats of quiet to the disciples of Izaak Walton or to those who love boating.

FARES REASONABLE

Reasonable rates to and from the many lovely summer camps, together with low living costs at the camps, make it possible for thousands of children to take advantage of the pleasures offered by those who operate the big playgrounds. Information concerning the many camps may be found in detail in The Times annual vacation number or may be obtained from The Times Resort and Travel Bureau free of charge.

As evidence of the availability of the various attractive camps a two weeks' vacation may cover many of them. There is beautiful Yosemite Valley, Catalina Island and Lake Arrowhead. While these are all-the-year-round resorts and further away than many care to go, there are scores of regular camping grounds more quickly reached and just as interesting from the standpoint of natural beauty.

WARNER HOT SPRINGS HAS MUCH TO OFFER

Vacation seekers to whom the mountains of San Diego county are attractive will find at Warner Hot Springs a resort which offers modern accommodations, combined with a wealth of historic Indian and Spanish lore, and a maximum of recreational opportunities. Guest accommodations are in separate, adobe cottages, well equipped. Recreations center around two swimming plunges, filled with warm sulphur water. Other recreations available are horseback riding, hiking, fishing, motoring and tennis. Lake Henshaw, teeming with perch and bass, is near by. Warner Hot Springs is 134 miles from Los Angeles and sixty-nine miles from San Diego, over fine roads.

Idyllwild Has Comforts With Rugged Beauty

The visitor to Idyllwild is at once impressed with the wild, rugged nature of the country. He is likely to marvel on how the utilities and conveniences of metropolitan life have been made available here without impairing the natural beauties or the feeling of remoteness. Rustic buildings melt into the forests of giant evergreen and live oaks conceal comforts unsuspected in such a locality as this. Strawberry Creek flows noisily through camp.

Ample facilities for the more conventional outdoor sports are provided at Idyllwild. Excellent tennis courts, a swimming pool and a beautiful golf course with all grass greens and natural fairways each attract their share of devotees.

The climax comes, however, in the trip up Mt. San Jacinto itself. This mountain, one of the newest in America, is, on its desert side, the most precipitous in the world, a sheer drop of nearly 12,000 feet. The way leads through miles of virgin forests and secluded vallies out onto rocky prominences skirting lofty precipices, and continues past Hidden Lake. From the summit the panorama is breath-taking in its immensity.

WEST COAST CRUISE WILL START SUNDAY

The Oaxaca, first passenger steamer ever to make an excursion run down the west coast of Mexico during the vacation months, will sail from Los Angeles Harbor next Sunday at 8 p.m. with eighty passengers, C. G. Krueger & Co., agents in charge of the trip, announce. The Oaxaca will make her first stop at Ensenada, will stop two days at Mazatlan, one day at Guaymas and one day at La Paz.

MILE-HIGH LAKE UNIQUE RESORT

Arrowhead Easily First in Vacationists' Hearts

Lengthy Program of Sports Billed for Summer

Amusements to Satisfy All Tastes Arranged

One of the most extensive programs of summer sports and entertainment in the entire history of Lake Arrowhead is announced by the management of the Arrowhead Lake Company, owners of the famous mile-high mountaintop lake in the San Bernardino Mountains, two and one-half hours from Los Angeles.

This year's program of sports has been extended to include additional golf tournaments, tennis tournaments, five major water events, including the annual Lake Arrowhead swim, together with a complete new roster of regular entertainment and sports that includes horseback rides on Friday and Sunday evenings of each week, with supper under the pines and a special orchestra in attendance.

BIGGER AND BETTER

Many improvements have been made at Lake Arrowhead this year, both in Lake Arrowhead Village and at the major hotels at the resort. The well-known Lake Arrowhead Lodge and the North Shore Tavern with the Village Inn are all under the management and direction of Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman of Palm Springs.

The Lake Arrowhead golf links a short distance from the lake in a beautiful mountain valley that provides a nine-hole, all-grass course will be the scene of a number of important tournaments this summer, including the Lake Arrowhead women's tournament the 27th to 29th inst., open to women players of Southern California Golf Association clubs, and the fifth annual Arrowhead invitation tournament of July 11-13, open to men golfers of the association.

NEW TOURNAMENTS

Immediately following a six-day match is slated for San Bernardino Valley country clubs and an unusual feature is a Southern California business men's eclectic tournament, beginning July 1, for all business men playing the course during the summer.

Aquatic contests are a leading feature at Lake Arrowhead this year, with four major events scheduled in addition to the mile-high championship meet and the mile-high mile swim, which are annual affairs. National and world title-holders will take to the lake on the 29th inst., when the Women's Swimming Association assembles there. Junior champions compete on July 11; the mile-high championship is slated for July 19, when last year's winners return to defend their titles; and mile-high distance swims are arranged for women and men on August 9 and September 14, respectively. Enlarged bath-houses and a finer swimming cove add much to Lake Arrowhead swimming.

Tennis will be more in the spotlight at Lake Arrowhead this summer than for several years, due to the organization of the Lake Arrowhead Tennis Club and membership by that club in the Southern California Tennis Association.

SPORTS FOR HORSEMEN

Special entertainment has been provided for those who like horseback riding and throughout the summer months a special breakfast horseback ride will be held every Wednesday at 8 a.m. with breakfast under the pines and an orchestra in attendance.

Rodeos, riding-ring sports and treasure hunts on horseback complete the equestrian program, while daily saddle parties make the stables their headquarters.

Another special feature at Lake Arrowhead this year will be the smart, but informal, dinner-dances at Lake Arrowhead Lodge and North Shore Tavern. A special orchestra has been engaged at these dinner-dances, playing at the lodge Wednesday and Saturday nights and at the tavern Thursday nights. There is dancing every night except Sunday in Lake Arrowhead Village Casino, where Bob Brown and his Collegiate orchestra hold forth.

MUSIC ON THE LAKE

The lake serenade occurs Monday nights, when all comers are invited to hitch to the floating orchestra barge as it circles the lake. On Tuesday evenings the center of interest for residents and visitors is the community bonfire.

According to returned week-end anglers fishing continues at Lake Arrowhead with no abatement in either size or number of the finny tribe. Limit catches are brought in every day, many of the trout scaling above five pounds.

Motorists are enthusiastic in describing the splendid high-gear highway which at a cost of nearly $300,000 has replaced the old, difficult switchbacks. It is a route of great scenic beauty, providing a proper approach to the lake.

BIG BEAR LAKE IN NEW WORLD

Picture of Rugged Beauty Found in Mountains

Glamour of Gold Rush Days Clings to Region

Resort Easy to Reach Over Several Routes

BY JOHN A. OWENS

A cool blue sheet of water high in the crests of the mountains on the famous Rim of the World Highway, Big Bear Lake ushers one into another world. Rockbound and fringed by a magnificent growth of pines, firs, and junipers, the lake and the surrounding territory present a picture of rugged beauty.

Famous since the gold rush days of more than sixty years ago, much of the glamour of these more primitive times still clings to the rustic charm of Big Bear. Actual evidence of this period is to be found in many places. Old camps, mines and mining equipment, long since fallen into decay, recall the vigorous life led by these pioneers as they struggled to wrest the yellow metal from the soil.

HOLCOMB ONCE POPULAR

Among the more notable of these ruins are those in Holcomb Valley, just over the ridge to the north of the lake. During this era Holcomb was the largest settlement in San Bernardino county and more than half of the county's entire vote was cast in the Bear Valley district. The Old Rose mine, the Doble stamp mill and the claim of Lucky Baldwin supply still further pages in the record of the gold-producing years. One may still find here and there an old-timer whose narratives conjure up the picturesque figures of a bygone age.

Aside from its romantic aspect, Big Bear Lake is an ideal mountain resort. Situated as it is, within four hours' drive of Los Angeles, the lake becomes doubly attractive as a playground for Southern Californians.

A complete cycle of sports is indulged in at Big Bear. The lake itself is, of course, the central attraction and its waters form the basis of many diversions, among which, fishing, both for bass and trout, enjoys great popularity. Swimming, canoeing and speed-boating also have their share of devotees. Golf on an all-grass course, tennis, swimming in a naturally warm mineral water pool, are some of the more conventional sports for which facilities are provided along the shores of the lake.

PATHS LEAD AFAR

Probably no other locality in Southern California offers such a wealth in trail trips either by horseback or on foot. Seductive paths lead in every direction; through dense evergreen forests, into secluded meadows, along the face of sheer cliffs on out onto rocky promontories which unfold awe-inspiring vistas of mountain, desert or valley, become a constant lure both to the confirmed mountain lover and to those who are only learning to appreciate nature in her more pristine forms.

One of the more notable of these trips is that to the summit of Old Grayback, properly known as Mt. San Gorgonio. This usually requires three days and the route traverses magnificently scenic country. The way leads south from the lake, climbs to a height of 8000 feet, drops sharply down to the crossing of the Santa Ana River in the vicinity of Seven Oaks, then begins the steady ascent, by way of Barton Flats and Dollar Lake, to the region of perpetual snow at the summit.

MANY SIDE TRIPS

In addition to the points of historical interest previously mentioned, there are a number of attractive trips requiring from an hour or two, to an entire day. Bluff Lake, the fish hatcheries, Delmar Peak, Bear Creek, Castle Rock and Sugarloaf Mountain are some of the principle objectives.

Big Bear Lake is a complete community within itself. Approximately sixty-five camps and resorts dot the shores and provide a variety of accommodations. These are principally sleeping or housekeeping cabins ranging in size from one to four, five or six rooms, but American or European plan hotel rooms may also be obtained. Pine Knot is the center of activity and here are located stores, cafes, garages, a dance hall and motion-picture theaters. Additional stores and markets are located at convenient intervals along the shore.

A variety of good mountain roads lead to Big Bear. The Rim o' the World route follows Waterman Canyon out of San Bernardino, reaches the top at Pinecrest and winds through pine forests and along barren ridges for the balance of the distance, exposing, on one side, an amazing panorama of cities, orchards and fields in variegated pattern a mile below, and on the other an occasional glimpse of the distant Mojave Desert with its many colored buttes. This road is paved and high gear nearly all the way. The City Creek Road is the most direct and probably the most popular, having lately been improved and oiled. For scenic qualities the Mill Creek route over the Santa Ana River and up the famous Clark's Grade is preferred by many.

COTTAGES ON FINE BEACH

The Blue Sea Cottages are located on the finest beach in La Jolla, the ideal seaside community. This group of thirty cottages of one to four rooms in size is completely equipped for housekeeping. Cafes and tea rooms are within a few minutes' walk for those desiring to take their meals out. Blue Sea Cottages also are conveniently located for golf, tennis and fishing.

MURRIETA HOT SPRINGS

Murrieta Hot Springs, on the inland route to San Diego, a short distance beyond Lake Elsinore, offers a complete establishment for rest, relaxation and healing by means of mineral waters. The bath equipment is extensive and attended by experts. Three hotels and numerous cottages house the guests.

Laguna Beach Villa Will Open Eighth Season After Complete Renovation

The Laguna Beach Villa, under the management of Ada E. Purpus, will start its eighth summer season, and to prepare for that occasion the Villa is undergoing a complete renovating campaign. Everyone connected is busy and prior to the opening of the actual summer season the Villa will again meet all demands made by its large clientele. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mills, assistant managers, will be on the job, as usual, and will welcome all their old friends.

The Villa at Laguna Beach is located among numerous trees in the very heart of the city, giving it the appearance of a mountain resort. It is less than a five-minute walk from Laguna's best bathing beach, banks, stores and all activities. The houses are all modern and are fully equipped for either sleeping rooms or light housekeeping. The Villa has reduced its rates to meet the financial conditions confronting the vacationists at this particular time and is catering especially to the vacationist who desires spending one week to a month at the seashore in this regard. Week-end business is also solicited with reduced rates.

Laguna Beach is well known for its beauty, its art gallery and artists and is fast becoming a most popular seaside resort both winter and summer. The Villa is open the year round with especially attractive winter rates by day, week or month.

ACADEMY SUMMER CAMP

The Robert E. Lee Military Academy Summer Camp, which last year had an enrollment of more than 200 boys, is expecting another banner year. The camp is located on the shore of Big Bear Lake and all kinds of outdoor activities are programmed for the summer season. Maj. Cannon, president of the Cannon Schools, of which the Robert E. Lee Military Academy is one unit, states that indications point to a minimum of 250 boys. Maj. Cannon believes the growth of the camp from fifty-two in 1928 to its present size is accounted for by the slogan of the Cannon Schools, "Ask the Parent."

WHEAD

MOST BRILLIANT SEASON IN ITS HISTORY

Make all this round of healthful, interesting fun part of your summer vacation. Plan to spend part of the summer at Lake Arrowhead... where days are longer... sports are keener ...and sleep is sweeter.

Accommodations to fit every purse ... from the smart, exclusive Lodge and Tavern, to the free life of spacious pine-dotted auto camps, or roomy cozy cottages with, or without light-housekeeping facilities.

No matter what you want to do, what kind of accommodations you desire, you'll find them by the shores of this 740-acre lake" a million miles from care"... and just 2½ hours from Los Angeles by auto. Motor Limousine Busses serve Lake Arrowhead twice daily from Los Angeles, leaving at 8:00 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

And while you are at Lake Arrowhead investigate the sites for private mountain lodges, the ease with which they may be acquired and the facilities for building and enjoying your own home here among the pines.

ORANGE COUNTY VACATION EDEN

Attractions of Southland Magnified Here

Beaches, Canyons, Highways, Invite Recreation

Irvine Park Made Model of Entertainment Place

It is vacation time in Southern California and in no part of our glorious Southland does the vacation season hold more appeal than in beautiful Orange county, with its forty miles of coast line, dotted with intriguing little cities, its magnificent 160-acre Irvine Park, its foothills with their deep canyons and its 1000 miles of good roads.

The building of the State highway down the coast from Long Beach to the southern edge of the county, where the new addition links up with Highway No. 101, marked a new era for communities along the coast. Smaller villages began to take on new life, delightfully attractive homes were erected, while the business sections were rapidly enlarged and the older structures remodeled along artistic lines.

ADDED ATTRACTIONS

Modern bath-houses, dance pavilions and other recreational features were added until today the attractiveness of the South Coast is evidenced by the myriads who flock to these delightful resorts whenever occasion permits.

Newport Bay furnishes opportunity for safe boating and bathing, since it is completely sheltered and free from surf. On this land-locked body of water are held speed and sailboat races, the tournament of lights and kindred festivities.

Laguna with its bold, rugged cliffs, its wide white-sanded shores, its background of rolling hills, has through the sheer beauty of its surroundings drawn to it as permanent residents, artists of national renown.

NEW COMMUNITIES

Newer communities founded and fostered by unlimited millions in money are Corona Del Mar, Dana Point, San Clemente and San Juan Capistrano Beach, each with its own separate charm and builded along lines of distinctive individuality.

Irvine Park, known for years as Orange County Park, forest of magnificent live oaks, is the favorite resort of thousands from the surrounding counties. The County Supervisors have just completed erection of a $20,000 dancing pavilion which carries with it a stage opening both on the interior and exterior of the building, the outside stage facing many rows of stone tables where the guests may enjoy the radio programs during their lunch hour. This pavilion, tables, the great ovens, in fact, everything is absolutely free to visitors.

For those who prefer the wilds of the canyons there are those of Santiago and Trabuco, where within a few minutes after their entrance is reached one finds fern-bordered paths for hikers and rugged hills to challenge the soft muscles of indoor dwellers.

MANY ATTRACTIONS AT CAMP FOR GIRLS

The Douglas Camp for Girls is situated on the famous Seventeen-Mile Drive at Pebble Beach. The lodge is the center for all activities. The circle of tents about it incloses the stage and fire pits, while beyond are placed the tennis courts, rifle range, athletic field and stables. The ocean is close at hand for boating, fishing and swimming. The cabin at San Clemente Lake nestles among the mountains. Trails of beauty wind through redwoods, pine and fern. The Carmel River has many enticing swimming holes. Pack trips are among the features. The policy of the Douglas camps is to have small groups of selected campers under ideal environment. The staff is composed of college-trained men and women who have specialized in various fields of sport. The camp motto symbolizes the spirit of the girls. "For when the one Great Scorer comes to write your name it matters not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game." (Grantland Rice.)

CANVASS GLEAMS AT BALBOA

Harbor Home to Speedy Racing Craft

Star Boats Before Wind

NEWPORT BEACH, June 24.—Newport and Balboa, ever fresh and ever new, nevertheless are rejuvenated this year. Improvements designed to make this the Atlantic City of the West, some of them of such magnitude that they would stagger many larger communities, are being installed at Newport Bay as almost commonplace events.

With miles of surf—good, clean, white, sandy beach owned by the city of Newport Beach—and a beautiful still-water, protected bay, this de luxe watering place is in a unique position. One almost can throw a stone from the ocean beach to the bay in many places on the Newport-Balboa Peninsula.

Boating, bathing, swimming, fishing—all of them in either ocean or bay—are recreations available all the year. Golf, miniature golf, dancing in fine, cool ballrooms with some of the most famous orchestras—these also call to the vacation, or sport-minded, old or young.

New, larger and more modern ballrooms, shops, bath-houses, cafes and boating establishments offer all the Southwest a bigger and better Newport, Balboa, Corona del Mar, Lido Isle, than ever before.

Lido Isle, the new island in Newport Bay, is being developed on a scale unprecedented in California—a bridge to the mainland, streets, sewers, water mains, phones, gas and light connections, all built under one $1,170,000 proceeding, and all connections underground, leaving no unsightly poles. All buildings are to be passed by a board of architects and the Mediterranean style of architecture is being followed.

This is a sample of what is being done this year at Newport Bay. Other big improvements are being carried on in other parts of the community. Building was greater in 1929 than 1928, but is greater still so far this year. Everywhere is evidence of advancement as 1930 looms as the bay's greatest summer season.

The West's famous illuminated aquatic spectacle, the Newport-Balboa Tournament of Lights, to be held in Newport Bay Saturday, July 12, is again expected to attract between 50,000 and 75,000 people, who will view it from the shores of Newport Bay in Newport, Balboa, Balboa Island and Lido Isle, and from the heights of Newport Heights, Corona del Mar and other points overlooking Southern California's landlocked salt-water bay.

The Tournament of Lights is a great parade of beautifully illuminated craft of all kinds, with bands and orchestras adding to the spectacle of grandeur on a California "night like this." Although the lights used on some of the floats and craft would not stand even a moderate wind, it is a fine tribute to the weather in this part of California to say that never has it been necessary to postpone the Tournament of Lights on account of wind.

For the first time this year there will be a commercial division in the Tournament of Lights, in which concerns of all kinds may enter floats. There will be no prizes in this division, however, as there will be for nine different classes of entries, from tiny canoes to large pleasure cruisers, in the non-commercial division.

Cities and towns, unincorporated communities, chambers of commerce, service clubs, yacht clubs, American Legion posts, Boy Scout troops and civic and semi-public organizations of every kind are expected to have entries in the "big parade."

Special arrangements will be made this year to route the parade in such a manner that more thousands may witness it easily than ever before. The improvement of Lido Isle, the great new island of Newport Bay, will enable many to see it from that vantage point.

VACATIONIST FINDS GOOD ROAD TO OWENS VALLEY

BY CHESTER HANSON

So popular has the Owens Valley high Sierra country been as a vacation land that the State Highway Department has found it desirable to improve the greater portion of the highway from Los Angeles to Bishop with an oiled surface.

It used to be that the traveler driving up to the valley had pavement only as far as Mojave, a hundred miles out. Today the oiled surface picks up from Mojave and streaks straight across the desert to Cinco.

The high Sierra country is famous as a vacation land. From the Owens Valley side it presents the mountains in a spectacular range, snow-capped, rising seemingly straight up from the semi-arid mesa and valley. When you go up into that country you are going into one of the last frontiers of the West. It is without the great open spaces. Crystal-clear blue sky, vast mountain ranges, distant peaks, blue and purple, volcanic formations—the great West.

STREAMS FOR ALL

And, coming down off the mountains across the dry mesa land, meandering green ribbons that are willow trees lining the banks of mountain streams. The well-posted vacationist with rod and reel turns off the highway and snuggles up alongside one of these streams. Stop and ask the natives at the towns in the valley. You will be surprised to learn that these green ribbons falling over the mesa have many pretty little camping nooks.

Each town in the valley has its own attraction. It has its men who make a business of packing vacation parties up into the heart of the mountains for lake fishing. Each has his favorite haunt.

IN OWENS VALLEY

The man with a family usually goes to one of the many vacation resorts by lakes reached in and through the Owens Valley. There are places where you can park the family in a tent or cottage at such camp and daily go out with your rod on lake or stream in the mountains.

There are places where regular summer cabins are maintained and families stay throughout the summer. There are other places along the less-frequented brooks where the tent can be pitched without neighbors closer than several miles—and reached by auto, at that.

AT LAKE RESORTS

There are a number of lake resorts where the altitude is high—12,000 to 13,000 feet. And it gets cold at night. It is invigorating, but you have to have blankets to enjoy it.

On any particular point of information the person planning a vacation up in that country can drop a line of inquiry to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at any of the towns, such as Lone Pine, Independence, Big Pine or Bishop. Tell them what kind of vacation you want and they will tell you what they have. Or you can call at The Times resort bureau and get the information.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Now, as to the ride up into the valley. Nearly everyone has his own ideas of travel on the desert. Some like to take it at night, others in the early morning or late evening hours and some just light out any old time. The latter method is perfectly ethical and safe now that the road is in such good shape. The summer travel up there is getting heavy and the road across the desert is dotted with service stations to handle any trouble.

Right here, let's leave a tip to some of us city folk who are not accustomed to desert traveling: If you drive into a desert service station and you see nothing around but a can or a bucket with water in it, go easy on the water. The chances are this desert keeper has to pump his water by hand and some even have to have it hauled. If your radiator needs water, give it a drink—on the inside. No need to slosh it all over the outside thinking you must cool off the poor old radiator just because it is on the desert.

The vacationist can go into the Owens Valley country confident that he will be well taken care of by people accustomed to accommodating the visitor. In the summer it is a regular vacation camp—the whole valley. It is prepared to supply anything and everything necessary in food, equipment and clothing.

There are points of interest that the leisurely traveler may take in, such as the State fish hatchery just a mile or so off the main highway a few miles north of Independence. There is a glacier up the canyon from Big Pine. Ask the folk at that town about it as you drive through. Bishop is a sort of "jumping-off" place into the north country.

The Mono Basin country north of Bishop will attract a lot of interest this year because of the city's water program there. There are creeks and resorts and lakes up that way.

Gilman Springs Presents Group of Attractions

Situated in the region where Helen Hunt Jackson laid the scenes of her story, "Ramona," Gilman Hot Springs has a picturesque and romantic location. Here, amid the most enchanting surroundings, are to be found a variety of recreations, diversions and attractions. It is an ideal rendezvous for all who seek relaxation from business and domestic cares and worries.

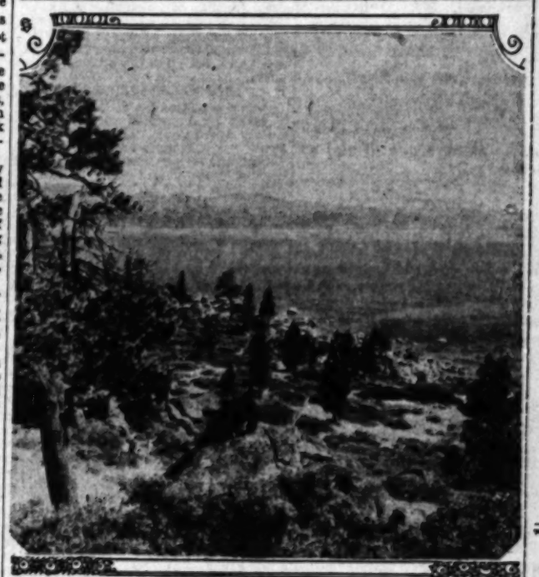
Thousands come regularly every year for a course of these splendid health-waters and to enjoy the benefits of the wonderful curative baths. Several different modes of bathing are available, including Roman tub baths, tule mud baths, sun baths, electric treatments, plunge bathing and showers.

The tule mud baths are exceptional and distinct from all others. They are Nature's own poultice for drawing out the impurities of the body and leaving the skin in a refreshed, silken state, glowing with health. The tule mud flows up from a natural tule bed prepared in Nature's laboratory for thousands of years.

CAMP FOR GIRLS

The Virginia School Camp for Girls was first announced as located just north of Glendale for the summer with two trips to Big Bear Lake as a part of the summer program. Since then a location has been obtained at Big Bear Lake and the camp will be on the lake shore the entire summer. Mrs. Margaret Cannon, vice-president of the Cannon Schools, in direct charge of the Virginia School Camp, reports the enrollment rapidly filling. This year fifty girls can be accommodated, twenty under 12 years and thirty of 12 and over. All forms of outdoor activities comprise the camp program, and awards are offered girls who excel in various activities.

LAKE TAHOE, LIKE GIANT GEM IN SIERRA SETTING, IDEAL VACATION CENTER



View Across One End of Lake Tahoe

Cupped in the snow-capped crests of the Sierras, a jewel in a perfect setting, Lake Tahoe is never more lovely than now. Nature is at her best in the borderland between spring and summer. The flashing, scintillating hues of the lake itself contrast with the cool green freshness of the pine forests which border it. Tiny rivulets and rushing streams straining to capacity babble and roar in their enthusiasm as they race to merge in the magic depths.

Called "Big Water" by the Indians, the immensity of Lake Tahoe is truly awe-inspiring. Twenty-three miles long and more than half as wide, it is exceeded in size only by Lake Titicaca, among the high altitude lakes of the world. Formerly believed bottomless, it has been sounded to depths of more than 1600 feet.

COLORS LEAVE IMPRESSION

Situated in the heart of the Sierra Nevada wilderness Lake Tahoe embodies those attractions considered ideal by the mountain lover. Hoary-headed peaks rear their protecting bulks on every side. Magnificent evergreen forests, interspersed with delightful meadows, rim the shores. Rocky ridges separate sheltered vallies dotted with scores of glacial lakes tiny in comparison with the bulk of their neighbor.

It is in its coloring that Tahoe leaves its most vivid impression. The brilliant blue of the lake as it reflects and intensifies, in its clear depths, the colors of the sky itself, dominates the langscape. Modified and enhanced by the gray and purple tones of the opposite shores, the translucent emerald of the shallow coves, and fringed with snow-white foam on velvet beaches, the whole, glinting and shimmering like silver in the play of the sunlight.

In whatever direction one is tempted, good mountain roads are waiting to lead to further delights, for the highway system makes a complete circuit of the lake and branches off to many points of interest and vantage.

MANY SWIMMING PLACES

For the hiker or those who prefer riding, countless trails beckon. Mountain peaks, capped in eternal snow, intriguing lakes scattered in profusion, the many charming meadows and canyons become a journey of an hour or two or several days.

Water sports are enjoyed to their fullest extent at Lake Tahoe. The numerous bays and inlets are dotted with fine sandy beaches. Pebble-bottomed swimming holes. Speed boating, aquaplaning and canoeing form a part of the day's activities. The well-equipped steamer Tahoe encircles the lake on regular daily seventy-two-mile trips.

Fishing and hunting are at their best in the Lake Tahoe region. The lake itself, together with the many small streams and lakes surrounding it, are well stocked with trout and other varieties of fish. Game abounds in the neighborhood and a short pack will take one into the heart of a hunter's paradise. Several sporty golf courses with all-grass fairways and greens will tempt the devotees of the sport.

HIGHWAYS EXCELLENT

Excellent highways lead to Lake Tahoe from all parts of California. From Los Angeles the route through the High Sierra country by way of Bishop, Bridgeport and Minden is recommended both for its scenic qualities and directness. From San Francisco and Sacramento there is a choice of two equidistant routes, one through Auburn, Colfax and Truckee, the other by way of Folsom, Placerville and Meyers.

Airplanes also provide swift, safe service from Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Situated 6000 feet above sea level, the noted playground has this year added many new accommodations to attract every type of visitor. Of the new highway system, only two short stretches have still to be finished. New roads have been laid to innumerable vantage points along the shores.

Among the scheduled events are four racing meets at the northern end of the lake, alternating between Lake Tahoe Tavern and Chambers' Lodge. The regattas will be conducted under the auspices of the Lake Tahoe Power Boat Club, which will distribute trophies.

FISHING EXTRA GOOD

Early visitors report the trout fishing this month has greatly exceeded expectations, and sportsmen visiting the resort each season predict the catches during the summer will be larger than for years.

The Lake Tahoe Sierras Association also reports that all the roads leading to the lake are in splendid condition. It has published a beautiful three-color illustrated booklet, showing all the mountain peaks, streams and lakes, as well as all the well-paved highways. The folder can be had without charge by applying to the Lake Tahoe-Sierra Association, Lake Tahoe, California.

VACATION PLANNING AIDED BY BOOKLET

An instructive and attractive booklet in four colors has just been issued by Motor Transit Stages, as an aid in planning vacations. Resorts and camps may be selected to suit individual desires and pocketbooks and the booklet tells how the various places may best be reached, according to Max H. Green, traffic manager for the stage company. "Data received from questionnaires sent to all the resorts of Southern California were used in compiling this booklet titled, 'Where to Enjoy Your Vacation,'" Green says. "About 150 resorts, hotels, camps, etc., have been catalogued, giving all the necessary information such as their description and elevation, how to reach them and the fares. Many other data of importance are included."

GLOBINS EASILY REACHED

At the extreme southern end of Lake Tahoe, where it is reached equally well by automobile, stage, train or steamer, Globins is an ideal resort-community. A dining-room with a much higher type of service than is customarily found in a mountain resort is under the personal supervision of Frank Globins, whose years of experience qualify him as an expert. The clear white sandy beach is particularly attractive and the gradual depth of the water makes it unusually safe.

SCHOOL IN SAN JACINTO CAMP NEW

Golden State Academy to Conduct Summer Sessions in Mountain Location

A fully equipped summer camp in the beautiful San Jacinto Mountains is to be added to the facilities available to the students of the Golden State Military Academy of Puente, according to announcement this week by Maj. L. V. Lewis, head of the school. The school will be transplanted to its new quarters in July and August.

With the acquisition of this property the academy has what is declared to be the finest offering to make to students in any part of Southern California. The historic Temple estate with its handsome buildings and picturesque settings and its campus of twenty acres comprise the permanent home of the school. Added to this is the opportunity of summer school at an elevation of 7000 feet in one of the great mountain sections of the State that is becoming the summer mecca of the whole of California.

Every facility for making the summertime school session pleasant and profitable is afforded in the new San Jacinto Mountain location. Swimming, golf, tennis, hiking, fishing, baseball, scenery, altitude, all are included, and relief from summer heat will prove a valuable talking point in increasing attendance, especially during the summer months.

The outstanding idea which Maj. Lewis wishes to convey is that the mountain school is a part of the permanent equipment of the Golden State Military Academy, and that it will not only be utilized in the summer but also for winter sports.

GIRLS' CAMP WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Y.W.C.A. Resort Catering First to Younger Group and Business Women

Camp Estelle, the Young Women's Christian Association's camp for younger girls and business girls, opens Saturday. The camp is located two miles beyond Camp Baldy in the beautiful San Antonio Canyon, between two rushing mountain streams. It is named after Mrs. E. L. Doheny, who equipped the camp and who supplies the best each year for the comfort of the girls.

Camp Estelle is an ideal mountain camp for any girl. She will be able to make new friends, not only among the leaders and campers, but among the birds, trees and flowers.

Camp Estelle is under the direction of Ella Stevers, director of health education, and Helen Persinger, executive of the girl reserve department of the Y.W.C.A., plus a staff of carefully selected college girls, teachers and older women who direct the camp activities. A trained nurse will be on duty.

There are tent houses for dressing, comfortable beds out of doors, plenty of good wholesome food served in an outdoor dining-room. Among sports are hiking, horseback riding, swimming, tennis, volley ball, archery, camp craft, nature study, handcraft, dramatics, together with costume parties, discussions, camp newspaper, stunt nights and camp fire sings.

TROUT JUST OUTSIDE DOOR

The Forest Home Resort and Forest Home Trout Preserve in Mill Creek Canyon provide a complete establishment for the diversion of guests. All the features of a well-equipped mountain resort are to be found here together with the added attraction of pool and stream trout fishing at the door.

CAMP EASILY REACHED

Camp Angelus, a rustic mountain camp, is located on the Mill Creek road to Big Bear Lake twenty miles from Redlands. The road is safe, wide with easy grades and there is no control up to this point. Either housekeeping cabins or hotel cabins with meals served in the dining-room may be had at the

Hostelry's Charm Heightened

Repose for Weary Traveler

SANTA MARIA INN INVITES

Reposeful Charm Characteristic of Famed Hotel Enhanced by Extensive Redecoration

The reposeful charm that has always distinguished Santa Maria Inn, midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, has been heightened by the recent remodeling of the lobbies, under the direction of a very skillful interior decorator. As a fitting setting for the splendid collection of early American and Early California pieces owned by the manager of the inn, Mr. Frank J. McCoy, interior effects, typical of the quaint hostelries of old colony days have been re-created.

Many a travel-weary guest has enjoyed the cheerful warmth of the inn's open hearths. Their glow will be no less inviting because they are now masked behind early American mantlepieces. From floor to ceiling, the walls of the lobbies are paneled with soft-toned maple, innocent of paint or decoration, the perfect background for the great Welch dressers with their array of old pewter, copper, china and glassware.

Wide windows, hung with gay glazed chintz, frame lovely pictures of the beautifully planted inner court. Deep, cushiony lounges and chairs, adroitly placed reading lamps, all invite one to linger.

The dining-room, famous for its gorgeous floral decorations every day in the year, is more effective than ever since the woodword and walls have been done over in a soft green, making the delicious foods served there all the more satisfying.

Many of the bedrooms have been redecorated, carrying out the early American idea down to the old botany prints on the walls. Nothing has been taken away from the high standard of comfort which has made this hotel a long-time favorite with discriminating people, but much has been added to increase their pleasure.

The gardens about the inn are finer than ever this season. A cactus and succulent garden and a rock garden have been added to the former plantings.

SAN JACINTO REGION OFFERS FINE FISHING

The San Jacinto Mountains, located about fifty miles from Riverside, have been termed "the Yosemite of the Southland," and with their towering peaks, picturesque canyons, tumbling waterfalls and winding streams, they are comparable to the northern paradise. Tahquitz Peak is one of the principal landmarks and is quite often called "Lily Rock." Its towering bulk of 1000 feet of solid granite rises high above the surrounding country. Mt. San Jacinto rises above Tahquitz Peak with an elevation of 12,000 feet above the sea. Endless time could be spent in this interesting country which abounds in Indian legends and about which centered much of early California history. The scenic spots of this territory have been made famous with stories filled with historical significance. High in this wonderland is a beautiful sheet of water, Hemet Lake, which furnishes the water for the fertile Hemet-San Jacinto Valley, teeming with activity far below. Incidentally it furnishes excellent fishing, also.

GLENDORA SCHOOL RUNS GIRLS' CAMP

Thirty miles east of Los Angeles, at the foot of the mountains, the Glendora foothill's school, has a girls' camp. Here for the months of July and August a limited number of girls from 6 to 12 years of age, are received. Two swimming pools are in active service. Tennis courts and athletic fields keep the children busy during the cooler hours of the day. Sand piles, swings and fish ponds are provided for the younger group. A trained athletic instructor, takes charge of hikes to the mountains. The nurse supervisor will teach handcraft, hygiene and amateur dramatics.

You sail Saturday noon from San Francisco on the beautiful Malolo. Four joyous days at sea—then early Wednesday, Honolulu!

A glorious week lies ahead. You motor to Mt. Tantalus and around the Island of Oahu, including the ascent of historic Nuuanu Pali. You sail to the Island of Hawaii to visit Kilauea Volcano and Tree Fern Forest. Between times, you swim, ride the surf at Waikiki, dance under the banyan trees, and play.

On Wednesday, you sail back on the Maui or Matsonia—another happy sea trip. Landing early Tuesday, your round trip from San Francisco has taken only one business day longer than a two weeks' vacation!

And the cost of everything, first-class exclusively, is as little as $343.50.

Around Pacific Cruise

September 20, the Malolo sails on her second Around Pacific Cruise—to 19 strange ports in 12 countries of the Orient, Malayan, East Indies, Australia, New Zealand and South Seas. Membership is limited. Ask for folder.

MERE TWO WEEKS AMPLE FOR WONDERLANDS TOUR

Round of Southland Beauty Spots That Battle Descriptive Efforts Possible in Fortnight

BY JAMES WARNACK

"Where do you want to go for vacation?" asked my friend who owns and drives a car.

"Gosh!" I gasped, as there flashed into my mind the stories I had read of all the wonder spots of this wonder State. "I can hardly think of any place I wouldn't like to go. Of course I've long been wanting to see Yosemite Valley, Catalina Island and Big Bear—."

"We'll go to all of those places," he broke in.

"What! In two weeks?"

"In two weeks," he said with a smile. "This is the day of automobiles, good roads and kindly cops."

My friend was almost a perfect prophet, for we made all of our proposed destinations excepting Big Bear. Reaching Lake Arrowhead by nightfall, we decided to pitch our tent on the shore of that charming body of water and to spend the night and next day there. And what a night—and what a day! I did not sleep until after midnight, the spot was so entrancing.

GLORIOUS DAY

The next morning, before breakfast, we took a dip in the clear, cool water. After breakfast we took another dip—a "dip" which lasted until noon. Luncheon was our next thought—and another bath in the great natural bathtub. Then my friend, who prefers reading to fishing, stretched himself out near the tent, with a book of verses (sans the "jug of wine" and the "thou") while I, who am too "chicken-hearted" to catch a poor fish, went and bargained with a son of Walton for a mess of fresh trout.

On the following day we returned home and the next day drove down to the harbor and took ship for Catalina. Of course, friend wife and son Jimmie went with us everywhere. Without the family vacation trips mean nothing.

Catalina! What an Eden of the sea! Often in fancy my spirit has wandered through the ocean and air, but never had I dreamed of a place like Catalina. Soft, mystic, romantic—every part of it a vision of loveliness.

To me the one big wonder of the place is the Marine Gardens. Never can I forget those gardens of Neptune! Like the man who never had the "D.T.'s" he who has not looked down into the deep through the glass-bottomed boats at Catalina "ain't been nowhere or seen nothin'." Never have I seen such a vast number and variety of water-dwellers. All the colors of the rainbow these strange fish and crawling things seem to have stolen with which to paint their bodies. And the wondrous rocks, shells and coral, and the different kinds of silvery seaweed, rising in splendor till their tops are caressed by the waves—all of these things stagger the beauty-loving mind and fill the heart with a sense of reverence for and gratitude to the Creator who made them.

FIRST WHALE SIGHTED

Then back to Los Angeles we traveled, seeing our first whale on the return trip. We remained in town just long enough to get a couple of meals at our favorite cafeteria and then set out for Yosemite. Don't ask me to tell about Yosemite. Nobody can describe Yosemite, the Maker's grandest poem, printed in raised letters. Once a young man stood with his bride on Inspiration Point and the young woman said: "John, I know you're an artist—but if ever you try to paint this, I'll leave you."

A great spiritual teacher once said to me: "I went to Yosemite in the winter and stood on the snow on a high peak, for two hours, my feet in the soft whiteness and my head upon the bosom of God."

Everyone will have a different experience at Yosemite, yet no one will leave the magic valley the same person that he was when he entered it. A visit to that wonderland is like a baptism. Whoever goes there leaves the place with thoughts and emotions that were unknown before. I challenge any infidel to go to Yosemite Valley and come away without the conviction that the Almighty exists.

GLORIOUS SPECTACLE

As one enters the valley, from any direction, he beholds peak piled on peak, tier after tier, stretching out and away forever, a cosmic theater in which the gods may sit to watch the human drama. He passes lofty redwoods, eternally young, and barren trees on brown hills, dreaming of the days when they were green. The whole forest is glorious, but so vast, so grand, so staggering that the mind is almost lost in contemplating it. The valley, however, is different. It is the epitome of grandeur, yet, in its intimacy, it fills one with a sense of peace. When one first enters this seven-mile-long fairyland he is almost afraid to whisper, lest the whole scene vanish from his ken. Of course, to appreciate the place, one must remain at least three days, visiting Happy Isles, Mirror Lake, Glacier Point, Indian Cave, the many interesting waterfalls and other spots of natural beauty. Birds, squirrels, bears, deer and other animals will come to his cabin or tent door every day, at dawn and twilight, to beg for lumps of sugar and other delicacies. They have no fear of man, for no man ever harms his dumb brother at Yosemite.

What is Yosemite like? See Yosemite—and then you'll understand why I cannot answer your question.

RESORT AT ISTHMUS TO BE OPENED

"Beauty Spot" of Catalina Will Be Scene Saturday of Gay Festivities

The Catalina Isthmus, scene of the Wrigley swim in 1927, situated twenty-two miles up the island coast from Avalon, has been developed into a second Catalina resort and is to be formally opened to the public Saturday, according to officials of the Santa Catalina Island Company.

The opening will be marked by gala festivities that will recall the olden, golden days of California. Gay bunting and flags will decorate the water front and a Spanish orchestra will greet each incoming steamer and excursion cruiser. The historic stage coach driven in the early nineties by Capt. William Banning will transport passengers to the "other side" of the island across the narrow strip of land that forms the isthmus to Catalina Harbor, where the old Chinese Junk Ning-Po with its bloody pirate history, the Black Ghost and the old Santa Clara, frigates that participated in the romantic history of the seas a half-century ago, lie moored at their last resting place.

There will be dancing both afternoon and evening in the isthmus pavilion. Boat racing and other aquatic sports will be held in Isthmus Cove. A typical fish dinner and goat barbecue will be served all day.

The old Banning home which surmounts a knoll overlooking both Isthmus Cove and Catalina Harbor has been remodeled into an exclusive hotel. A second Island Villa of 150 bungalettes has been built among the trees of the isthmus flas. A large cafe, stores, a bathhouse, riding stables and other resort facilities have been built at the Isthmus.

Announcement is made of a direct sailing daily from the Catalina terminal at Wilmington at 1:15 p.m., arriving at the Isthmus at 3:15 p.m.

SEVERAL GEYSERS FOUND IN SONOMA

Geysers are a phenomenon not commonly associated with California but in Sonoma county, in the northern part of the State, there are a number of them. Aside from their attraction as a curiosity they are used to generate electric power and some of the waters are very highly radioactive. The Geysers Hotel was established there more than sixty years ago and has since continued to draw its patronage from all quarters of the globe.

Military School Training Lauded

The good military school is a small world of its own, a genuine society, presenting in its community of differing personalities and wills most of life's problems, says Maj. G. R. Conklin, managing director of the Pacific Military Academy, Culver City.

Home life does not offer a scope sufficiently wide to provide just that social discipline which is the outstanding merit of a good military school. With the keen competition of today, only the man or woman who is a specialist and who likewise is equipped to cope with a variety of issues will achieve and prosper, according to Maj. Conklin.

"The Pacific Military Academy is engaged in turning out leaders," the major asserts. "Leadership means command of self and command of self means command of others."

Many new shots and hazards have been constructed in an original fashion by the architect and manager, L. H. Ryerson, who is managing the course and instructing beginners in the intricacies of this new game. Experts have expressed the opinion that it is the best constructed and most interesting course in Southern California.

Camp Baldy guests are almost deserting the other sports afforded by the camp, such as swimming, horseback riding, hiking, dancing, bowling and pool, to pursue the little round ball until long after midnight.

BIG FOUR AGAIN LURES TOURISTS

Inn Reached from Seattle in Three Hours

Quaint Motor Railway Runs to Mountain Resort

Towering Peaks Surround Popular Hostelry

Big Four, resort four hours' ride from Seattle, is again attracting thousands of visitors who delight in the wildness of mountain scenery, and the appeal of rushing streams and quiet, forest-girt lakes.

Deriving its name from the great numeral scrawled by nature on one of its surrounding peaks, Big Four is the terminus of a quaint journey by gasoline motor car operating over a railroad track of standard gauge out of Hartford, Wash.

BEAUTIFUL JOURNEY

Before reaching Hartford, motorists pass through the attractive city of Everett, and country of never-ending variety. For miles after the curious gasoline coach, resembling in some respects an old fashioned street car, gets under way, the journey leads through a valley dotted with pleasant homes, after which the climb through the narrow canyons and rocky gorges begins.

There is a rushing white-foamed cataract, which is suddenly transformed into the quietness of a deep, quiet pool, and the traveler is introduced to the varying moods of the every changing Stillaquamish. The deep, quiet pool changes its character, and the stream becomes a sunlit ribbon of crystal clear water, that a child might wade in safety.

PEAKS SURROUND INN

It is here the Big Four Inn is reached, surrounded by towering peaks, some of which have still to be conquered by climbers.

The hostelry is a large, wide, white structure, surrounded by galleries and surmounted by a green roof. There is a friendly lake for swimming and canoeing. Also, at the other side of the Inn, a miniature nine-hole golf course, and not far off a tennis court, and numerous trails for those who delight in wooded paths and horseback riding.

Finally, for those who seek more primitive setting is Monte Cristo, which has the atmosphere of one of Brete Harte's camps, and is not far from the Inn, 3000 feet above the level of the sea.

DELIGHTFUL OUTING BY GORDON SCHOOL

The summer camp site of the Gordon School for Girls is delightfully situated under the shade of an old olive grove not far from the mouth of Aliso Canyon, a short distance from Laguna Beach. Daily excursions to near-by beach resorts for bathing, boating, fishing and open-air lunch form part of the day's entertainment. The camp is under direction of Mme. Marion Gordon, principal, aided by an efficient camp counselor, an excellent cook and chauffeur.

WEARY WRITER WILTING IN HUNT FOR DINOSAURS

Giant Reptilians Have 20,000,000 Years Start on Hogue in Painted Desert Trek

BY FRED HOGUE

Out on the Painted Desert of Arizona, hidden away behind a section of the seven-peaked, snow-capped San Francisco mountains, under the shade of a clump of pinon pines, I am resting after stalking for a morning and an afternoon a herd of dinosaurs.

For the first time in my life, I have qualified as a big game hunter. How tawdry seem the Manchurian lion and the African tiger when one has once followed the trail of the dinosaur!

I have found their so-called footprints and tail prints in Blue Point Canyon, and on the edge of a great petrified pumpkin which lies beside the highway leading from the Little Colorado at Cameron to the Navajo Reservation at Tuba City.

Introduced to one of the trapper-guides at a trading post, the herd got a good start on me. They moved over the ridge from the Little Colorado to Blue Rock Canyon [illegible] years ago. But a chase is a long chase and as a tenderfoot looking only for [illegible] a few seems more or less do matter much.

WATER SCARCE

Cameron Lodge is located on the bank of the Little Colorado; but most of the stream is as dry as a Congressional Record. They get their water from Tuba City, two or three half hours away and it [illegible] to be used for ablutions.

[illegible] measure distance here by [illegible] miles. A place forty [illegible] away is one hour distant on the [illegible], and five hours on the [illegible]. When I made further inquiries about the habits of the dinosaur, he said Charley Owens, a noted big-game hunter from Los Angeles, was up here two summers ago, and followed the tracks over into Blue Canyon. There he surprised a live dinosaur taking his afternoon siesta, his head in the shade of a butte on one side of the canyon, and his tail wrapped about a rock on the other.

Owens decided not to shoot, but made a sketch of the creature instead—the only authentic picture of a dinosaur in existence sketched from life.

Everywhere I have been up here they quote Charley Owens as an authority on dinosaurs, while the professors who mess around have absolutely no standing.

I regret to report that I have not yet qualified, but this is only my first season at big-game hunting.

DRAWS LONG BOW

I spent some time at the Cameron Trading Post, talking with Trader Richardson, who can draw a longer bow than Trader Horn.

He not only built Cameron City—imagine a city, so designated on the road maps, where one man owns every foot of real estate, is Mayor, assessor, tax collector and Chief of Police—but he also built Rainbow Lodge and Rainbow bridge.

Perhaps I am wrong. He didn't build Rainbow bridge, only appropriated it. A dinosaur making a trek wearied of climbing over the buttes and thrust his mailed snout through one of them. That was 20,000,000 years ago, but the hole and the arch are still there to testify to his prowess.

The guide assured me that the arch is so high that Washington Monument could stand beneath.

As I have never seen the arch, and the guide had never seen the Washington monument, I simply narrate, without attesting.

EXPENSIVE TRIP

I really wanted to see Rainbow Arch, but the cost of observation is higher than the arch itself. I figured it out with the boy who runs the Cameron gasoline station. He had never been there, but wanted to go.

But one has to hire passage in auto from Cameron City to Rainbow Lodge, stay at the hotel and take a mule and guide from the lodge to the arch, fifteen miles away. The cost of that fifteen-mile excursion is $50.

Trader Richardson runs trading posts and lodges, not eleemosynary institutions. I suspect he has traveled, has been to Hollywood, and to Cairo in the tourist season.

After a long conference with the Little Rollo who runs the cash register at the Tuba City trading post, Harry, the artist, Chris, the composer, and I decided to try it on our own.

There are forty-seven roads, not one posted, leading north and east across the Navajo Reservation from Tuba City and one of them goes to Rainbow Arch. It is as exciting as the roulette wheels at Tia Juana, but the odds in favor of the house are greater. We tried four of them, dug out three times and turned Henry's radiator toward the setting sun.

DON'T CHOKE ON THIS

I asked another trapper-guide about the colors in the arch. He said that all happened long ago, but related a Hopi legend to the effect that the colors are the reflection, burned by the sun, of the scaled back of the dinosaur while he was burrowing his snout through the butte.

But the rainbow colors are there, beyond a reasonable doubt. Trader Richardson took me into Cameron Lodge and showed me an oil painting of the arch, rainbow colors and all, signed by Charles Owens and presented to him.

I can testify as an expert that the painting is genuine, but so is the sketch of the dinosaur.

On the way back across the Painted Desert, we stopped to inspect the natural dinosaur exhibit across the highway from the petrified pumpkin patch. The genuineness was attested to by an extract from a government report, copied from the Congressional Record and posted there.

The exhibit consisted of a bit of thin gray stone, a space about thirty feet square. The stone layer is about one inch and a half thick, resting on sand. On the surface of the rock are some tiny cavities which the experts attest were made by the toes of the dinosaur 20,000,000 years ago. Some one has said that an expert is just an ordinary fellow away from home and these experts were far from their home dormitories.

HAND ON REALIST

Dinosaurs may have made those perforations. Chris and Harry claimed to be able to follow their course; but they were no different to me than thousands of others I have seen in granite and sandstone that made no claim to such unbroken ancestry.

But dinosaur tracks are now articles of commerce on the Painted Desert. They take cold chisels and cut out a slab of the rock containing a track, and carry it away.

Little Rollo at the Tuba City trading post showed me one of these tablets and said there were at least a dozen of them in the Hopi village near by. Indians and trappers are hunting for them all over the desert. They have become so common that the market has broken and the tablets now sell for about $75 each.

I even found a legend here to the effect that the Grand Canyon was at one time a great marsh where the big lizards wallowed; that they carved the monuments in the mud with their tails and that it petrified later. Everything petrifies here, trees, pumpkins—even the officials in the Indian agency.

One guide took me aside and showed me in confidence a choice specimen of "petrified rock" which he offered to sell me away below the market price because he wanted to get transportation over to Chloride.

STANDING OF TOURISTS

What standing have tourists on the Painted Desert? Harry, the artist, told me that while I was talking to Richardson a woman stopping for gasoline asked the service boy if that man with the sand shovel talking with the proprietor worked there. And the service youth replied in disgust:

"Hell, no! He's only a tourist."

I have been looking all morning for a dinosaur on the Painted Desert. I would be content even with a track; but the nearest approach to one was a little cotton-tail rabbit that was sleeping under the pinon pine when I came to appropriate his place. He scampered away up the hill for about fifty yards, then hopped up on a rock, turned about and began twirling the ends of his mustache in imitation of mine.

Meantime Harry Wagoner has set up his sun umbrella and easel and is painting the Painted Desert and applying the lipstick to it. If the sun could only paint it like Wagoner I would devote to it a special article of art appreciation.

All down the national highway I find the traffic in dinosaur tracks is flourishing. If one sold gold bricks he might get arrested but they can't arrest them for selling dinosaur tracks for the government has attested to their genuineness.

ROMANCE ROAD ADOBE RECALLS GOLDEN PAST

The traditions, historical and romantic, which cling to the pathways the old mission fathers trod, and the background of swift-moving events that followed in the wake of the pioneers of early California, are thick along the Coast Highway, justifying the name by which it is so widely known, "The Road to Romance." Much of this fascinating material is very familiar, but now and then, something comes to our attention which has rather escaped notice.

On the outskirts of the little town of San Miguel, just a few minutes' drive beyond Paso Robles, going northward, there stands a two-story adobe building that until recently was deserted and in a bad state of decay. Recently, Charles F. Dorries bought it and restored it to a considerable extent, preserving for us one more touch of California's colorful past.

One-time Home of de Rios Family

DE RIOS RANCH HOUSE

The building, erected by Indian labor in 1822, was originally the ranch house of the De Rios family which owned vast acres in the immediate vicinity. Large herds of cattle and flocks of sheep, with many good horses, grazed the hills and brought the family prosperity. Life was unhurried and unharried and full of the pleasure of hospitality. And then gold was discovered in California.

The fever to possess gold brought many strangers to the house of Senor Rios. Listening to their talk he, too, succumbed to the lure. Taking an Englishmen, then living in San Miguel, into partnership, he went into the hills to find this yellow, glittering dust. After months of prospecting, they returned without having any real success. Reports got around to the contrary, however.

ENGLISH FAMILY FATE

The Englishman had taken up his residence in a portion of San Miguel de Archangel Mission near by. Secularization had come and the mission no longer was used for religious purposes. One night the inevitable happened—the Englishman and his family were slain in their sleep by strangers whom they had provided with food and shelter. The place was ransacked for the gold rumor said was hidden somewhere about the mission. Nothing was found and the guilty men were far away before the crime was discovered.

The tragedy preyed on the mind of Senor Rios and he built another home for his family in the heart of his hills. The old house began a hectic career. It became the headquarters, at various times, for outlaw bands, both Joaquin Murritta and Tiburcio Vasquez making use of it, so the tale goes.

FORMER STAGE STATION

About sixty years ago it was a famous stage station and widely known as the Caledonia Hotel. During these more peaceful years it housed many famous people who journeyed through the State. Gen. Fremont was there on more than one occasion.

The old tiles are gone from the roof, but the rafters remain, with their rawhide bindings. The sturdy walls have stood the tests of time. Even the old balcony rails endured. Those who travel the highway and are interested in finding for themselves the romance of the trail are welcome to stop and see it before they pass on to the pathetic ruins of the fine old mission.

MANY FEATURES OFFERED

Only three miles from Lake Hemet is Tahquitz Lodge at Keen Camp. A wide variety of recreational features are found there, including swimming pool, tennis court, horseback riding, croquet, bowling, dancing, hiking, etc. Gilman Hot Springs, at the foot of the San Jacinto Mountains, is a delightful family and tourist health resort. It provides several modes of bathing, including Roman tub baths, tule mud baths, electric, sun baths, plunge and showers. Moreover, numerous amusements and diversions are near at hand.

CAMP IDEAL FOR BOYS

The Douglas camp for boys at Pebble Beach is a riding or ranch camp. The new lodge is built with a view to comfort for the boys when they are at home after their pack trips. Athletic field, rifle range, tennis court and stables are near. The first weeks are devoted to obtaining a knowledge of horses and sports. After that the boys ride through the mountains to the Carmel Valley ranch on the river. From there fishing trips are taken and the pack trips become longer. The cabin at San Clemente Dam is the next stop.

RESORT HAS CHARM

Highlands Inn, on the rocky picturesque coast line four miles south of Carmel, is a resort of unparalleled charm. Guests are housed in the main hotel building or in attractive chalets that hide beneath the pines or overhang the sea. Horseback riding over the many bridle paths forms one of the chief diversions and all the facilities of the famous Monterey Peninsula are but a few minutes away by motor.

NORTHWEST HAS ELUSIVE CHARM

Evergreen Playground Rich in Varied Beauty

Unmatched Forests Lure to Land of Dreams

Atmosphere of Holiday Exhilaration Pervades

The Japanese have a saying, "Do not say 'beautiful' until you have seen Nikko!" (The Emperor's summer home.) This phrase might well be applied to the Pacific Northwest, particularly the Puget Sound region and the adjoining territory of British Columbia, where is combined the beauty of all continents—fjords and island-dotted seas, streams and lakes and waterfalls, and heaven-kissing mountain peaks.

Above all, there are the forests, those legions of mighty trees, that undulate, wave on wave, like a great, blue-green, flowing mantle. In these the Pacific Northwest reigns supreme, distinct. Nowhere else in the world are there such spreading miles of cedar, spruce and hemlock, amid whose lofty branches the winds sigh softly; at the feet of whose mighty boles grow mosses of many kinds, grow ferns of myriad variety—a veritable paradise for the student of botanical lore.

PANORAMA OF BEAUTY

For more than 1500 miles—from Mexico to British Columbia—there is a panorama of shifting and ever-changing beauty, accentuated by cities and towns and communities, each with their individual background of discovery, settlement and conquest of the Golden Rim, beyond which surge the tides of the Pacific, without and beyond, the ancient, the eternal East.

Whether the seeker of beauty and change travels by rail, by motor or by sea, there is for him in the South the suggestion of old Spanish days, and that period of mad adventure in the gold-seeking of '49. While ever, in the land of farther north, are reminders of the rugged pathfinders, trappers and pioneers, who builded better than they knew in the great empire of tdoya.

There is, however, a unique exception to historical cities. Longview, the southern gateway to what the world so pleasantly terms the Evergreen Playground, has probably sprung to a population of more than 15,000 in a shorter period than any other community in history without the discovery of gold, oil or other of nature's hidden treasures. The manufacturing plant of the Long-Bell Lumbering Company at Longview is one of the largest in operation. Here, too, is the recently completed span across the Columbia River, the highest structure of its kind crossing a navigable stream.

Following Longview comes Tacoma, Seattle, Everett, Anacortes, and Bellingham, Wash., with Vancouver and Victoria of British Columbia all with their cordial welcome to the visitor.

HOLIDAY ATMOSPHERE

Like the Southland of earlier season, there is throughout the Pacific Northwest, from early spring to late in the autumn, an atmosphere of holiday exhilaration. Certainly in a region where commerce and industry so patently grow and thrive, it cannot always be playtime for all, but that idea is conveyed to a strong degree. Everyone seems bent on pleasurable adventure. The lovely gardens and avenues suggest garden parties and leisurely tea under spreading shade. The woods and sun-bathed beaches invite to picnics and clambakes and swimming parties. The shining waters call to the lover of yacht and canoe. For the enthusiast of golf and tennis there are incomparable courses and courts; for hiker and equestrian there are long trails that go "awinding to the land where dreams come true."

Fragrant with the ozone of the woods and seawashed shores, there is the warmth of a softer sun. There are cool nights of refreshing invigoration. The average temperature for the summer months is but 62 degrees, and in spite of constant sunshine a maximum temperature of 80 degrees for that season is rare.

The highways are lined with meadows and farms, with tree and flower and fern. From March and early April, when trilliums gleam whitely from out secluded copse; when yellow lamb-tongues and purple violets reflect the sun and sky, on till the rhododendron fills the forests' depth with rainbow glory, on until autumn sets her flaming torch to valley and upland, there is beauty.

Summertime Scene in Glorietta Bay

Near Hotel del Coronado and Tent City
Water sports combined with summer racing at Agua Caliente, golf and horseback riding will keep pleasure crowds busy at Coronado Beach.

CORONADO SPORTS VARIED

Out-of-Door Diversions Will Keep Vacationists at Southern Resort Active

With the inauguration of summer horse racing at Agua Caliente, Old Mexico, there will be practically no form of outdoor recreation that is not available at or near Coronado this season. The border track is reached in a half-hour auto drive via the Silver Strand paved highway from the Southland resort city. Another innovation, which is expected to add to the popularity of ocean bathing at Coronado, is the new swimming float anchored about 200 yards from the edge of the beach off Coronado. Two new golf courses have been opened during the past winter, making seven within an eighteen-mile area, including one, the Coronado Country Club course, reached in five minutes' ride from either Hotel del Coronado or Tent City.

Among the other out-of-door diversions expected to keep vacationists actively engaged this season are all forms of boating, aquaplaning, bay and ocean swimming ,deep sea and surf fishing. The open-air salt water pool and playground will be provided for the children. Each evening there will be open-ari moving-picture shows, Sunday afternoon musical programs and dancing except Mondays and Tuesdays. Clark Brothers' Orchestra will provide the music.

Special stake events will feature each Sunday afternoon at the border race track. Other special affairs of interest to sport followers will be the rodeo at San Diego's navy field July 4 to 6. The third annual horse show sponsored by the Coronado Riding Club, the first event of California's circuit of summer horse shows, will take place at the riding ring of the Coronado Country Club July 25 to 27.

Numerous amateur golf events are planned during the balance of June, July and August on the courses of San Diego, Coronado and Agua Caliente. The outstanding tourney for mashie wielders will be the A. B. Spreckels amateur golf tournament at Coronado August 18 to 23. As in six previous annual Spreckels tourneys, a $1000 silver punch bowl, an exact duplicate of those now in possession of William Hunter, Allan Moser, Pay Coleman, Jack Gaines and Gibson Dunlap, will be given outright to the winner. The runner-up will receive a similar though slightly smaller sterling silver punch bowl, the winner of the qualifying round a gold medal, and an attractive array of cups has been provided for winners of various flights.

PERSONAL SERVICE GIVEN

Chambers Lodge, on the west shore of Lake Tahoe, was established by John McKinney nearly sixty years ago, when, with the whole lake front from which to choose, he decided on this site. With a capacity for 150 guests, a staff of more than fifty employees is maintained, assuring a high type of personal service. In addition to the three regular meals, Chambers also serves an afternoon tea and a late evening buffet lunch.

LONG BEACH HOSTELRY POPULAR

Willmore Offers Various Attractive Features That Appeal to Discriminating

Among the many fine hotel and apartment-houses which have sprung up in Long Beach in recent years, none is more popular than The Willmore, located at the corner of Third and Cedar streets, one block from Lincoln Park and the Public Library, and only three blocks from one of the finest bathing beaches on the Pacific Coast. The appointments of the Willmore are luxurious and reflect an atmosphere of good taste that instantly appeals to the most discriminating.

Accommodations are available in the form of single apartments, double apartments and hotel rooms with maid service complete, parlor to kitchen. Among the outstanding features of the Willmore are a beautiful lobby and a pleasant solarium for the use of guests, while it is one of the few apartment-hotels in the country furnishing a play court for children, conducted under the supervision of a woman attendant.

The Willmore is under the management of Henry L. Whipple, one of the best-known hotel men in California, who was for a number of years with the Hotel Virginia in Long Beach and the Mission Inn at Riverside.

GILMAN HOT SPRINGS

Gilman Hot Springs, on the main highway leading into San Jacinto, is one of the oldest and most popular hot springs in Southern California. The mineral and mud baths at Gilman's enjoy a well-earned reputation for effectiveness. European plan rooms and cabins supplemented by a lunch counter and cafeteria are provided for the guests.

APARTMENTS NEAR SEA

Centrally located in La Jolla, the Terrace Apartments are convenient to both beach and business center. Every detail of comfort has been provided for the guests. The apartments are modern, quiet and exclusive, and are an ideal spot to fall under the influence of the summer sun and the azure sea of this resort.
